RESPONSE TO OFFICE ACTION DATED NOVEMBER 14, 2007

Our File Number: 2666-00201
Date Response Filed: May 14, 2008

Commissioner of Trademarks
P.O. Box 1451
Arlington, VA 22213-1451

Dear Sir:

The final Office Action rejects the applied-for mark "ENERGISTICS" under Trademark Act Section 2(d) because of an alleged likelihood of confusion with the mark "ENERGISTICS" in U.S. Registration No. 1,697,943 (the "'943 Registration"). Applicant respectfully disagrees with, and requests reconsideration of, the refusal.

Concurrently herewith, Applicant is filing a Notice of Appeal.

I. AMENDMENT TO DESCRIPTION

Applicant is using the mark in commerce, or the Applicant's related company or licensee is using the mark in commerce, on or in connection with the following services:

> Association services, namely, promoting the interests of oil and gas businesses by providing a forum to facilitate the development, adoption and deployment of uniform standards for data exchange formats, for use in the field of energy exploration, production and distribution, in International Class 035.

The mark was first used at least as early as 11/08/2006 and first used in commerce at least as early as 11/08/2006, and is now in use in such commerce with the services in International Class 035. Applicant submits a specimen showing use of the mark in connection with the services in International Class 035. The specimen is the same as that submitted in the September 17, 2007 response to office action. A new declaration concerning the specimen is also being submitted herewith. Please charge Deposit Account No. 03-2769 in the amount of $325 for the addition of International Class 035 to this application.

Further, Applicant amends the description of goods and services in International Class 042 as follows:

> Establishing, developing and disseminating voluntary standards for data exchange formats for use in the field of energy exploration, production and distribution; providing online information about voluntary standards for data exchange formats for use in the field of energy exploration, production and distribution, in International Class 042.

II. THERE IS NO LIKELIHOOD OF CONFUSION

Applicant's mark is compared with the registered mark for similarities. As the Office Action notes, the marks are identical. However, the complete unrelatedness of the services of the applied-for mark and the '943 Registration establishes that there is no likelihood of confusion.

In particular, the services are compared to determine whether they are similar or related or whether the activities surrounding their marketing are such that confusion as to origin is likely. Although the Office Action recognizes that the services are not identical, it nevertheless finds them "closely related":

> The applicant's services, namely, "establishing, developing and disseminating standards via data exchange formats for use in the fields of energy exploration, production and distribution; providing online information on the standards via data exchange formats for use in the fields of energy exploration, production and distribution; association services, namely promoting the standards via data exchange formats for use in the fields of energy exploration, production and distribution" are so closely related to the registrant's services, namely, "market research" that consumers are likely to presume that they emanate from the same source.

Office Action, p. 2 (emphasis added). Applicant respectfully suggests that the record is devoid of any evidence that establishes that the applied-for services and the '943 Registration's services are even remotely related, much less "closely related" as provided in the Office Action.

Initially, Applicant notes that the Office Action bases its rejection on only a portion of the applied-for services, namely "association services, namely promoting the standards via data exchange formats for use in the fields of energy exploration, production and distribution." Although the Office Action does not expressly state this, the Office Action makes no attempt to, and fails to produce evidence even arguably showing, that Applicant's services of "establishing, developing and disseminating standards via data exchange formats for use in the fields of energy exploration, production and distribution" and "providing online information on the standards via data exchange formats for use in the fields of energy exploration, production and distribution" are in any way related to the '943 Registration's "market research" services. Thus, focus on Applicant's specifically-defined association services is appropriate.[1]

The Office Action attempts to show that Applicant's specific association services are related to the '943 Registration's market research services by reference to third party application and registration data, and third party websites:

> The examining attorney attaches copies of printouts from the USPTO X-Search database, which show third-party registrations of marks used in connection with > the same or similar goods and/or services as those of applicant and registrant in this case.

[1] Even if the Office Action rejection is also based on the remainder of the applied-for services, those services are even farther removed from the '943 Registration's services than are the applied for association services.

