REQUEST FOR RECONSIDERATION

Commissioner for Trademarks
P.O. Box 1451
Alexandria, VA 22313-1451

Dear Commissioner:

Applicant requests that the following amendment be entered and responds to the Office Action of August 26, 2014.

AMENDMENT

1. Amend the identification of goods to read: All-purpose carrying bags, all-purpose carrying cases, back packs, beach bags, business card cases, collars for pets, cosmetic carrying cases sold empty, key cases, key chains of leather, key chains of imitation leather, luggage, luggage tags, makeup bags sold empty, messenger bags, pet clothing, pet leashes, namely, animal leashes, purses, umbrellas, wallets, all relating to motion pictures and entertainment.

APPLICANT'S MARK IS ENTITLED TO REGISTRATION

I. AMENDMENT TO IDENTIFICATION OF GOODS

Applicant has amended the identification of goods to restrict them to those relating to motion pictures and entertainment. Because the amendment is limiting in nature, it should be allowed, and then considered in the context of the likelihood of confusion refusal.

03-03-2015

II. THERE IS NO LIKELIHOOD OF CONFUSION WITH THE CITED MARK

A. The Examining Attorney Has Not Her Burden of Demonstrating Likelihood of Confusion Concerning Applicant's Mark

The Examining Attorney issued a final Office Action refusing registration under Section 2(d) of the Trademark Act, on the ground that Applicant's mark ECLIPSE for all purpose carrying bags, all purpose carrying cases, back packs, beach bags, business card cases, collars for pets, cosmetic carrying cases sold empty, key cases, key chains of leather, key chains of imitation leather, luggage, luggage tags, makeup bags sold empty, messenger bags, pet clothing, pet leashes, namely, animal leashes, purses, umbrellas, wallets in Class 18 is likely to cause confusion, to cause mistake, or to deceive with the following registrations ("Cited Marks"):

- U.S. Registration No. 3,018,770 for ECLIPZE for "anti-uv umbrellas used for sun protection, namely, stick, 2-fold and 3-fold models" in Class 18 owned by Solar Solutions LLC ("Solar Solutions");
- U.S. Registration No. 3,510,930 for ECLIPSE for "general purpose carry bags for military and police applications" in Class 18 owned by Bae Systems Simula, Inc. ("Simula"); and
- U.S. Registration No. 4,080,586 for ECLIPS & Design

For "trunks and travelling bags, namely, tote bags," in Class 18 owned by Ellison Educational Equipment, Inc. dba Sizzix ("Sizzix")

Applicant requests that the Examining Attorney reconsider the refusal to register and withdraw the refusal in light of the following remarks and attached evidence.

Applicant submits that the Examining Attorney did not give due consideration to (1) the weakness of the Cited Marks, (2) the differences in the appearances, connotations and commercial impressions of Applicant's mark and the Cited Marks, and (3) the differences in the Applicant's goods and those of the Cited Marks. See In re E.I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co., 177 USPQ 563, 567 (CCPA 1973); Citigroup Inc. v. Capital City Bank Group, Inc., 637 F.3d 1344, 1356 (Fed. Cir. 2011) ("Citigroup's approach of mechanically tallying the DuPont factors addressed is improper, as the factors having differing weights."). An analysis of those DuPont factors confirms that there is little likelihood of confusion between Applicant's mark and the Cited Marks.

1. The Cited Marks are Weak

The Examining Attorney did not give due consideration to the weakness of the Cited Marks, stating, "[e]vidence of weakness or dilution consisting solely of third-party registrations, such as those submitted by applicant in this case, is generally entitled to little weight in determining the strength of the mark, because such registrations do not establish that the registered marks identified therein are in actual use in the marketplace or that consumers are accustomed to seeing them." (Office Action at 3.) (original emphasis.)

