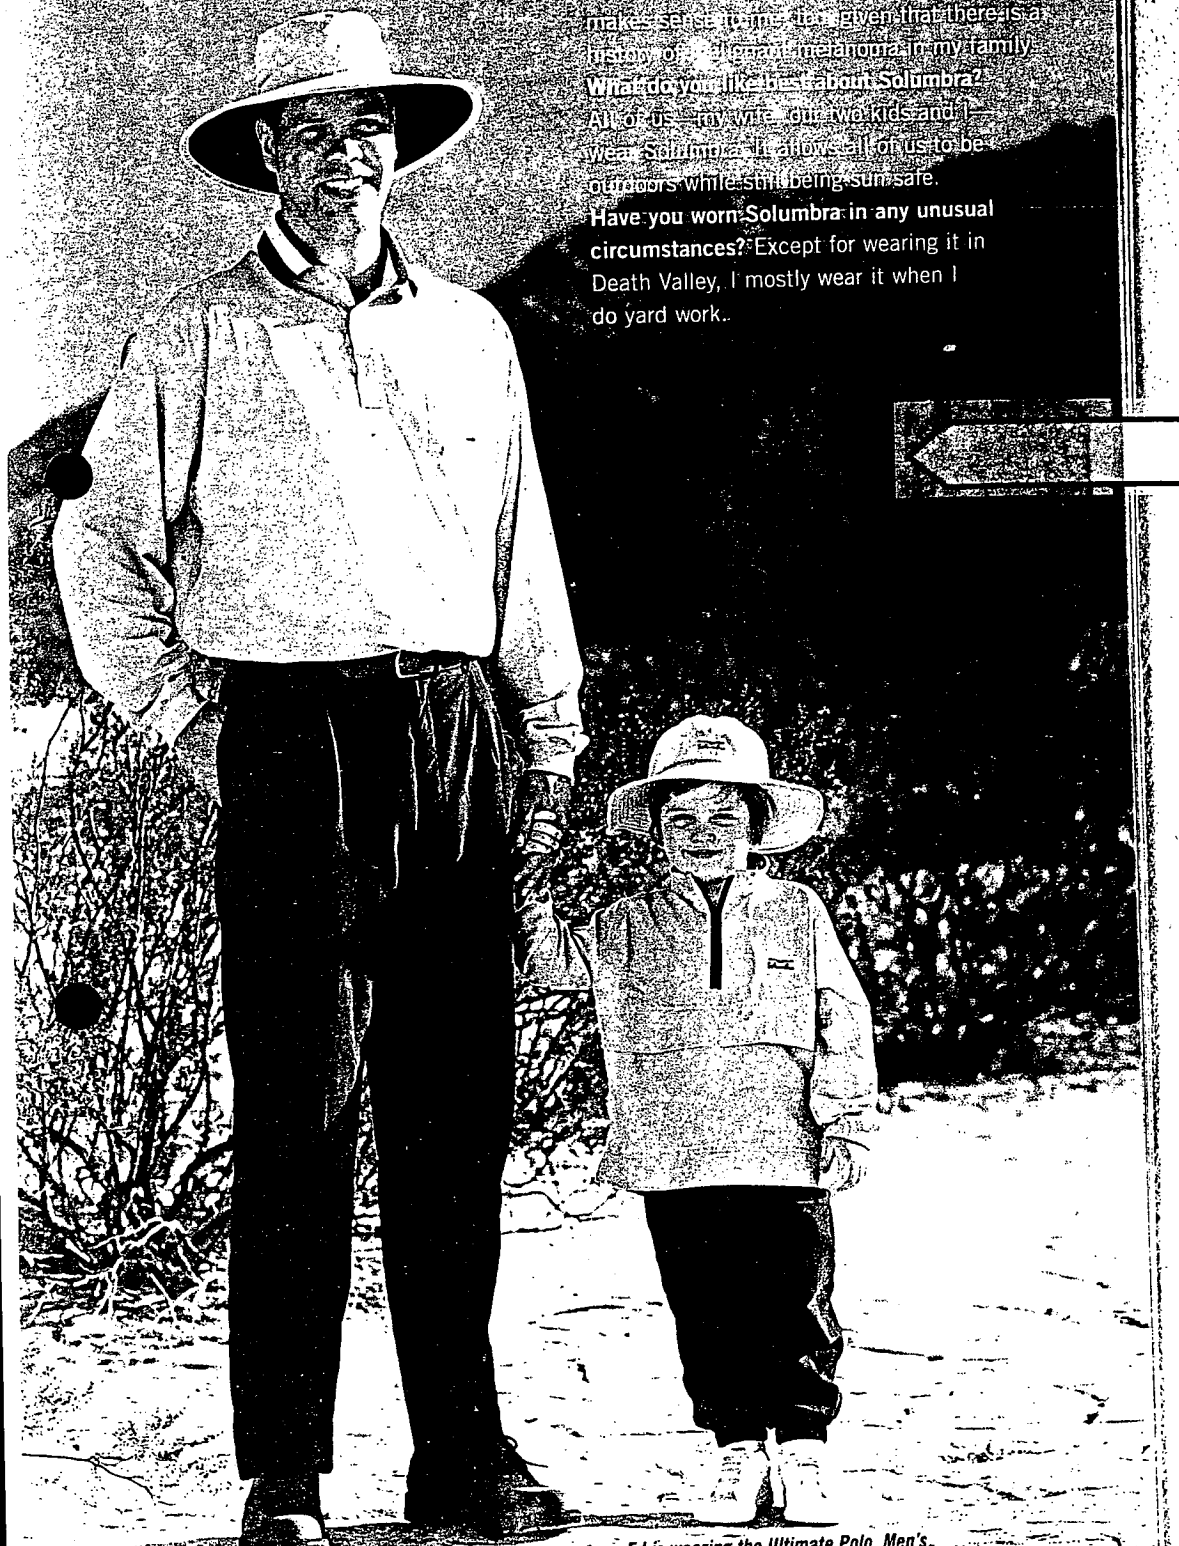
Software Company Executive
Winchester, Virginia

Why do you wear Solumbra? My wife is a doctor and she strongly encourages wearing Solumbra products for sun protection. It makes sense to me, too, given that there is a history of high-grade melanoma in my family.

What do you like best about Solumbra? All of us—my wife, our two kids, and I—wear Solumbra. It allows all of us to be outdoors while still being sun safe.

Have you worn Solumbra in any unusual circumstances? Except for wearing it in Death Valley, I mostly wear it when I do yard work.



Ed is wearing the Ultimate Polo, Men's Tailored Pants and Solumbra Sun Hat (p.13). Ellie is wearing the Kid's Super Active Shirt (p.41), Kid's Pants (p.41) and Kid's Wide Brim Hat (p.40).

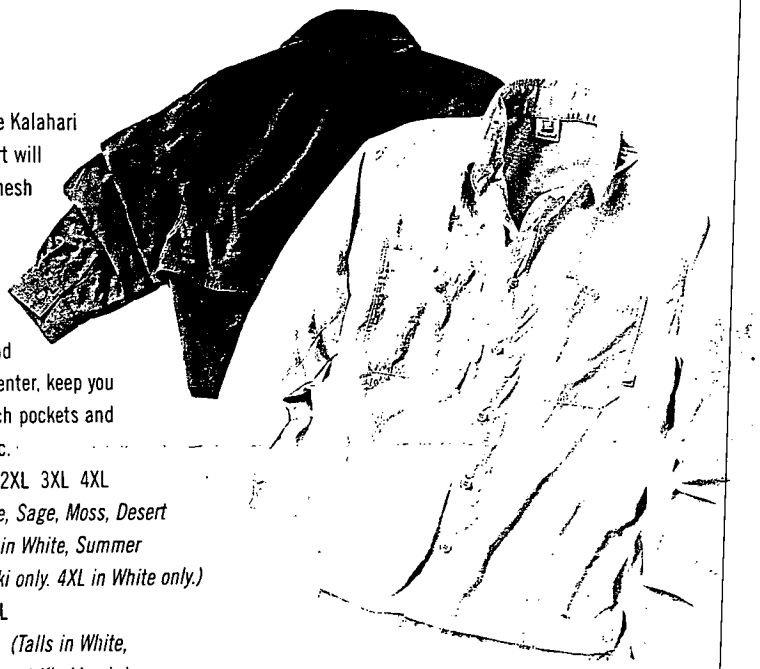
Safari Shirt



Whether you're traveling across the Kalahari or just across town, our Safari Shirt will keep you protected and cool. The mesh panel under the vented back yoke wicks away perspiration and promotes airflow. Wide mesh inserts under the arms are barely visible yet provide superior ventilation. And the loose cuffs, by allowing air to enter, keep you even cooler. With button-front patch pockets and tortoise-style buttons, it's a classic.

Super Active Shirt

For the heat of summer and the heat of competition, the Super Active Shirt is our coolest and most ventilated shirt. Just ask any of the serious athletes who have road tested it. Breathable vents on the front and back and extra-wide mesh panels under the arms let refreshing air enter and circulate. Its cropped front hem is designed to be worn out over pants. And the zipper is backed with a soft Solumbra gusset.

Please order a size up if you have broad shoulders.

notographing sportfishing tourna-enis, I get more than my share of n exposure—often as much as ? hours a day. For years I tried to otect myself by wearing heavy tton shirts, and towels and arves on my head, but sometimes
I still get burned. Then I found lumbra—relief at last! It's ceedingly comfortable and elds me from the sun's intense

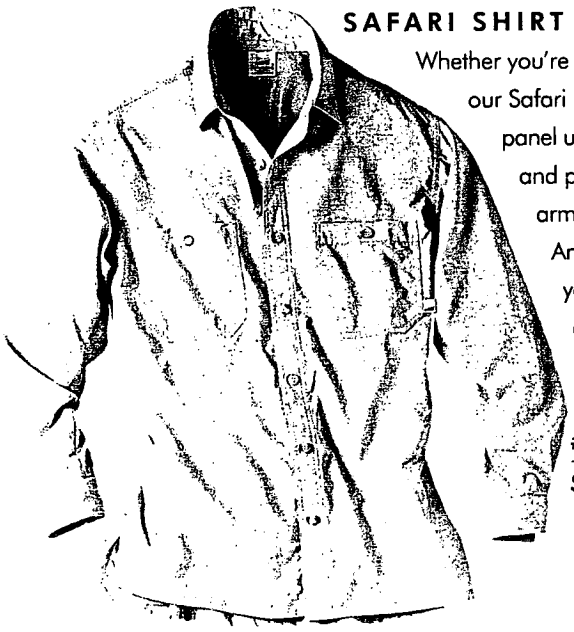
SAFARI SHIRT



Whether you're traveling across the Kalahari or just across town, our Safari Shirt will keep you protected and cool. The mesh panel under the vented back yoke wicks away perspiration and promotes air flow. Wide mesh inserts under the arms are barely visible yet provide superior ventilation. And the loose cuffs, by allowing air to enter, keep you even cooler. With button-front patch pockets and tortoise-style buttons, it's a classic.

The American Academy of Dermatology has honored Sun Precautions with the First Annual Gold Triangle Award in recognition of our efforts to promote public awareness of skin cancer detection and prevention.

To protect your skin from the sun, The American Academy of Dermatology recommends:

- Use a 15 SPF or higher broad-spectrum sunscreen and reapply it regularly
- Avoid the sun between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.
- Wear a hat with a 4 inch brim and sunglasses
- Wear effective sun protective clothing
- See your skin doctor for an annual skin exam

Sun Precautions' Head•To•Toe Special Offer

We'd like to entice you to practice head-to-toe sun protection. With each complete Solumbra outfit you purchase, we'll reward you with your choice of either a sunscreen, a pair of sunglasses or a book on sun protection. See page 38 for details.

"I'm a competitive sailor, which means I spend a lot of time in the sun. After a few too many scares with skin cancer and extremely sun sensitive skin, I knew I had to do something about sun protection. Solumbra made it easy, and it's so versatile. It's perfect for sailing, traveling, even dining out at night. And my wife loves it, too."

Bart Beek is wearing the Ultimate Polo with Striped Collar, Men's Tailored Pants and Solumbra Sun Hat. Linda Beek is wearing the Women's Safari Dress and Solumbra Sun Hat.

VERSATILE SHIRT

There's nothing more versatile for men or women than a shirt designed for both strenuous activity and casual wear—hence the name. Loaded with mesh ventilated panels in the front, back and under the arms, you'll stay cool, too. Strategic placement of the underarm inserts won't leave you exposed to the sun either. And the gusset-backed neck zipper lets you zip down for more air but keeps your upper chest protected. With drawstring hem.

The American Academy of Dermatology has honored Sun Precautions with the First Annual Gold Triangle Award in recognition of our efforts to promote public awareness of skin cancer detection and prevention.

To protect your skin from the sun, The American Academy of Dermatology recommends:

- Use a 15 SPF or higher broad-spectrum sunscreen and reapply it regularly
- Avoid the sun between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.
- Wear a hat with a 4 inch brim and sunglasses
- Wear effective sun protective clothing
- See your skin doctor for an annual skin exam

Prevention.

Sun Precautions' Head·To·Toe Special Offer
We'd like to entice you to practice head-to-toe sun protection. With each complete adult Solumbra outfit you purchase, we'll reward you with your choice of either a pair of wraparound sunglasses, a sunscreen, a book on sun protection, or free basic shipping and handling. Kid's outfits get a reward, too. See page 38 for details.

ULTIMATE POLO

Stay 30+ SPF sun protected and ultimately cool — even in the heat of summer — with this hard-working, feature-rich polo.

Replete with technical features, the Ultimate Polo sports mesh panels under the arms and a mesh lining under the vented back yoke (a new improvement). The mesh wicks perspiration away from the body and allows air to enter the garment, keeping you dry and comfortable.

A flip-up neck protector guards the back of your neck against sunburn during those long rounds of golf, then folds down into a hidden collar pocket, which fastens shut with a hook-and-loop closure.

Collar and cuffs are a soft, breathable cotton blend knit. A shirttail hem, breast pocket and three-button placket complete the details.

ULTIMATE SHADE

"I just returned from a fishing trip in Costa Rica (9.5 degrees north of the equator) and have given your Solumbra long-sleeve polo a fine workout - it truly is 'superior sun protection'. It was a relief to put on and I was never hot... I would heartily recommend and endorse Solumbra protection to anyone."
B.G., La Jolla, CA

We would like to share a letter we recently received that captures what we are all about and how our products help our customers:

"Solumbra clothes are a godsend for me. Before Solumbra, I was unable to spend much time outdoors. I would wear bulky and hot clothing head-to-toe, sweating all the time.

Recently I returned from a trip to Florida, where I wore my Solumbra clothes. They were cool and comfortable. I spent hours on the beach with my niece gathering seashells. And I had no fears about coming home burned. It was such a relief!

I loved the clothes and the hat, but more than that, I love that I can now go back out in the sun for hours with no fear of sunburn. I'm sorry that Shaun Hughes had melanoma, but I'm glad he developed Solumbra clothes. Thank you, Shaun, and all of you at Sun Precautions, too."

L.E.D., New Hampshire

We hope we can provide you with effective all-day sun protection, too.

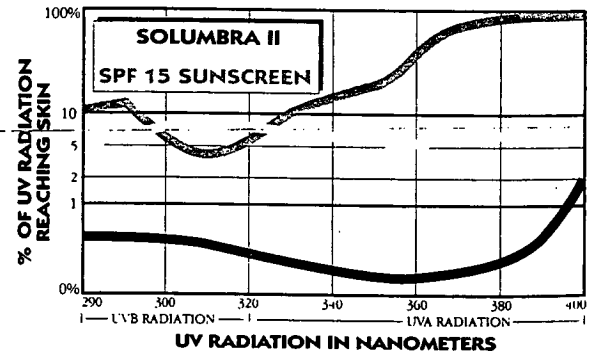
SOLUMBRA™ ULTIMATE POLO SHIRT

Ultimate Protection and Ultimate Comfort

We've named this the Ultimate Polo Shirt because it offers the highest UV protection of any summer weight clothing we've tested. Made of luxurious Solumbra II fabric with an SPF that's nearly off the charts. Its flip-up collar protects your neck — just fold it down into its hidden collar pocket when you don't need the protection. With all-way stretch built in, you couldn't find a more comfortable sport shirt anywhere. The Ultimate Polo keeps you protected, cool and comfortable while playing tennis, golf or any active sport.

In White, Unisex sizes XS, S, M, L, XL. Item #1290, $119.95.

SOLUMBRA II FABRIC



Solumbra II fabric offers powerful protection across both the UVB and the UVA spectrum of ultraviolet light. It outperforms any sunscreen we've found, plus it protects against UVA radiation. It outperforms all summer-weight fabrics we've tested, too. The UV blocking data can be converted to SPF values — Solumbra II fabric provides significantly greater than 30+ SPF protection, even when damp or wet.

Sun Precautions

"Sun Precautions"

This company specializes in clothing for hot, hot weather and especially if you are susceptible to sunburn. We have the "Super Active Shirts" and they really are cool for riding on the bike. First of all, they have a high back collar, zippered neck gusset, mesh ventilated front panel, extending all the way up to the shoulder seam, which permits air to enter and cool the skin before exiting out the back. The mesh panel under the vented back yoke wicks perspiration away from the body and allows air to enter the garment, keeping you dry and comfortable. The underarm ventilation is strategically located to promote maximum airflow and to protect you from the sun. The wide mesh inserts extend from body to cuff, scooping air in while we ride. They have extra long sleeves and fabric covered elastic cuffs. They come in various colors and really look and feel good. Carm machine-washes ours, and they are holding up fine. They are the best shirts we have found to ride in hot or warm weather. They can be obtained from Sun Precautions, Inc., 2815 Wetmore Ave., Everett, WA 98201, (800) 882-7860 or fax (206) 303-0836. Check out their web page by clicking on their button to the left or on any of the photos.

Sun Precautions® Ultimate Polo shirts are quite the thing for those hot days that we ride in. Carm & I used these shirts on our trip to Key West, Florida recently. Like their "Super Active" shirts that I reviewed above, their technical features make it cool, sun protective and with the mesh panels under the arms and back yoke that wick away perspiration and allow air to enter. The collar and cuffs are of a soft, breathable knit blend. A breast pocket and three-button placket add the finishing touches. You get what you pay for when you purchase this shirt for $74.95 by calling 1-800-882-7860. "Sun Precautions, Inc., has received FDA clearance to market its Solumbra clothing for sun protection and is allowed to claim an SPF of 30 for its products. Check out their web site by clicking on their button to the left or on the any of the photos.

Fabric trends On the move and confirmed at the IFFE

Textile Division

Are fabric trends really on the move? You betcha they are! With the support of technological advancements, new fabric trends are very much on the move. However, as most will agree, when one mentions "high-tech" it usually conjures up clinical looks, lacking the warmth to attract consumers of apparel. But times really are a'changin', and this holds true in the textile industry where new fabrics are increasingly beautiful - and we can thank technology for much of that beauty.

