7 MR. CLARIDA: I'll show you
8 what I marked as Opposer's Exhibit
9 10. This is a notice of deposition
10 that we served on our adversary, and
11 this actually called for a deposition
12 for July 7th, 2004, which was a
13 little over a week ago.

14 Just on the record I'd like to
15 note that at our adversary's request
16 we pushed it back to today so he
17 could be here, and he is not here.

18 He had something to do in
19 Washington, DC, so he is not with us
20 today.

21 DIRECT EXAMINATION BY MR. CLARIDA:

A Yes, I am.

Q And where are you employed?

A Blue Man Productions.

Q What is your job title or job description?

A Marketing director, and I oversee the marketing day-to-day functions for all of our domestic productions.

Q All right. And as part of your job, are you familiar with the ways in which records are kept at Blue Man Productions?

A Yes, I am.

Q And particularly are you familiar with the way in which records of press clippings and promotional materials are kept?

A Yes.

Q Could you describe briefly how that's done?

A Yes. It's different per media, but we employ companies to send us press clippings. For in-print publications, when we get the clippings, we paste them up, which is a process of simply putting them on our letterhead, and we file them in a notebook in chronological order.

1 Camien

2 For television we have a service
3 called VMS, which is Video Monitoring Service,
4 and they send us weekly reports of where and
5 when any mention of the Blue Man has occurred on 6 television.

7 Q Okay. I'd like to show you what I
8 have marked as Opposer's Exhibit 1, and I can
9 identify that for us.

10 These are photocopies of video
11 cassette boxes, and these are video cassettes
12 indicating various television programs.

13 How would you come to have these
14 videotapes?

15 A It could be two different ways. One
16 is that we can order them from VMS. That is the 17 same Video Monitoring Service we spoke of.

18 We can order a tape from them, or we
19 have Dennis Diamond, who is the head of Video D
20 Studios, make a tape.

21 We will alert him of when we're going
22 to do an appearance on television, and he will
23 release on the VSC and tape it.

24 And in either case we often make
25 duplicates of the appearances, and Video D is

1 Camien

2 our duplication house. They make our copies,
3 and they print out the labels.

4 Q All right. And the programs that are
5 on the cassette boxes, about how long after the 6 program airs would you get a videotape copy of 7 it?

8 A It depends. If it's Video D, I may 9 have the tape the next day by messenger. If we 10 order it from VMS, it could be a week later.

11 Q All right. I'll keep that Exhibit 1
12 in front of you, and I'll show you what I've 13 marked as Opposer's Exhibit 11.

14 I'll identify that as a letter dated
15 September 22nd, 1992, and it's signed by Jay
16 Leno, and it's on stationery from the Tonight
17 Show with Jay Leno.

18 And I just ask you to look at Page 8
19 of the exhibit, and it's a series of Tonight
20 Show appearances.

21 A Yes.

22 Q And there's one reference, 9/21/92.

23 A Yes.

24 Q And is this letter in connection with

A Yes, it is. Jay wrote this to thank -- it's a letter the day after the performance, thanking Chris, Matt and Phil for coming on the show and performing.

Q And how would this letter have been kept in your file?

A The press files of our company. They have files of all correspondence that comes to them.

Q So this is something that's kept in the regular course of your business?

A Yes.

Q And these videotapes that -- that we've been looking at, Opposer's Exhibit 1, is something you kept in the regular course of your business?

A Absolutely.

Q Looking at Page 11 of Opposer's Exhibit 1, which is the next to the last page, there are a number of titles here. What do those titles refer to?

A These are commercials that were created for Intel.

for Intel?

A Yes, they are.

Q I'm going to ask some questions about the Intel commercials, and if you don't know the answer, perhaps I have something here that can refresh your recollection.

Which campaigns -- which products were these ads placed in connection with?

A Some of them were made for Pentium 3 and others were for Pentium 4.

Q All right. And do you know which ones were which?

A Not all of them. I know the Raising 4 was definitely Pentium 4, and I believe that first three -- the first four are Pentium 3, but I'm not sure.

Q Let me show you something that might refresh your recollection.

Looking at this now, having looked at this, do you know which were for Pentium 3 and which were for Pentium 4?

