Trade & Investment Mission to Libya

December 4 – 10, 2007

LIBYA

The National U.S.-Arab Chamber of Commerce (NUSACC), America's longest serving organization dedicated to U.S.-Arab business, led a high-level trade and investment mission to Libya in 2006 with great success. NUSACC is now organizing a follow-on mission scheduled for December 4-10. The trip will provide an opportunity for U.S. business leaders to meet with their counterparts in the Libyan business community and key Libyan government officials.

Delegation members will also have an opportunity to exhibit, if they so desire, at "Projex Libya 2007" – which will showcase energy equipment and an array of infrastructure and industrial products. (www.projexlibya.com) This trade show is scheduled to take place at the end of the NUSACC mission, on December 10-13.

Welcome.

As a bilateral chamber of commerce, our mission includes the promotion and stimulation of transatlantic trade and commerce between the United States and the United Kingdom. We recognize the importance of trade with the U.K. in its wider role as a member of the European Union.

The BACC, Great Lakes Region, (BACCGL) is a member of The British-American Business Council (BABC). As an international organization, the BABC links all the British-American Chambers of Commerce and Business Associations throughout the U.S., Canada, Puerto Rico and the U.K. The governments of the United States and the United Kingdom support the BABC and its members and provide commercial assistance and referral. Both governments also provide general consular support through their respective diplomatic offices.

The BACCGL works closely with many local, state and international organizations involved in promotion of overseas commerce. These include the World Trade Center Cleveland, the State of Ohio Governor's Office and Department of Development, the City of Cleveland Mayor's Office, the Greater Cleveland Growth Association, the Toledo Regional Growth Partnership, and the Greater Akron Chamber of Commerce.

I want to take this opportunity to congratulate Ambassador Adalnio Senna Ganem for his efforts in making this possible. I am confident that with the presence of the Consulate in Atlanta we will become a more active and very strong organization in the near future. ...

NEW BELGIUM - U.S.DOUBLE TAX TREATY
Avoiding double taxation & creating new investment opportunities

A new U.S.-Belgium Double Tax Treaty entered into force on December 28, 2007. The new Treaty garners an enthusiastic welcome in the business community as it significantly reduces tax-related barriers to investment flows between the U.S. and Belgium. One of the Treaty highlights is the elimination of source-country taxation of qualifying dividends, interest and royalties (subject to certain conditions), thereby creating many new cross-border investment opportunities. Other benefits of the treaty include, e.g.: a binding arbitration procedure, provisions on fiscally transparent entities, and an update of the tax treatment of pensions.

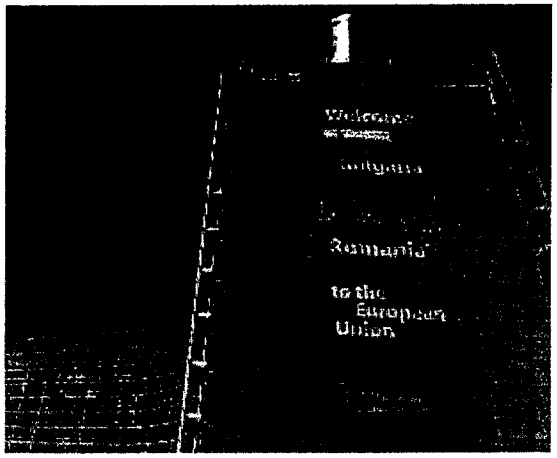
BULGARIAN – AMERICAN



Bulgaria is clearly on a path to prosperity according to the Wall Street Journal and the Investor's Business Daily (IBD). In January 2008, the Journal published the 2008 Index of Economic Freedom where Bulgaria ranked 59 out of 157 rated countries, freer than its European Union co-members Italy, Romania and Greece. "Of the five regions surveyed, Europe is the most free, continuing to advance this year with tax cuts and other business-friendly reforms," the Journal commentary reads referring in part to the new 10-percent-flat-tax law in effect in Bulgaria since January 1, 2008. The law replaced the progressive rate structure and is, the Journal says, "as far as we know the lowest such rate in the world." The Journal and IBD both point out the positive correlation between economic freedom and thriving business environment, the latter concluding that "economic freedom is the best path to prosperity."