Indeed,textile collections are now taking advantage of technological progress,and it's nice to know that as we come closer to the new millenium,manufacturers and retailers are recognizing that consumers are losing their distaste and fear of technology as well. They are learning of the beauty technology can offer in fabrics and hopefully they will embrace its wonderful possibilities, for it should be seen as a life-enhancer and not as a threat.

It is expected that high-tech's role will change from that of a source offering "high-performance perfection" to that of acting as a conduit, allowing for individual expression and creativity.

Practicality is also a part of high-tech advantages, and this can be noted in the growing trends and needs for items such as fire-retardant textiles, as well as the important area of reflective materials which are utilized by those who feel it wise to be visible at night.

We like the way designers are incorporating decorative embellishments in their collections (embroidery, screenprinting, transfers and appliques), but only if those embellishments are of significance. Designers are opting for simplicity - pure lines - and are demanding fine handwork, and this is gradually replacing minimalism.

The importance of fleece continues to grow, and when it is combined with spandex the loops are caused to stand up a little, and this gives the poly/cotton fleece a very soft hand. Companies, such as Vantage Custom Classics, have seen fit to embroider fleece with great and exciting results. Plush products of every description are in demand - items such as velvet, velour, sherpa, corduroy and nubby textured fabrics.

One of the hottest items in today's market has turned out to be stretch cotton when combined with Lycra. Hemp also has good vibes for those selling it, as do crinkled looks, laundered concepts, washed-out colors and tie-dye effects.

Far Eastern motifs - dragons, bamboo and, naturally, brocades - are popular. The use of sequins, beading, embroidery and flocking on sheer mesh, chiffon and now on linen is adding that upscale look to collections.

Linen has been in the spotlight at the European textile shows, and as most are aware, it has a rising profile here in the States. Classic linens and linen blends for dresses, shirts and sportswear have become a definite fashion contender as we look to Spring and Summer '99. Many of the new linen blends offer wrinkle resistance, which is more acceptable in a wide variety of products.

Another area of interest is in good-looking, double-faced fabrics, which are attractive on either the left or right side. Collections are also having success with multicolored striated effects, and boucle yarns for additional surface interest. Changeant, or iridescent color effects, have continued to be strong, and the new highly dimensional crinkle surface concepts have a fresh look, as do linens using textured yarns.

Luxury is one of the key words as we look ahead to the Spring '99 season. In fact, 1999 will be the year of luxury fibers, fabrics and apparel. There will be bantamweight cashmeres, doupioni silks and precious fiber blends.

Sourcing fabrics The trends we've discussed were corroborated at the annual International Fashion Fabric Exhibition (IFFE) which took place in late April at the Javits Convention Center in New York City. As could be expected, this was a show which presented textile collections of rare beauty.

Jonathan Larkin, Show Director for the Larkin Group, organizers of the IFFE, points out that companies from around the world, "...rely on this Show as their No. 1 sourcing event."

No wonder companies consider it so important. There were over 650 exhibitors representing apparel and home furnishing textile makers, textile CAD/CAM providers and trim purveyors, and they were met by more than 12,000 attendees who showed up from all 50 states and more than 50 countries.

"The IFFE continues to mature and now includes many of the industry's best textile and trim suppliers," adds Larkin. "As America's biggest sourcing event, we anticipate that the diversity of exhibitors at IFFE, along with our extensive seminar series, gives attendees the world's best sourcing options and direction."

High-tech solutions At the conference and show, we took the time to visit with several of the people manning booths to see what is happening on the fabric front. What comes across loud and clear is that new computer-based technologies are speeding up the way in which garment manufacturers can try out new fabric designs and get to production. This can be important in a wearables world where fashion trends come up - and fade away - as quickly as a new movie or a sports figure. Promotional apparel distributors may find their favorite manufacturers in a much better position to offer more custom fabrics and quicker turnaround as a result of the technology displayed.

According to Kerry Malloy, sales manager of Gerber Garment Technology, Inc. (GGT) the Company's new DCS 1500 Sample Cutter is a quick and efficient sample room solution. "This compact, plug'n play, turnkey system can be installed in a design office or sample room in less than a day. Operator training is quick and efficient because an operator can cut and mark in a fraction of the time it would normally take by hand, and with a much higher degree of accuracy. It enables a company to produce samples, prototypes, or short production runs with little disruption to business flow or production.

"This system," Malloy continues, "is driven by a Windows-based software program, which easily integrates with AccuMark and most other CAD packages. In line with this, I should point out that a fast-growing segment of the sewn goods industry is Made-to-Measure (MTM), in which items are custom-made to an individual's style and fit. MTM includes such applications as suits, shirts, uniforms, wet suits, flight suits and furniture. The DCS 1500 Sample Cutter works splendidly with the AccuMark Made-to-Measure System."

The Dalco Athletic stand was active, and Michael Carter, VP of sales, says, "We have found that the use of color, texture and shape challenges our creative senses and provides an endless resource from which we may create. There are numerous ways we work with our customers, and one of them is the use of Dalco's EasyStitch program. This program allows one to automatically zig-zag or satin stitch custom-cut appliques using automated embroidery equipment."

At the stand of ENCAD Inc. of San Diego, Director of Marketing Communications David Larson explains that the company is demonstrating its first ENCAD Digital Textile System consisting of the ENCAD 1500 TX Printer; ENCAD TX Print color-management and image-processing software; ENCAD TX Inks; and specially-coated ENCAD Textiles.

"Our low-cost inkjet system enables fabric designers to sample, print and refine their designs directly on a variety of popular fabrics right after the initial design concept is completed," says Larson. "It allows rapid turnaround, cost-savings, and in-house control of proprietary designs."

Saying that global trends are growing around the world is obviously redundant, but we want to stress the point as this was done for us when we visited the booth of Linas of Lithuania. This company is offering a wide range of linens, right in line with current trends as to colors and quality. Dalla Zvirblyte, a company rep in the booth, tells us, "Linas was founded in 1957, and in 1993 the enterprise became a joint stock company. It is now the largest linen textile producer in the Baltic States with reference to sales and markets.

"Our annual capacity," Zvirblyte adds, "is 8 million metres of linen." The company weaves linen and linen/cotton blends in white, as well as dyed and printed fabrics for garments and interiors. Of these fabrics, 60 percent of production is exported to Denmark, Germany, USA, Sweden, France, England, Italy, Finland and other countries. With the increasing interest in the use of linen, this show is proving of much interest to us, for we are making contact with a wide range of buyers from here and around the world."

It was learned, in talking with the spokesperson at Computer Design, Inc., that the U4ia (Euphoria) program provides customers with innovative methods for design, marketing, communications and production. "Whether you are working with two-dimensional or three-dimensional images, U4ia will shorten your design time, enhance your marketing and presentations, communicate your ideas, and accurately execute your design in production," says the Computer design agent.

"Our software products include U4ia Graphic," she adds. "This program contains core tools for the U4ia system and is required to run the Premier, Prints, Production, Knits and Wovens modules. The module is an advanced painting and image-enhancement tool set. It has exceptional tools for building custom PANTONE palettes, reducing continuous-toned images, cleaning-up and recoloring artwork and print designs, creating masks, and inputting and outputting your work.

The IFFE was well attended, active and rewarding. But most importantly it helped to confirm trends which the industry has been expecting. Yes indeed, high-tech is very much with us and making its presence felt in a very constructive and positive way. After all, as a result of high-tech advances collections of textiles are a thing of beauty.

industries as designers.

What with one of the hottest summers on record just winding down, and people throughout the United States now quite experienced at dodging the blazing sun, Wearables Business, in hot pursuit of relief, discovered a new sun-protective fabric and line of wearables that offers a surprisingly fashionable alternative.

Solumbra 30+ SPF Ultra Sun Protective Clothing from Sun Precautions Inc. of Everett, Wash., is based on a patented fabric invented by the company's founder and president, Shaun Hughes. According to company literature, Hughes, in the early 1980s, was diagnosed with malignant melanoma, a form of skin cancer which is potentially life-threatening. His life was spared through treatment, but he emerged as a person obviously sensitive to the damaging rays of the sun and sensitized to the need for creating something to help other people similarly situated.

Leslie Jones, a marketing associate for the company, says that the fabric is nylon based, and that the protection is built in. "There's no coating for the protection," she says, "because a coating can wear off or wash off."

Since the fabric is patented and proprietary, Jones would say little more about its makeup. However, company literature claims that a typical summer shirt provides sun protection of only SPF 7, with some, like an all-cotton gardening shirt, having protection in the SPF 3 range. And Jones notes, most other fabrics experience a decrease in sun protection when wet, whereas Solumbra continues to protect over SPF 30 when soaked.

Also, the Solumbra fabric is quite light. The company sent WB its Super Active Shirt, which features a high collar, a quarter zip placket, breathable vents on the front and back, and mesh panels under the arms. The fabric has the feel of light cotton, with a very soft hand, and it is incredibly light - much lighter than it looks.

Sun Precaution's catalog features a full range of wearables, including safari shirts, polos, water shirts designed for use while swimming, henleys and tees - all, of course, long-sleeve - as well as a variety of pants and leggings. In addition, there are several wide-brim hats made of Solumbra, straw hats completely lied with Solumbra, long skirts for women, Solumbra parasols, and a number of items for children. Also, the firm offers specialty items to add with non Solumbra garments, such things as Solumbra sleeves to be worn with short-sleeve shirts, head wraps, face and hand guards, and gloves.

The items are all quite fashionable and colorful, however they are not inexpensive. The Ultimate Polo, for instance - featured in the catalog as a golf item - goes for $74.95, the same price listed for the Men's Tailored Pants made of Solumbra.

Jones explains that Solumbra products are sold through the catalog (call 800-882-7860 or visit www.sunprecautions.com for information), and retail at one store in Hawaii, a Solumbra store in La Jolla, Calif., and at the company store in Seattle. In addition, the garments are available through many physician's offices, and at such special medical facilities as the John Wayne Cancer Center in California and the Mayo Clinic in Minnesota. The entire line is made in the U.S.

Jones adds that there is no wholesale or quantity pricing strategy at this time. Many of the items in the catalog are embroidered with the Sun Precaution's logo, however the firm, she says, has done no research on the acceptability of embroidery or screenprinting to the garments.

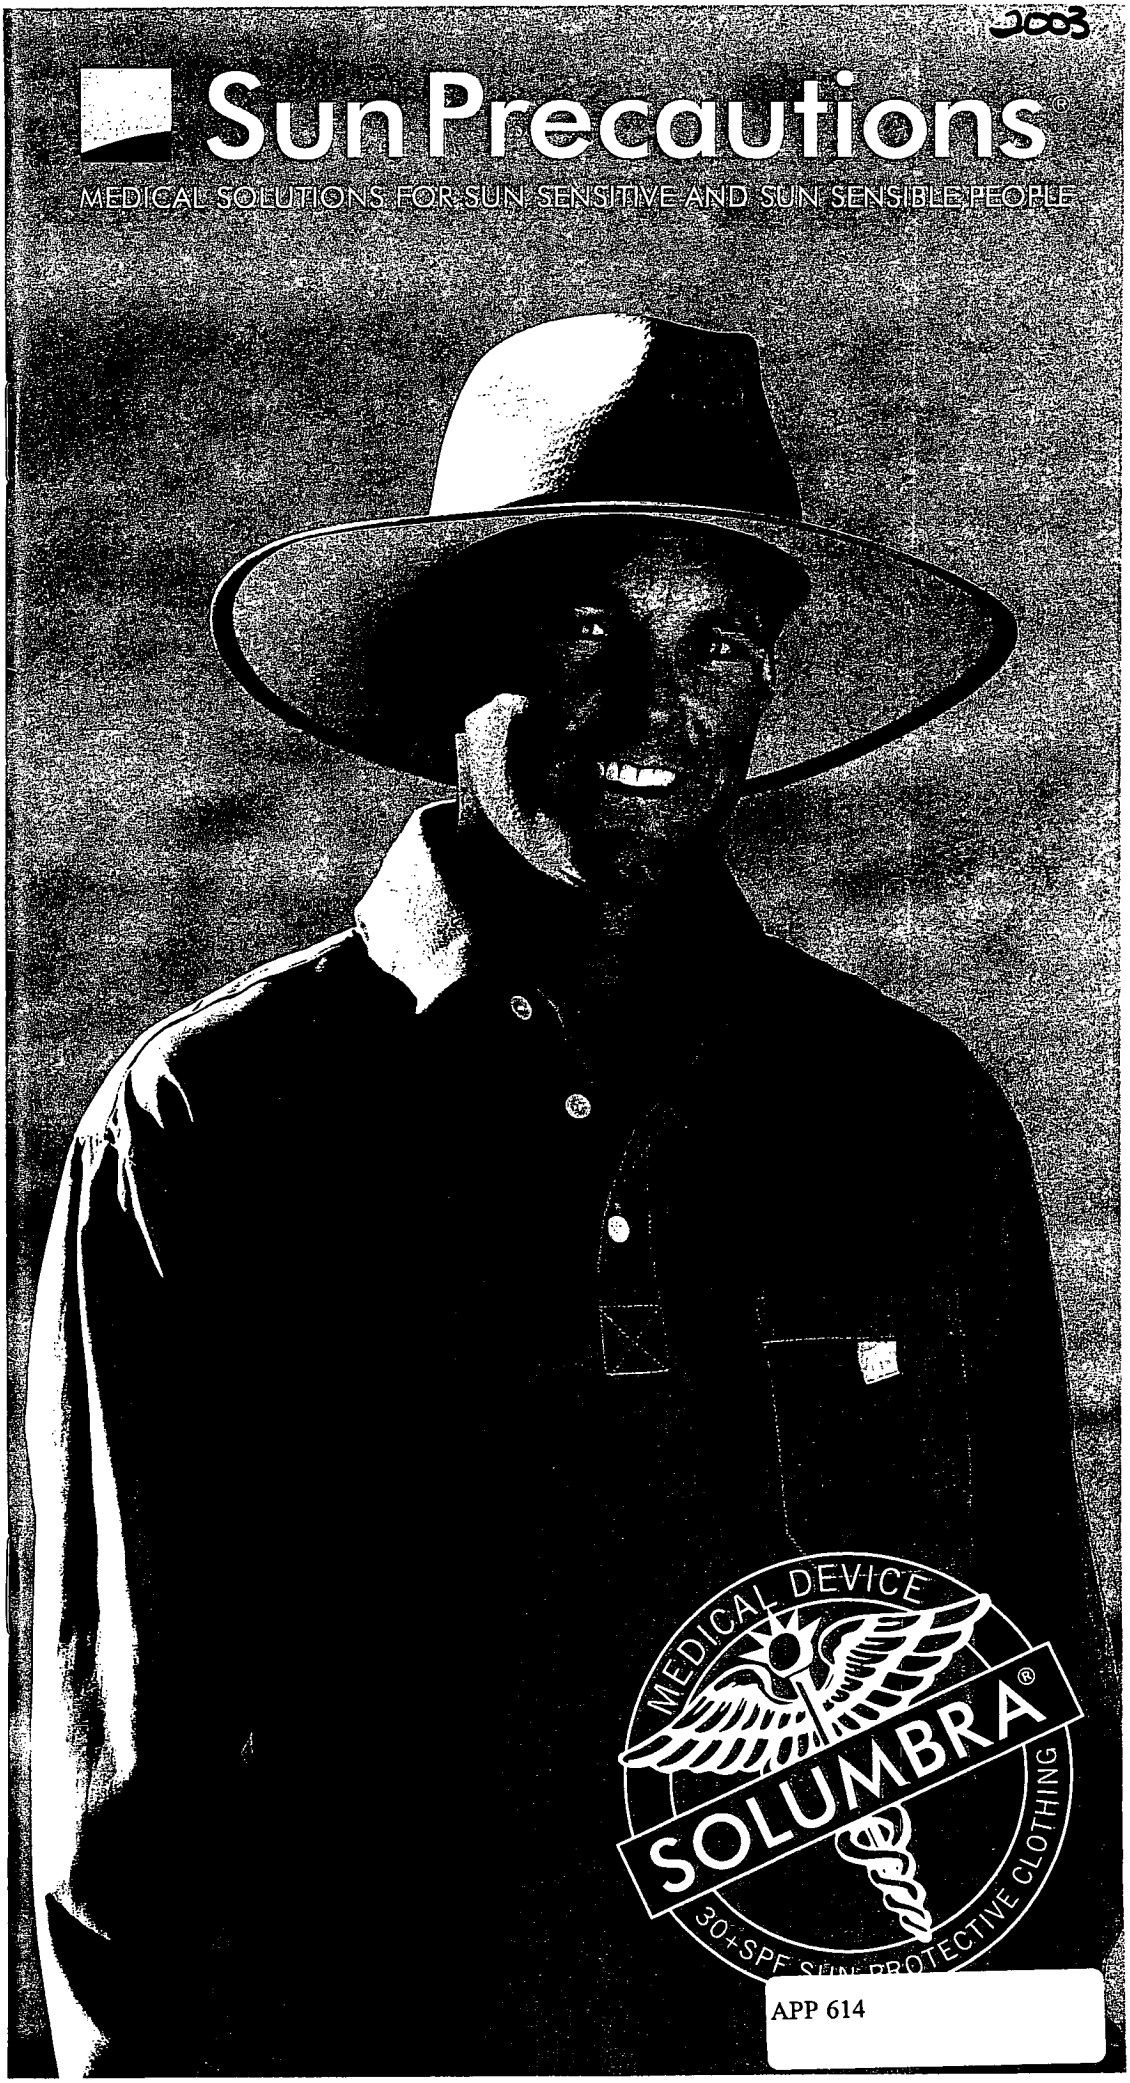
MEDICAL SOLUTIONS FOR SUN SENSITIVE AND SUN SENSIBLE PEOPLE



APP 614

APP 615

Solumbra is a medical solution.

In fact, it's a medical device. Over 12 years ago I worked with some of the finest medical minds on sun protection to develop a state-of-the-art solution for sun sensitive patients—and, I was one of them. As a melanoma survivor, I knew firsthand the importance of medically accepted sun protection. Today, I'm proud that thousands of doctors have recommended it to their patients.

Shaun Hughes, Presid

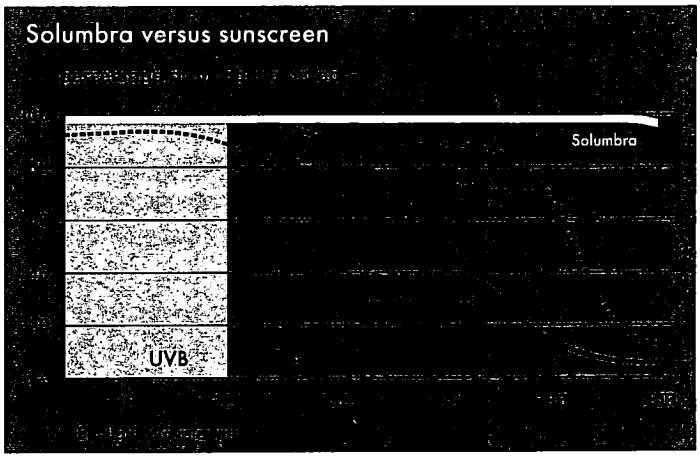
"As a dermatologist, I have recommended Solumbra to my patient and family members and I have purchased it for myself. Solumbra allows my family to enjoy all of the outdoor activities we love. We're confident that we are protected from the sun."
Ross Kaplan, M.D.

