Mersin Vacation Packages

Visit Mersin, and you'll soon understand why this part of Eastern Mediterranean Coast is such a favorite with locals and visitors alike.

The national capital Ankara is located 240 miles (386 kilometers) northwest of Mersin.

When it comes to getting the best out of your vacation, it's worth keeping in mind that Mersin is just just the start; Eastern Mediterranean Coast has been blessed with an abundance of scenic and cultural delights. Erdemli, lays 20 miles (32 kilometers) to the northeast, while Limonlu lies 25 miles (40 kilometers) to the northeast.

Travelers longing for quiet places of quiet contemplation, will relish the chance to visit the region's many mosques. If the weather makes you want to head indoors, take a trip to Eastern Mediterranean Coast's art museums and history museums.

There are many ways to get active in the outdoors around Mersin. Hiking and caving are just two popular ways thrill seekers here can get their thrills. If you like spending time with like-minded travelers, Mersin offers plenty of specialized tours such as guided nature walks.

Whether you're taking the most popular route or heading off the beaten path, picking up some Turkish phrases will bring out the smiles in those you meet. "Benimle dans eder misiniz?" is good to know. In English, it means "Would you like to dance with me?" One more handy example is "Nerelisin?" (Where are you from?).

When the time comes to leave Mersin, pack up your camera and mementos, spend your last of your liras on last-minute souvenirs, and bid a fond Hoşgöçak (farewell) to this spectacular spot.

Mersin

Panoramio author: longdistanceer

Scattered Clouds, 70 F (21 C) Elevation: 3m, Humidity: 49%, Precipitation: 0.00 in (0.0 mm) (Wunderground)

Mersin is a city in Turkey on the Mediterranean coast, on the southwestern edge of Cilician Plains.

Mersin will be hosting the XVII Mediterranean Games in June 2013.

Once a small fishermen's village, Mersin grew as the export harbour of the surrounding region, as more and more of the wilderness of the Cilician Plains was ploughed up to produce cotton, which was in high demand the world around with the start of the industrial revolution in the textile sector. It still hosts the largest port of the country today, with its export articles being diversified.

Do

- Walk on the Antic Road, constructed in Roman Period.
- Mounted excursion in an ambient within nature at mounted sports club.

Drink

Salgam can be found on every street in Mersin even though it is a drink from Adana. Good examples of local brands are Serafresh (with double s) and Turnib (with b, not p). Since the cities in Çukurova all have similar cuisines taste of Salgam doesn't differ that much.

In the past there were many Boyan (licorice drink) sellers in the city center. Such drink still exists but cannot be found easily.

Kaynar is another local drink, generally served to celebrate a newborn. It is usually served hot with cinnamon and walnut. The ingredients of kaynar can be found in some stores and can be a cheap exotic gift.

Buy

Buy very high quality leather jackets from the bazaar just beside Holly Mosque (local name Ulu Cami). Don't forget to bargain, and after bargaining for 15 minutes, you might be able to buy leather jacket for half price. There is an antique store behind the Mersin Hotel specialising in prayer beads. The prices range from 10 TL to over 5000 TL and it is hard to evaluate the price; the 50TL-100TL range is adequate for a souvenir. Dösım Store is a trustworthy place to buy a souvenir; the prices are fixed (no bargaining) and often cheaper than other stores. Since it is a public institution, the products are authentic and usually come with a certificate in English. Dösım store is beside the Atatürk's House in Mersin.

There are fairly modern and air-con trains every hour or more frequently during the rush hours to and from Adana and Tarsus. The journey time is between 45-80 minutes, depending on the number of stops. The price is 5.50 TL for one way and 9 TL for a roundtrip. There is an option to buy an unlimited card for 110 TL, valid for a month. The price is 80 TL for students. You should buy the ticket before you enter the train, otherwise the price is doubled.

There are trains to and from Istanbul, Eskisehir and Ankara with a stop-over and change at Yenice, east of Mersin.

The only international train link is from Syrian city of Aleppo, from where weekly trains depart at 3AM on Fridays, and arriving in Mersin about nine hours later, at 12:18PM. They cost € 14 pp. (This train is halted indefinitely

Eat

Tantuni, finely minced fried meat and onion wrap, is one of the most famous food in this region. Don't leave the city without tasting it. In the center of the city, you will see several small local restaurants with this special fantastic food.

Haslets are very common ingredients of the food in Mersin. There are dishes made with intestines, lung, liver, kidneys, stomach, brain. Even though there are restaurants serving this food all through out the day, this type of food can be found easily late at nights. Especially soups with inner organs are drank late at night after consumption of alcohol.

Cozero is a mix made of carrots and fig and lots of spices may also include nuts depending on where you buy it from.

Kerebic is dessert unique to this area. It is a dough filled with pistachios and served with vegetarian cream on top of it.