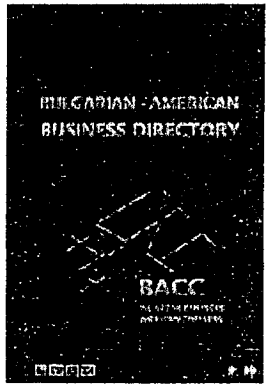
WELCOME TO BULGARIAN-AMERICAN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Bulgarian-American Chamber of Commerce (BACC) is the oldest and most prestigious business membership organization devoted to Bulgaria and Bulgarian-owned businesses in the United States of America. The Chamber serves the needs of the Bulgarian-American business community. Any person, association, partnership or corporation having an interest in the objectives of this organization and agreed with and bounded by the BACC's Terms and Conditions shall be eligible for membership.



About Bulgarian-American Chamber of Commerce

The BACC was incorporated on November 22, 1993 in Los Angeles, California as a non-profit corporation. The BACC was established by Dr. Ogden C. Page, a native Bulgarian, with years of experience in helping numerous Bulgarian-owned companies in the United States explore business opportunities and effectively manage their financial affairs.

Bulgarian-American Business Directory

The Bulgarian-American Business Directory is a successor to the Bulgarian Yellow Pages published in the past by the BACC – a powerful advertising and marketing publication of Bulgarian businesses in North America. Your listing in this directory is one of the benefits of the BACC membership. The digital space and the complexity of the presentation you have chosen would determine your annual membership fees.

Who's Who in Bulgarian-American Community

The Who's Who in the Bulgarian-American Community (Biographies & Credentials) is the new BACC's biographical directory of Bulgarians living abroad. It is published by the BACC, but the inclusion in it is not a part of the BACC's membership. Reputable Bulgarians from around the world who are willing to document a digital legacy for current and future generations are welcome to participate. BACC's members have the opportunity to be presented in the Who's Who directory at a discounted rate.

UPCOMING EVENTS

Welcome to the

Danish-American Chamber of Commerce of Southern California

Hosted by Danish-American Chamber of Commerce in Southern California the Danish American business community will convene on March 6-7, 2008 at UCLA to form an unprecedented think tank to examine the central forces and challenges to competitiveness in two of the world's most competitive nations. Carefully selected speakers, innovators and entrepreneurs with vast experience from both markets will join trade officials and representatives from the top tier business schools, Anderson School of Management and MIT Sloan School of Management at UCLA.

"We are honored to host the 3rd annual Danish American Business summit and determined to make it the best ever. The program features an impressive line up of very accomplished individuals and successful corporations. We are collaborating closely with two of the leading management institution in the US and have partnered with key influential Danish American business associations. This program is a must for any business leader who wants leading edge thinking on competitiveness and innovation." Søren Eilertsen, Chair of the Danish American Business Summit 2008.

The Summit will highlight entrepreneurship, market positioning, and leadership while sharing experiences from life sciences, technology, design, entertainment, services, manufacturing, and consumer products. Key decision makers from both markets will learn from the very best and in a unique forum share an unprecedented level of knowledge and experiences from both US and Denmark.

"This is the must attend event of the year for any Danish exporter or subsidiary on the US market. Equally any American corporation or entrepreneur, with international aspirations or presence will be able to gain unparallel insights to the Danish and Scandinavian market, and join a very useful network." Morten Grubert, Executive Director, Danish American Business Summit 2008

Titled "Competitiveness in Action" the summit explores in depth the business background for impressive rankings of both Denmark and US in global competitiveness surveys.

"To have Denmark ranked as number 5 in the IMD World Competitiveness Survey 2007 is a remarkable accomplishment particular given its size. We in the US should explore this small country perspective and exchange ideas on entrepreneurship and innovation to sustain our position as a future global frontrunner." Dr. Robert Spich, UCLA Anderson School of Management.

Business Summit Program

The Danish-American Chamber of Commerce of Southern California is a non-profit corporation first chartered by a group of local Danish-American business men upon the 1976 visit to the West Coast of Her Majesty Queen Margrethe II and his Royal Highness, Prince Henrik.

The activities of the Chamber are based on voluntary participation and interest of the members (DACC Purpose). The Chamber is financially self-supporting and depends entirely on membership fees and donations for its operating funds.

Distinguished visitors from the Danish government in Copenhagen as well as the Embassy in Washington D.C. have participated in interesting presentations. Prominent speakers from the private American and Danish business world have contributed significantly to interesting and informative meetings.

Members of the Danish-American Chamber of Commerce receive automatic membership in EABA, European American Business Association. EABA includes all the currently organized chambers connected with member countries of the European Common Market.

