Why Global Team Builders?

For many years organizations or individuals associated with implementing capital projects have struggled to recruit expert management personnel. Sometimes they are forced to reassign current, often ill-equipped, staff to major capital projects. This has resulted in numerous project overruns, costly schedule extensions, and unsatisfactory facilities.

The implementation of capital projects typically has specific start and end dates. This presents a dilemma to the organization associated with the project. What do they do with the project staff when the project is completed? The legal risks and the trauma of discharging personnel can be stressful to an organization. The challenge is to secure the best-qualified personnel for the project and then to discharge them with minimal risk to the organization.

This dilemma has created a need for capital project designers, builders, owners, financiers, and governmental agencies (our clients) to secure the best available talent to implement their specific term projects and then release them when the project is complete with no risk. Organizations are depending more and more on contracted experts to manage the implementation of their major capital improvements.

Global Team Builders, Inc will fill this need by providing the right project teams to maximize project success.