Contrary to the Examining Attorney's assertion, third-party registrations can show that a commonly registered term has a suggestive or descriptive significance for particular goods such that differences in the remaining portions of the marks may be sufficient to render the marks as a whole distinguishable. See Top Tobacco LP v. North Atlantic Operating Co., 101 USPQ.2d 1163, 1173 (TTAB 2011). In Top Tobacco, the applicant submitted several third-party registrations for marks incorporating the term "Classic" in connection with tobacco products to show weakness of the opposer's asserted mark CLASSIC CANADIAN for tobacco. The Board found that opposer's mark was entitled to only a narrow scope of protection, and that use of the term "Classic" in competing marks would be a weak basis for asserting likelihood of confusion:

The fact that the USPTO has allowed so many registrations for the tobacco-related goods containing a shared term to co-exist on the Principal register may be used "to establish that [the] portion common to the marks involved in a proceeding has a normally understood and well-known meaning [and] that this has been recognized by the [USPTO]...; and that therefore the inclusion of [the shared term] in each mark may be an insufficient basis on which to predicate a holding of confusing similarity.”

Top Tobacco, 101 USPQ.2d at 1173 (quoting Red Carpet Corp. v. Johnstown American Enterprises Inc., 7 USPQ.2d 1404, 1406 (TTAB 1988)).

Applicant reiterates that the Cited Marks should be considered weak and diluted. Based on a search of the PTO’s database, there are currently 340 “live” registered marks containing words identical or virtually identical to ECLIPSE. See Exhibit A, which are true and correct copies of the 340 registration certificates. These ECLIPSE marks are registered for a wide variety of goods and services, which are probative to show that the Office considers ECLIPSE to be a weak mark.

The prevalence of so many ECLIPSE marks on the federal register is compelling evidence that such marks are weak and are not entitled to protection beyond the specific mark for the specific goods. Keebler Co. v. Associated Biscuits, Ltd., 207 USPQ 1034, 1038 (TTAB 1980) (citing the plethora of marks registered by the PTO and incorporating the term CLUB as evidence supporting the Board’s finding that such marks were “entitled to only a very circumscribed scope of protection limited to essentially the same mark for essentially the same goods.”); Sand Hill Advisors, LLC v. Sand Hill Advisors, LLC, 680 F. Supp.2d 1107, 1119 (N.D. Cal. 2010) (citation omitted) (“Where [, as here,] the market is inundated by products using the particular trademarked word, there is a corresponding likelihood that consumers ‘will not likely be confused by any two in the crowd.’”); see also First Sav. Bank, F.S.B. v. First Bank Sys., 101 F.3d 645, 653-54 (10th Cir. 1996) (“The greater the number of identical or more or less similar marks already in use on different kinds of goods, the less is the likelihood of confusion between any two specific uses of the weak mark.”); King Candy Co. v. Eunice King’s Kitchen, Inc., 182 USPQ 108, 109-10 (CCPA 1974); General Mills, Inc. v. Kellogg Co., 824 F.2d 622, 626 (8th Cir. 1987).

The fact that the Office has registered other ECLIPSE marks, including the very coexistence of the Cited Marks, indicates that it considers this mark weak and only entitled to a narrow scope of protection. Applicant maintains that the ECLIPSE mark is weak and thus that consumer confusion is unlikely.

2. The Marks Are Distinguishable in Appearance, Connotation and Commercial Impression

The Examining Attorney stated that Applicant's mark and the Cited Marks are identical or highly similar in appearance, sound, connotation and commercial impression. (Office Action at 2.)

Applicant reiterates that the Examining Attorney has paid insufficient weight to the fact that Applicant's mark and the Cited Mark are encountered in different contexts. See In re Sears, Roebuck & Co., 2 USPQ.2d 1312, 1314 (TTAB 1987) (different meanings are projected by the identical mark CROSSOVER when used on brassieres and on ladies' sportswear, respectively, because they are different types of clothing, having different uses, and are normally sold in different sections of department stores); In re Sydel Lingerie Co., Inc., 197 USPQ 629, 630 (TTAB 1977) (discussing identical BOTTOMS UP marks, "[b]ut more important, and especially in this case is the nature of the marks and the commercial impression that they project in connection with the respective goods").