A Yes. The first four spots are for Pentium 3, and the Raising 4 are for Pentium 4.

you know what the total media buy budget was for the Pentium 3 campaign?

A It was around 275 million.

Q And for the Pentium 4 campaign?

A Approximately 300 million.

Q Okay. Were there any particularly notable ad placements for either the Pentium 3 or Pentium 4 campaign?

A Yes. They bought the Super Bowl XXXIV and other popular shows like Friends and X Files, Drew Carey, Who Wants to Be a Millionaire.

Q So these were on pretty much all the major networks?

A Yes.

Q And also were there any online spots for advertising for the Pentium chips online?

A Yes. They created a series of online advertising.

Q Okay. I'm going to show you now what I've marked as Opposer's Exhibit 2, and I can identify this as Blue Man Group television and radio coverage 2000 to 2003.

appearances kept in the regular course of your business?

A Yes, they are.

Q And how would these be kept generally?

A This is a confirmation of the weekly reports that we get from the Video Monitoring Service, so that's everything that -- they tell us everywhere we have run. We just put it all in one data base.

Q So these would be pretty much daily or weekly reports that you get from the Video Monitoring Service?

A Yes.

Q Those then get into some data base that you have on your own computers?

A Yes.

Q All right. I would like to show you what I marked as a Opposer's Exhibit 3, and I'll identify this as a one-page press clipping on Blue Man Group letterhead, with a tag or slag with -- with a bar code indicating that it's from Burrelle's Information Services. Could you tell me what Burrelle is?

A Burrelle's is a clipping service.

They monitor hundreds of publications on a daily basis and clippings, whatever you got from the clip.

Q And what do you do when they send you a clipping?

A We take them and paste them up on our letterhead and file them chronologically.

Q You keep those in the regular course of your business?

10

A Yes, we do.

11

Q And are there any other services that you subscribe to?

12

A We also subscribe to Lexis-Nexus, which is an online clipping, so we get them faster via Internet. And VMS, which I've already spoken of, which is the Video Monitoring Service.

14

Q Do you have any foreign service clippings service?

16

A Burrelle's has a foreign branch, so we use Burrelle's for our foreign clippings as well.

Opposer's Exhibit 4, and I'll identify this as a one-page printout from a web site, newsbank.com, and the heading at the top is Dayton Daily News, Dayton, Ohio.

Do you have any regular process within Blue Man Productions to keep track of web items?

A Yes, we do. We have two processes. One is Burrelle's. We also have an Internet clipping service which we use, and they will send us clippings from the Internet.

Lexis-Nexus, which I mentioned previously, will send us at the beginning of a day immediately that there's something online about Blue Man.

This particular exhibit was something that we researched, because we found out from Lexis-Nexus that this article existed, and we wanted to look at the actual site, so we printed this out from their site, the article.

Q And how are these kept at Blue Man Productions?

Q Let me show you what I marked as Opposer's Exhibit 5, and I'll identify this as a one-page story.

The top says University wire, Champlain, Illinois, October 24th, 2003, and it appears printed on Blue Man Group letterhead.

Let me just ask you how this document was put together.

A This was the text copy that we would get from Lexis-Nexus, saying that we -- that this article ran.

And if we weren't able to find it on a web site, like we do the Dayton Daily News, we would simply print out the text and paste it on -- on the letterhead for presentation purposes, so they are consistent.

Q And is this something that you do in the regular course of your business with Lexis-Nexus material?

A Yes.

Q Let me show what I marked as Opposer's Exhibit 6, which is a two-page exhibit, two photographs of an advertisement on a billboard in Times Square.

1 Camien

2 Do you know when that Times Square
3 advertisement ran?

4 A Yes. It began running at the end of
5 2002, beginning of 2003. We're in our second
6 year. It's still running. It runs three times
7 per hour every day from approximately 9:00 a.m.
8 to 1:00 a.m..

9 Q Okay. And do you have any other
10 billboard ads that you do anywhere else in the 11 country?

12 A Oh, yes. We have billboards --
13 several billboards in Las Vegas, Boston,
14 Chicago. And that's the only one in New York.

