DECLARATION OF JAIME LEMONS

IN THE UNITED STATES PATENT AND TRADEMARK OFFICE
BEFORE THE TRADEMARK TRIAL AND APPEAL BOARD

NIKE, INC., Opposer,	Opposition No. 91221511
vs.	Application No. 86330661
CAPITAL E FINANCE CO, LLC, Applicant.	MARK: JUST DID IT

DECLARATION OF JAIME LEMONS

I, Jaime Lemons, declare as follows:

1. I am Global Counsel, Trademark and Copyright at Nike, Inc. ("NIKE"), the Opposer in the above-captioned proceeding. I submit this Declaration in support of NIKE's Memorandum In Support of Entry of Judgment submitted pursuant to the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board's ("TTAB's") Accelerated Case Resolution proceeding.

2. NIKE is an Oregon corporation with a principal place of business at One Bowerman Drive, Beaverton, Oregon 97005.

3. I joined NIKE in 2008 as Assistant General Counsel. I have held my current position at NIKE since 2014. I have regularly reviewed, handled, and identified NIKE business records, including those relating to the matters set forth in my Declaration. Through my experience, I have become knowledgeable about the procedures under which NIKE's business records are created and kept, including the business records described below.

4. As part of my job responsibilities, I oversee the clearance, prosecution, maintenance, and enforcement of NIKE's trademarks on a global basis. Those responsibilities include, among other things, enforcing NIKE's copyrights and trademarks against third-parties who we believe violate NIKE's rights, overseeing the use of designs and verbiage on NIKE's products, and seeking trademark registrations on behalf of NIKE.

5. In May of 2010, I testified on behalf of NIKE[1] in Nike v. Maher, 100 U.S.P.Q.2d 1018 (T.T.A.B. 2011), regarding NIKE's use of JUST DO IT, NIKE's sale of products bearing JUST DO IT, widespread recognition of JUST DO IT by others, and NIKE's enforcement of JUST DO IT against third-parties.

I. NIKE's Trademark Rights in JUST DO IT

6. NIKE's most important and valuable trademarks include, among others, the NIKE word mark, the Swoosh design, and the JUST DO IT word mark. As a result, NIKE actively takes steps to protect those trademarks, including obtaining trademark registrations and enforcing the trademarks against third-parties.

7. Over the years, NIKE has obtained several trademark registrations for JUST DO IT, including U.S. Trademark Registration Nos. 1,817,919; 1,875,307; 1,931,937; 4,350,316; 4,704,671; and 4,764,071. NIKE has pleaded ownership of U.S. Trademark Registration Nos. 1,875,307; 4,350,316; 4,704,671, and 4,764,071 as a basis for opposition in this proceeding.[2] Trademark rights are not static. NIKE periodically updates its trademark registration coverage for JUST DO IT as new products and types of usages are developed. However, given the wide range of uses of JUST DO IT for many products over the years, NIKE's rights based on actual use of JUST DO IT extend to even more goods and services than those specifically listed in its registrations.

8. As discussed in more detail below, NIKE has enforced its trademark rights to JUST DO IT in numerous court proceedings and before the TTAB, including in the Maher proceeding, which found the JUST DO IT mark famous both for likelihood of confusion and dilution purposes.

II. NIKE's Sales Relating to JUST DO IT

9. In the Maher proceeding, the use of JUST DO IT, sales of products bearing JUST DO IT, and recognition of JUST DO IT were all documented in detail. As described in that proceeding, NIKE conservatively estimates that more than 10,000 different products in the United States contained either JDI or JUST DO IT in the style name between 1989 and 2009. The style name is typically a name given to each product NIKE distributes and generally reflects a characteristic of the product. Thus, a style name containing JDI or JUST DO IT generally indicates the product bears the JUST DO IT mark. That 10,000+ number does not account for products that bear JUST DO IT on the product but not in the style name; in other words, the 10,000+ number is a conservative calculation. A true and correct copy of a spreadsheet listing all of NIKE's products containing either JDI or JUST DO IT in the style name, which totals over 10,000 different products, from 1989–2009 is attached as Exhibit C-1. This Exhibit C-1 was also identified as Exhibit 4 to my testimony in the Maher proceeding. This spreadsheet was made at or near the time of my testimony in the Maher proceeding by, or from information transmitted by, someone with knowledge; contains information that NIKE keeps in the course of its regularly conducted business activities; and contains information that was made as part of NIKE's regularly conducted business activities.

[2] U.S. Trademark Registration No. 1,875,307 is for "JUST DO IT." (with a period). For ease of reference in this Declaration, I refer to the mark as "JUST DO IT" (without a period).

10. Since 2009, the use of JUST DO IT, sale of products bearing JUST DO IT, and recognition of JUST DO IT has continued to increase. Indeed, NIKE has continued to offer thousands of different products bearing JUST DO IT or JDI in the style name in the United States since the Maher proceeding.

11. Likewise, NIKE conservatively calculates that it sold more than 27.5 million units of products bearing JUST DO IT in every state of the United States between 1989 and 2009. A true and correct copy of a table listing NIKE's sales of products containing either JDI or JUST DO IT by year from 1989–2009 is attached as Exhibit C-2. This Exhibit C-2 was also identified as Exhibit 5 to my testimony in the Maher proceeding. This table was made at or near the time of my testimony in the Maher proceeding by, or from information transmitted by, someone with knowledge; contains information that NIKE keeps in the course of its regularly conducted business activities; and contains information that was made as part of NIKE's regularly conducted business activities.

