OPPOSER'S RESPONSES TO APPLICANT'S SECOND SET OF INTERROGATORIES

Pursuant to TBMP Section 410 and Fed. R. Civ. Pro. 26 and 33, The Chamber of Commerce of the United States of America ("Opposer") hereby responds to Applicant's Second Set of Interrogatories to Opposer. These responses are made solely for the purpose of this administrative proceeding. Each response is subject to all objections as to competence, relevance, materiality, propriety, and admissibility, as well as any other objections that would require the exclusion of any statement contained herein if such interrogatory were asked of, or if a statement contained herein was made by, a witness present and testifying in court, all of which objections and grounds are expressly reserved and may be interposed at the time of trial or hearing.

Opposer's responses herein represent a good faith effort to comply with broad interrogatories propounded in the initial stages of discovery. Opposer has, subject to the objections specified below, answered based upon its present knowledge of the content of the files and records in Opposer's possession or control and the present knowledge of persons employed by Opposer. However, Opposer's discovery and investigation into the matters specified are continuing. Accordingly, Opposer reserves the right to rely, at the time of taking testimony or in other proceedings in this action, on documents and evidence in addition to the material produced in response to these interrogatories, regardless of whether any such material or information is newly discovered or is presently in existence but not as yet located and produced despite diligent and good faith efforts.

Opposer's response to any interrogatory is not an admission or acknowledgment that such information is relevant to this action or that any particular document or thing exists, is non-privileged, or is admissible in evidence. Opposer's responses shall not prejudice Opposer's right to contest at the time of taking testimony or presenting arguments, or at any other proceeding in this action, that such information or material is inadmissible, irrelevant, or immaterial, or that it is not the proper basis for discovery. Further, Opposer's responses are being made without prejudice to, or waiver of, any objection to any future use of such information or material that Opposer may make, nor shall responses be deemed to constitute an admission that any statement or characterization in an interrogatory is accurate or complete.

Opposer will permit the inspection and copying of the documents produced in response to the interrogatories, subject to the objections set forth in this Response, at the offices of Kenyon & Kenyon LLP, located at 1500 K Street, N.W., Washington, DC, at a time and date mutually convenient to counsel for Opposer and Applicant.

GENERAL OBJECTIONS

Opposer asserts and expressly incorporates by reference into each response set forth below the following General Objections to each of the interrogatories. By providing a specific response to any interrogatory, Opposer does not waive or otherwise limit these General

Objections. Furthermore, reference to these General Objections in any specific response shall not waive or otherwise limit the applicability of these General Objections to each and every interrogatory.

1. Opposer objects to the definitions and instructions contained in the interrogatories to the extent they are inconsistent with or seek to impose obligations beyond those imposed by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure or the Rule of the United States Trademark Office that govern inter partes proceedings.

2. Opposer objects to the interrogatories to the extent that they seek information not reasonably available to, or documents not within the possession, custody, or control of Opposer, as such requests are beyond the scope of Rule 26 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The responses given herein are based on information reasonably available to Opposer and documents within Opposer's possession, custody, or control, including Opposer's knowledge of same.

3. Opposer objects to each interrogatory to the extent it uses language calling for a legal conclusion. Opposer's responses herein shall be as to matters of fact only and shall not be construed as stating or implying any conclusions of law concerning the matters referenced in any interrogatory.

4. Opposer objects to each interrogatory to the extent that it calls for information or documents protected by the attorney-client privilege or that may be protected by any other privilege. Such information or documents will not be disclosed or produced. Any inadvertent disclosure of privileged information (or inadvertent release of privileged documents) shall not constitute waiver of any applicable privilege. (This General Objection shall hereinafter be referred to as an objection on the ground of "Privilege.")

5. Opposer objects to each interrogatory to the extent that it seeks information or materials prepared by Opposer or its representatives in anticipation of litigation or for trial and thus are protected by Rules 26(b)(3) or 26(b)(4) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. Such information or materials will not be disclosed or produced. Any inadvertent disclosure of information or materials comprising work product shall not constitute waiver of any applicable work product protection. (This General Objection shall hereinafter be referred to as an objection on the ground of "Work Product.")