Ecuador rumbo al estatismo

By JUAN JOSE MALO

Me han causado gran desconcierto las aseveraciones del cónsul general del Ecuador en Miami, Juan Carlos Toledo, de que el presidente de Ecuador, Rafael Correa, viene obrando como un demócrata convencido y que en respeto a las leyes y a la institucionalidad jurídica hace una gestión sin precedentes.

Afirmar que la reforma tributaria recién aprobada por la Asamblea Nacional Constituyente, en forma poco más que violentatoria de todo principio democrático y constitucional, es una maravilla del socialismo del siglo XXI a la ecuatoriana, es no tener clara la realidad social del país. Esta es una ley que carece de algunos de los principios universales de equidad tributaria y respeto hacia quienes de una u otra forma contribuyen al desarrollo nacional vía cumplimiento de sus obligaciones tributarias.

Es evidente que el gobierno nacional, lejos de perseguir a los grandes evasores como ofreció el Presidente en su campaña, pretende con esta ley esquilmar aun más a quienes de una manera u otra sí vienen cumpliendo con sus obligaciones tributarias. Simplemente comparando las cifras de recaudación desde el año 2000 a la fecha se ve que el trabajo que venía ejerciendo el SRI antes de la administración del señor Marx Carrasco era encomiable con los bemoles propios de un ente que iba de a poco rompiendo los tabúes de un sistema perverso. Ahora la clase media y los asalariados verán como lo poco que habían logrado gracias a la dolarización y a la estabilidad económica se evaporará por arte de magia, ya que su capacidad de consumo desaparecerá. Decir que ahora se tienen ventajas en las exenciones tributarias es una verdad a medias, el tiempo lo dirá y se verá inevitablemente una afectación a las recaudaciones tributarias. Ya vamos a ver cómo se comporta el recaudo del nuevo ICE y por c onsiguiente del IVA en artículos como los vehículos, perfumes y otros, a los cuales con los nuevas tasas fiscales serán prohibitivos para el consumidor ya que estos generaban gran cantidad de puestos de trabajo e ingresos al fisco y que se perderán inevitablemente por el conocido efecto cascada/dominó. Hay que recordar que detrás de cada puesto de trabajo existe una familia, y detrás de cada familia una cascada de consumo.

Vemos con preocupación como la Asamblea Nacional Constituyente, lejos de hacer lo que el pueblo ecuatoriano le pidió, que fue redactar una nueva Constitución y reestructurar el estado, se ha convertido en una especie de Congreso Nacional, manejado igual que un grupo de títeres sin derecho a opinar, que lo que sí han aprendido es a alzar la mano cuando el presidente de la república se los mande.

Esta Asamblea ahora redacta leyes, como la anteriormente expuesta, y se apresta a redactar otras, que inevitablemente surgirán de un proceso viciado que tarde o temprano podrá anular lo actuado, ya que son leyes emitidas sin estudio previo a su efecto en la sociedad, generando más caos y profundizando el limbo jurídico en el que ahora se desenvuelve nuestra patria.

Los abusos y la falta de tolerancia se vieron en la frustrada protesta que en forma civilizada el alcalde de Guayaquil, con otros alcaldes del país, intentó realizar y a quienes les impidieron por órdenes superiores llegar a la ciudad de Montecristi a dialogar con la Asamblea. Triste corolario para un gobierno que, según nuestro cónsul general, es demócrata y respetuoso de las opiniones ajenas.

En cambio, el gobierno nacional no tuvo inconvenientes en llevar a sus asalariados a Guayaquil. Multitud que todos sabemos fueron producto del manejo político y se prestaron más por cobrar un pequeño dinero, muy necesario en vista de su vapuleada economía, que por convencimiento propio. Pobre nuestro país.

El señor cónsul no debe defender los actos y actitudes del Presidente al maltratar a la prensa con insultos y apodos despectivos que desmerecen al gobierno ecuatoriano, que se cree dueño de la verdad y nos está arrastrando a las épocas de los 70 con un estatismo socialista caduco que en ninguna parte del mundo ha dado resultado. Muchos países europeos han descartado ese estatismo y progresan a un ritmo que ya quisiéramos tener en el Ecuador.

El primer año de este gobierno está más marcado por las promesas no cumplidas que por lo que asevera el artículo del señor cónsul. ¿Dónde está la extradición de los corruptos banqueros prófugos? ¿Dónde están las 50,000 viviendas que el presidente Correa prometió construir en su primer año? ¿Dónde están los nuevos empleos? ¿Hacia dónde va esta democracia si cada día hay menos voces libres?