12. Since 2009, NIKE has sold over 30 million additional units of products bearing JUST DO IT in every state of the United States.

13. NIKE's products bearing JUST DO IT include, for example, footwear, many different types of apparel, such as t-shirts, sweatshirts, tank tops, polo shirts, jackets, capris, shorts, pants, caps, socks, backpacks, duffle bags, sunglasses, cell phone covers, bumper stickers, lanyards, and wristbands.

14. Aside from including JUST DO IT on specific products, over the years NIKE has used JUST DO IT in a variety of ways, including on packaging, such as shoe boxes, tags, and point of sale displays. NIKE also has used JUST DO IT extensively in its retail stores, on its website, in connection with athletic events it sponsors, and via social media. NIKE endeavors to make sure that its use and promotion of JUST DO IT remain current with new types of uses and media, such as on software applications and through digital media. I understand that examples of NIKE's use of JUST DO IT in the digital world are provided in the Declarations of Melanie Sedler and Nathan Kappes.

III. Third-Party Recognition of JUST DO IT

15. Because of the notoriety of the JUST DO IT trademark, it has received a substantial amount of recognition over the years from third-parties. Many of these third-parties have recognized the JUST DO IT trademark as strong, distinctive, and even famous.

16. As early as 1990, the national newspaper USA Today commented that NIKE's "'Just Do It' advertising slogan is one of those rare gems that have transcended advertising to enter popular culture and language." I understand that the article is included in NIKE's First Notice of Reliance.

17. For example, an organization called the Center for Applied Research conducted a mini-case study on the JUST DO IT mark in approximately 1999, which recognized the strength and impact of NIKE's JUST DO IT campaign. The case study describes JUST DO IT as "one of the most famous and easily recognized slogans in advertising history." A true and correct copy of the case study is attached as Exhibit C-3. This Exhibit C-3 was also identified as Exhibit 9 to my testimony in the Maher proceeding.

18. Another survey conducted in 1999 by a third-party, referred to as the "History Events" survey, was brought to NIKE's attention in 2003. The survey shows the high recognition of JUST DO IT among consumers. In particular, the survey questioned 1,000 respondents, and asked, among other things, which company "uses the advertising slogan 'Just Do It'?" The choices were (a) Coca-Cola, (b) Nike, (c) Levi's, or (d) Don't Know. The total percentage of respondents correctly identifying NIKE was 79%. A true and correct copy of the survey is attached as Exhibit C-4. This Exhibit C-4 was also identified as Exhibit 10 to my testimony in the Maher proceeding.

19. The foregoing are representative examples of the types of recognition that JUST DO IT has received over the years. In 2008, prior to the Maher decision, NIKE celebrated the 20th anniversary of the launch of JUST DO IT, so the fame and notoriety of the mark were well documented in that decision. Recently, NIKE celebrated the 25th anniversary of JUST DO IT, and that anniversary likewise resulted in significant recognition of NIKE and JUST DO IT in the media, further cementing the fame and recognition of the JUST DO IT mark. I understand that additional examples of newspaper and periodical articles referencing NIKE and the JUST DO IT mark are included in NIKE's Notice of Reliance submitted in this proceeding.

IV. NIKE's Enforcement of JUST DO IT

20. Because of the fame, notoriety, and substantial goodwill in the JUST DO IT mark, there have been attempts by others to use JUST DO IT or variations thereof, such as "JUST ___ IT."

21. NIKE has generally not permitted others to use or modify its trademarks, including JUST DO IT. Thus, when third-parties ask for permission to use JUST DO IT or "JUST ___ IT," NIKE typically has declined their requests.

22. As early as 1989, and up to the time of the Maher proceeding, NIKE had monitored and taken action against dozens of unauthorized uses of JUST DO IT or variations thereof. As a result of those efforts, NIKE removed numerous violative uses of JUST DO IT, or variations thereof, from the market. True and correct copies of exemplary cease and desist letters evidencing NIKE's prior enforcement efforts against third-party uses of "JUST DO IT" and variations thereof during that time period are attached as Exhibit C-5. This Exhibit C-5 was also identified as Exhibit 6 to my testimony in the Maher proceeding. Since the Maher proceeding, NIKE has continued that practice and has sent numerous cease and desist letters to successfully enforce against unauthorized uses of JUST DO IT or variations thereof.

23. NIKE also has enforced its marks, including JUST DO IT, in court proceedings, including proceedings in which it obtained judgments against infringers and those offering counterfeit goods. Representative examples of these types of enforcement proceedings are reflected in the USPTO file history for Registration No. 1,875,307, which contains numerous "Notice of Suit" filings involving the JUST DO IT mark. A review of those notices indicates that dozens resulted in consent decrees in NIKE's favor and over twenty resulted in default judgments. A true and correct copy of a website printout of the "Documents" tab from the PTO's Trademark Status & Document Retrieval (TSDR) website for Registration No. 1,875,307, which lists the Notices of Suit Incoming, is attached as Exhibit C-6.