6. Opposer objects to each interrogatory to the extent that it seeks information not relevant to the subject matter of this litigation, or that is not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence. (This General Objection shall hereinafter be referred to as an objection on the ground of "Relevance.")

7. Opposer objects to each interrogatory to the extent that it seeks information that is vexatious or unduly burdensome to obtain. (This General Objection shall hereinafter be referred to as an objection on the ground of "Undue Burden.")

8. Opposer objects to each interrogatory to the extent that it is ambiguous, vague, or otherwise incomprehensible. (This General Objection shall hereinafter be referred to as an objection on the ground of "Vagueness.")

9. Opposer objects to each interrogatory to the extent that it is over broad and fails to set forth with reasonable particularity the information requested. (This General Objection shall hereinafter be referred to as an objection on the ground of "Overbreadth.")

10. Opposer objects to each interrogatory to the extent that it seeks private, confidential, trade secret, or proprietary information of Opposer or of third parties. Opposer will divulge such information only after entry of a suitable protective order in this case. (This

INTERROGATORY NO. 5:

For each product or service bearing, sold or offered under, or intended to be sold or offered under any of Opposer's Marks from 1979 to the present, describe in detail how Opposer's Marks appear, or are intended to appear, on each such product or in connection with each such service, including without limitation the location and size of Opposer's Marks, whether they appear in connection with any other words or designs, and how they are used (or will be used) in connection with the sale, offering for sale, advertising, distribution, or manufacture of each such product or service.

Response to Interrogatory No. 5

In addition to its General Objections, Opposer objects to this interrogatory on the grounds that it is overly broad and indefinite and unduly burdensome. Further, Opposer objects to this interrogatory on the grounds that it asks for information irrelevant to the current opposition proceeding. Without waiving such objections, Opposer states that its registrations do not limit in any way how the trademarks may be used. As a matter of law, Opposer's registrations thus cover any use of the registered marks, regardless of the accompanying designs in the designated class of goods and services. Notwithstanding the above, Opposer directs Applicant to the documents Opposer has produced in response to Applicant's document requests, Opposer's publicly-available website (www.uschamber.com), and the publicly-available records of the U.S. Trademark Office for examples of how Opposer has used its registered marks.

INTERROGATORY NO. 6:

Identify and describe any trademark search conducted by or for Opposer relating to any of Opposer's Marks or any other mark containing CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

INTERROGATORY NO. 27:

Describe in detail (i.e., state the case name, the tribunal, and the claims alleged in and the outcome of) any proceedings concerning the phrase "Chamber of Commerce" as a trademark, service mark or trade name before the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board, or in litigation in any court, in which Opposer was (or is) a party.

Response to Interrogatory No. 27

In addition to its General Objections, Opposer objects to this interrogatory on the grounds that it is overly broad and indefinite and unduly burdensome. Further, Opposer objects to this interrogatory on the grounds it asks for information in the public record. Further, Opposer objects to this interrogatory on the grounds that it asks for information irrelevant to the current opposition proceeding, and to the extent it suggests that Opposer is asserting that the phrase "Chamber of Commerce" in and of itself functions as a trademark. Notwithstanding the above, and subject to those objections, Opposer identifies the following proceedings, details about which are readily accessible to Applicant:

OPPOSER'S FIRST SET OF SUPPLEMENTAL RESPONSES TO APPLICANT'S SECOND SET OF INTERROGATORIES

Pursuant to TBMP Section 410 and Fed. R. Civ. Pro. 26 and 33, The Chamber of Commerce of the United States of America ("Opposer") hereby supplements its previous responses to Applicant's Second Set of Interrogatories to Opposer. These supplemental responses are made solely for the purpose of this administrative proceeding. Each supplemental response is subject to all objections as to competence, relevance, materiality, propriety, and admissibility, as well as any other objections that would require the exclusion of any statement contained herein if such interrogatory were asked of, or if a statement contained herein was made by, a witness present and testifying in court, all of which objections and grounds are expressly reserved and may be interposed at the time of trial or hearing.