Pdte. Cámara Ecuatoriana Americana del Gran Miami.

Welcome — Bienvenue!

Welcome to the Philadelphia Chapter of the French-American Chamber of Commerce! We are a thriving, non-profit, membership-driven business association, that is proudly supported by 400 globally-minded French and American business leaders and their companies.

Thanks to significant French business investment in the Delaware Valley and the continuing globalization of American companies, FACC-Philadelphia has grown since 1989 to become the second largest chapter in the 19-city network. We also rank as the largest of 14 bi-national chambers of commerce in the region.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT:

Dear Members, Dear Visitors,

I am very pleased to welcome you on our new FACC Web site. This site has been completely remodeled, with the support of UCCIFE, to better serve you and keep you informed about our developments and activities. We will try to keep it alive and a useful tool. Our Chapter represents the network of the French American Companies in Atlanta and the South East. As such we are proud and eager to participate to the development of the Region and to help our Members in taking the best of this opportunity. As you will see going through the information the Region is extremely dynamic, mostly one of the most dynamic in the US; and the French American Business Community is also quite active, contributing directly to the International and local growth of Atlanta. Our network regroups more than 250 divisions or companies and is now well established. With little resources but thanks to the support of all, our Chamber makes it best to support this network and organize various activities, on a monthly basis or as key yearly milestones. We will be pleased to welcome you, either in our offices or for one of these events.

Sincerely,

Denys Gounot - FACC Atlanta President

Citizenship declaration - act before 31 May 2008

Opportunity for citizenship - act before 31 May 2008 Former Finnish citizens living abroad and their descendants have theopportunity to acquire Finnish citizenship.

Former Finnish citizens have the opportunity to re-acquire Finnish citizenship by declaration, if they have lost it when acquiring the citizenship of another country, for example. Descendants of former and current Finnish citizens may also acquire Finnish citizenship by declaration, even if they have never had citizenship.

The declaration must be made at the latest on 31 May 2008.

Finnish citizenship is an opportunity to...
* pass Finnish citizenship down to your children
* strengthen ties to your home country and unite the bonds between states via individuals
* experience Finnishness
* belong to a group
* obtain a Finnish passport
* vote in elections
* become an EU citizen
* travel more freely, and to live and work in all your citizenship states and in EU countries Finnish citizenship also carries obligations. Men have the duty to perform military service and may have to serve in the military as conscripts. Persons with multiple citizenships may lose the citizenship of another country, if so required by the legislation of the country in question. Moreover, Finnish authorities may not always be able to provide assistance, if a person with multiple citizenships runs into trouble in another state of which he or she is a citizen.

What is St. Thomas Mass? The St. Thomas Mass welcomes searchers to celebrate, serving God and fellow humans, growing together. It's a Lutheran worship service that has been influenced by old liturgical traditions of the church as well as by the spirit of ecumenism. It has been named after the Apostle Thomas who seemed to have more questions than answers in his faith. The mass is different every time. Songs sung are mostly modern spiritual music, and it is accompanied by a choir and a small band.
How did it start?
The first St. Thomas Mass was celebrated in April 1988 at the Agricola Church in Helsinki. It quickly gained popularity throughout the country, and also abroad - and now here! We hope to see you at San Diego's 1st St. Thomas Mass

Welcome

Welcome to the FACC joint website in the United States and Finland. The purpose of this website is to give you an overview of all Finnish American Chambers and to serve as a key resource for Trans-Atlantic networking and business contacts.

The Finnish American Chamber of Commerce was founded in 1948 in New York to protect, develop, encourage, promote and foster trade, business, financial or professional interests and commercial relations between Finland and the United States.

With the new challenges of the 21st century, the rapid information flow and globalization, the FACC is renewing itself to promote and stimulate the partnership between Finland and the U.S. for our current and prospective members. However, some facts remain constant: the search for new business opportunities, the importance of knowledge, the desire to network and preserve our cultural bonds. These were the driving forces in the creation of FACC New York in 1948. We are confident that these needs of business people will remain indefinitely.

We trust you will find this website informative and a useful tool in finding information about different FACC chambers. We always welcome new members to help strengthen our organization.

On behalf of all FACC Chambers

Global congress calls on government leaders to engage in battle against counterfeiting

Top government officials, business leaders and senior law enforcement authorities are calling on national and international political leaders to engage in the battle against counterfeit goods and piracy of intellectual property and announced plans for a Dubai Declaration.