24. In addition, NIKE also opposes or seeks to cancel any marks that it believes violate its rights in JUST DO IT. I understand that a list of proceedings in which NIKE successfully obtained judgments sustaining oppositions and cancellation proceedings against trademark applications and registrations including the phrase "JUST ___ IT" from 1993 to the present is included at paragraph 15 of the parties' Stipulation of Facts Not In Dispute Pursuant to the Accelerated Case Resolution (ACR) Stipulation in this proceeding, filed January 4, 2016 ("Stipulation"). In many other cases, NIKE achieved a successful outcome before a judgment entered (or in some cases, before a proceeding was filed) when applicants voluntarily withdrew their applications and agreed not to use the mark at issue that had the format of "JUST __ IT".

25. Many of NIKE's products featuring the JUST DO IT mark fall in Class 25, which includes footwear, apparel and headwear. Thus, NIKE has brought many successful opposition and cancellation proceedings against marks with respect to goods in Class 25, including, for example, "NOOKIE . . .JUST DID IT," "JUST JESU IT,""JUST FLOP IT," "JUST DO IT LIKE YOU MEAN IT!," "JUST SHAVE IT," "DON'T JUST DO IT...DO IT RIGHT VV & V," and "JUST FAKE IT," among many others. However, NIKE's use and registration of the JUST DO IT mark is not limited to goods in Class 25, and NIKE has also has successfully enforced JUST DO IT against marks used in connection with goods and services besides apparel and footwear in Class 25, including, for example, against goods and services in Classes 5, 9, 14, 16, 21, 24, 25, 28, 30, 32, 35, and 41.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.
Executed this 3rd day of February, 2016.

Mini-case Study:
Nike's "Just Do It" Advertising Campaign

According to Nike company lore, one of the most famous and easily recognized slogans in advertising history was coined at a 1988 meeting of Nike's ad agency Wieden and Kennedy and a group of Nike employees. Dan Weiden, speaking admiringly of Nike's can-do attitude, reportedly said, "You Nike guys, you just do it." The rest, as they say, is (advertising) history.

> After stumbling badly against archrival Reebok in the 1980s, Nike rose about as high and fast in the '90s as any company can. It took on a new religion of brand consciousness and broke advertising sound barriers with its indelible Swoosh, "Just Do It" slogan and deified sports figures. Nike managed the deftest of marketing tricks: to be both anti-establishment and mass market, to the tune of $9.2 billion dollars in sales in 1997.

> Newsweek, March 30, 1998

The Nike brand has become so strong as to place it in the rarified air of recession-proof consumer branded giants, in the company of Coca-Cola, Gillette and Proctor & Gamble. Brand management is one of Nike's many strengths. Consumers are willing to pay more for brands that they judge to be superior in quality, style and reliability. A strong brand allows its owner to expand market share, command higher prices and generate more revenue than its competitors. With its "Just Do It" campaign and strong product, Nike was able to increase its share of the domestic sport-shoe business from 18 percent to 43 percent, from $877 million in worldwide sales to $9.2 billion in the ten years between 1988 and 1998. Nike spent $300 million on overseas advertising alone; most of it centered around the "Just Do It" campaign. The success of the campaign is that much more remarkable when one considers that an estimated 80 percent of the sneakers sold in the U.S. are never used for the activities for which they have been designed.

Nike's marketing tactics in the '80s, and in particular its campaign against Reebok, gambled on the idea that the public would accept sneakers as fashion statements. Nike later cashed in on the jogging/fitness craze of the mid 1980s, during which its "Just Do It" campaign expanded to attract the female and teenage consumer, in addition to the stalwart 18 – 40-year-old male consumer. (Nike was losing ground to Reebok during this time, thanks to the explosion of aerobics.) Phil Knight, the founder and CEO of Nike, suffused his company and ads with the idea of the intense, inwardly focused competitor. The ads rarely focused on the product itself, but on the person wearing the product. Heroes and hero worship abound on the Nike campus in Beaverton, Oregon.

The "Just Do It" campaign seemed to capture the corporate philosophy of grit, determination and passion, but also infused it with something hitherto unknown in Nike ads—humor. Nike had always been known for its "detached, determined, unsentimental" attitude. "In a word, [Nike is] cool."

The new ads retained that attitude, but several of the original 12 "Just Do It" ads incorporate jokes, explicit and implicit, to make their point. The Bo Jackson ad stands out. Jackson is seen working out at several different activities, joking while on a bike machine, "Now when is that Tour de France thing?" and after slam dunking a basketball contemplates "Air Bo." "I like the sound of that," he says.

The "Just Do It" campaign received mixed ratings, ranging from "an instant classic" to "sociopathic." One critic went so far as to say the ads were "an impatient-bordering-on-contemptuous exhortation to the masses. Cool is one thing. Poverty of warmth is another." Eventually the campaign was credited with embracing not just resolve and purpose, but also the "beauty, drama and moral uplift of sport—even, every now and then, fun."

Linking the Campaign to Consumer Needs

Through its "Just Do It" campaign, Nike was able to tap into the fitness craze of the 1980s. Reebok was sweeping the aerobics race and gaining huge market share in the sneaker business. Nike responded to that by releasing a tough, take-no-prisoners ad campaign that practically shamed people into exercising, and more importantly, to exercising in Nikes.