Ross Kaplan, M.D. is wearing the Men's Button Down Shirt (p.19), Men's Tailored Pants (p.19), and Solumbra Sun Hat (p.15).

APP 617

Thousands of dermatologists have recommended Solumbra.

And thousands of doctors, like Dr. Ross Kaplan, have purchased Solumbra, too. The reasons are many. The sun's UV rays are incredibly dangerous, typical summer shirts don't provide adequate protection, and sunscreen, while important, is simply not enough. Solumbra clothing provides 30+ SPF all-day UVA and UVB sun protection. It's safe, it's effective and it protects you head to toe.



Five minutes is all it takes. Within just five minutes on a sunny summer day your skin may absorb enough UV radiation to develop a minor sunburn. In even less time, skin cells may suffer injury that you can neither see nor feel. Multiply it over years and the damage from daily sun exposure may become major, including skin cancer and sun-induced skin aging. For a medically sun sensitive person, the long-term results can be even more threatening.

UV rays are double trouble. There are two types of ultraviolet rays—UVA and UVB—that can wreak havoc on your skin. Although UVA rays are inherently less powerful, small daily doses of UVA can cause long-term skin injury, even without signs of sunburn. UVB rays are most abundant in midday sun—any time your shadow is shorter than you are—and are the rays most associated with a sunburn.

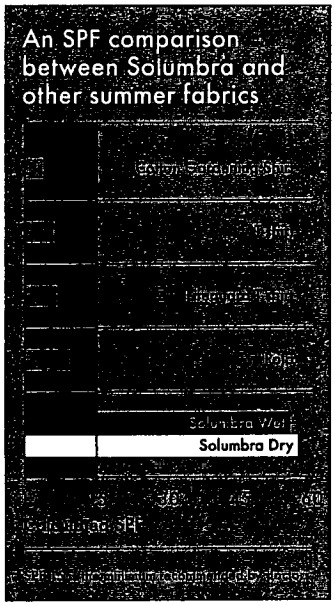
From your head to your toes. Face it, almost all of your body is susceptible to sun injury—even when it's covered by typical summer clothing. Therefore, the medical community recommends full head-to-toe sun protection and a minimum SPF of 15 (SPF 30 if you're sun sensitive). Solumbra gives you both: it provides greater total UVA/UVB sun protection than typical summer clothing or a typical 30 SPF sunscreen and it's carefully engineered to shield those parts of the body most likely to be overexposed to the sun.

Don't get burned by sunscreen. Like most things, sunscreen is far from perfect. Even a typical sunscreen with a 30 SPF (the Sun Protection Factor rating which lets you stay outdoors 30 times longer than you could without sun protection before you get a minimal sunburn) still allows a lot of harmful UVA radiation to the skin. Published medical studies have also shown that most people apply only $^1/_3$ to $^1/_2$ the recommended dose of sunscreen. And, to make matters worse, many fail to regularly reapply sunscreen even though they continue to stay in the sun. Sunscreen is essential, but it is a far from perfect defense against the sun.

When our customers say they can't go outside without Solumbra, they really mean it.

Solumbra was designed by and for some of the most medically sun sensitive people in the world. Which is why Solumbra fabric blocks more than 97% of UVA and UVB rays. This level of all-day, broad spectrum UV protection allows individuals to live a normal life in the outdoors—whether they seek sun protection for medical necessity or prevention. Even the American Academy of Dermatology has recognized Sun Precautions for its work in skin cancer prevention by awarding it with a prestigious Gold Triangle Award.

Other shirts may leave you sunburned. Solumbra's 30+ SPF sun protection is mechanically built right into our patented Solumbra fabric, instead of a coating or treatment that can wash off or wear off over time. Even after 100 laundering cycles and exposure to roughly 100 summer days of sunlight, Solumbra still provides 30+ SPF protection.



A typical summer shirt, by comparison, only provides an SPF of 5 to 9, far below the minimum SPF of 15 recommended by dermatologists. Not to mention it's usually short sleeved and has little or no collar, leaving your arms and neck dangerously exposed.

We put Solumbra to the test. Again and again. As a regulated medical device, we take our safety and efficacy very seriously. Every batch of Solumbra fabric is tested to ensure that it has a 30+ SPF rating. Only fabric that provides greater than 30 SPF protection, as Solumbra has consistently done, can be made into a Solumbra hat, shirt, or pair of pants for you to wear.

In addition, Shaun Hughes, President of Sun Precautions, is so committed to quality that he spearheads product safety. A patchwork quilt from each batch of fabric is attached to his back and then the fabric is subjected to 31 sunburn doses of UV—equal to more than all-day sun exposure in the sunniest place in the world.

But it's not over yet. Before any product is available for sale, it must also pass a rigorous 27-point quality assurance check and a 15-point quality control check.

Sun-Smart Design

[illegible] overlooked when it comes to protecting you from sun damage. That's why our shirts have longer sleeves, high backed collars, neck gussets and carefully placed ventilation panels. Plus, our pants are long and our hats have wide brims or long neck drapes.

Wicking

Solumbra fabric wicks away moisture and perspiration to keep you cool and comfortable—even in summer heat.

Dry/Wet Protection

Solumbra maintains its 30+ SPF protection even when wet. Plus, we have a special line of apparel designed specifically for use in water.

Soft & Light

Solumbra feels as soft and as light as silk. In fact, some of our long-sleeved shirts weigh 25% less than a typical short-sleeved polo shirt.

Built-In 30+ SPF

Solumbra's 30+ SPF sun protection is mechanically built into the fabric, not applied as a chemical treatment, so the sun protection won't wear off.

Easy Care

Wash it by machine or by hand in cool water. It won't shrink and it dries quickly, making it ideal for travel.

Ventilation

Our most active styles are designed with mesh-ventilated panels—strategically located on the front, back, under the arms, and even sides—to promote airflow, wick away moisture and keep out unwanted UV rays.

APP 621

It's so lightweight and comfortable you'll forget it's a medical device.

But it is. In fact, Solumbra meets published medical guidelines and it entered the marketplace as a regulated medical device in 1992.

So, what does it mean to be a medical device? According to section 201(h) of the Federal Food, Drug & Cosmetic Act, a medical device includes an article that is:

- "Intended for use in the... prevention of disease..., or
- Intended to affect the structure or any function of the body..., and which does not achieve any of its primary intended purposes through chemical action within or on the body...and which is not dependent upon being metabolized..."

Additionally, certain medical devices are reviewed and cleared by the FDA before they can enter the marketplace and their manufacturers must follow Good Manufacturing Practices. As a medical device, it's no surprise that we take our responsibility to provide safe and effective sun protection so seriously.

How do you make a medical device lightweight and comfortable? That's the question we ask ourselves constantly. For inspiration we first turn to you—our customers—because we know that many of you don't just wear Solumbra on occasion, you live in it—all day, every day. Which means it must provide serious sun protection, functionality and comfort for all the things you like to do—from running ultramarathons to running to the store.

"At first it seemed unusual to run with long sleeves, pants and a cap on a warm, sunny day. But Solumbra is so lightweight and well-ventilated, I'm actually cooler than before. And, the hat keeps the sun off my face so I can run for hours without having to worry about sun damage. Recently, I put Solumbra to the test during the Badwater Ultramarathon in Death Valley where there was absolutely no shade and temperatures reached 124°. Honestly, I don't think I would have been able to complete the race without it."

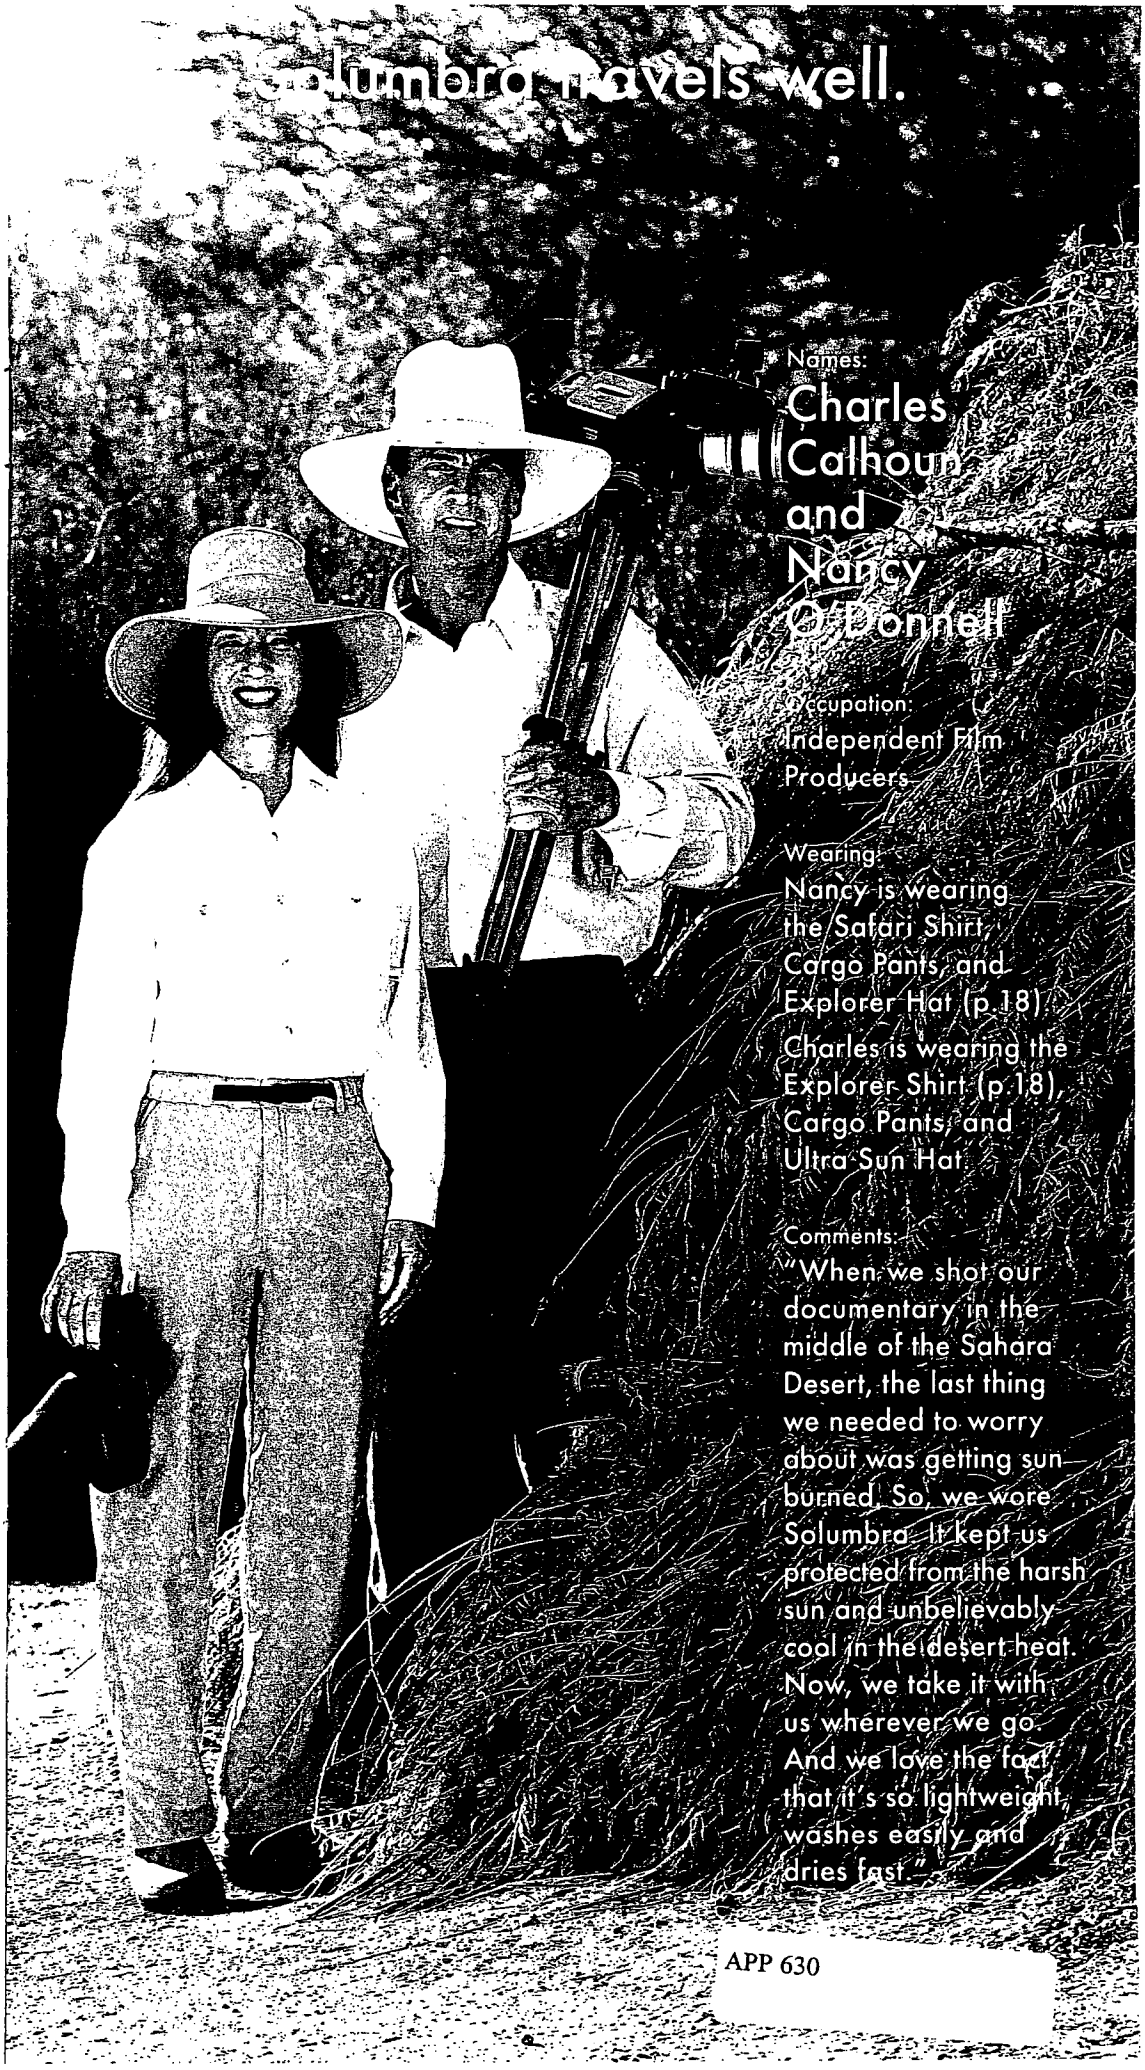
Solumbra travels well.



Names:

Charles Calhoun and Nancy O'Donnell

Occupation:

Independent Film Producers

Wearing:

Nancy is wearing the Safari Shirt, Cargo Pants, and Explorer Hat (p.18).

Charles is wearing the Explorer Shirt (p.18), Cargo Pants, and Ultra Sun Hat.

Comments:

"When we shot our documentary in the middle of the Sahara Desert, the last thing we needed to worry about was getting sunburned. So, we wore Solumbra. It kept us protected from the harsh sun and unbelievably cool in the desert heat. Now, we take it with us wherever we go. And we love the fact that it's so lightweight, washes easily and dries fast."

Explorer Shirt

It's everything you've always wanted in a shirt—a casual button-front style with front, back and underarm mesh ventilation. Whether you travel to the ends of the earth, or just to your favorite fly fishing spot, the Explorer Shirt wicks away perspiration and promotes maximum airflow. Not to mention keeps you properly sun protected. And when you're inside you can roll up your sleeves and secure them using the buttoned sleeve tabs. With epaulets, cargo pockets with side bellows, tortoise-style buttons and shirttail construction, you'll have a fully functional shirt.

Reta is wearing the Women's Versatile Shirt, Women's Sleeveless Shell (p.35), Women's Active Pants, and Woven Hat.

Comments:
"As an actor, a healthy-looking complexion is part of my livelihood. So, after I had a skin cancer removed from my cheek, I knew I had to be more diligent about protecting my skin from the sun. I'm a natural redhead, and have extremely sun sensitive skin, so now I wear Solumbra 30+ SPF protection religiously; and my fair-skinned, red-headed mom does too."

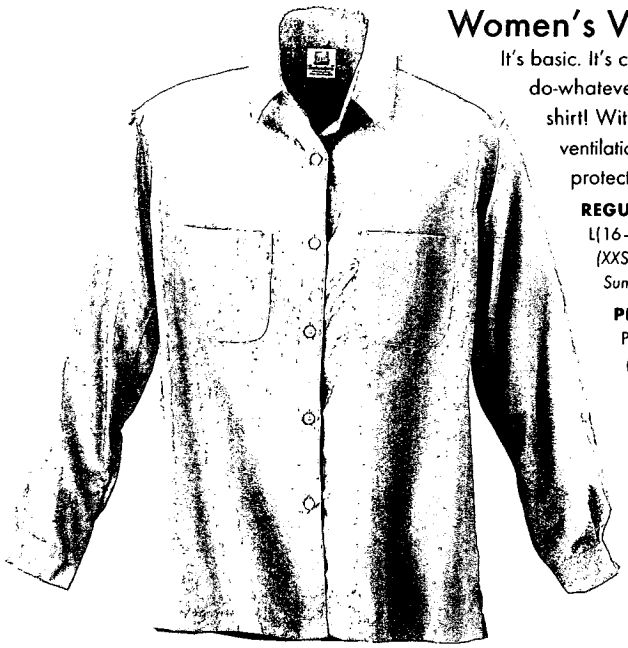
APP 662

Solumbra keeps getting better.

We engineer new solutions to increase comfort and ventilation. We rework dimensions and features to enhance fit. We add new styles at our customers' ringing. And we conduct research to improve and push the envelope on the sun protection Solumbra provides. All of this is done in an evolutionary way to ensure that we never lose sight of Sun Precautions' mission: all-day sun protection for sun sensitive and sun sensible people.

Shaun Hughes, President, Sun Precautions, Inc.



Women's Versatile Shirt

It's basic. It's classic. It's versatile. It's our all-around, everyday, do-whatever-you-want-in-it-because-it-always-looks-great shirt! With two front pockets, underarm mesh and back ventilation panels, it delivers smart looks and smart sun protection in one irresistible package.

SOLUTIONS FOR SUN SENSITIVE AND SUN SENSIBLE PEOPLE
MEDICAL DEVICE
SOLUMBRA®
CLOTHING

IT'S BEEN ALMOST 20 YEARS since I was diagnosed and treated for malignant melanoma, the deadliest form of skin cancer. It was caught before it spread to other parts of my body. I am alive today only because a friend saw a suspicious mole and then had me visit her skin cancer expert. His trained eye correctly diagnosed my melanoma and I was successfully treated within days. Unfortunately, my friend's wasn't caught in time—she succumbed to its ravaging effects within a year.