15 Q All right. And do you regularly --
16 do you have an archive of photos of other
17 billboard ads that you have?

18 A Yes, we do.

19 Q And this would be something that --
20 that you would keep in the regular course of 21 your business?

22 A Yes.

23 Q Let me show you what I marked as 24 Opposer's Exhibit 7. That's marked, "Blue Man
25 Group invites you to be part of a funeral for

1 Camien

2 the '80s." Let me ask you what that is, please.

3 A This is a flier notice created by 4 Chris Lynch (phonetic) when they performed in 5 Central Park in 1998 -- I'm sorry. 1988.

6 Q And is this a document that was
7 prepared internally at Blue Man?

8 A Internally at that time, yes.

9 Q And where would it have been
10 circulated?

11 A I believe it was circulated on the 12 streets of New York, Central Park, and they sent 13 it to several publications in New York. The 14 Village Voice ran something about the event, and 15 MTV covered the event.

16 Q All right. And I'm going to show you
17 what I marked as Opposer's Exhibit 8, which is 18 on Blue Man Group stationery, marked at the top,
19 "For immediate release." Could you tell me what 20 that is, please?

21 A This is a press release announcing
22 our -- our coming to Las Vegas and opening a
23 show at the Las Vegas property.

24 Q How do these press releases get
25 generated?

1 Camien

2 A They typically get generated by Manny
3 Gracious (phonetic). He's our PR director.
4 Sometimes our partners will generate a press
5 release which we will approve, but for the most
6 part we write them ourselves.

7 Q And what happens with the press
8 release when you send it out?

9 Where do you send it and what do they
10 do with it?

11 A We will send it to -- it depends on 12 the project, because there are press lists of,
13 you know, hundreds or thousands of press people
14 across the country, depending on what we're 15 publicizing at the time.

16 Q What do they do with it?

17 A Oh. They run stories about it, if 18 they're interested in it, and then we clip that 19 story.

20 Q All right. And we'll come full
21 circle and show the last exhibit I have,
22 Opposer's Exhibit 9. This is also on Blue Man
23 Group letterhead.

24 There is an article on the right-hand
25 side. It's a press clipping, I should say, and

1 Camien

2 on the left-hand side of the page is a
3 handwritten identification, "Gaming Today,"
4 identifying the publication.

5 How would that handwritten notation
6 have been put there?

7 A My knowledge, I think this is
8 something -- simply a mistake by Burrelle's.
9 Sometimes they cut off or they don't have it
10 printed, and it looks to me like someone just 11 handwrote the source material for that.

2 Q And this is something you would keep

6 A Yes.

7 MR. CLARIDA: I have nothing
8 further. We're off the record.

Concert review

Blue Man is silent but entertaining

By J. SPEVAK
What is Blue Man Group? It is David Byrne's act in his blue period, mime, circus, the Blue Men are alien, curious, zany, funny, groovy, anthropological, and probably white wine drinkers.

And their "Complex Rock Show" was probably the most amazing, wildly entertaining, challenging show to be seen in this city for a long, long time. Tied together by voiceovers and video displays that introduced each segment as though it were a chapter in a how-to manual for rock stars ("Concert Movement No. 2, the One-Hand Fist Pump"), the 2,400 people in the sold-out Auditorium Center will never again be able to sit through a Journey concert without laughing hysterically.

From three blue, mute guys who combined percussive music with performance art and comedy in New York City in the '80s, the Blue Men have escalated into a full-blown rock show, complete with video screens, screeching guitars and Jefferson Airplane's "White Rabbit" (since they're mute, "White Rabbit" was sung by Tracy Bonham, one of two excellent vocalists chosen for their characteristically exotic names). The other was Venus Hum, a strappy pop band that was later brought back so that lead singer Annette Streat could sing the '70s disco hit "I Feel Love" while wearing an electric-rainbow dress.

The Blue Men had help in pulling off this rock-concert commentary on rock concerts, with a real eight-piece rock band. But the Blue Men are best when left to their own devices, mainly a set of ungainly percussion instruments constructed from PVC pipe. Two of these instruments were worn like deep-sea-breathing apparatus during the Who's "Baba O'Reilly."