The "Just Do It" campaign was also effective in reassuring consumers that the brand they picked, Nike, was a quality brand. This was most effectively portrayed by celebrity sports figures such as Bo Jackson, John McEnroe and later, Michael Jordon. If Michael Jordan can play an entire NBA season in a pair of Nikes, certainly the average weekend warrior can trust the shoes' durability.

Celebrity endorsements also appealed to the consumers' sense of belonging and "hipness," as Nike became a self-fulfilling image prophecy: if you want to be hip, wear Nike; if you are hip, you are probably wearing Nike. The "Just Do It" campaign was able to turn sweaty, pain-ridden, time-consuming exercise in Nike sneakers into something sexy and exciting. Perhaps most importantly, even those who were not in fact exercising in Nikes (the vast majority) still wanted to own them. By focusing on the aura and image conveyed by the fitness culture, Nike was able to attract those who wanted the image without incurring the pain.

Linking the Campaign to Strategy

Nike was in a tough spot in the late 1970's. It was being swamped by Reebok's quick initiative on designing aerobics shoes and needed to respond dramatically and forcefully. It could be argued that the "Just Do It" campaign was not only about sneakers but about Nike's own renaissance. No longer content to be the choice running shoe of a few thousand marathoners and exercise nuts, Nike wanted to expand its operation to target every American, regardless of age, gender or physical-fitness level. "Just Do It" succeeded in that it convinced Americans that wearing Nikes for every part of your life was smart (the shoes are designed for comfort) and hip (everyone else is wearing them, you too can belong to this group.) Nike took its own advice and "Just Did It" by directly attacking Reebok in the sport-shoe market.

Why Was the Campaign Successful?

The timing of this campaign could not have been better. Americans were buying exercise equipment at a record pace in the mid 1980s, and body worship was at an all time high. Nike tapped into consumers' desire for a healthy lifestyle by packaging it into a pair of $80 sneakers. The ads were often humorous, appealing to the cynic in all of us, while imploring consumers to take charge of their physical fitness. The ads made starting an exercise regime seem like a necessity, and the way to start exercising was to buy Nike merchandise.

More importantly, by owning Nikes you were instantly a member of a desirable group. The campaign was easily identifiable (to the point that Nike eventually did not even bother to display the word "Nike" in commercials—the swoosh was enough) and stayed true to its message.

Dear Dr. Bergstein:

It has come to our attention that your Back to Basic Chiropractic Center has been using the well-known Nike trademark/slogan - JUST DO IT. Moreover, the advertisement not only uses our trademark, but copies one of our recent advertisements in many particulars. Enclosed for your review are a photocopy of your advertisement and a specimen of the Nike ad that was carried by numerous widely circulated magazines including TIME, Sports Illustrated, People and Seventeen.

As you might suppose, we are quite concerned about thievery of our proprietary rights as well as by the implication that Nike is, in some way, endorsing, supporting or lending its good name to your operation. Such is not the case, as you well know. There is very little question but that you are trading on our goodwill.

In view of the foregoing, we must insist that you immediately and permanently discontinue all further advertising using our JUST DO IT. trademark and the accompanying photograph.

Additionally, we expect that you will provide us with written assurance within 10 days following your receipt of this letter that you will not use our trademarks in the future.

Yours very truly,

Re: Nike, Inc. v. Save Our Planet, Inc.
Our File No. 32998

Dear Mr. Kirwan:

This will confirm our telephone conversation of March 13, 1991 during which you indicated that your company had prepared the design for the NUKE IRAQ & Swoosh Design/JUST DO IT! t-shirts and arranged to have some six to seven hundred of these t-shirts printed by Chilly Bear, Inc. in Stamford, Connecticut.

As indicated during our conversation, Nike, Inc. is the owner of the Swoosh Design trademark as well as the trademark JUST DO IT. for apparel including t-shirts. Your company's use of these trademarks, particularly in combination with the word NUKE displayed in essentially the same style of print and in the same relative position as the trademark NIKE, it is likely to cause members of the public to believe that the t-shirts in question emanate from, or are otherwise sponsored or approved by, Nike. The usage in question accordingly constitutes trademark infringement and unfair competition and, to the extent that the sentiments expressed are controversial, tends to associate a publicly held corporation with political views that its officers, directors and shareholders, as well as Nike customers, may or may not endorse. For all of these reasons, Nike strongly objects to the printing, distribution and/or sale of the t-shirts in question.

This letter will confirm and make of record the assurances you provided during our telephone conversation, namely, that Save Our Planet, Inc. will permanently discontinue the production, distribution and/or sale of the t-shirts in question and further that it will refrain from any further use of Nike trademarks in the future. If this letter misstates the assurances given in any respect, please contact me immediately. Otherwise, this letter will, as evidenced by your signature below, be considered as an accurate record of the assurances provided by you. Based on those assurances, Nike will refrain from taking any legal action against this misuse of its trademarks.

T 3-29-91

If you have any questions regarding the above, please advise.