I am lucky. I appreciate the fact that I was then able to go on and lead my life.

My experience with melanoma spurred me to start Sun Precautions over 10 years ago with the mission of providing people like you and me a truly effective sun protection solution. I knew I tanned through my sunscreens and I sunburned through my summer golf and tennis shirts. I was certain I was getting too much sun for a melanoma survivor.

Fortunately, after working with some of the finest experts in sun protection and skin cancer, I developed Solumbra 30+ SPF sun protective clothing. It blocks greater than 97% of both UVA and UVB rays and provides all-day UV protection for some of the world's most sun sensitive people even in tropical climates.

Solumbra and Sun Precautions provide me and others the peace of mind to safely enjoy being outdoors again doing the things we love—including taking a walk on the beach with my children. I know that we're protected from the sun's harmful rays. For that, Solumbra is my miracle, too.

SHAUN HUGHES
President, Sun Precautions, Inc.

KNOWLEDGE.®

Your Best Defense Against the Sun's Harmful Rays.

The more you know about the harm the sun can do to your skin and facts about sun protection, the easier it is to make a smart decision concerning your health. Here is a concise summary of information you should know.

THE FACTS ABOUT THE SUN'S HARMFUL RAYS.

The sun is dangerous to your skin. The sun's ultraviolet (UV) rays penetrate unprotected skin and are absorbed by skin cells, starting a sequence of reactions. Within five minutes on a sunny summer day, your skin may absorb enough UV radiation to develop a slight sunburn. Skin cells may also start the process leading to a suntan, the skin's natural defense mechanism. In even less time, skin cells may suffer injury that you cannot see or feel.

Your skin has a memory. Over the years, the damage from daily overexposure may turn into long-term sun injury, including skin cancer and sun-induced skin aging. Some damage is triggered by small, daily doses of sun, other damage by intense, infrequent doses.

For a medically sun sensitive person, the reaction may be more severe and immediate. And the long-term results, even more threatening.

MINUTES

"Without sun protection, a sun sensitive person can get a minor sunburn in approximately 10 minutes on a June midday in New York and approximately five minutes in Florida."

Source: Barbara Gilcrest, M.D. Photodamage.

THE DANGERS OF UVA AND UVB.

There are two types of ultraviolet rays from the sun that hit the earth's surface—UVA and UVB. Both can cause short- and long-term sun injury, including sun-induced skin aging and skin cancers.

During the summer, the sun's UVB rays are most intense from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., while UVA rays are more stable from sunrise to sundown. On a sunny summer day, there are more than enough UVB and UVA rays to damage your skin. Sun sensitive people need all-day, broad-spectrum UVA and UVB protection.

THE SUN PROTECTION FACTOR.

SPF stands for Sun Protection Factor, a sunburn protection rating. It is a ratio of the time needed to produce a minimal sunburn while using a sun protective product versus no protection at all. A 30 SPF product allows you to stay outdoors 30 times longer than you could without sun protection.

It is important to remember that SPF only measures the sunburn rate. For sun sensitive people, sunburn is just one of many reactions from overexposure to the sun.

> "Although UVA rays are inherently less powerful than UVB rays, 10 to 100 times as many UVA rays reach the earth's surface. Small daily doses of UVA can cause long-term injury to your skin, even without sign of sunburn."
> Source: Barbara Gilcrest, M.D., Photodamage.

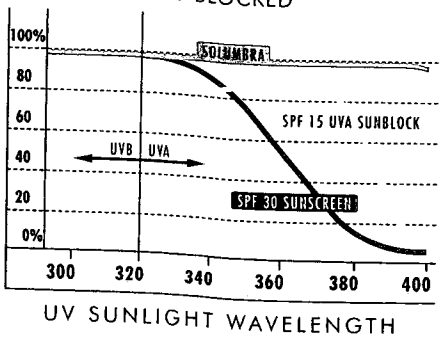
WHY SUNSCREEN JUST ISN'T GOOD ENOUGH.

Sunscreens are important sun protection because they filter UV rays and, therefore, can help reduce sun-induced skin injury. They are also far from perfect.

SOLUMBRA VS. SUNSCREEN
% OF SUNLIGHT BLOCKED



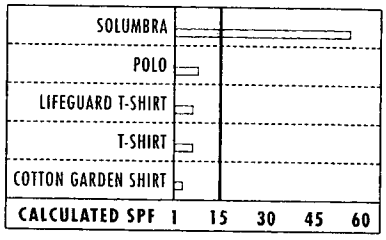
Not only does a typical 30 SPF sunscreen still allow a lot of harmful UVA radiation through to the skin, published medical studies have shown that most people initially apply only 1/3 to 1/2 the recommended dose. They compound the problem by failing to reapply sunscreen regularly and then staying in the sun longer.

Some research shows that UV can cause some sunscreens to lose their effectiveness beginning in as little as two hours. Other research shows that sunscreen-slathered beachgoers and triathletes sunburned after a day in the sun.

Sunscreen alone is insufficient. It is just one sun protection tool that is part of a sensible lifestyle that includes wearing sun protective clothing, minimizing sun exposure, and using sunscreen correctly.

WHERE ORDINARY SUMMER CLOTHING FALLS SHORT.

SOLUMBRA VS. SUMMER FABRICS
SPF COMPARISON



SPF 15 is minimum recommended by doctors

DRY WET

Research published in medical journals, including the Skin Cancer Journal and the Journal of the American Academy of Dermatology, shows that typical summer shirts provide an SPF of only 5 to 9, far below the SPF 15 recommended by dermatologists. Additionally, they are short-sleeved and have little or no collar, leaving arms and neck exposed. Baseball caps offer no protection to the neck, ears or lower face. Together, they leave skin prone to skin cancer unprotected.

SOLUMBRA.

The clothing that could change your life.

Solumbra is a complete line of extraordinary sun protective clothing that is actually a regulated medical device. Its patented 30+ SPF fabric blocks more than 97 percent of UVA and UVB rays, offering all-day, broad-spectrum UV protection even in tropical conditions.

Solumbra is also superior by design—it meets published medical guidelines and provides head-to-toe protection even for extremely sun sensitive individuals. The entire Solumbra clothing line, from hats to shirts to pants and accessories, has been carefully engineered to shield those parts of the body most likely to be overexposed to the sun. Longer sleeves, higher collars and wider hat brims all help to protect against the harmful UV rays.

"One in five people will get skin cancer in his lifetime."

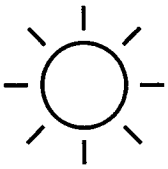
PROTECTION BUILT TO LAST.

Solumbra's 30+ SPF protection is mechanically built right into its patented fabric, rather than applied as a treatment that can wear off over time. Solumbra provides greater than 30 SPF protection even after 100 laundering cycles and roughly 100 summer days of sunlight (the proposed US industry standard for UV fabric dictates only 40 launderings and 100 UV fading units). Under the same conditions, a famous-maker heavy weight T-shirt drops to 9 SPF and a shirt marketed as 30+ SPF that relies on a UV treatment drops to 11 SPF. A sun sensitive person wearing either of these would receive less sun protection than the minimum 15 SPF recommended by dermatologists and, on a sunny summer day, could receive a sunburn from a day's worth of UV exposure.

"Many summer-weight fabrics don't give enough protection. Some are well below the minimum SPF 15 that dermatologists recommend. And fibers like cotton offer even less protection when wet."

Source: FDA Consumer, July–August 1995.



"Skin cancer is one of the few diseases which can be minimized if people protect themselves from the sun... That means wearing protective clothing, avoiding the sun at midday when the sun's ultra-violet rays are strongest and, of course, wearing sunscreens."

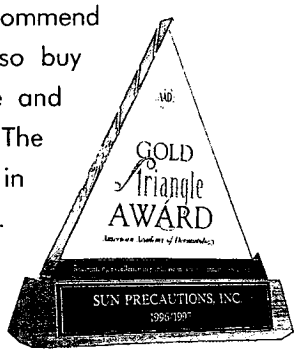
Source: Lynn Drake, M.D., Past President of The American Academy of Dermatology.

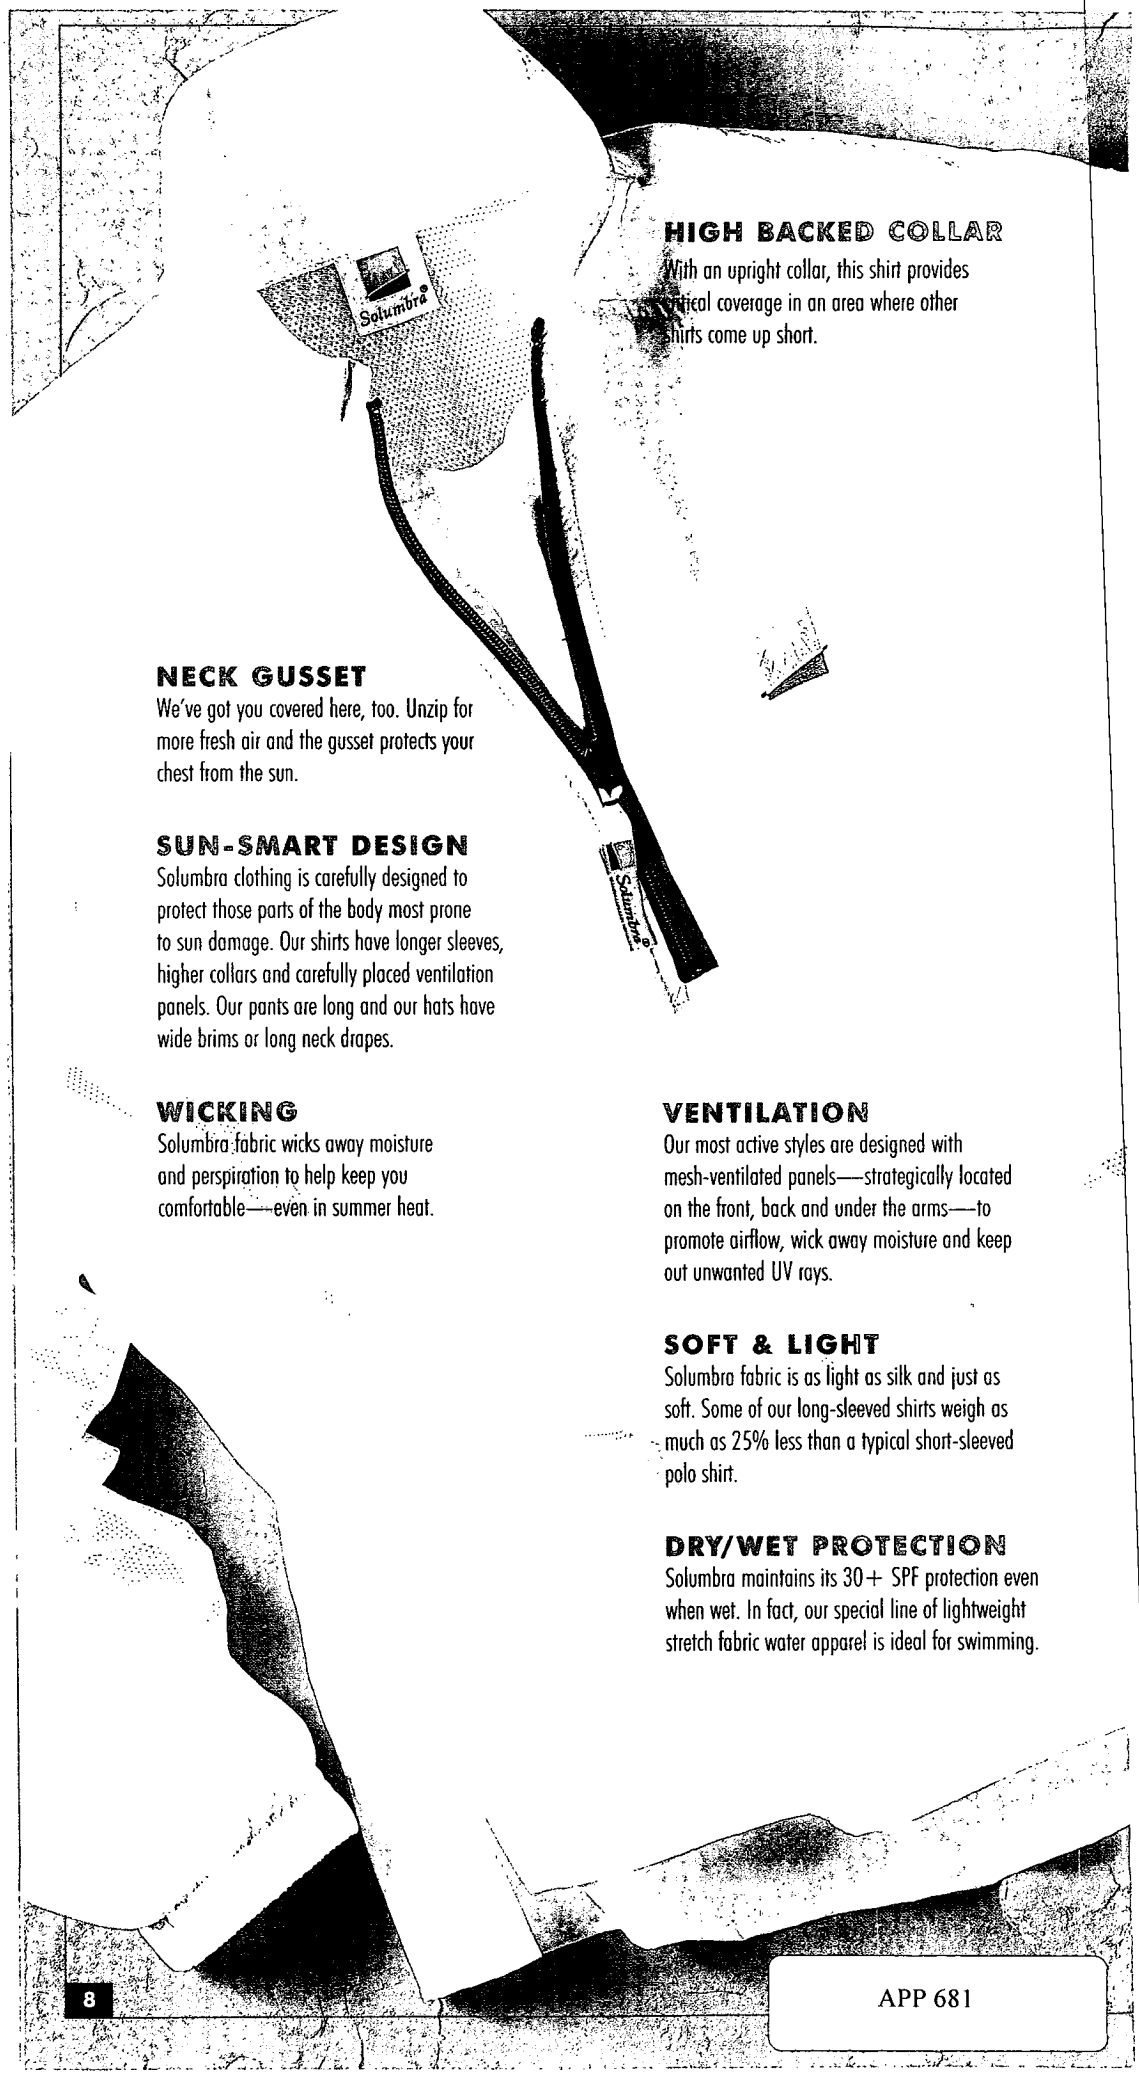
PROVEN. INSPECTED. TESTED. SAFE.

Every batch of patented Solumbra fabric is tested to ensure that it has a 30+ SPF rating. Every product receives a rigorous 27-point quality assurance check before it enters production and a subsequent 15-point quality control check prior to being available for sale. Solumbra products are meticulously engineered and most are carefully constructed in our Solumbra factory here in the U.S. You can take comfort in knowing every Solumbra product you purchase offers safe, effective sun protection. Research has shown that skin protected by Solumbra during 30 sunburn doses of UV radiation appears the same as skin not exposed to any UV radiation at all.

SOLUMBRA. THE SOLUTION DOCTORS RECOMMEND.

Thousands of doctors and several leading cancer centers recommend Solumbra to their sun sensitive patients. But many also buy Solumbra for themselves and family members for safe and effective sun protection. Sun Precautions has received The American Academy of Dermatology's Gold Triangle Award in recognition for the company's work in skin cancer prevention.





HIGH BACKED COLLAR

With an upright collar, this shirt provides vital coverage in an area where other shirts come up short.

NECK GUSSET

We've got you covered here, too. Unzip for more fresh air and the gusset protects your chest from the sun.

SUN-SMART DESIGN

Solumbra clothing is carefully designed to protect those parts of the body most prone to sun damage. Our shirts have longer sleeves, higher collars and carefully placed ventilation panels. Our pants are long and our hats have wide brims or long neck drapes.

WICKING

Solumbra fabric wicks away moisture and perspiration to help keep you comfortable—even in summer heat.

VENTILATION

Our most active styles are designed with mesh-ventilated panels—strategically located on the front, back and under the arms—to promote airflow, wick away moisture and keep out unwanted UV rays.

SOFT & LIGHT

Solumbra fabric is as light as silk and just as soft. Some of our long-sleeved shirts weigh as much as 25% less than a typical short-sleeved polo shirt.

DRY/WET PROTECTION

Solumbra maintains its 30+ SPF protection even when wet. In fact, our special line of lightweight stretch fabric water apparel is ideal for swimming.

EASY CARE
Machine or hand washable in cool water. Solumbra fabric won't shrink and dries quickly—perfect for travel.

BUILT-IN 30+ SPF
Solumbra's 30+ SPF sun protection is mechanically built into the fabric, not applied as a chemical treatment, so the sun protection won't wear off.

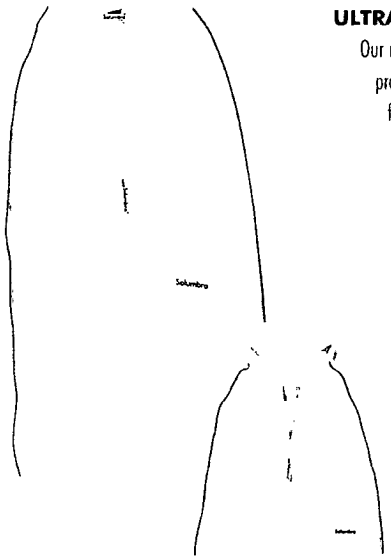
This symbol indicates styles designed for optimum comfort in peak summer heat and humidity and during strenuous activities such as tennis, biking and running.

UNISEX
Styles that are appropriate for both men and women carry this symbol. Keep in mind that most Solumbra apparel is designed to provide a generous fit, so there is no need to compensate for sizing when ordering.

WATER WEAR
This symbol indicates products that are specifically designed to be worn in the water and are not intended for extended land use. These garments are made of a four-way stretch fabric, are tight fitting and have minimal ventilation.