Opposer's responses herein represent a good faith effort to supplement its previous responses to the broad interrogatories propounded. Opposer has, subject to the objections specified below, answered based upon its present knowledge of the content of the files and records in Opposer's possession or control and the present knowledge of persons employed by Opposer. However, Opposer's investigation into the matters specified are continuing. Thus, Opposer reserves the right to rely, at the time of taking testimony or in other proceedings in this action, on documents and evidence in addition to the material produced in response to these interrogatories, regardless of whether any such material or information is newly discovered or is presently in existence but not as yet located and produced despite diligent and good faith efforts.

Opposer's response to any interrogatory is not an admission or acknowledgment that such information is relevant to this action or that any particular document or thing exists, is non-privileged, or is admissible in evidence. Opposer's responses shall not prejudice Opposer's right to contest at the time of taking testimony or presenting arguments, or at any other proceeding in this action, that such information or material is inadmissible, irrelevant, or immaterial, or that it is not the proper basis for discovery. Further, Opposer's responses are being made without prejudice to, or waiver of, any objection to any future use of such information or material that Opposer may make, nor shall responses be deemed to constitute an admission that any statement or characterization in an interrogatory is accurate or complete.

SUPPLEMENTAL RESPONSES

The supplemental responses being provided below are being made subject to, and without wavier of, any and all of the General and Specific Objections set forth in Opposer's Responses to Applicant's Second Set of Interrogatories.

INTERROGATORY NO. 1:

Identify and describe in detail each product or service of Opposer bearing, sold or offered under, or intended to be sold or offered under, Opposer's Marks, from 1979 to the present.

Response to Interrogatory No. 1

In addition to its General Objections, Opposer objects to this interrogatory on the grounds that it is overly broad and indefinite and unduly burdensome. Further, Opposer objects to this interrogatory on the grounds that it asks for information irrelevant to the current opposition proceeding. Without waiving these objections, Opposer states that it offers association services, namely, promoting the interests of business men and women.

Supplemental Response to Interrogatory No. 1

Subject to, and without waiver of the objections set out above, Opposer further responds that "association services, namely, promoting the interests of business men and women" is broadly defined by the Trademark Office and encompasses any services that Opposer offers or may offer as an association that are designed to promote the interests of the business men and women, who may or may not be members of Opposer's organization. These would include all of the services described on, or offered through, Opposer's website at www.uschamber.com.

INTERROGATORY NO. 11:

State the annual and monthly amounts spent by or on behalf of Opposer for advertising each product or service bearing, sold or offered under, or intended to be sold or offered under, any of Opposer's Marks, since 1979. If Opposer does not maintain records of the amounts spent on the advertisement and promotion of its products or services bearing, sold or offered under any of Opposer's Marks, then state the annual and monthly amount spent by or on behalf of Opposer

Madison County Record, Inc.

INTERROGATORY NO. 27:

Response to Interrogatory No. 27:

In addition to its General Objections, Opposer objects to this interrogatory on the grounds that it is overly broad and indefinite and unduly burdensome. Further, Opposer objects to this interrogatory on the grounds it asks for information in the public record. Further, Opposer objects to this interrogatory on the grounds that it asks for information irrelevant to the current opposition proceeding, and to the extent it suggests that Opposer is asserting that the phrase "Chamber of Commerce" in and of itself functions as a trademark. champertous (cham-pər-təs), adj. Of, relating to, or characterized by champerty; constituting champerty .

"In England and many other countries, the contingent fee is prohibited as a form of champerty because it permits a client to carry on litigation in exchange for a promise to the lawyer of a share in the recovery. Although most states in the United States prohibit a lawyer from accepting an assignment of a percentage of the client's cause of action as a legal fee, they do not similarly condemn, as champertous, contingent fees whereby the lawyer receives a percentage of the recovery as a fee and no fee at all if there is no recovery." Robert H. Aronson & Donald T. Weckstein, Professional Responsibility in a Nutshell 271–72 (2d ed. 1991).