Sincerely,

Alan S. Cooper

Mr. Alan D. Morgan
Superintendent of Public Instruction
State of New Mexico
Department of Education
Education Building
Santa Fe, New Mexico 87501-2786

Dear Mr. Morgan:

We recently received from your office a letter dated April 25, 1991 with the signature line indicating "Nike Council/smd". The letter stated that the New Mexico Department of Education (NMSDE) adopted and was planning to use the trademark JUST DO IT. as a slogan and the trademark NIKE as an acronym meaning Nourishing Innovative Kaleidoscopic Education.

The writer of the letter was concerned that such actions might be considered an infringement by Nike, Inc. although he or she hoped that such use would meet with our approval. If not, the writer urged, we should so advise the NMSDE.

As the writer of the letter supposed, we do perceive potentially serious problems with your using two of our most valuable assets, the trademark and trade name NIKE and the immensely popular trademark/slogan JUST DO IT.

Initially, let me say that we applaud the goals and objectives of the New Mexico State Department of Education and believe them to be most praiseworthy.

Our primary worry is that the NMSDE's use of the trademarks NIKE and JUST DO IT. would suggest an association between the Department and Nike, Inc. As you know, Nike is not affiliated with and does not sponsor or contribute to the NMSDE. Although we endorse your objective to improve the level of education in the state of New Mexico, we simply cannot allow our trademarks to be used in conjunction with your department or its programs.

NIKE, Inc.

Telephone: (503) 671-6453
Direct Dial: (503) 671-2637
Fax: (503) 646-6926

I know both you and the writer of the April 25, 1991 letter recognize the tremendous value of our well-known and heavily advertised NIKE and JUST DO IT. trademarks. The fact that you have selected these marks as an implementing tool in your educational restructuring efforts is ample evidence of the prominence of the two marks.

Although we regret challenging an agency possessing such laudable goals, we have reluctantly reached the conclusion that we must object. It is extremely important to us that the NIKE and JUST DO IT. trademarks continue to preserve their distinctiveness and be associated only with Nike, Inc. Please understand that they are among our most treasured assets and ones we constantly protect. Indeed, the law imposes an obligation upon all trademark owners to prevent confusion of the public by unauthorized use of their trademarks by others.

We believe you will understand our position and we look forward to a favorable response indicating that the NMSDE will promptly forgo using the NIKE and JUST DO IT. trademarks.

Mr. Michael Stanard, President
Michael Stanard Design
also d/b/a "Just Did It" Enterprises
996 Main Street
Evanston, Illinois 60202-1708

Dear Mr. Stanard:

As you are well aware, Nike, Inc. is the owner of the trademark NIKE, the Swoosh Design trademark and the composite NIKE and Swoosh Design trademark for footwear and apparel, including T-shirts and sweatshirts. We have registered these trademarks in the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. Photocopies of Registration Nos. 1,277,066, 1,284,385 and 1,237,469 of these marks are enclosed for your easy reference. We also are the owner of the trademark JUST DO IT for apparel.

Each of these trademarks has met with widespread commercial success and they are among our most valuable assets. Accordingly, prompt and effective legal action will be taken against counterfeit reproductions, infringements or other misuse of these trademarks. As you might know, we have brought numerous lawsuits against counterfeiters, infringers and misusers of these widely known and invaluable trademarks.

It has recently come to our attention that your company, operating under the assumed name "Just Did It" Enterprises, is offering for sale and selling T-shirts and sweatshirts bearing the word MIKE in combination with an identical replica of the Swoosh Design trademark. Moreover, the similarities between the words NIKE and MIKE are obvious. This resemblance is particularly true when MIKE is connected with the Swoosh Design mark and displayed in the same print style typically used for the trademark NIKE. When used in this manner, your designation is likely to cause confusion,

NIKE, Inc.

One Bowerman Drive
Beaverton, OR 97005-6453

Telephone: (503) 671-6453
Direct Dial: (503) 671-2637

mistake or deception to consumers as to the source of your company's products. This confusion is aggravated by your company's using a close variation of the trademark JUST DO IT as part of an assumed business name.

Accordingly, we have little doubt that the advertising, offering for sale and selling of T-shirts and sweatshirts bearing the designation MIKE and the Swoosh Design constitute trademark infringement and unfair competition. Consequently, you and your company can be subjected to injunctive relief and monetary remedies including treble damages, an accounting of all profits made by you which are attributable to this infringement and payment of the attorneys fees incurred by Nike in stopping this usage.

For the above reasons, we must insist that your company take the following steps:

1. Immediately discontinue advertising, offering for sale or selling any T-shirts, sweatshirts or other articles of apparel or merchandise bearing the designation MIKE and the Swoosh Design or any other mark, term or designation which is confusingly similar to the trademark NIKE, the Swoosh Design trademark and/or the composite NIKE and Swoosh Design trademark;

2. Promptly transfer to Nike all inventory of T-shirts, sweatshirts and any other articles of apparel bearing the designation MIKE and the Swoosh Design presently in the possession, custody or control of your company;

3. Identify any businesses other than your own engaged in the production of the apparel in question and transfer to Nike all silk screens, heat transfers or other means of producing such apparel which are in the possession, custody or control of your company or any subcontractor or agent of your company; and

4. Indicate by name and address all persons to whom your company has sold T-shirts, sweatshirts or other articles of apparel bearing the designation MIKE and the Swoosh Design.