ULTRA ATHLETE SHIRT

Our new, most ventilated shirt is engineered for serious sport and is a sun protection necessity in peak summer sun and activity. This high-tech design features a flow-through ventilation system that includes underarm and concealed front and back mesh panels. The coup de grace is a pair of concealed ventilation panels that start at each shoulder and run down to the waist; they scoop the air as you move and exhaust it out panels in the back. The cropped length adds to its coolness and provides free movement. And its zip front closure with gusset and high collar in back provide additional sun protection. It's as cool as you can get on a sultry, summer day short of strapping an air conditioner to your chest.

Anne is wearing the Ultra Athlete Shirt, the Ventilated Sport Pants, and the Adult Shade Cap with Neck Drape.

"I spend hours running in intense sun without worry."

"I run for fun, every chance I get. I also compete in ultra-marathons and triathalons almost every weekend. I even won the Badwater Ultramarathon, a race through 120-degree heat in Death Valley. In addition to competing in the sun, I live in Southern California and am in the harsh sun year 'round, so I'm becoming more concerned about sun protection. My new Solumbra clothing is perfect in protection and is engineered to ventilate the body and is very lightweight. Now I can run to my heart's content and be sun protected, too."

Ken is wearing the Ultimate Polo, the Men's Tailored Pants (p.17), and the Ultra Straw Hat.

"I recommend Solumbra because it just makes good sense."

"I'm a dermatologist with a passion for flying. I'm also a fanatic about sun protection, which is why I recommend sun protective clothing to my patients. Solumbra is based on good science and offers 97% protection against both UVA and UVB, more than what a typical 30 SPF sunscreen blocks. Plus, Solumbra is all-day 30+ SPF protection. It makes a lot more sense than sunscreen alone. Solumbra is great sun protection."

Doren is wearing the Women's Slim Blouse, the Stretch Ankle Pants, and the Woven Hat.

"Solumbra is excellent sun protection and looks great, too."

"My husband, a dermatologist, and I have devoted our careers to researching and educating others on good skin health and sun protection. We're proponents of state-of-the-art sun protection and have co-authored, along with others, "Modern Approaches to Photoprotection" in Dermatologic Clinics. This article includes Solumbra as an excellent means of physical protection from the sun. We also practice what we preach, because we love spending a lot of time outdoors ourselves. We've included Solumbra as part of our sun protection regime and have found that it looks great, too."

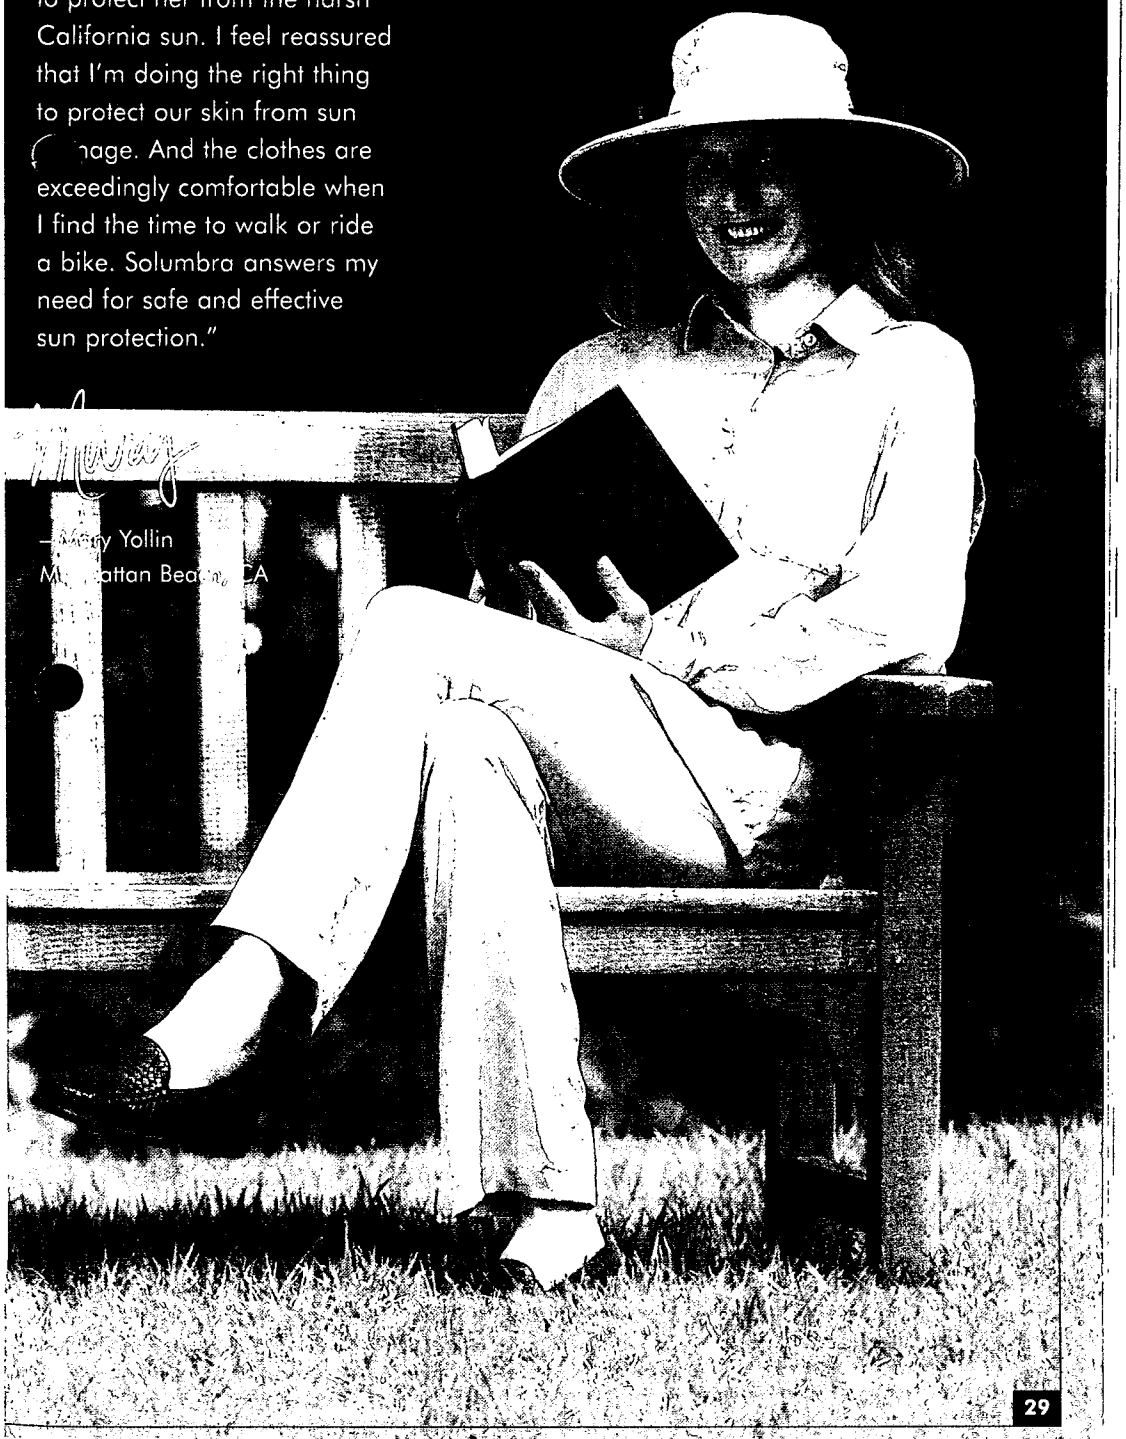
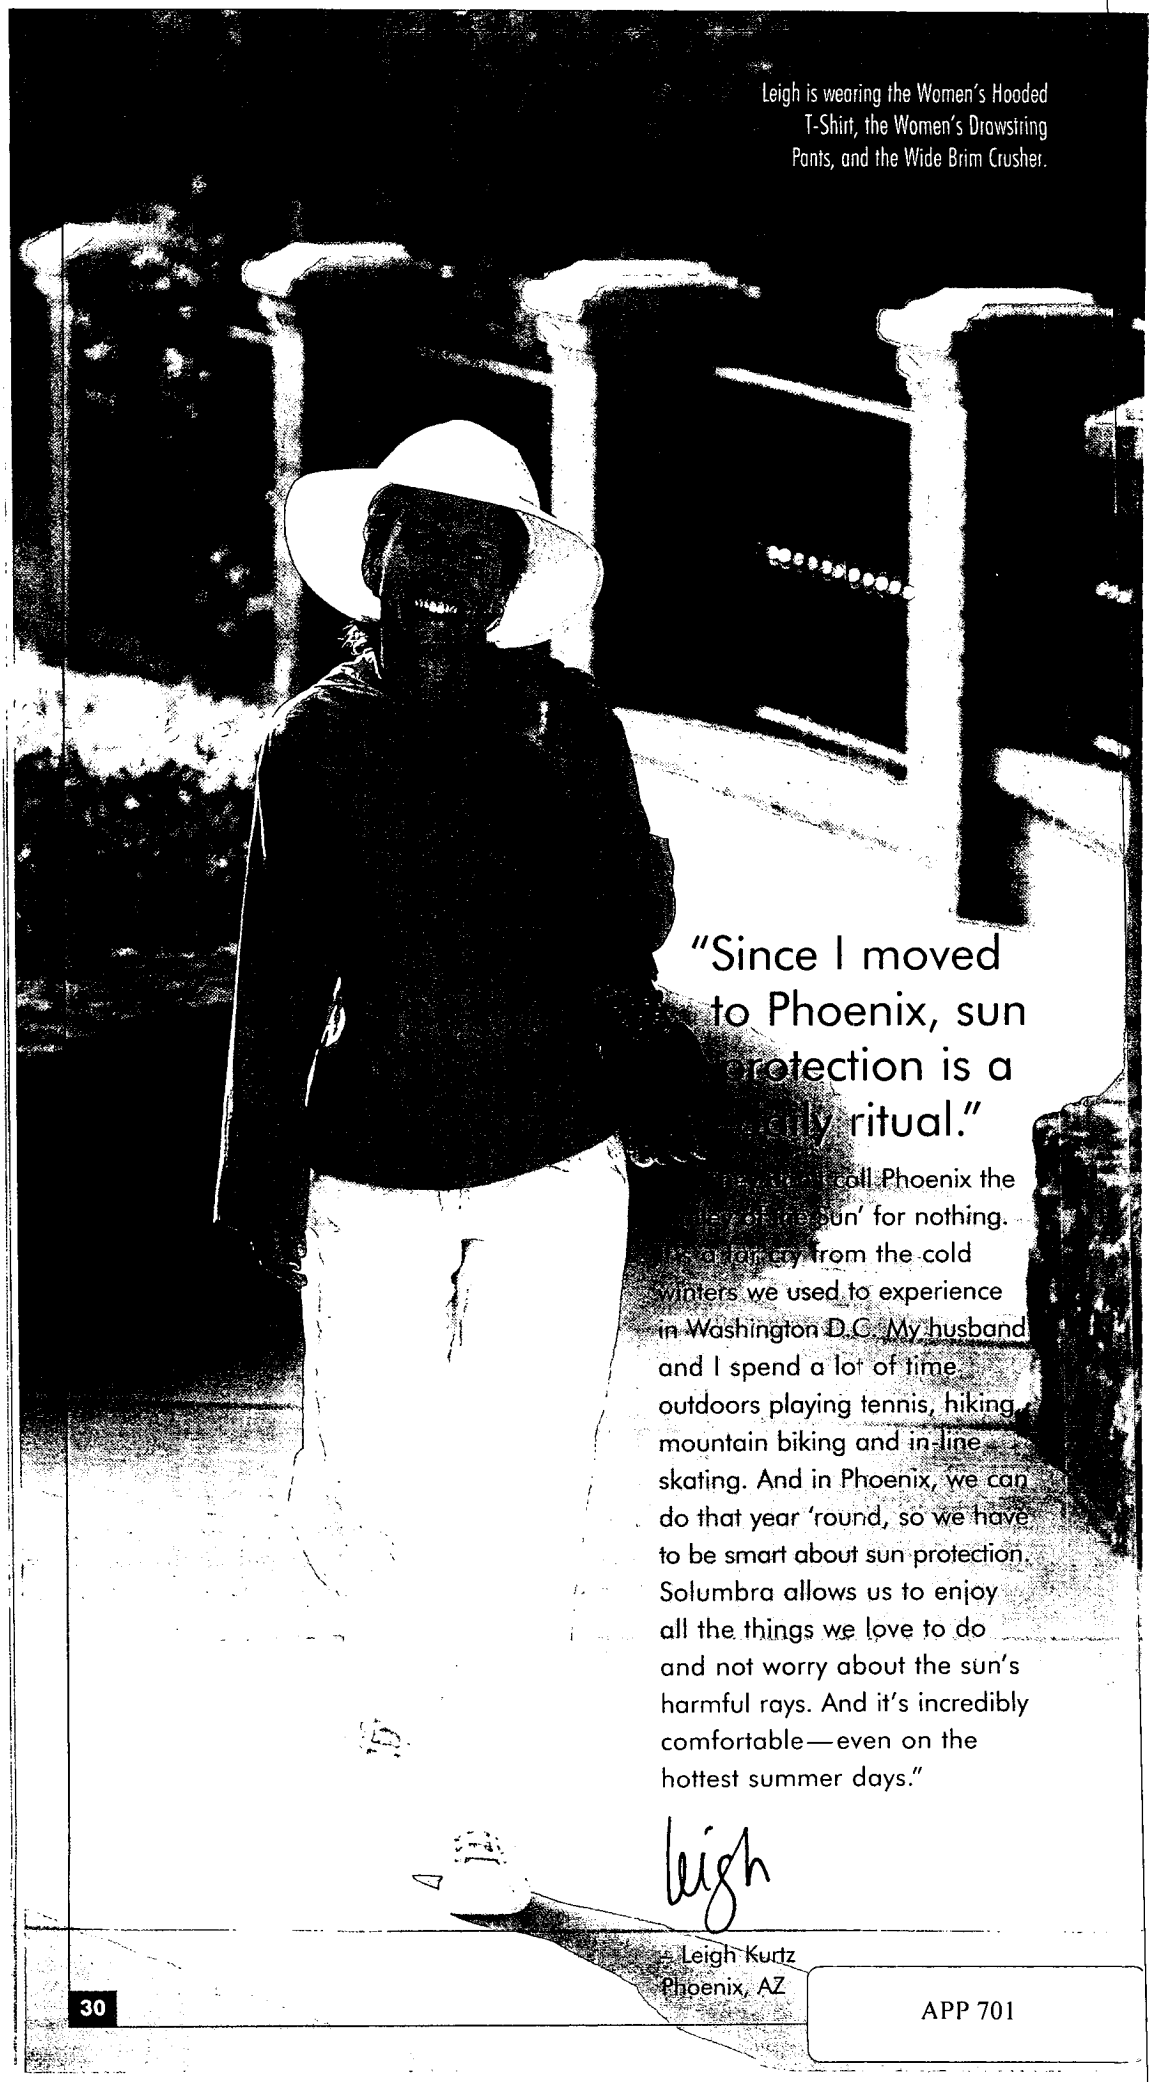
"Becoming a mom has made sun protection a necessity."

Mary is wearing the Women's Versatile Shirt, the Women's Side Zip Pants, and the Solumbra Sun Hat.

"I've always been good about applying sunscreen, but Solumbra provides the extra sun protection I was always looking for. And now that I have a 10-month-old daughter, I've been vigilant to protect her from the harsh California sun. I feel reassured that I'm doing the right thing to protect our skin from sun damage. And the clothes are exceedingly comfortable when I find the time to walk or ride a bike. Solumbra answers my need for safe and effective sun protection."



— Mary Yollin
Manhattan Beach, CA



Leigh is wearing the Women's Hooded T-Shirt, the Women's Drawstring Pants, and the Wide Brim Crusher.

"Since I moved to Phoenix, sun protection is a daily ritual."

[illegible] I call Phoenix the 'valley of the sun' for nothing. It's a far cry from the cold winters we used to experience in Washington D.C. My husband and I spend a lot of time outdoors playing tennis, hiking, mountain biking and in-line skating. And in Phoenix, we can do that year 'round, so we have to be smart about sun protection. Solumbra allows us to enjoy all the things we love to do and not worry about the sun's harmful rays. And it's incredibly comfortable—even on the hottest summer days."

Carolyn is wearing the Women's Big Shirt, the Leggings, and the Women's Cotton Sun Hat.

"Painting landscapes means being in the sun for hours."

"I paint landscapes as a profession, so I spend hours out in the sun. I love Solumbra because it allows me to concentrate on my work without worrying about sunburn. Now I only use sunscreen on my face, and everything else is covered by Solumbra. My husband and son wear it, too, because it offers better protection than their sunscreen and isn't greasy."

GLOVES

Now you can protect the most exposed part of your body—your hands. Designed to give you full coverage over the wrists, these soft, imitation leather gloves are great for all kinds of sports. They're easy to slip on and are as thin, light and snug-fitting as golf gloves. Hand wash. Sizing: Measure around hand across the knuckles (exclude thumb). The number of inches determines glove size. If you are right-handed, measure right hand and vice versa. People with extra long fingers, or who would like a looser fit should consider ordering a size up.

MEDICAL DEVICE
SOLUMBRA

AFTER BEING DIAGNOSED at the age of 26 with malignant melanoma, a potentially life-threatening form of skin cancer, I was determined to live a normal life and enjoy the outdoor activities that many people take for granted. But even though I wore long-sleeved shirts and 15 SPF sunscreen as advised, I sunburned through my shirts and tanned through my sunscreen. Frustrated, I set out to create a new head-to-toe protection solution built on medical research and the involvement of leading medical experts.