> Since there is no limitation as to the field of the registrant's market research services, it must be presumed that the registrant's services encompass market research services in the field of energy exploration, production and distribution. The attached evidence from the Google search engine shows that association services and market research services are the type of services that are likely to emanate from the a single source and to travel in the same channels of trade. Furthermore, the evidence shows that some market research services are in the field of energy exploration and production.

Office Action, p. 2 and p. 3. Applicant respectfully suggests that this evidence fails to support the rejection.

With respect to the X-Search results, Applicant respectfully suggests that the results are irrelevant, or at the very least inadequate to establish that the services are closely related. Specifically, the search results purport to show that "association services" (as broadly defined) emanate from the same source as "market research" services (as broadly defined). That is not the issue, however, since Applicant's association services are specific and relate to "promoting the standards via data exchange formats for use in the fields of energy exploration, production and distribution." Nothing in the X-Search data set forth in the Office Action can show a relationship between market research services and the specific association services recited in the present application.

In fact, a search of the X-Search database confirms that such services do not emanate from the same source. In the left hand column below is the search conducted by the undersigned, while the right hand column describes the result:

SEARCH	RESULT
[redacted]
("market research")[gs] and live[ld]	There are 6,860 live applications and registrations that satisfy these search criteria. See Exhibit 1.
(standards and "data exchange")[gs] and live[ld]	There are only 19 live applications and registrations that satisfy these search criteria. See Exhibit 2.
((standards and "data exchange") and "market research")[gs] and live[ld]	There is not a single live application or registration that satisfies these search criteria (in fact there has never been an application or registration that satisfies these criteria, i.e., the result when the "live" criterion is removed is still zero)

Table 1 shows that, not only are consumers unaccustomed to Applicant's specific association services and the '943 Registration's services emanating from the same source, the database is devoid of even a single piece of evidence showing they emanate from a single source.

Moreover, even if one uses the broad descriptions used by the Office Action, namely searching for applications/registrations with both "market research" and "association services" in their descriptions, there is still insufficient evidence to establish the relatedness of the services, as shown in Table 2 below:

TABLE 2

SEARCH	RESULT
("association services")[gs] and live[ld]	There are 10,104 live applications and registrations that satisfy these criteria. See Exhibit 3.
("market research")[gs] and live[ld]	There are 6,860 live applications and registrations that satisfy these search criteria. See Exhibit 1.
("association services" and "market research")[gs] and live[ld]	There are 93 live applications and registrations that satisfy these criteria. See Exhibit 4.

Table 2 shows that only 0.92% of the time an application that contains "association services" also contains "market research" services (i.e., 93/10,104*100) and that only 1.36% of the time an application that contains "market research" also contains "association services" (i.e., 93/6,860*100). These miniscule percentages run contrary to the Office Action's conclusion that the respective services are likely to emanate from a single source. In fact, the search results show that it almost never happens.

With respect to the internet printouts, Applicant does not contest that they show that various "associations" provide marketing services, but they utterly fail to establish that a company performs "market research" and also performs either (a) "establishing, developing and disseminating standards via data exchange formats for use in the fields of energy exploration, production and distribution," (b) "providing online information on the standards via data exchange formats for use in the fields of energy exploration, production and distribution," or (c) "association services, namely promoting the standards via data exchange formats for use in the fields of energy exploration, production and distribution." The Office Action argues that the printouts show that "some market research services are in the field of energy exploration and production" and thus the services are so closely related that confusion is likely. Office Action, p. 3. This reasoning is unsound since the applied-for services are not market research services in the field of energy exploration and production. Further the fields of energy exploration and production are vast, making overlap unlikely (and in this case unproven). If this reasoning was sound, then every mark for "market research" services would prevent registration of an identical mark for any service because "market research" can be performed in any industry, and one could very likely search the billions of web pages to find a few that support this.