As previously stated, Applicant is the producer and distributor behind the global phenomenon motion pictures series Twilight, The Twilight Saga: New Moon, The Twilight Saga: Eclipse, The Twilight Saga: Breaking Dawn Part I and The Twilight Saga: Breaking Dawn Part II (collectively, the "Twilight Motion Pictures") and its use of its ECLIPSE mark therefore refers to the third of these films.

As shown by the amendment to Applicant's goods, they are sold in association with motion pictures (e.g., the Twilight Motion Pictures) and entertainment. Applicant often uses a distinctive font for its ECLIPSE mark, which is the same font used with the Twilight Motion Pictures. This font is well-recognized and associated with the Twilight Motion Pictures. See Exhibit B, which are true and correct printouts from online retailer and authorized licensee CafePress' website advertising Applicant's bag items under the ECLIPSE mark.

The Cited Marks are not associated with or connected in any way the Twilight Motion Pictures or any other motion pictures entertainment. Thus, it cannot be said that the Cited Marks have the same connotation or commercial impression as Applicant's ECLIPSE mark. Furthermore, the mark ECLIPZE in Reg. No. 3,018,770 and ECLIPS &

Design in Reg. No. 4,080,586 lend themselves to a much different visual appearance, connotation and commercial impression than Applicant's mark ECLIPSE.

3. The Goods Are Distinguishable

Applicant also disagrees with the Examining Attorney's assertion that Applicant's goods and those of the Cited Marks are the same or similar. As previously stated, Solar Solutions' "anti-uv umbrellas" would be bought by consumers for a specific purpose in mind – namely, to protect them from the sun's rays – which are different from Applicant's general merchandise type of goods.

Simula's goods under its ECLIPSE mark are marketed directly to military and police personnel. This is clearly an entirely different demographic than Applicant's often young, female consumers. Moreover, in light of the specialized nature of Simula's goods and the fact that those goods likely must be ordered in bulk from Simula, it is inconceivable that consumers encountering Simula's goods under the ECLIPSE mark would confuse those goods with Applicant's general merchandise type of goods, especially since the latter are often adorned with imagery from the Twilight Motion Pictures. See Exhibit B. The Examining Attorney stresses that Simula's "all-purpose" bags are the same as Applicant's bags, but has neglected to give due consideration to Simula's qualifier, namely "for military and police applications". The Examining Attorney's assumption that Applicant's all-purpose carrying bags could "encompass all goods of the type described, including those in registrant's more narrow definition" (Office Action at 3) applies a mistaken definition of "all purpose". The term "all purpose" bags is meant to describe bags that are "able to be used in a lot of different ways", and not every single way, as the Examining Attorney suggests. See Exhibit C, which is a true and correct printout of the definition of "all-purpose" from the MacMillan Dictionary website. It is a stretch to assume that Applicant's all-purpose carrying bags could be used for military and police applications. If that were the case, then it would have been unnecessary and redundant for Simula to add this narrowing restriction to its own registration.

Finally, Sizzix's goods under its ECLIPS & Design mark are marketed to serious stationery and paper craft hobbyists, which is different from Applicant's target audience.

In sum, the Examining Attorney should withdraw the refusal of registration to the Applicant's mark because there is no likelihood of confusion between Applicant's mark and the Cited Marks.

III. CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Applicant has demonstrated that no likelihood of confusion exists between Applicant's mark and the Cited Marks. Accordingly, Applicant respectfully requests that the Examining Attorney withdraw the refusal to register under Section 2(d) of the Trademark Act and approve Applicant's mark for publication. Alternatively, Applicant has filed a Notice of Appeal to the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board herewith.

Respectfully submitted,