The call for increased action came at the close of the Fourth Global Congress on Combating Counterfeiting and Piracy, held in Dubai from 3-5 February 2008. The international event brought together over 1,200 delegates from 90 countries and was held under the patronage of Sheikh Mohammed Bin Rashid Al Maktoum, Vice President and Prime Minister of the United Arab Emirates (UAE) and Ruler of Dubai. The event was hosted by Dubai Customs and the World Customs Organization (WCO).

The Fourth Global Congress was organized to enable participants to identify actions and solutions to the growing problem of product counterfeiting and piracy. Along with the WCO, the Congress was convened by Interpol and the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO) with the cooperation of the world's business community, represented by the International Chamber of Commerce (ICC) through its Business Action to Stop Counterfeiting and Piracy (BASCAP) initiative, the International Trademark Association (INTA) and the International Security Management Association (ISMA). It is the first Congress held away from the European headquarters of WCO, Interpol and WIPO.

Dubai Declaration

More than 50 leaders from 25 countries delivered proposals for more effectively combating counterfeiting and piracy around the general themes of: enhanced cooperation and coordination; improved legislation and enforcement; expanded capacity-building activities; the need to increase public and political awareness of counterfeiting and piracy activities and their associated economic and social harm; the threats to human health and safety; the need to develop legislation and appropriate enforcement measures to deter and punish traffickers of counterfeit and pirated goods in free trade zones and transhipment countries; and the urgent need for concrete and practical solutions to address the sale of counterfeit and pirated products over the Internet. These themes will be developed into a series of key recommendations for specific actions to be released as the Dubai Declaration at the end of February 2008.

Commenting on the outcome of the Congress, the Director General of Dubai Customs, Ahmed Butti Ahmed, said that the Congress had been a great success and represented a platform from which all concerned stakeholders could work to achieve security for all. He underlined the importance of high-level political support in ensuring that progress was made in the battle against counterfeiting and piracy.

Michel Danet, Secretary General of the World Customs Organization and lead co-organizer of this year's event, applauded the successful conclusion of the Congress and highlighted the urgency of dealing with counterfeiting and piracy around the world. He said that strong political will and commitment such as that demonstrated by the authorities of Dubai was essential. He spoke of the need for global legislation to fight the scourge of counterfeiting and piracy to enable effective implementation of these laws by police, customs and judicial authorities. Mr Danet heralded the partnership that had been established with the private sector in the context of the First Congress in Lyon, France which, he said, gave an impetus to the debate. The private sector was motivated not only by their desire to protect their intellectual property rights, but to safeguard the well-being of consumers, he said.

Michael Keplinger, Deputy Director General of the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO), underlined the importance of the Congress as a means of raising political and public awareness of the scale of the problems of counterfeiting and piracy. He said that the substantive discussions which had taken place would be the basis of sound recommendations around which it would be possible to mobilize broad-based support for the future work of the Congress. He said that WIPO would continue its efforts to support the development of an effective international legal framework to safeguard the rights of intellectual property owners. He added that WIPO was committed to continuing its capacity-building initiatives and training programmes to ensure that countries around the world were better able to tackle this escalating problem.

John Newton, responsible for the IP crime programme of the International Criminal Police Organization (Interpol) said that counterfeiting and piracy had infiltrated every market. He said that the industrial scale of this illicit trade was clear evidence of the involvement of organized crime, which was a source of great concern for all. He added that significant results had already been achieved in regional multi-agency operations which would provide a platform for further action around the world.

David Benjamin, Senior Vice President Anti-Piracy for the Universal Music Group, called for the engagement of all senior politicians in the battle against counterfeiting and piracy. He said that counterfeiting and piracy affected all sectors of the economy where creativity, invention and innovation were important. He said that an increasing share of the gross domestic product (GDP) of all countries was based on intellectual property. He called for quick action to deal with this widespread problem which was damaging all economic sectors. "People are dying, creative communities are being decimated and our cultural heritage is being strip-mined," he said.

Richard Heath, President-Elect of the International Trademark Association (INTA) and Vice President of Unilever PLC, urged the maintenance of the public-private partnership that characterized the Congress. He spoke of the need to raise awareness of the problems of counterfeiting and piracy at the most senior levels both within business and government circles. He said that it was necessary to further raise awareness of the problem and to develop evolving legal frameworks to effectively meet the challenges. He spoke of the widespread economic and social damage resulting from the illicit trade in fake products and underlined the need for punishments to fit the crime.