Still further, as previously explained, the mark of the '943 Registration is associated with "market research services," which are generally understood to be the gathering and studying of data relating to consumer preferences (see, e.g., a word search for "market research" at www.dictionary.com, a copy of which is attached as Exhibit 5). The Owner of the '943 Registration further defines the services provided in association with the mark: "Focus group moderator & ideation [sic] facilitator...designs/conducts focus groups and idea/name generation sessions...." See www.powersourcing.com/se/marketingresearch.htm, a copy of which is attached as Exhibit 6. In contrast, Applicant provides services related to establishing, developing, maintaining and disseminating standards for use in the energy exploration, production and distribution fields. Applicant's services do not include examining consumer preferences. Studying consumer preferences does not relate to the technical process of standard-setting in the oil and gas industry, nor are activities surrounding their promotion such that confusion is likely.

Further, a person looking to engage a firm for consumer preference analysis prior to introducing a new product will tend to be somewhat sophisticated. Similarly, a person seeking technical standard-setting services in the oil and gas industry will be sophisticated. Thus, in addition to differences in the purchasing settings, the purchasers will tend to be sophisticated. As noted in TMEP § 1207.01(d)(vii), circumstances suggesting care in purchasing may tend to minimize likelihood of confusion.

Finally, it is important to note that, merely having identical marks even on arguably related services, does not automatically result in a likelihood of confusion. In fact, a number of cases have concluded that identical marks are not likely to be confused in situations where the goods/services were far more similar that in the present case. See, e.g., Kiekhaefer Corp. v. Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., 236 F.2d 423, 111 USPQ 105 (CCPA 1956)(HURRICANE outboard motors and HURRICANE auto engines); Zazu Designs v. L'Oreal S.A., 979 F.2d 499, 24 USPQ.2d 1828 (7th Cir. 1992)(ZAZU hair salon and ZAZU hair care product); Astra Pharmaceutical Prods., Inc. v. Beckman Instruments, Inc., 718 F.2d 1201, 220 USPQ 786 (1st Cir. 1983) (ASTRA local anesthetic preparation and ASTRA computerized blood analyzer machine); Consumers Petroleum Co. v. Consumers Co. of Illinois, 169 F.2d 153, 78 USPQ 227 (7th Cir. 1948)(CONSUMERS fuel oil and CONSUMERS coal and wood fuel); American Optical Corp. v. American Olean Tile Co., 185 USPQ 405 (SDNY 1974)(AO floor coating and AO ceramic tile); Allstate Ins. Co. v. Allstate Inv. Corp., 210 F. Supp. 25, 136 USPQ 156 (W.D. La. 1962), aff'd, 328 F.2d 608, 141 USPQ 280 (5th Cir. 1964)(ALLSTATE insurance and ALLSTATE mortgage brokerage).

For at least these reasons, Applicant respectfully asserts that no likelihood of confusion exists with the mark in the '943 Registration, and that the §2(d) refusal reconsidered and be withdrawn.

Respectfully submitted,

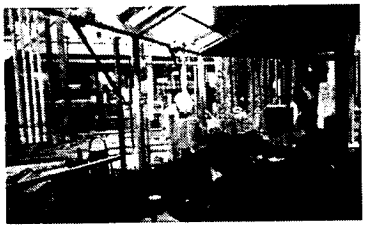
Drilling Standards

Drilling Data Exchange Standards and Best Practices

WITSML supports well site to office receipt, aggregation and transfer of drilling data. The WITSML Standard has sparked growth beyond drilling, completion and intervention, leading to a rich integrated family of data exchange standards that:

- Enhances data quality and real-time delivery
- Improves technical integrity and safety



The integrated family of WITSML standards includes:

WITSML Drilling Standard

- Defines and deploys a comprehensive system of data, process and infrastructure standards to facilitate effective movement and integration of diverse drilling data from the well site.

WITSML Completion Standard

- Meets visualization needs for operators.

Well Path Usage

- The WITSML user community supports the extension of capabilities for representing Well Paths beyond recording raw data collected during drilling including calculated, planned and hybrid Well Paths.