We insist that you take appropriate steps to comply promptly with each of the demands listed above. Furthermore, we expect to hear from you within ten (10) days following your receipt of this letter. If we do not receive the appropriate assurances from you within the ten day period indicating your compliance, we will have little alternative but to take the appropriate legal action to terminate this flagrant misuse of our trademarks.

Miss Amy Holmes

Dear Miss Holmes:

Thank you for your recent inquiry letter.

As you might suppose, we receive many requests to use our trademarks, particularly the JUST DO IT. slogan/trademark. Although many of the proposed uses are worthwhile, creative or original, we must refuse permission.

Although Future Homemakers of America is a most worthy cause and the publicity should be good for Nike, we adopted a policy sometime ago not to grant permission for others to use our trademarks.

There are several reasons for this policy. First, it is difficult to enforce a trademark against an infringer if the trademark owner has previously allowed others to use the same trademark. Second, use of trademarks by someone other than the owner suggests the owner is sponsoring, endorsing or in some manner supporting the entity that is using the owner's mark. Third, as I mentioned earlier, we receive dozens of these requests each year and it would be an administrative nightmare to determine which ones to accept and which to reject.

Consequently, we have taken the position that we should reject all such requests. I am sorry we cannot be more accommodating.

Congratulations and best wishes for success at the national meeting.

Dear Miss Sanders:

Thank you for your October 16, 1991 facsimile letter.

We have adopted a policy which we have consistently followed of not permitting others to use our trademarks, such as JUST DO IT. and the NIKE & Swoosh Design. We are unwavering in this position.

As I am sure you recognize, we have been virtually deluged with requests to use the JUST DO IT. trademark/slogan. Most inquiries, like yours, are for very worthy causes. Except for high school annuals or yearbooks, however, we have given the same negative response. It is not that we are uncooperative or oblivious to our corporate responsibilities. Quite the contrary. We believe we are good corporate citizens, but our response is dictated by the necessity to protect our legal rights in very valuable intellectual property - trademarks and copyrights.

Although our response has been less than positive, we wish your organization the best during the 1991-92 school year.

Yours very truly,

A. Thomas Niebergall

Dear Sister:

It has come to our attention that the 10th Annual Saint Vincent Quad Games is using the well-known Nike trademark/slogan - JUST DO IT. and many variations of that mark, such as "JUST DID IT", "Just ski it", "Just swim it" and "Just ride it". Enclosed for your information is a photocopy of the Saint Vincent Health Center flier announcing the various activities of the 10th Annual Quad Games and an example of our use of the JUST DO IT. trademark, which has been extensively used since August 6, 1988.

As you might suppose, we are quite concerned about the misappropriation of our proprietary rights as well as by the implication that Nike is, in some way, endorsing, supporting or lending its good name to the Quad Games. Such is not the case. There is very little question but that you are trading on our goodwill.

In view of the foregoing, we request that you provide us with written assurance that you will immediately and permanently discontinue all further advertising, fliers, brochures and any other materials using our JUST DO IT. trademark and all variations thereof. If appropriate assurances are promptly received, we may be willing to consider a reasonable phase-out period during which you could exhaust the existing inventory of those materials.

The Pillsbury Company
Pillsbury Center, 200 S. 6th St.

Dear Mr. Jenko:

We recently learned of an advertisement by The Pillsbury Company in the July 1992 issue of Modern Baking magazine depicting the Pillsbury Doughboy® as one who "KNOWS CAKE", "KNOWS DANISH", "KNOWS DONUTS" and so forth. The ad concluded with the boldfaced slogan: JUST BAKE IT. Enclosed for your easy reference is a photocopy of that two page Pillsbury advertisement.

Also attached are a "JUST DO IT." sticker and an example of a "BO KNOWS" T-shirt illustrating two NIKE trademarks that have been used for many years and ones which we consider to be very valuable assets. The Pillsbury Company obviously adopted the fundamental thesis of these two prominent and successful trademarks and advertising campaigns as the basis for the "Doughboy® KNOWS - JUST BAKE IT." advertisement. For example, you will notice the similarity in the manner in which our JUST DO IT. trademark is used in comparison with your JUST BAKE IT. language. Although the verb in the two phrases is different, the type style is identical, even to the period at the end of each expression.

Another disturbing fact is that your "Doughboy® KNOWS - JUST BAKE IT." advertisement carries a 1991 The Pillsbury Company copyright notice.

We want you to be aware of our unhappiness over what we consider to be your misappropriation of our proprietary rights. Although we realize your use is slightly different than ours, there are enough similarities that reasonable consumers could well believe that Nike is, in some way, associated with The Pillsbury Company. Or, they could assume that Nike has given permission to The Pillsbury Company to use two of Nike's very significant and acclaimed trademarks. As you know, such is not the case.

Perhaps we should be flattered when an auspicious organization like The Pillsbury Company not only alludes to a famous Nike trademark, but in this instance, uses slight variations of not just one, but two of our most renowned marks. However, we do not believe your actions are complimentary. As an owner of numerous trademarks, I am sure you can understand our anguish as well as our desire to protect important intellectual property rights.

We are concerned about dilution and the unauthorized use of our trademarks; consequently, we request that you discontinue using either of these two themes in the future.