About the Global Congress on Combating Counterfeiting and Piracy

The Global Congress on Combating Counterfeiting and Piracy represents a unique, international public-private sector partnership that is united in its efforts to identify solutions to the growing menace of the illegal trade in counterfeiting and piracy and facilitate their implementation. The Congress has become a leading international forum for shaping practical strategies to combat counterfeiting and piracy

The Global Congress to Combat Counterfeiting and Piracy was previously hosted by WIPO in January 2007 in Geneva; by Interpol in 2005 in Lyon, France; and by WCO in 2004 in Brussels. These international gatherings have provided a valuable forum for representatives from both the public and private sectors to pool their experience, raise awareness, enhance cooperation and identify strategies to deal more effectively with the global problem of counterfeiting and piracy.

Details of previous meetings and the Fourth Global Congress, including the programme and list of speakers, are available at www.ccapcongress.net .

Network with Greek and Greek American business professionals, promote yourself, explore business opportunities and form strategic partnerships with successful entrepreneurs and business owners. Get a pocket full of business cards, join our events, and get a stack of new connections.

Greek business owners and entrepreneurs are successful because they're experts of their own businesses. Whether you're in hospitality, education, sales, technology, finance, retail, marketing or any industry, it's a great way to connect with other Greeks. We are creating a business/professiona l membership community of success-minded Greek Americans who are serious about networking, helping others and transacting business. We plan to create chapters throughout the U.S., and our website GreekAmericanChamber .com will provide unparalleled marketing and promotion opportunities for our members.

Our philosophy is that you must first and foremost give to others "first." We believe that by giving and being "other-focused" you create a world of abundance for all. For us, networking is really the art of "giving" and searching for ways to serve the needs of others before focusing on ourselves.

the U.S. Small Business Administration. (T&G Staff/RICK CINCLAIR)

By Lisa Eckelbecker TELEGRAM & GAZETTE STAFF

CLINTON— The first time he saw a printer use ink and paper to produce a page of text, Ariel E. Schmidt got goose pimples.

Just 11 years old and loitering in the printing shop of the Cuban college his father was leading, Mr. Schmidt suddenly stopped agitating for one of the shop workers to take him to a local swimming spot.

"Then I didn't mind staying there," he said of the moment that would set him on a career path as a printer and businessman. "I don't know if we even went to the river."

From that revelatory beginning, Mr. Schmidt worked his way up to ownership of Atlantic Graphic Services Inc., a printing business with about 50 full-time employees and $6 million in annual revenues. This year, Mr. Schmidt, 64, was honored by the U.S. Small Business Administration with the 2006 Minority Small Business Person of the Year Award for Massachusetts and New England.

The award goes to successful businesses that have overcome obstacles and gotten involved in their communities. The description fits Mr. Schmidt, according to Nader Acevedo, executive director of the Hispanic-American Chamber of Commerce of Greater Boston and the person who nominated Mr. Schmidt for the SBA award.

"I always admired him, because not only does he run a good business, but he's a good person," Mr. Acevedo said. "He gives a lot back to the community."

A commercial printing operation that turns out advertisements, brochures and quarterly or semi-annual materials for clients in the financial, educational and medical industries, Atlantic Graphic Services operates out of 55,000-square-foot space on Plain Street. The business is something of a family enterprise: Mr. Schmidt's son, a daughter and her husband work for the company. Another daughter used to work there. Until her death, Mr. Schmidt's late wife, Enid, was what he calls "the rock" of the business, signing the checks and playing golf with female customers.

In addition to running the business, Mr. Schmidt is chairman of the Hispanic-American Chamber of Commerce of Greater Boston, where he presses for educational programs for members and greater economic development, according to Mr. Acevedo. Atlantic Graphic Services has been named to the Hispanic Business 500, a ranking of the nation's top Hispanic-owned businesses by Hispanic Business magazine.

Getting the business to the point that it could make such a list came after years of work. Born in Peru to Seventh-day Adventist Argentine missionaries of German descent, Mr. Schmidt spent his youth and high-school years in Cuba. After his first view of a galley proof in the Cuban print shop, he announced to his father that he wanted to become a printer. He started working at the school's print shop within a week, a job that typically paid 11 cents an hour but that his father knocked down even more.

"My father said, 'Well, since you are the son of the administrator, I'm going to give you 8 cents an hour,' " Mr. Schmidt said.

At 17, Mr. Schmidt arrived in the United States to attend Andrews University. He did not stay enrolled, however. He went back into printing.