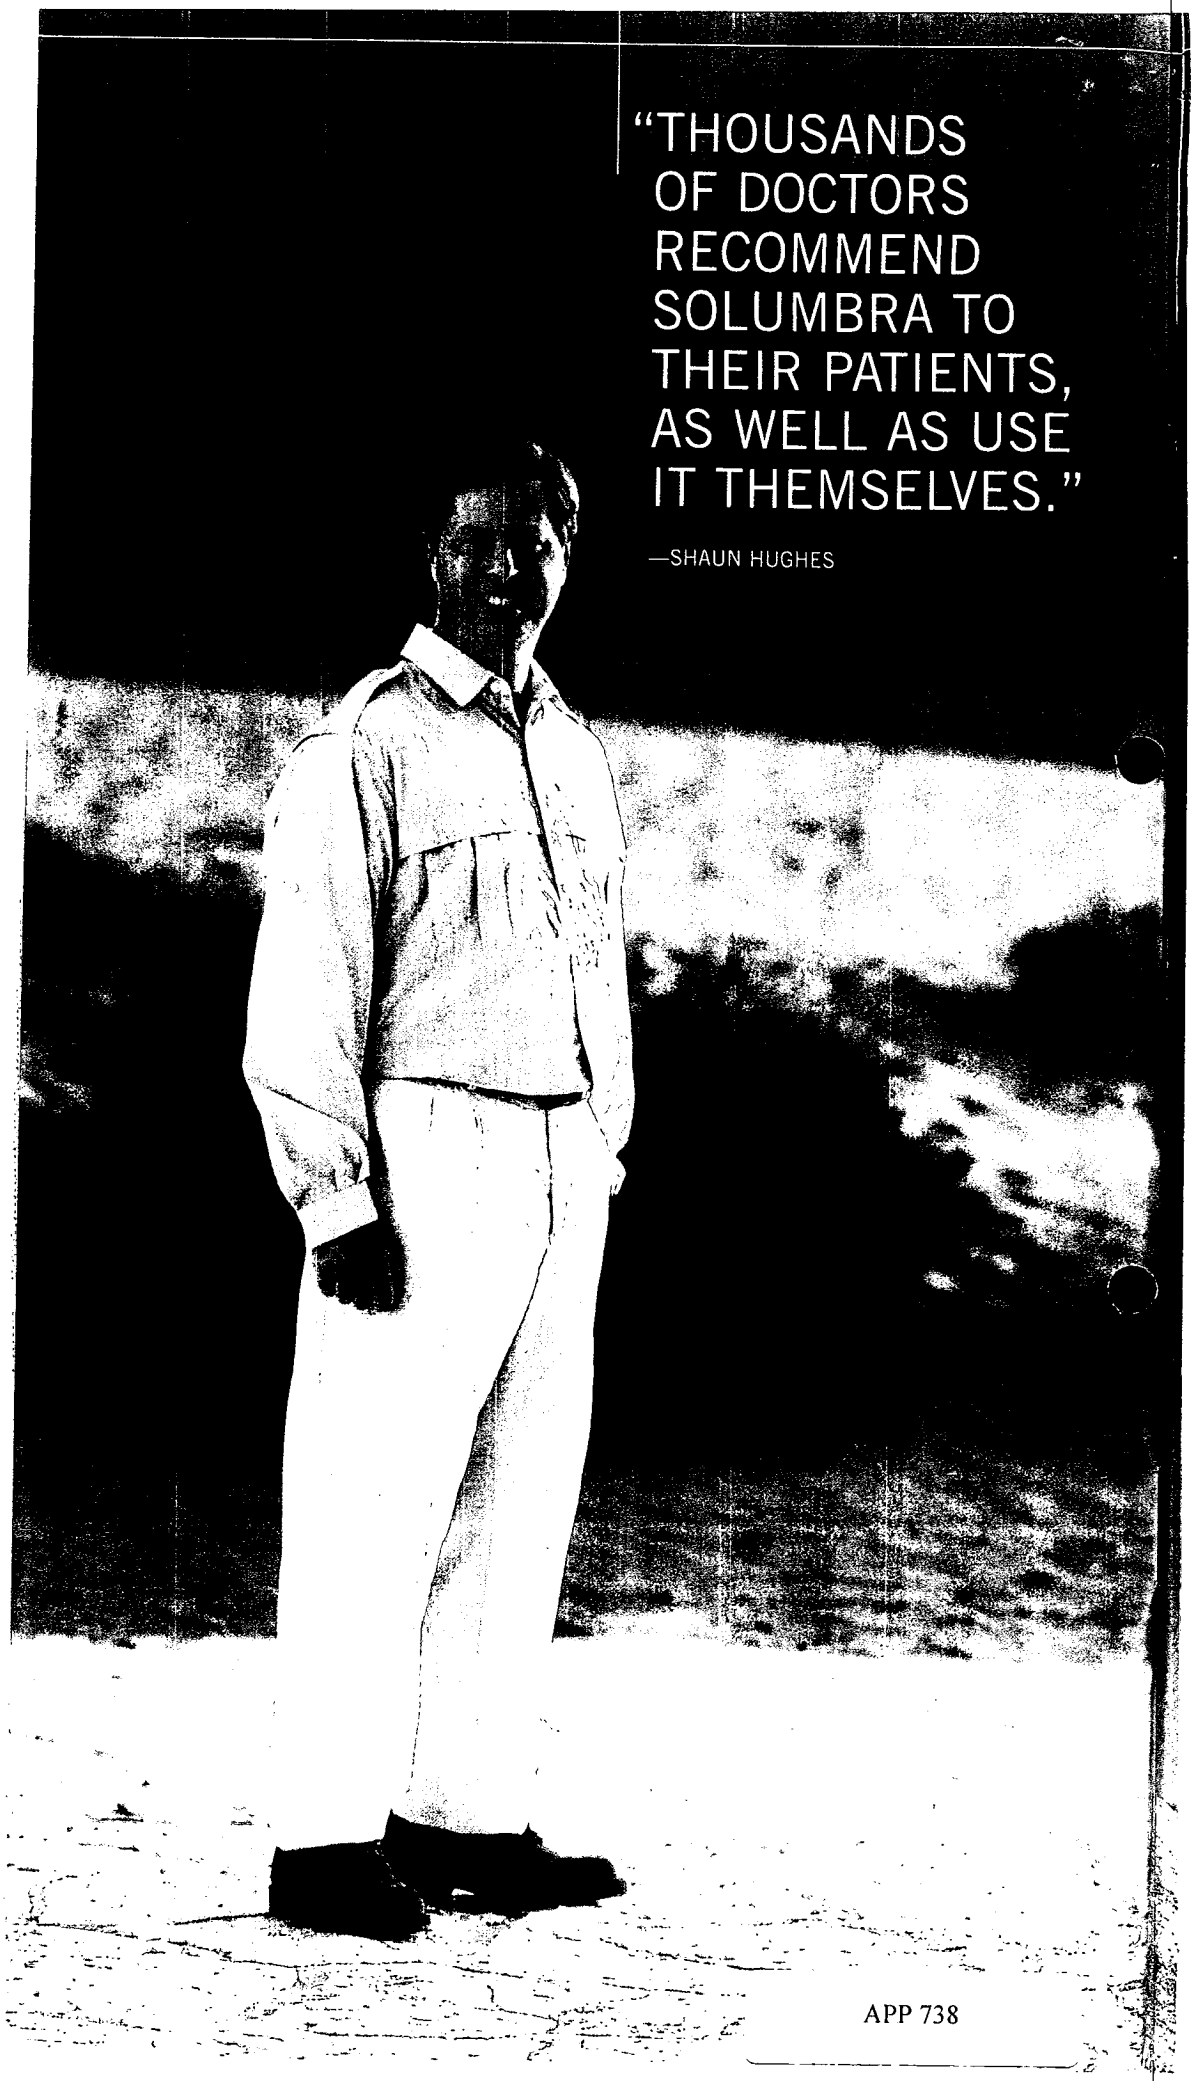
The result is Sun Precautions and its proprietary line of sun protective clothing called Solumbra that meets published medical guidelines. Based on a patented 30+ SPF fabric, Solumbra provides all-day UVA and UVB sun protection, even in tropical climates. It is a regulated medical device recommended by thousands of doctors.

Many of our sun sensitive customers first received the Solumbra catalog from their doctors. Moreover, thousands of doctors buy Solumbra for themselves.

Today I am gratified to receive letters from sun sensitive and sun sensible customers telling me how Solumbra has enhanced their quality of life. I am also enormously pleased that, for many sun sensitive people, Sun Precautions has enabled them to obtain safe and effective sun protection and to enjoy activities in the great outdoors. I hope we can provide you with our sun protection solution, too.

Sincerely,

SHAUN HUGHES
President, Sun Precautions, Inc.



"THOUSANDS OF DOCTORS RECOMMEND SOLUMBRA TO THEIR PATIENTS, AS WELL AS USE IT THEMSELVES."
—SHAUN HUGHES

THE ABC'S OF SPF, UVA AND UVB

SPF stands for Sun Protection Factor, a ratio of the amount of time needed to produce a minimal sunburn while using a sun protective product versus no sun protection at all. For example, a product that provides 30 SPF means that you can stay outdoors 30 times longer than you could with no sun protection. Keep in mind, however, that SPF only calculates the sunburn rate. This is only part of what concerns sun sensitive people.

The sun's ultraviolet radiation that hits the earth's surface comes in two types, UVA and UVB, and although sunburn is most often attributed to UVB rays, both can trigger skin cancers and other problems. There is a dangerous myth that UVA is safe. This is not the case, as everyone should avoid exposure to both types of rays. Sun sensitive people especially should seek all-day UVA and UVB protection.

TYPICAL SUMMER CLOTHING ISN'T ENOUGH

Research published in medical journals, including the Skin Cancer Journal and the Journal of The American Academy of Dermatology, shows that typical summer shirts provide an SPF of only 5 to 9, inadequate for all-day sun protection. A cotton T-shirt selected to protect Southern California lifeguards only measured SPF 7 to 9, far short of the minimum 15 SPF recommended by medical experts. When wet, cotton offers even less protection. Typical summer shirts fail to meet published medical guidelines and leave too many areas of the body exposed. Baseball caps, for example, are considered notoriously inadequate because they don't shade your ears, neck and lower face.

SUNSCREENS ALONE ARE NOT ENOUGH

Sunscreens play an important role in sun protection, but they are far from perfect. For example, while most sunscreens of SPF 15 to 30 do a reasonable job of protecting against UVB rays, a typical 30 SPF sunscreen still allows a large amount of dangerous UVA rays through. Moreover, published medical studies have shown that most people do not apply enough sunscreen initially—only about ½ to ⅓ of the recommended amount—and fail to reapply

"Many summer-weight fabrics don't give enough protection. Some are well below the minimum SPF 15 that dermatologists recommend. And fibers like cotton offer even less protection when wet."
Source: FDA Consumer, July–August 1995.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW

ABOUT THE SUN'S HARMFUL RAYS, SUN PROTECTION AND SOLUMBRA

MOST PEOPLE ARE AWARE THAT UNPROTECTED EXPOSURE TO THE SUN CAN BE HARMFUL. BUT NOT EVERYONE UNDERSTANDS WHY THAT IS OR WHAT THEY CAN DO TO BEST PROTECT THEMSELVES. HERE ARE SOME STRAIGHT ANSWERS TO OFTEN ASKED QUESTIONS.

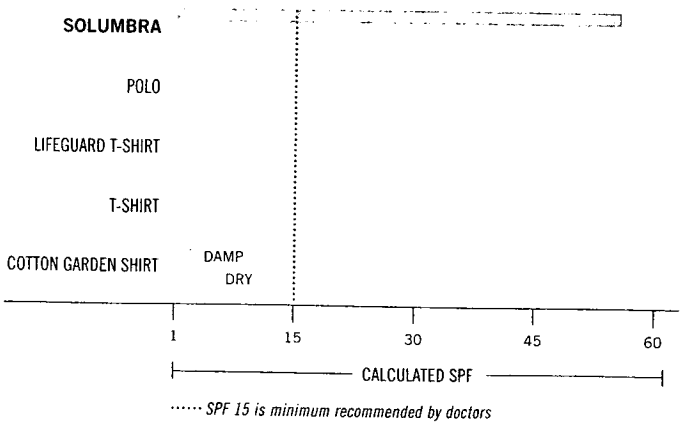
5 TO 10 MINUTES

"Without sun protection, a sun sensitive person can get a minor sunburn in approximately 10 minutes on a June midday in New York and approximately 5 minutes in Florida."
Source: Barbara Gilcrest, M.D. Photodamage.

THE NEED FOR SUN PROTECTION

The sun's ultraviolet (UV) rays are harmful; they don't just hit your skin and bounce off. UV rays penetrate the outer layer and are absorbed by skin cells, triggering a sequence of damaging reactions. A sun sensitive person may get enough sun in a matter of minutes to cause a suntan or a minor sunburn, either of which may be harmful even though no pain or peeling is evident. Cumulative damage, including sun-induced skin aging and skin cancer, can be caused by repeated daily sun injury over the years. For a medically sun sensitive person, the sun's effects can be far more serious, and symptoms related to overexposure to UV radiation can occur with less than a day's worth of exposure. The best prevention for both short-term and long-term sun injury is to practice 30+ SPF sun protection on a daily basis and to avoid daily overexposure to the sun.

Solumbra vs. Summer Fabrics
SPF Comparison



APP 740

SOLUMBRA IS MADE TO LAST

Solumbra provides greater than 30 SPF even after 100 laundering cycles and roughly 100 summer days of sunlight (the proposed U.S. industry standard for UV fabrics dictates only 40 launderings and 100 UV fading units). Under the same conditions, a famous maker heavy-weight T-shirt drops to 9 SPF and a shirt marketed as 30+ SPF that relies on a UV coating drops to 11 SPF. A sun sensitive person wearing one of these shirts would receive less sun protection than the minimum 15 SPF recommended by dermatologists and on a sunny summer day could receive a sunburn from a day's worth of sun exposure. Research has shown that skin protected by Solumbra during 30 sunburn doses of UV radiation appears the same as skin not exposed to any UV radiation at all.

SOLUMBRA IS SERIOUS MEDICINE

Solumbra is in fact a regulated medical device. As such, all of our products are subject to Good Manufacturing Practices requirements demanded of medical devices. Every batch of fabric, in every color, is tested to ensure that it has a greater than 30 SPF rating. Plus, every product goes through a rigorous 27-point quality assurance check before it enters production and a 15-point quality control check again before it can be sold.

DOCTORS RECOMMEND SOLUMBRA

Thousands of doctors and several leading cancer centers recommend Solumbra for their sun sensitive patients. At medical conferences, experts have frequently cited Solumbra by name as a safe and effective sun protection solution. As a testament to our efforts, The American Academy of Dermatology has honored Sun Precautions with the First Annual Gold Triangle Award in recognition of our work in skin cancer prevention. We are proud to be able to give sun sensitive and sun sensible people everywhere a chance to live normal, healthy lives in the sun.

"Skin cancer is one of the few diseases which can be minimized if people protect themselves from the sun...That means wearing protective clothing, avoiding the sun at midday when the sun's ultraviolet rays are strongest and, of course, wearing sunscreens."

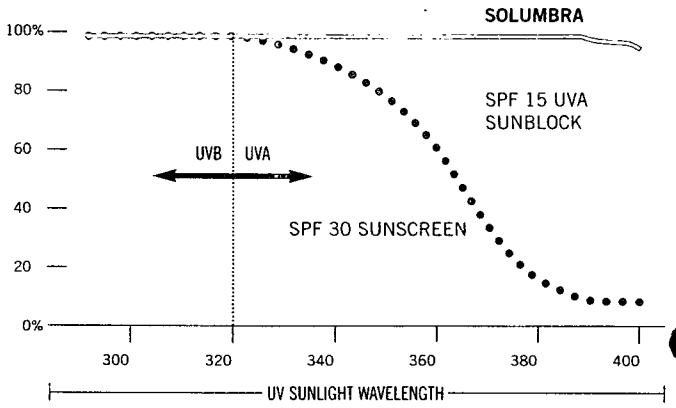
after it has worn off. Used correctly, an average-size tube of sunscreen only provides about four head-to-toe slatherings. Prolonged exercise or swimming make reapplying sunscreen a necessity.

Solumbra vs. Sunscreen

% of Sunlight Blocked



"Sunscreen alone does not protect you from skin cancer. People shouldn't feel they can stay in the sun for extended periods of time because they are wearing sunscreen and aren't burning...they are still being exposed to some solar radiation." Source: Lynn Drake, M.D., Past President of The American Academy of Dermatology.

SOLUMBRA—ALL-DAY UV PROTECTION

Solumbra, a complete line of sun protective clothing engineered by Sun Precautions, provides a safe way to enjoy the outdoors with all-day UV protection, even for extremely sun sensitive individuals. Based on a patented fabric, Solumbra delivers 30+ SPF protection and blocks more than 97% of both UVA and UVB rays.

WHY SOLUMBRA IS SPECIAL

Solumbra's 30+ SPF protection is mechanically built right into the fabric rather than applied as a treatment that can wear off over time. All of our designs—hats, shirts, pants and accessories—have been carefully developed to shield those parts of the body most likely to be overexposed to UV rays. As a result, they help to protect against long-term sun injury. Our shirts have longer sleeves and higher collars. Our hats have wider brims and our pants are full-length. Most Solumbra clothing is made to our exacting standards in our state-of-the-art manufacturing facility here in the U.S.

High Back Collar
With an upright collar, this shirt provides critical coverage in an area where other shirts come up short.

Lightweight Fabric
Solumbra fabric is as light as silk and soft to the touch. Some of our long-sleeved shirts weigh up to 25% less than a typical short-sleeved polo shirt.

Wicking
Solumbra fabric wicks away moisture and perspiration to help keep you comfortable—even in summer heat.

Neck Gusset
We've got you covered here, too. Unzip for more fresh air and the gusset protects your chest from the sun.

Sun Safe, Dry or Wet
Solumbra maintains its 30+ SPF protection even when wet. In fact, our special line of lightweight stretch-fabric water apparel is ideal for swimming.

Easy Care
Machine or hand washable in cool water. Products made of our Solumbra fabric won't shrink and will dry quickly—perfect for travel.

Built-In 30+ SPF
Solumbra's 30+ SPF sun protection is mechanically built into the fabric, not applied as a chemical coating. That means the sun protection won't wear off.

"Solumbra was my head-to-toe sun protection as I set a world record in completing a 292+ mile double Badwater Ultramarathon through Death Valley in peak summer sun and heat." –Adam Bookspan

Ventilation
Our most active styles are designed with mesh-ventilated panels—strategically located on the front, back and under the arms—to promote airflow, wick away moisture and keep out unwanted UV rays.

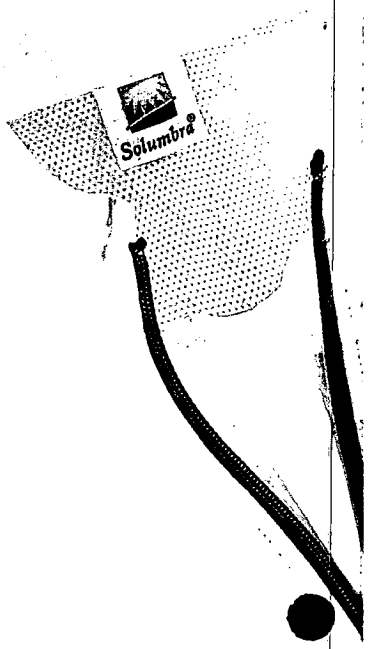
SOLUMBRA IS THE ULTIMATE SUN PROTECTION



SOLUMBRA IS A MEDICAL DEVICE AND RECOMMENDED BY THOUSANDS OF DERMATOLOGISTS to protect your skin from the harsh effects of the sun. We also designed Solumbra with features that match active, outdoor lifestyles. Take our Super Active Shirt, for example. It stands up to peak summer sun and active sports, from tennis at high noon to the Badwater Ultramarathon, a grueling 135-mile race that takes place every summer in Death Valley.

The Badwater Ultramarathon provides the most challenging test of our products imaginable. Through 13,000 feet of vertical climb and temperatures approaching 130 degrees, Solumbra has proven its effectiveness year after year, covering many participants from head to toe. Many participants say that for them Solumbra is a key to competing in the relentless sun and heat.

Ventilation
This symbol indicates styles designed for optimum comfort in peak summer heat and humidity and during strenuous activities like tennis, hiking and running.