We would appreciate receiving a response to this letter.

Dear Sir:

As stated in our conversation on Thursday March 3, 1994 at approximately 7:10 p.m.(EST), you have allowed the youth of Crossroads Christian Fellowship Assembly of God, 126 Center St., Jacksonville, North Carolina 28546, to be able to sell only 100 T-shirts at a price of $10.00 a piece with the printed description on the back, "And Jesus said...(Paraphrased),'JUST DO IT!' Crossroads Ministries Production," in supporting our March 12th youth concert. Enclosed is a photocopy of the wording on the T-shirt.

I understand and have expressed to the youth the printed phrase, 'Just Do It!' is a legal registered trademark of Nike, Inc. This unfortunate incident has been an inconvenience to the Nike corporation and another embarrassment to the Christian faith, without excuse, due to ignorance.

Therefore, on behalf of myself and the youth, please accept my deepest apologies for what has happened and be assured the Nike printed trademark, 'Just Do It!' will never be used again without prior written approval by the corporation.

If you have any further questions, please feel free to contact me at (910) 347-6936.

Again, thank you for your assistance and accept our apologies.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Kowalik:

We obtained a copy of your September 9, 1994 solicitation letter addressed to "Dear Brother".

We note that your chapter's new "large party" is entitled "JUST DO IT.". Please be advised that JUST DO IT. is a proprietary trademark of NIKE, Inc. and its subsidiary organizations. We do not grant permission for others to use our trademarks, including JUST DO IT. Moreover, we strongly object when others, such as the Lamda Omega Chapter, use our proprietary rights.

As you well know, Nike does not sponsor this event and is in no way connected or associated with the Lambda Omega Chapter of Phi Gamma Delta.

We strongly urge you to change the name of your new "large party" from JUST DO IT. to some other more acceptable and non-infringing name.

We would appreciate receiving your prompt response indicating you will make the requested change.

Dear Trevor:

This letter is in response to your June 7, 1995 query and our telephone discussion today. Nike adopted a policy some time ago not to grant permission for others to use our trademarks, including the JUST DO IT. and Swoosh Design marks.

There are several reasons for this policy. First, it is difficult to enforce a trademark against an infringer if the trademark owner has previously allowed others to use the same mark. Second, use of trademarks by someone other than the owner suggests the owner is sponsoring, endorsing or in some manner supporting the entity using the owner's mark. Third, we receive dozens of these requests each year and it would be an administrative nightmare to determine which ones to accept and which to reject.

Consequently, we have taken the position that we must reject all such requests. I am sorry we cannot be more accommodating.

Re: Trademark Infringement

Dear Sir or Madam:

It has come to our attention that All Pro Court, Inc. ("All Pro") is using NIKE's Swoosh Design and the slogan "Just Put It Down" in All Pro's promotional materials. (Sample enclosed.)

As you probably are aware, NIKE has expended considerable effort and money to establish consumer recognition of the Swoosh Design as a symbol of NIKE. Indeed, the Swoosh Design has become one of the most famous trademarks in the world.

Moreover, "JUST DO IT" is another well-known trademark of NIKE.

In view of the substantial goodwill NIKE has developed in the Swoosh Design and the "JUST DO IT" trademarks, we request that you immediately stop and refrain from further using the Swoosh Design, any design confusingly similar to the Swoosh Design, or any other mark identical or confusingly similar to a trademark of NIKE in your promotional materials and any other items.

Nike contends that JDIN's actions in conducting business under the name Just Do It Now, Corp. would constitute trademark infringement, trademark dilution, false designation of origin, and unfair competition under United States federal and common law.

As you are likely aware, since at least as early as 1989, Nike has used its "JUST DO IT." slogan and trademark in connection with a wide variety of products and activities. Nike has invested considerable time, effort, skill, money, and other resources to promote our trademark and related products, and our efforts have met with considerable success. Nike's "JUST DO IT." trademark is one of the world's most famous marks, and is recognized by consumers worldwide as indicating products and services emanating from Nike.

Nike owns numerous registrations for our "JUST DO IT." trademark, including multiple registrations in the United States and internationally. Re: just-do-it.com

Dear Sirs:

It has come to our attention that you have registered a domain name that contains NIKE's world-famous "JUST DO IT." trademark: just-do-it.com. As discussed in more detail below, we believe that your actions in registering this domain name constitute trademark infringement, and subject you to possible actions under the Uniform Domain Name Dispute Resolution Policy ("UDRP") and the U. S. Anti-Cyberpiracy Prevention Act of 1999. We therefore demand that you immediately transfer the domain name to NIKE.

NIKE is the world's leading sports and fitness company. NIKE has used its "JUST DO IT." trademark since 1994 in connection with a broad range of advertising, sports, and related goods and services. NIKE owns numerous registrations worldwide for its "JUST DO IT." trademark, including U. S. trademark registration nos. 1,875,307; 1,931,937; and 1817919; as well as Australian registration no. A578679; Benelux registration no. 501385; Canadian registration no. 477741; European Community registration no. 000514984; and United Kingdom registration no. 2000711. Indeed, our "JUST DO IT." mark is one of the world's most famous trademarks, and is widely recognized as identifying goods and services that emanate from NIKE.