Mr. Schmidt later graduated from Atlantic Union College in Lancaster and went to work for Eusey Press in Leominster, becoming vice president of manufacturing and plant supervisor. Then in 1982, he acquired the college printing operation at Atlantic Union College. The printing entity had just $100,000 in annual revenues.

Mr. Schmidt said he bumped up revenues to $1 million a year in his first year of operation. In subsequent years, the tribulations of his customers in technology and banking would challenge the commercial printing company.

"When Wang went bankrupt, that was a major hit for me," Mr. Schmidt said, referring to the 1992 bankruptcy of Lowell-based Wang Laboratories Inc. "They were over 50 percent of our business."

The company also lost about 20 percent of its business during the region's banking mergers, when Bank of America acquired Fleet Bank, Mr. Schmidt said.

His response has been to attempt to diversify the company's clientele. Although the company still prints for financial clients, it has also secured customers in education, such as Dartmouth College, and medicine, Mr. Schmidt said.

The company's success, he said, flows from the people who work there.

"It's the spirit the people have," he said. "The majority of our employees are very, very customer oriented, and they will do anything to make things happen, with the exception that I will not open the business from sundown Friday to after sundown on Saturday, and that's because of my religion," he said.

That schedule, said Mr. Schmidt, a Seventh-day Adventist, has never cost the company work.

"I have been threatened (with) losing business, but I have not lost a single job because of it," he said.

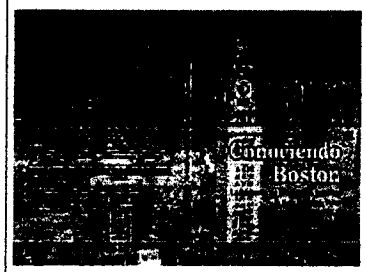
THE CHAMBER endorses Conociendo Boston: La Historia de Boston en Espanol by Luis Fernando Velez



Foreword by Nader Acevedo

Conociendo Boston is an applause to the effort of Luis Fernando Velez, a lawyer who has been committed to social work in Boston. The experience of Velez as a judge in his homeland Colombia, strengthens his capacity of going in depth into the social aspects of a city as rich in culture as Boston.

I personally admire Luis Fernando for his tenacity and persistence to pursue a literary adventure that will raise the critical interest of an important community. Publishing this work will not just give great satisfaction to the author but even more to you our friend, the reader. As executive director of the Hispanic American Chamber of Commerce of Greater Boston, it is a pleasure to endorse an author that lives and works among us. It is part of our social and cultural responsibility to make available to professionals, families, workers, and students this important book about the academic capital of the United States.

Our associates, clients, and the extended community will have an invaluable social value publication. The book deposits knowledge, imagination, and stories about the story of a city that has given a lot to the Hispanic immigrant, who everyday wins more space and relevance in this land of pilgrims and colonizers. As he did researcher work, I want to highlight the effort of a thinker who is looking to accomplish a goal that will leave a historical mark to be recognized by residents and visitors. It is wonderful that Boston has a book about its history, written in Spanish and with interesting content for everyone.

The Hellenic-American Chamber of Commerce was formed over 50 years ago for the purpose of promoting and strengthening the economic and cultural ties between the United States of America and Greece.

Since that time, our organization has grown and its scope has broadened beyond the express purpose of fostering and developing commercial and trade relations between Greece and the United States.

Beyond its traditional commercial role, the Chamber administered the "George E. Athans Scholarship Fund" (prior to entrusting it to the Office of Financial Aid at New York University), and continues to assist in the selection of its recipients. The Chamber honorees for achievement have not been limited to commerce but have come from the arts and politics as well. The Chamber has co-sponsored investment seminars and hosted political leaders.

The Chamber today is a multifaceted organization that offers different things to different people and provides a network and forum for its members to meet, interact, and exchange ideas. It is a vehicle from which to gain an additional perspective.

Ultimately, it is our membership that has made the Chamber a successful organization and we would welcome the opportunity to meet with you at our next event.

Welcome

The Hungarian American Chamber of Commerce (the Chamber) is a dynamic, non-profit, non-political, independent service organization. We are dedicated to furthering the development of relations between Hungary and the United States, promoting trade, establishing joint ventures and fostering new business and job opportunities both in the US and Hungary.

Through luncheons, networking events and special programs, the Chamber provides a forum for members to exchange ideas and information with guests from all sectors of government and the business world. Our guest speakers are distinguished Hungarian or American business and government representatives. All meetings are conducted in English.