Cf. MAINTENANCE (6).

"There is disagreement in the American courts as to what constitutes champerty. (1) Some courts hold that an agreement to look to the proceeds of the suit for compensation is champerty.... (2) Some courts hold that in addition the attorney must prosecute the suit at his own cost and expense to constitute champerty.... (3) Some courts hold even in a case like (2) that there is no champerty.... (4) All authorities agree that a contract for a contingent fee is not champerty if it is not to be paid out of the proceeds of the suit.... (5) In some states it is declared that the common law doctrines of maintenance and champerty are unknown ... ; in some the matter is regulated wholly by statute.... [A]nd in most there is a marked tendency to narrow the doctrines of champerty or to evade them." William R. Anson, Principles of the Law of Contract 294 n.2 (Arthur L. Corbin ed., 3d Am. ed. 1919).

"The rule as to champerty has been generally relaxed under modern decisions and a majority of courts now recognize that an agreement by which the attorney is to receive a contingent fee, i.e., a certain part of the avails of a suit or an amount fixed with reference to the amount recovered, is valid as long as the attorney does not agree to pay the expenses and costs of the action." Walter Wheeler Cook, "Quasi-Contracts," in 1 American Law and Procedure 129 (1952).

CHALLENGE OF AWARD

An attempt by the dissatisfied party to contest on specific statutory grounds the decision of the arbitrator.

An award may be challenged in several ways. The losing party may challenge the validity of the award by opposing any application to a court to have the award confirmed. The winning party may make such application any time within a year after delivery of the award. If time is an important factor, the losing party may proceed directly with a motion to have the award vacated. The application is usually made within 90 days after the award has been delivered, depending on the statute. Or the losing party may simply apply to have the award corrected or modified. The New York statute permits such application to be made directly in writing to the arbitrator within 20 days after delivery of the award for specific reasons such as a miscalculation of figures. Certain administrative agencies have review procedures for challenging awards within their own administrative framework. This is especially true in England in appeal boards of commodity exchanges and trade associations. Some trade associations in the United States have adopted a few similar appeal systems.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

An association of businessmen to promote the commercial and industrial interests of a community, state, or nation.

Many such chambers of commerce were pioneers in promoting the use of arbitration.

See also: Chamber of Commerce of the State of N.Y.; Int'l. Chamber of Commerce; London Court of Arb.

A chamber founded on April 5, 1768, and confirmed by the charter of King George III on March 13, 1770.

One of the functions outlined as a most important part of its activities at the earliest meetings of the New York State Chamber of Commerce in 1768 was the appointment of a committee on arbitration to settle disputes between merchants. The Chamber has administered the arbitration of commercial disputes from that early date to the present time. The Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York has been most influential in the development of commercial arbitration in New York State, especially in the support it gave to the drafting and passage of the New York Arbitration Law in 1920 and 1937, and the United States Arbitration Act of 1926.

See also: Chamber of Commerce of the State of N.Y. Arb. Comm.; Institutional arb.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK. ARBITRATION COMMITTEE

An arbitration committee first appointed by the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York on May 3, 1768.

The State of New York passed certain laws concerning the New York Chamber of Commerce and its work for commercial arbitration. The first of these in 1874 created a Court of Arbitration, with the State bearing a portion of the operating expenses, and the Chamber offering its facilities and administrative personnel. The Court of Arbitration was very active through 1882, and with some changes in the law, less so until 1900. The Arbitration Committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York still exists. It acts as the administrator, maintaining a List of Official Arbitrators and providing rules and regulations for the conduct of such arbitrations, access to which is not limited to its own members. Arbitrations are still conducted under its own rules, though less frequently.

See also: Access to the arbitral tribunal; Institutional arb.; Sterling Iron Works Dispute.