Unisex
Styles that are appropriate for both men and women carry this symbol. Keep in mind that most Solumbra apparel is designed to provide a generous fit, so there is no need to compensate for sizing when ordering.

Water Wear
This symbol indicates products that are specifically designed to be worn in the water and are not intended for extended land use. These garments are made of a 4-way stretch fabric, are tight fitting and have minimal ventilation.

Super Active Shirt

For the heat of summer and the heat of competition, the Super Active Shirt is our coolest and most ventilated shirt. Just ask any of the serious athletes who have road tested it. Breathable vents on the front and back and extra-wide mesh panels under the arms let refreshing air enter and circulate. Its cropped front hem is designed to be worn out over pants. And the zipper is backed with a soft Solumbra gusset.

Please order a size up if you have broad shoulders.

Pullover Water Shirt

Ideal coverage for swimming, snorkeling, kayaking and surfing, this water pullover moves with you like a second skin. It's tailored from the same four-way Solumbra stretch fabric as our Zip Water Shirt, but it's more closely contoured. It dries quickly and remains lightweight when wet. Plus, your extremities are protected by the mock turtleneck, extra body length with elasticized bottom and comfortable self-fabric cuffs. Finished with double layer fabric shoulders. Rinse garment promptly in fresh water after use. (We recommend using our Water Garment Cleaner, #6940K01, 4 oz., $4.95.)

Solumbra Bike Shirt

Designed specifically for biking, our sun-smart bike shirt offers a tight, contoured fit that allows for maximum movement. Comfortable? You bet. Our special four-way Solumbra stretch fabric and underarm mesh panels wick away perspiration and dry quickly, leaving you cool. Fashioned in high-contrast white and yellow with a colorful Solumbra logo front and back to enhance your visibility on the road, the shirt comes with a gusset-backed half zipper and is cut longer in the back so you'll stay covered when bending over. Also included is an elasticized bottom, self-fabric cuffs and conventional three-panel back pocket.

Why do you wear Solumbra? I've always practiced sun protection because of my fair skin. So it makes sense for me to see the dermatologist regularly and to protect myself from the sun.

What do you like best about Solumbra? Solumbra allows me to participate in the outdoor activities that I love. I enjoy road biking, hiking, sailing and kayaking. Solumbra gives me the protection I need.

Have you worn Solumbra in any unusual circumstances? I recently wore Solumbra while taking part in a 450-mile "Ride the Rockies" bike tour. I was warned about the hot Colorado sun, but felt completely protected with Solumbra.

SUN PRECAUTIONS™

The Effective Sun Protection Solution

SOLUMBRA™ ULTRA SUN PROTECTIVE CLOTHING

30+ SPF

Clothing & Accessories

For Sun Sensitive People

Featuring Solumbra Ultra Sun Protective Clothing, the only scientifically tested and proven sun protective clothing that meets published sun protective apparel guidelines.

THIS MAN'S SKIN IS IN DANGER!

He may look like an average person on a typical summer day, but he is not protecting his skin from the harmful effects of the sun. Dressed this way, his entire body is exposed to more damaging UV radiation than the medical community recommends. UV radiation goes right through his shirt and shorts to invade his skin. His exposed arms, legs and head aren't protected either. Over time, a sun sensitive person dressed like this increases his risk of serious sun injury.

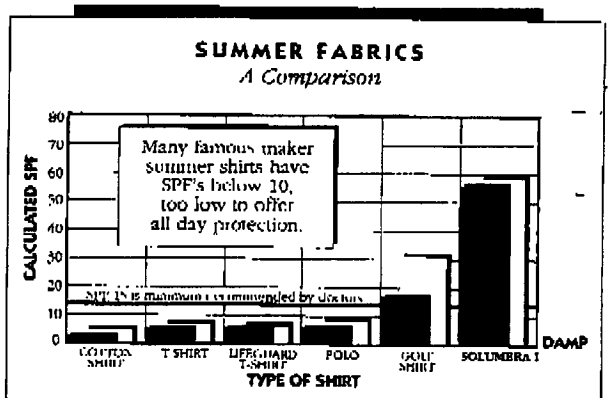
THE SOLUMBRA™ SOLUTION

Real sun protection requires a head-to-toe solution, including wide-brimmed hats, long-sleeved shirts and long pants, plus highly protective sunscreens for hands, face, ears and neck, and high quality sunglasses that provide 100% UV protection as well as a good fit.

Solumbra clothing is revolutionary: the first and only sun protective line of apparel that meets published medical guidelines. Everything else is just clothing. The superior sun protection is based on both design and fabric, offering an SPF of well over 30, even when damp or wet. 30+ SPF means even a sun sensitive person is protected from harmful UV rays in harsh, tropical or desert conditions all day.

Our unique fabrics, Solumbra I and Solumbra II, block over 98% of the sun's ultraviolet rays, but are still cottony-soft, very lightweight and cool. Their protection is built-in and doesn't wear off (as sunscreens can), they provide protection even when damp or wet, and are easy to care for. Our fabrics are specially made at a single factory to meet our exact specifications, and are then tested to ensure efficacy. Our patent-pending fabrics are not available anywhere else in the world

Our designs are based on current medical research, dermatologists' input, and doctor recommendations regarding sun injury incidence. Solumbra Clothing covers more of you than does typical summer activewear, but you stay cool: the loose fit generates cooling air flow and permits unrestricted movement in active sports or hobbies. While these clothes represent an ideal solution for many sun sensitive people, they're attractively styled to look and feel just like today's sportswear fashions.



Many popular summer clothing items are not as sun protective as you might think. As the graph above depicts, a regular white t-shirt or polo shirt may offer an SPF of only 7 - 9; not enough to protect you from sun injury during a day in the sun. Solumbra Ultra Sun Protective Clothing is designed and tested to provide an SPF of 30+, even when damp or wet.

SOLUMBRA™ POLO SHIRT

Superior Sun Protection, Yet Light, Soft and Cool

The Solumbra Polo Shirt offers total broad-spectrum UVA-UVB protection, shutting out the harmful ultraviolet rays that can cause serious skin damage. The soft, cotton-like Solumbra I fabric provides 30+ SPF while remaining comfortable on even the hottest summer days. Special design features make it even more protective: the unique collar has a specially designed flip-up neck protector to shade the sunburn-prone back of neck. It flips down, out of sight, when you don't need the protection. Long sleeves with stretch cuffs keep your forearms protected, and its loose construction allows you plenty of room to move in active sports. You can be confident that the Solumbra Polo Shirt provides upper body protection for a full day of outdoor activity. With three-button placket, front pocket and shirttail construction.

Available in White, Azure Blue and Black. Unisex sizes XS, S, M, L, XL (white to XXL). See sizing chart on order form to determine your best fit. Item #1201, $79.95.

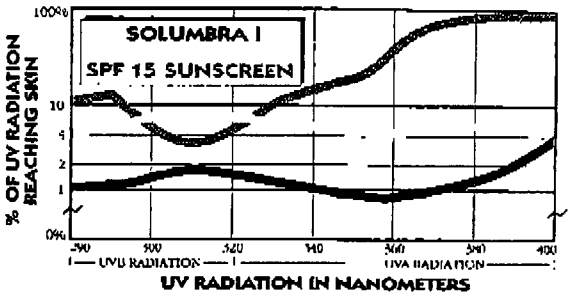
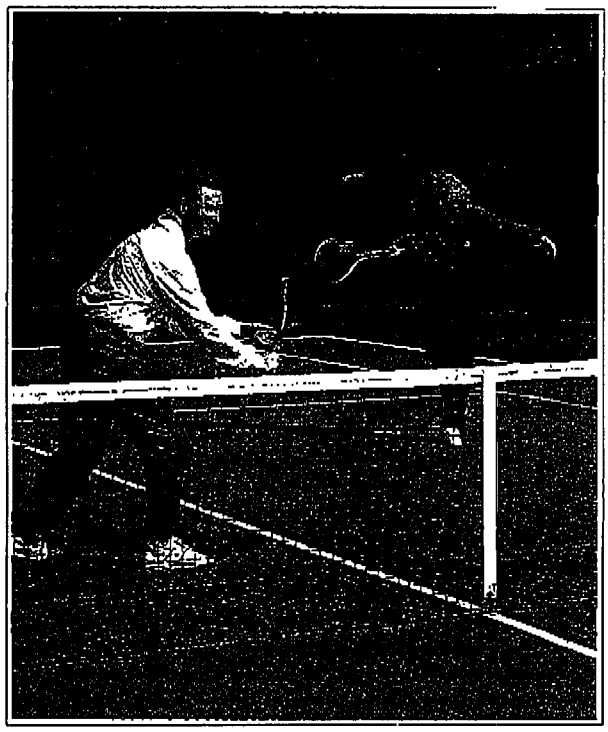
SOLUMBRA I FABRIC



This UV transmission chart shows just how effective Solumbra I fabric is at shutting out the sun's harmful rays. Its protection power is superior to that of virtually all summer clothing, as well as that of many sunblocks because Solumbra I blocks out over 98% of both UVA and UVB radiation. Medical research has determined that both the UVA and UVB ranges of ultraviolet radiation cause serious skin damage. The higher the amount of UV that is blocked, the higher the SPF value — and Solumbra fabric provides over 30+ SPF, even when damp or wet.



SOLUMBRA™ MOCK-T

Solumbra's Mock-T gives you plenty of room to move, keeping you cool and comfortable, while providing maximum sun protection. The soft, stretch ribbed neckline offers extra protection for your sun sensitive neck (an area of high sun damage), and long sleeves keep you covered where you need it most. Made of Solumbra I fabric.
In White and Black, Unisex sizes XS, S, M, L, XL.
Item #1220, $59.95.

SOLUMBRA™ ULTRA SUN HAT

A Crowning Achievement

The Ultra Sun Hat represents the ultimate in sun protection and quality. Each is handmade by a renowned milliner using the best materials and forms. Its nearly 4-inch brim provides protection from direct sun exposure, yet doesn't restrict your vision. A drawstring inside the brim adjusts for a custom fit, plus the unique crown construction make it extra comfortable. This hat meets published medical guidelines for sun protection (not many do!). Made of natural cotton with optional adjustable chin snap.
In sizes S, M and L. Item #4250, $59.95.

To lessen the chances of sun injury ... the American Academy of Dermatology offers the following recommendations: minimize sun exposure, especially during the peak sun hours of 10am to 3pm ... apply sunscreen with an SPF of at least 15 liberally and frequently ... and wear appropriate clothing ... including a wide-brimmed hat, long-sleeved shirt and pants.

MEN'S SUMMER PANTS

Our Shorts Substitute

Our Men's Summer Pants are designed to be a loose-fitting, comfortable shorts substitute. Sunny summer days on the golf course, tennis court, sailboat or working in the yard are the perfect time for lightweight Summer Pants, keeping you sun protected but not hot. Made of Solumbra I fabric, unhemmed.
In Azure Blue and Black, Men's sizes XS, S, M, L, XL.
Item #2210, $59.95.

DID YOU KNOW?

Solumbra's long-sleeved shirts not only provide protection from UV radiation, but also protect from the part of the light spectrum that causes heat. You stay cooler when your skin is covered. The loose fitting, long-sleeve designs let plenty of cooling air flow through, and limit solar heating, so you stay comfortably protected. Our pants work on the same principle.

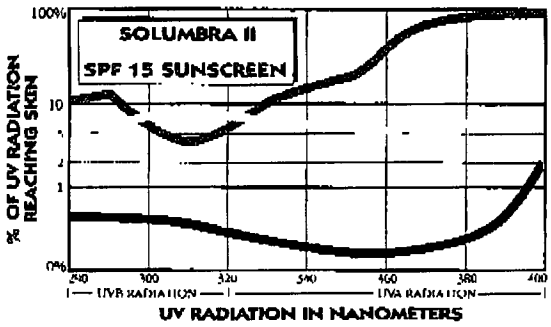
SOLUMBRA™ ULTIMATE POLO SHIRT

Ultimate Protection and Ultimate Comfort

We've named this the Ultimate Polo Shirt because it offers the highest UV protection of any summer weight clothing we've tested. Made of luxurious Solumbra II fabric with an SPF that's nearly off the charts. Its flip-up collar protects your neck — just fold it down into its hidden collar pocket when you don't need the protection. With all-way stretch built in, you couldn't find a more comfortable sport shirt anywhere. The Ultimate Polo keeps you protected, cool and comfortable while playing tennis, golf or any active sport.

In White, Unisex sizes XS, S, M, L, XL. Item #1290, $119.95.

SOLUMBRA II FABRIC



Solumbra II fabric offers powerful protection across both the UVB and the UVA spectrum of ultraviolet light. It outperforms any sunscreen we've found, plus it protects against UVA radiation. It outperforms all summer-weight fabrics we've tested, too. The UV blocking data can be converted to SPF values — Solumbra II fabric provides significantly greater than 30+ SPF protection, even when damp or wet.

ABOUT OUR SIZING

All Solumbra clothing is designed to fit loosely for maximum freedom of movement, comfort and cooling. We've intentionally designed them to be oversized to offer plenty of room to move. Please consult the order form sizing chart to make sure your usual size is appropriate. Kids' clothes are designed with stretch-knit sleeve and pant cuffs, so if they're slightly too big, they won't drag. Adult pants may be custom-hemmed for a charge of $5.

CALL TO ORDER

For prompt service, call 1-800-882-7860 24 hours, seven days a week. Please have your credit card (we accept VISA and MasterCard) and order information ready. Our Customer Service staff will advise you of stock availability, provide product information, and answer questions about your order or about sun protection in general during normal Pacific Coast business hours.

ORDER BY MAIL

Please fill out our order form completely. Enclose payment in the form of a check, money order or credit card number (VISA and MasterCard). Please include shipping charges (and 8.2% tax if within Washington state). Prices and promotions may change without notice.

RETURNS AND EXCHANGES

We stand behind our Solumbra Ultra Sun Protective Clothing. If for any reason you are dissatisfied with any item purchased from us, return it for an exchange or full refund. Hemmed pants may not be returned.

SHIPPING INFORMATION

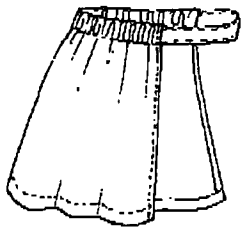
We normally ship orders within 2 business days after we receive them. If an item is out of stock, we will inform you of the expected delay. You should receive your order within two weeks. If you need it faster, order express delivery (2-day or 3-day). Shipping prices are noted on the order form. We ship via UPS surface (to street addresses only) unless you request express. If you only have a Post Office Box, we will ship by the postal service. Shipping costs to Alaska, Hawaii and foreign countries may vary, please inquire.

GIFT WRAPPING

Solumbra clothing and accessories make wonderful gifts — show someone you care by giving them long-lasting sun protection. We will be happy to gift wrap any item in our sun-shadow wrapping for a charge of $3.

GIFT CERTIFICATES FOR SOLUMBRA™ CLOTHING

Show someone you care by giving them long lasting sun protection. Sun Precautions offers Gift Certificates in $25, $50 and $100 values. We'll wrap the certificate in our sun shadow wrapping and mail it to the name and address you request, with a gift card bearing your name.
Item #9201, please specify amount.



TURN YOUR FAVORITE HAT INTO A SUN PROTECTIVE HAT.

With this sweatband/neck drape, you can protect your skin while wearing your favorite hat or cap. Great for tennis, hiking or other active sports.

ADULT CLOTHING

SOLUMBRA™ NO SWEAT SHIRT

Solumbra's No Sweat Shirt is the coolest around. To wear alone or as a pullover, its generous cut allows for both plenty of movement and maximum cooling air flow — you keep your cool and stay fully protected from sun injury. Made of Solumbra I fabric.

In White and Azure Blue. Unisex sizes XS, S, M, L, XL.
Item #1230, $59.95.

WOMEN'S COTTON SUN HAT

This white cotton hat protects your face and neck from sun injury and photoaging. Its 4-inch front brim meets published guidelines for protection from direct sunlight, and the 5-inch back brim protects the sun sensitive back of your neck.

One size fits all, Item #4260, $29.95.

WOMEN'S SUMMER PANTS

Our Women's Summer Pants offer the same comfortable substitute for shorts as the Men's, but are designed with flattering angled sidescam pockets and a more generous cut through the hip and thigh. With elastic waistband. Made of Solumbra I fabric, unhemmed.

In Azure Blue and Black, sizes XS, S, M. Item #2230, $59.95.

DID YOU KNOW?

A wide-brimmed hat protects you from direct sun exposure, but 50% of the UV radiation is reflected off the ground back up to your face. Water, snow and sand can reflect up to 75% of the sun's damaging rays (and UV radiation is much stronger at high altitudes). Always wear adequate sunblock on your face, ears, neck and hands to protect from reflected rays.

SOLUMBRA™ INFANT COVERALL

Our Coverall provides all-over protection of 30+ SPF, so you can feel confident that your baby is safe in the sun. Light, cottony fabric keeps baby cool, one piece design has a full zipper for easy changing. Mini-visor on hood shades baby's forehead (but don't forget sunscreen for baby's face, hands and feet to protect from reflected rays). Made of Solumbra I fabric.

In Azure Blue/White, sizes 1 & 2. See sizing chart on order form to determine best fit. Item #8210, $44.95.

SOLUMBRA™ CHILDREN'S HATS

The Solumbra Children's Hats have extra-wide brims to shade all around. They're the best way to protect young skin from damaging UV rays. (Be sure to use plenty of sunscreen on your child's face and ears — 50% of the sun's rays are reflected off the ground and back to the face.)

In Azure Blue/White, the Legionnaire with neck flap (Item # 8280) fits ages 1 to 3, and the Classic Sailor with round brim (Item # 8281) fits ages 4 to 8. $19.95.

This is the first time we've vacationed in a hot climate without anyone suffering a sunburn. Our 4-year-old wore the hooded polo and stayed comfortable and protected, and our 2-year-old could play in the sunshine wearing the mock-T when other children had to stay in the shade for protection.

SOLUMBRA™ CHILDREN'S CLOTHES

Your wriggling toddler hates to wait while you apply sunscreen, but with our Children's Outfits, your child is protected by 30+ SPF clothing all day long — no need to reapply messy sunscreen every hour to arms, legs and wiggleworm bodies.

The Children's Mock-T has long sleeves with comfortable stretch-knit cuffs to protect sunburn-prone arms, and its high neckline offers added protection.
Available in White. Item #8220, $34.95.

Hooded Polo Shirt also has long sleeves and stretch-knit cuffs, with a hood and mini-visor to shade forehead and eyes. In Azure Blue/White and Red/Azure Blue (not shown). Item #8201, $39.95.

Children's Summer Pants have stretch-knit waistband and ankles for an easy fit – little legs stay safe from painful, damaging sunburn in our play pants. Available in Azure Blue and Black. Item #8260, $34.95.

All Solumbra children's items are made of Solumbra I fabric, available in sizes 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12. See sizing chart on order form to determine best fit.