Hungary joining the European Union presents an unprecedented business opportunity

In May 2004, Hungary joined the EU. This created an unprecedented business opportunity for US companies entering Hungary. The Chamber is available to assist companies with all the necessary business intelligence in order to make an informed decision. We can highlight the benefits of doing business in Hungary, identify opportunities, and facilitate introductions to key companies and organizations.

Since the political and economic changes of 1989, Hungary has steadily developed into one of Central Europe's most attractive business environments. It achieved political and economic stability while successfully transforming into a modern market economy. As a result of this stability, Hungary joined the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) in 1996, became a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) in 1999, and became a full member of the European Union in May, 2004.

Guardian Industries and CEO William M. Davidson Receive 2004 Luxembourg American Business Award

NEW YORK, New York, September 20, 2004 – The Luxembourg American Chamber of Commerce in the United States bestowed its 2004 Luxembourg American Business Award upon Auburn Hills, Michigan-based Guardian Industries Corp. and its President and CEO William M. Davidson.

The biannual award, commemorated by a unique sculpture executed by a Luxembourg artist, signified a special and longstanding relationship between an American corporation and Luxembourg. The award was presented to Mr. Davidson at a dinner presided over by H.R.H. the Crown Prince Guillaume of Luxembourg, with remarks by New York Mayor Michael Bloomberg, held at the Rainbow Room in New York City on September 22, 2004. 230 distingue shed attended this prestigious black tie dinner.

The Luxembourg American Business Award acknowledges the vision and leadership of Mr. Davidson, who has made Guardian Industries a leader in the global flat glass and automotive supply industries. Luxembourg's business environment has been an important contributor to that success, most recently by supporting the establishment of Guardian Luxcoating in Bascharage in 2003, a state-of-the-art facility that is the largest coater of glass products in the world.

Guardian Industries has been present in Luxembourg for over twenty years. Its continued growth and expansion within the country has mirrored Luxembourg's own enhanced role in the European and world economic communities. From its beginnings in Bascharage in 1981, Guardian has grown to become Luxembourg's third largest industrial employer with two float glass complexes, an automotive glass manufacturing plant, a research and development center and the headquarters of Guardian Europe, which oversees manufacturing operations in 8 countries and sales throughout Europe.

The Luxembourg American Business Award is a fitting tribute to a historic and fruitful partnership between Luxembourg and a world-class American company, Guardian Industries.

Luxembourg Minister of the Economy and Foreign Trade Jeannot Krecké stated, "We look back upon a past and forward to a future of great promise for Guardian and Luxembourg, and to the cooperative transatlantic enterprise that has been so mutually rewarding."

"The reason we have stayed and prospered in Luxembourg is simple – Luxembourg works!" said William Davidson. "It truly is an outstanding place to do business. Its government understands the value of a close public/private partnership and an open, market-driven economy."

Guardian Industries Corp., based in Auburn Hills, Mich., is a leading worldwide manufacturer of float glass and fabricated glass products for the commercial and residential construction industries. Guardian Automotive provides complete exterior systems to the global automotive industry and is a Tier 1, top-100 global automotive supplier. Guardian's Building Products Group includes one of the largest manufacturers of fiberglass in the world and occupies a significant and growing position in the building materials distribution business. Guardian, its subsidiaries and affiliates employ 19,000 people and operate facilities throughout North America, Europe, South America, Asia, Africa and the Middle East.

Advancing Business in the Americas

For nearly a century, the American Chambers of Commerce (AmChams) have been the most influential voice of U.S. business in Latin America and the Caribbean. Today, joined together in the Association of American Chambers of Commerce in Latin America, these 23 AmChams represent more than 20,000 companies and over 80% of U.S. investment in the region.

Acting in partnership with the U.S. Chamber of Commerce — the world's largest business federation - AACCLA has become the premier advocate for U.S. business in the Americas. AACCLA's mission is to promote trade and investment between the United States and the countries of the region through free trade, free markets, and free enterprise.

AmChams

The 23 AmChams in 21 countries in Latin America and the Caribbean provide a wide variety of services to their members and to the citizens of the countries in which they operate. The AmChams work diligently to contribute to the growth of trade and investment between their host countries and the United States. They represent companies and industry sectors involved in trade and promote the development of open markets and ethical business practices.

Policy Issues

AACCLA is a strong advocate of free trade and free markets in the Americas. Through its Secretariat in Washington, DC, the Association serves as a liaison between the private sector and the U.S. Government and lobbies for policies that will improve trade relations within the hemisphere.