NIKE is concerned that your registration and use of our famous trademark will confuse our valued customers, and imply inaccurately that NIKE endorses or is otherwise connected with your company, your web site, or any products or services you may offer. It is very important to NIKE to prevent the misleading use of our valuable trademark, and to protect the public from any such confusion.

NIKE, Inc. One Bowerman Drive, Beaverton, OR 97005.6453 T.503.671.6453 F.503.671.6300 www.nike.com

Accordingly, NIKE believes that your registration and ownership of this domain name constitutes trademark infringement, and violates the United States Cyberpiracy Prevention Act of 1999. NIKE hereby requests that you transfer this name to NIKE immediately.

For your convenience I have enclosed transfer documents which require your signature. Please sign these documents in the presence of a notary public and return them to my attention as soon as possible. NIKE will take care of filing these with Network Solutions, and will pay the filing costs. In addition, NIKE will reimburse your reasonable and documented out-of-pocket costs directly related to obtaining the domain name.

I look forward to return of these documents no later than January 30, 2002. If we do not receive your written response by then, NIKE will be forced to take appropriate action to recover the domain name. Please note that bad faith registration and use of a domain name containing another's famous trademark now carries significant financial penalties.

Please feel free to call me with any questions or comments. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Very truly yours,

Brandon,

Thank you for your e-mail of March 22, 2002 to Dolly Alevizatos in which you described in greater detail your prior request for permission to use the attached derivation of Nike's Swoosh design trademark and the phrase "Just Live It" in connection with a devotional book written by Kay McDaniel.

As you might imagine, we receive many requests to use our trademarks. Although many of the proposed uses are in connection with meaningful causes, and are often creative and original, we must refuse permission.

Your proposed use supports a very worthy cause. However, we adopted a general policy many years ago not to grant permission to others to use our trademarks. There are important considerations underlying this policy. For example, it becomes difficult to enforce our trademark rights against infringers if we liberally allow others to use our marks. As another example, use of trademarks by someone other than the owner can suggest that the owner is sponsoring, endorsing or in some manner supporting the entity using the owner's mark.

Consequently, we cannot authorize you to use any derivation of Nike's Swoosh design trademark or the phrase "Just Live It" in this book.

We appreciate your contacting us with your request. We wish you the best of luck in the development of Kay's book.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Blume

Hi Ms. Alevizatos! Thank you for responding to my request on behalf of Kay McDaniel. I know that some time has passed, but I wanted to hopefully do a better job of communicating the request. I completely understand the investment Nike has made in developing its design and trademarks and its efforts to protect that investment. However, I would like to appeal to you to perhaps reconsider Kay's request. First let me say that I believe what we are trying to do here would in no means diminish the strength of Nikes presence in the business industry or confuse its valued customers. In fact, I believe it would only help to further promote that strength and perhaps help Nike to infiltrate a market I believe they have not tapped into - faith based athletics. Kay McDaniel is a former tennis pro who has played at Wimbledon and the U.S. Open against players such as Billie Jean King, Martina Navratilova, Chris Everet, & Steffi Graf. Several years ago she was diagnosed with lupus and has since retired. Kay now dedicates her time and energy encouraging young people to persevere no matter what the circumstances through tennis clinics, through her life, and through her faith in God. The devotional book she has written is a testament to this perseverance through the wonderful stories of faith and encouragement on every page. One of those pages in the book is entitled "Just Live It" which I have attached in a plain text format. My responsibility for this project was to provide images and graphics. When she presented me with this page I immediately thought of a derivation of the Nike logo which I have also attached. You see Ms. Alevizatos, we are not trying to diminish anything or take anything away from anybody. We only hope to encourage and promote anyone or anything associated with this project. My only request is that you take a look at the page and the logo and reconsider for I believe this could actually be a wonderful opportunity for Nike. Thank you again for any consideration!

Humbly yours,
Brandon Hyde

Subject: Use of slogan JUST READ IT

Mr. Bobbie Patrick
Teen Librarian Koelbel Public Library

Dear Mr. Patrick:

Thank you for your November 8, 2002 email requesting permission to use the phrase "Just Read It" in connection with your summer reading programs.

Your proposed use supports a very worthy cause. However, we adopted a general policy many years ago not to grant permission to others to use our trademarks. As you can likely appreciate, Nike has invested considerable skill, effort, capital and other resources to develop and promote its JUST DO IT. trademark. As a result, this mark is strongly associated with Nike and its goods, services, and activities. By allowing third parties to use the JUST DO IT. trademark (or any variation thereof) in connection with businesses and enterprises not related to Nike, Nike dilutes this strong association, thereby diminishing the strength of its mark, and potentially confusing Nike's valued customers. As a result, Nike does not allow third parties to use its trademarks in the manner you propose.

There are important considerations underlying this policy. For example, it becomes difficult to enforce our trademark rights against infringers if we liberally allow others to use our marks. As another example, use of trademarks by someone other than the owner can suggest that the owner is sponsoring, endorsing or in some manner supporting the entity using the owner's mark. Accordingly, we must decline your request to use the "Just Read It" mark, or any other variation of the JUST DO IT. trademark.

Thank you again for your request and we wish you every success with your program.

Sincerely yours,

Dorothy C. Alevizatos