NOTE: Medical research shows that we receive up to 75% of our lifetime damaging sun exposure by age 18, and a child's skin is more sun sensitive than adult skin. Have your children wear sun protective clothing, SPF 15+ sunscreen and sunglasses to prevent sun damage.

SUN ACCESSORIES

We've searched the marketplace, looking for the best possible sun protection products to complement our Solumbra Ultra Sun Protective Clothing. To be safe from the sun's damaging ultraviolet radiation, you need head to toe protection — including your ears, eyes, face and hands. After testing hundreds of products, and interviewing dermatologists and other skin protection experts, we've found the products below to offer superior sun protection.

CLOCKWISE FROM UPPER LEFT:

NEUTROGENA SUNBLOCK - SPF 15 Dermatologists recommend Neutrogena as broad spectrum, sweatproof, rubproof, all day protection for active people. It's hypoallergenic and fragrance free. Item #5201, $6.95.

DERMATONE TOP COAT - 20+ SPF Though it's designed for thinning hair or bald spots, it's great protection anywhere. Waterproof, non-greasy formula is in an easy to use pump spray (parents may like it for quick and easy sun protection for kids). Item #5303, $5.95

PHOTOPLEX - SPF 15 Photoplex is the only sunscreen that's clinically proven to provide complete UVA protection as well as UVB protection. Photoplex offers the broadest protection from the sun's damaging rays. Item #5204, $11.95.

SUPERVISORS With its full wrap design, the SuperVisor provides superior UV protection, blocking virtually all incidental light from the top and sides. To wear by themselves (it has a soft-foam headband for comfort) or over prescription glasses. Item #6221, $15.95.

RAY BAN OUTDOORSMAN Offering 100% UV protection, the Outdoorsman fits snugly to the head, preventing light from filtering around the frame. Ray Bans also control glare and provide clear, sharp, distortion-free vision. Made of durable, impact- and scratch-resistant glass. Item #6201, $69.95.

STYLE EYES CHILDREN'S SUNGLASSES With 100% UV protective lenses, they are impact resistant, and designed to fit small faces. Kids' eyes are particularly sensitive to sunlight — be sure to protect them with quality glasses. In "cat" or "wayfarer" designs with colored temples, fit ages 4 to 10. Item #6241 (cat), $14.95 or #6243 (wayfarer), $14.95.

VIDEO "The Darker Side of the Sun" prepared by the Stevens Cancer Center at Scripps Memorial Hospital, describes the relationship between UV radiation and its effect on the skin, and who may be at higher risk for serious sun-induced skin damage. Special emphasis placed on protecting infants and young children from the harmful effects of the sun's rays. Item #7251, $29.95.

SUN SENSE BOOK *Dr. Perry Robins, President and founder of The Skin Cancer Foundation writes about the damaging effects of the sun on the skin. As a complete guide to the prevention, early detection and treatment of sun injury, Sun Sense can help educate and answer questions about the sun and your skin. Sun Precautions' goal is to help sun sensitive people — or anyone concerned about skin damage from sun exposure — to understand the sun's dangers, understand what can and cannot protect you from the sun, and learn to enjoy the sunshine and to safely pursue sports and activities in the sun.

Our Solumbra clothing items have been tested and reviewed by leading dermatologists and sun injury experts to ensure that they offer a truly accountable sun protection solution. Doctors may find them appropriate for many of their sun sensitive patients, knowing they are proven to be effective in blocking UV. While other clothes may offer some protection, none has received the scrutiny and review of some of the world's leading sun injury and UV testing experts, as our products have. Sun Precautions will offer nothing but the best to sun sensitive individuals. Our founder's skin health depends on it. Please consult your dermatologist to have a check-up and ask your doctor if these products are suitable for you.

Overexposure to the sun may lead to premature aging of the skin and skin cancer. The regular use over the years of these products may help reduce the chance of these harmful effects.

We are dedicated to making our products better by continually testing and researching ways to make the lives of sun sensitive individuals safer and more enjoyable.

[57] ABSTRACT

A fabric having both a high degree of user comfort and a high degree of Ultraviolet Radiation protection is provided. The preferred yarn is at least 40 Denier by 40 Denier, preferably 70 Denier by 2\70 Denier Nylon Yarn. The yarn is woven into a fabric with a yarn count of at least 80 by 50, preferably about 118 by 68 yarns per inch. The fabric is sanded, preferably moderate to heavy, on one side. The fabric is jet treated, preferably air jet laundered. The fabric provides an Ultraviolet sun protection factor of at least about 30, preferably about 70 or more.

ULTRAVIOLET PROTECTIVE FABRIC

The present invention relates to fabric for providing protection against Ultraviolet Radiation and, in particular, woven fabric which provides a high degree of wearer-comfort while providing a high Ultraviolet sun protective factor.

BACKGROUND OF THE INVENTION

With the increasing awareness of dangers posed to human health by over-exposure to solar radiation and, particularly, Ultraviolet components of radiation, a number of attempts have been made to provide protection from such radiation while permitting outdoor activities. Among the protective measures available are various types of clothing. The degree of protection against Ultraviolet Radiation afforded by clothing is highly variable and depends on a number of factors. Among these factors is the Ultraviolet characteristics of the yarn or fiber of the fabric and the type of weave of the fabric. The characteristics of the weave of the fabric which are of interest include the ratio of the surface area which is occupied by the fibers or yarns to the area of the apertures between the yarns. The principal determinates of this ratio are the tightness of weave (typically measured as the finished yarn count (FYC) or yarns per inch) and the thread size (typically expressed as a Denier number). The characteristics of the yarn which are of principal interest are the transmission characteristics of the yarn or fiber, particularly the percent of Ultraviolet Radiation which is transmitted through or along the fiber or yarn, as opposed to being absorbed or reflected.

In attempting to provide radiation protection, one approach to dealing with the ratio of threads to apertures is to provide a fabric having a relatively tight weave, or a very high thread count. Another approach involves coating the fabric. Both of these approaches greatly reduce or eliminate the apertures in the fabric. While this may increase Ultraviolet protection, it results in a fabric which is uncomfortable. It is believed that the lack of comfort arises from the reduction or elimination of the apertures in a fashion which makes it impossible for the fabric to "breathe". This is an undesirable approach for achieving Ultraviolet protection since it discourages users from wearing the fabric particularly during hot weather when exposure to Ultraviolet Radiation is most likely. Accordingly, there is need for a sun-protective fabric, and particularly an Ultraviolet protective fabric which is also comfortable, particularly in warm weather.

SUMMARY OF THE INVENTION

According to the present invention, a fabric is provided which provides both a high degree of user comfort and desirable protection from Ultraviolet Radiation. Preferably the fabric provides at the UV protection generally associated with acceptable radiation-protective clothing, such as on SPF of about 30 or more. In one embodiment, the fabric provides for at least partially blocking UV Radiation through the apertures while permitting air circulation or "breathing" through the apertures. Preferably, some of the fibers of the yarn are relaxed, loosened, or severed, such as by sanding and\or jet treatment, such that the loosened or severed fibers cover portions of the apertures while still permitting air circulation or "breathing" of the fabric. In one embodiment the sanded surface is the surface which is presented to the source of Ultraviolet Radiation. When the fabric is formed into clothing, the clothing is formed with the sanded side out to provide both desired air circulation and a high degree of Ultraviolet blockage. In one embodiment, nylon yarns of at least about 40 Denier, preferably about 70 Denier, are woven, preferably in a 1 warp yarn×2 fill yarn pattern, to provide a fabric with a finished yarn count of at least about 80, preferably about 118 yarns per inch in the warp yarns and at least about 50, preferably about 68 yarns per inch in the fill yarns. In this embodiment, the fabric is sanded on one side, and, after optional dyeing, is air jet laundered. The resulting fabric provides an Ultraviolet solar protection factor of at least about 30, preferably at least about 40, more preferably at least about 50 even more preferably, at least about 70 and most preferably about 80 or more (in white, which blocks less UV than any other color).

BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF THE DRAWINGS

FIG. 1 is a photomicrograph of the fabric according to the present invention, with a 142 micron scale shown thereon, depicting the reverse (non-sanded) side of the fabric after sanding and air jet laundering;

FIG. 2 is a photomicrograph corresponding to FIG. 1 but with higher magnification, with a 56.2 micron magnification scale depicted thereon;

FIG. 3 is a photomicrograph corresponding to FIG. 1 but showing the opposite (sanded) side of the fabric;

FIG. 4 is a photomicrograph corresponding to FIG. 3 but having a greater magnification with a 56.2 micron magnification scale depicted thereon;

FIG. 5 depicts a transmittance spectrum for a fabric according to an embodiment of the present invention.

DESCRIPTION OF THE PREFERRED EMBODIMENT

As depicted in FIG. 1, the yarn used in an embodiment of the present invention is a multiple filament yarn. In one embodiment the fibers are formed from nylon, such as nylon 6,6, into a yarn such as that sold under the name "Supplex®" by E. I. DuPont de Nemours & Co. Other types of nylon yarn may also be operable such as those available from Courtaids, Allied, and BASF. In this embodiment the warp yarn size is at least about 40 Denier, preferably in the range of between about 68 and 76 Denier (e.g. as determined in accordance with American Standards for Testing of Material (ASTM) D 1059–87) and most preferably having a nominal yarn size of about 70 Denier. In one embodiment the warp yarn has about 34 filaments and the two fill yarns have about 66 filaments. In one embodiment the weave (described below) is a 1×2 weave, providing a nominal yarn size of about 70 Denier (warp) by 2\70 Denier (fill). In this embodiment the warp yarn is single ply and the weft yarn is two-ply. Both have little or no twist (which is believed to allow them to flatten out during the fabrication). FIGS. 1 through 4 depict the 1×2 weave used in producing the fabric according to this embodiment of the invention. The fabric woven in this fashion has a finished yarn count for the warp yarns in the range of about 80 to about 200 yarns per inch, preferably 80 to about 150 yarns per inch, more preferably about 100 to 130 yarns per inch, still more preferably having between about 116 and about 119 yarns per inch (e.g. as determined according to ASTM D. 3775–85) and most preferably having a nominal finished yarn count of about 118 yarns per inch. The fill yarns preferably have a finished yarn count of at least about 50, more preferably between about 64 and about 78 yarns per inch (e.g. as determined according to ASTM D 3775–85) and most preferably having a nominal finished yarn count of about 68 yarns per inch. In this embodiment, the fabric has a fabric weight (e.g. as determined in accordance with ASTM D 3776) of about 3.0 ounces per square yard (about 160 grams per square meter). "Nominal" refers to specifications as employed by fabric mills for determining characteristics of produced fabrics. A fabric of this nature can be produced, for example, by Brookwood Companies (South Carolina Mills), particularly in connection with finishing (as described below) at Pioneer Finishing Corporation, Fall River, Mass.

The woven fabric, according to this embodiment, is subjected to sanding using fabric sanding methods known to those skilled in the art. In general, sanding includes running fabric stock over an abrasive surface such as a sanded surface. Sanding variables include sandpaper grit, number of fabric passes over sanded surfaces and tension on fabric or pressure on sanded surface. The values employed for those variables are selected in a manner known to those skilled in the art. In particular, the sanding machine operator employs his knowledge to pick the appropriate combination of values based upon fabric composition to achieve the proper degree of sanding. In one embodiment, the fabric is sanded substantially as heavily as possible without weakening the fabric of the point where integrity and durability of the fabric is seriously compromised. According to this embodiment, the degree of sanding is the degree at least as depicted in FIGS. 3 and 4 and described in the industry as "moderate to heavy sanding". According to this embodiment, following sanding, the fabric may be optionally dyed, as described more thoroughly below. After the sanding (and immediately after dyeing) the fabric is subjected to an air jet laundering process (using techniques known to those skilled in the art) to relax the fabric and dumped into a collection bin. Preferably, after jet laundering, the fabric is allowed to dry. In the present embodiment, the fabric, which typically shrinks during the laundering process, is not stretched (contrary to the norm in the industry) and is not rolled onto a collection spool and therefore has puckered appearance.

The fabric produced as described above results in a high degree of user comfort and a high degree of Ultraviolet Radiation blockage. The precise theory explaining this desirable combination of characteristics is not fully known. However, without wishing to be bound by any theory, it is believed that the weave, the sanding and the jet treatment are factors. In the embodiment described, the warp threads are thinner than the fill threads (approximately 70 Denier versus 140 Denier, combined). It is believed that this allows the fill yarn filaments to block the apertures formed between the yarns when the filaments are relaxed and sanded and also permits the fabric from becoming too weak after the described treatment. As seen in FIGS. 1 through 4, the fill yarns are believed to have a higher degree of looping than the warp yarns.

It is believed that the sanding process raises the yarn filaments and breaks them. This releases tension on some of the fibers of the yarns. It is believed that some of the broken filaments, in turn, fill or cover at least some of the apertures, blocking UV Radiation before it reaches the apertures, without undesirably blocking air flow or "breathing" of the fabric. Further, the broken filaments are believed to help raise the height of the fabric, keeping the body of the fabric from touching the skin when used in a garment. This creates an air space that is believed to make the fabric more comfortable. This airspace is believed to helps diffuse UV radiation, which, it is believed, helps to make the fabric more UV protective. The effect of sanding can be seen in FIGS. 3 and 4 which depict the sanded side of the fabric, compared to the unsanded side depicted in FIGS. 1 and 2.

The air jet laundering process is believed to help relax the yarns after fabrication. It also causes a degree of fabric shrinkage. Further, it is believed that the jet laundering may cause individual filaments of the yarns to rise from the fabric, to develop loops, and to fill some of the fabric apertures. Because some of the filaments are broken during the sanding process, it is believed the yarn filaments on both sides of the fabric become more relaxed during the jet laundering process. The jet laundering is believed to also reduce the size of the apertures.

As noted above, the fabric may be optionally dyed, preferably following sanding and before jet laundering. In many cases dyeing substantially affects the sun protective factor of the fabric. For example, it has been found that the fabric according to the present invention which, in a white state has a sun protective factor of about 40, if the fabric is dyed black will have a substantially higher sun protective factor, such as a sun protective as high as about 450. Accordingly, references herein to "Sun Protective Factor" of the fabric refer to the sun protective factor of a fabric in a white state. In the above example, the black fabric having a sun protective factor of 450 has a white sun protective factor of 40.

In one embodiment, the fabric formed according to the present invention is included in clothing such as shirts, pants, blouses, dresses, children's cover-ups, scarves, hats, gloves, coats, hoods, neck gators and the like. As noted, in one embodiment, the fabric is sanded on one side only. It is possible to construct clothing with the sanded side on the inside or outside of clothing. However, in at least one embodiment it is believed that greater Ultraviolet protection is provided with the sanded side on the outside of the garment. Accordingly, in one embodiment, when it is desired to provide the highest Ultraviolet protection, the garment is constructed with the sanded side out.

EXPERIMENTAL

A fabric was woven in a 1×2 pattern from DuPont Supplex® Nylon Multiple Filament Yarn having a yarn size of 70 Denier (warp) by 2\70 Denier (fill or weft). The fabric was woven with a nominal finished yarn count of 118 (warp) by 68 (fill) yarns per inch. The woven fabric was sanded on one side only, dyed, jet laundered and air dried. The resulting fabric had a microstructure substantially as depicted in FIGS. 1 through 4. Ultraviolet transmittance through the fabric was measured for wavelengths from about 280 nanometers to about 800 nanometers. Three scans were performed and averaged. The procedure was run twice with the only difference being that the second run involved a greater degree of stretching of the fabric than the first run. The solid trace represents transmittance for the undyed (white) fabric in a dry state. The dotted trace represents transmittance in the wet state. The results from the second run are depicted in FIG. 5.

Based on the transmittance data obtained, predicted sun protection factors, based upon the spectrum, were calculated as shown in Table I.

TABLE I

	Predicted SPF
	Total	uvb	uva
First run:
dry	58.6	56.7	70.7
wet	55.6	53.5	69.9
Second run:
dry	42.0	41.0	48.6
wet	49.8	48.3	58.9

In Table I, "uvb" denotes the SPF in the uvb spectrum, 290–320 nm and "uva" denotes the SPF in the uva spectrum, 320–400 nm. "Total" denotes the well known sun protection factor (SPF). In general, SPF indicates the number of time units of protected exposure which is equivalent to one time unit of unprotected exposure.

A second comparison fabric was tested in which the ratio of thread size to thread count was decreased (by decreasing the yarn size while increasing the thread count). In the second fabric, the yarn size was about 140 Denier (warp) and \166 Denier (fill) and the thread count was about 90 yarns per inch (warp) and about 132 yarns per inch (fill). It was found that even though decreasing the ratio is expected to have the effect of decreasing the aperture size, the amount of UV protection in the second test fabric was decreased.

A third comparison fabric was prepared in which jet laundering was not used. It was found that a maximum SPF of about 45 was achieved without using air jet laundering, compared with a maximum SPF of about 70 for a comparable fabric subjected to air jet laundering.

A fourth comparison fabric was provided which was otherwise comparable but was not sanded. The feel of this unsanded material was compared to the feel of the sanded material according to the present invention and the fourth test fabric was judged to be less comfortable. Additionally, the UV protection of the unsanded fourth test fabric had an Ultraviolet protection substantially inferior to that of the sanded fabric.

In light of the above description, a number of advantages of the present invention are apparent. The present invention provides a fabric that affords a high degree of protection from Ultraviolet Radiation without the need for utilizing special Ultraviolet—blocking fibers and without the need for special Ultraviolet—blocking coatings. The present invention retains breathability of the fabric, contributing to the high degree of user comfort. When the fabric is included in clothing, according to the present invention, the wearer receives a high degree of comfort while enjoying protection from Ultraviolet Radiation.

Although the present invention has been described by way of a preferred embodiment, certain variations and modifications of the invention can also be used. The present invention could be combined with other types of Ultraviolet protection such as dyeing or use of Ultraviolet—blocking fibers. It is possible to use some aspects of the invention without using others, such as by providing a sanded fabric without providing the sanded side on the outside of the clothing article.

Although the application has been described by way of a preferred embodiment and certain variations and modifications, other variations and modifications can also be used, the invention being defined by the following claims.

What is claimed is:

1. A method for fabricating a fabric having high wearer-comfort comprising:

providing a plurality of multi-filament nylon warp yarns having a yarn size of about 70 denier;

providing a plurality of multi-filament nylon fill yarns having a yarn size of about 70 denier;

weaving said warp yarns and said fill yarns in a 1×2 pattern to provide a fabric with a finished yarn count of about 118 yarns per inch of said warp yarns and about 68 yarns per inch of said fill yarns to provide a fabric with a weight of about 3 ounces per square yard, said fabric having first and second surfaces;

sanding only said first surface of said fabric substantially to the degree depicted in FIG. 3; dying and jet laundering said fabric, following said step of sanding;

collecting said fabric in a collection region;

air-drying said fabric, in the absence of stretching said fabric after said drying and jet laundering, to provide a fabric having a sun protective factor of at least about 30.

2. A method, as claimed in claim 1, wherein said fabric is provided with a sun protective factor of at least about 40.

3. A method, as claimed in claim 1, wherein said fabric is provided with a sun protective factor of at least about 50.