Production Standards

Production Data Exchange Standards and Best Practices

PRODML enhances production optimization through data exchange standards and best practices across all aspects of the Production phase of the asset life cycle. The PRODML Standard:

- Optimizes production
- Reduces operating costs

The integrated family of PRODML standards includes:

PRODML for Production Optimization

- Defines and deploys a comprehensive system of data, process and infrastructure standards to facilitate effective innovation and appropriate cross-vendor plug-and-play in configuration and conducting production optimization activities.

Production Reporting Standards

- Contributes basic data definitions to PRODML. Reporting and optimization standards are designed to be fully unified.

ChemicalUseML Standard

- This data exchange standard conveys the nature, usage and potential hazards of chemicals to be used in the exploration and production of petroleum hydrocarbons. The UK DTI sponsored the development of the ChemicalUseML Standard.

Equation of State Standard

- This XML data exchange standard transfers equation of fluid systems state models.

Distributed Temperature Survey (DTS) Standards

- DTS is designed to deliver a uniform way of DTS data recording and exchange as this new field technology comes into broader use.

Fluid Properties Standard

- Based on an adaption of the WITSML standard, this industry-wide fluid properties standard was developed and deployed by ExxonMobil.

Services

Energy Standards Resource Centre

As the hub of Energistics' global services and open standards user community, the Energy Standards Resource Centre provides a neutral, collaborative forum.

The Centre is Energistics commitment to serve our membership and industry with a one-stop reference source for data exchange standards and industry best practices that enable business value across the upstream oil and gas industry.

Scope and Sources

The Energy Standards Resource Centre provides information from existing and in-progress standards that show the:

- Benefits of standards
- Use of standards in energy business processes and commercial software products
- How to evaluate details of standards specifications and guidelines

Materials in the Centre offer productive and beneficial application of industry standards and best practices that add value to the industry by:

- Improving operations and management processes
- Mitigating risk through collaboration

Collaboration and Standards

Energistics global user community collaborates in a non-commercial and non-competitive environment to create and provide ongoing support for industry standards and best practices.

The Centre is a place to harvest essential identification and descriptive information and to present it in an integrated, easy-to-use manner. As a result, participants benefit from higher quality and lower cost information-related operations.

Participation in the Centre

Energistics members and non-member visitors are encouraged to leverage the Centre for critical information and to contribute ideas related to standards and best practices to ensure the Centre is more:

- Comprehensive
- Accurate
- Applicable

For more information about Energistics' Energy Standards Resource Centre, visit www.energistics.org.

Membership

As the leader in facilitating development, adoption and deployment of data exchange and information transfer standards for the upstream oil and gas industry, Energistics collaborates with members to ensure standards are market-driven and result in the highest business value.

Benefits

- Improved operational efficiencies
- Reduced risk through collaboration
- Enhanced value from existing standards
- Global adoption and deployment
- Direct input into the development process
- Early involvement and access

Basics

Energistics offers three membership categories:

- Sustaining
- Contributing
- Associated

Sustaining Members are full partners in governing Energistics activities. They are eligible to serve on the Board and vote in Energistics elections. Participation and input from Sustaining Members are critically important to the success of Energistics.

Contributing Members are organizations that collaborate in selected Energistics activities. These members add special value in their area of choice, where they often have in-depth experience and market presence. Contributing members participate in SIGs and Work Groups.

Associated Members are on a reciprocal basis. The dual nature of representation between Energistics and the Associated Member organization adds value to both organizations. Associated Members are allowed to vote in Energistics member elections.

Member Base

Energistics' membership base includes worldwide representation of major and national oil companies, suppliers of petroleum exploration and production software and services, systems integrators, government agencies, computing and consulting companies, research and academic institutions and a global user community.

Global Regions

Energistics maintains eight key regions throughout the world, which provide leadership and support for local members.

- North America
- South America
- Western Europe
- Eastern Europe
- Middle East
- Africa
- Asia South
- Asia Pacific

For more information about becoming a member of Energistics or participating in our SIGs, please visit our website at www.energistics.org or contact Jerry Hubbard at jerry.hubbard@energistics.org.