The encores opened with "Exhibit 13." A subtitle on the video screen introduced it simply as paper that had fallen into a garden in Brooklyn. The Blue Men settled into a simple percussive groove on their PVCs as the big screen behind them and smaller ones all over the stage showed scraps of paper tumbling down against a dark background, some pausing in midair so that they could be read. They were mundane items, some scorched, but it slowly began to dawn on the audience - perhaps it was the one with the Cantor Fitzgerald letterhead - that this was paper that had fallen into a Brooklyn garden as the twin towers fell. It was very simple, but very powerful.

But mostly it was a night of amusing satire, highlighted by one of the Blue Men walking to the front of the stage to hold his lighter aloft, in a time-honored tradition. Just a few in the crowd responded with the own lighters: Western New Yorkers are woefully unprepared to defy the state ban on smoking in public places. But at that moment, someone in the back of the theater shouted "Freebird!" So at least one guy got the joke. □

BLUE MAN GROUP COLORFULLY TAKES ON CONCERT CLICHES

FAIRBORN - The Blue Man Group phenomenon is a real head-scratcher. How something that began on the streets and rarified performance-art spaces of New York City's East Village became an entertainment juggernaut with multiple ongoing theater productions across the country, including a big Las Vegas Show and an arena-style rock tour, would be unimaginable if it weren't true. This kind of stuff - a trio of blue-painted fellows pounding out rhythms on a variety of found objects - isn't supposed to appeal to the masses.

But what's more surprising is that the story of the Blue Man Group isn't one of an artistic enterprise turned sell-out, but rather a successful merging of the oil-and-water tastes of a cliquish downtown hipster scene and the general-admission amusement park crowd.

Having traveled through the region this summer with stops in Cincinnati and Columbus, Blue Man Productions brought its Complex Rock Tour to the Dayton area for the first time Sunday night with a performance at Wright State University's Ervin J. Nutter Center.

The show, which was put together in tandem with the release earlier this year of the Complex rock album, is a parody of sorts about the rock-concert experience, while at the same time offering that experience in its full glory - complete with an eight-piece band and guest appearances by singer-songwriter Tracy Bonham and the electronic-trio Venus Hum (who also had opening sets).

The blue men are as much observers of the endeavor as they are

Blue Man Group take art, rock to new level by Kevin Borgia

If surrealistic artists Salvador Dali and M.C. Escher used PVC pipe, boat antennas and broken pianos to make music, they would have been Blue Men.

Simultaneously a quintessential rock show and parody of all things rock, the Blue Man Group performed Saturday at Assembly Hall Star Theater in Champaign, Ill., where they took the audience on a multi-sensory journey.

Packed with innovative instrumentation, pounding yet melodic drumming, a top-notch backing band and theatrics peppered with social commentary, the Blue Man Group's show was nothing short of mind-blowing.

The experience began with one Blue Man silhouetted behind a giant tapestry, hammering out a sharp melody on an auto-harp. The two other Blue men soon added echoing percussion.

In true rock fashion, the band kicked in as the tapestry fell, revealing the Blue Men in all their percussive glory, flanked by their eight-member backing band.

Instantly, the power was on. They launched into their first song with energy unparalleled in any rock show, beating on their classic tube instruments with incredible precision.

Afterward, the Blue Men wandered stage innocently and childlike, puzzling over the presence of the band and the crowd, and filming them with a fiber-optic camera that projected the image on an enormous screen behind the band.

With the second song: "Time to Start," the show's overall theme revealed itself as the "Rock Concert Manual."

Classic rock movements like "The basic head bob" and the "One-hand fist pump" were portrayed in the song, and the hysterical theatrics of the Blue Men melded perfectly with the fierce rhythms.

Next, "Up on the Roof" was the first appearance of opening act Tracy Bonham, who dazzled the crowd with her searing vocals.

In "Persona," the Blue Men exhibited their first bit of social commentary with a comedic skit featuring ringing cell phones -- first from one Blue Man, then the other two and finally the entire band.

OFF-BROADWAY SENSATION BLUE MAN GROUP TO HEADLINE AT LUXOR LAS VEGAS

LAS VEGAS, June 10, 1999— Circus Circus Enterprises Inc. has entered into agreement with one of the world's most sought-after theatrical productions, Blue Man Group, to debut at Luxor in March 2000. Blue Man Group currently has long-running sold-out shows in New York, Boston, and Chicago.

The opening will mark the first full-scale Blue Man production mounted west of the Mississippi, despite being heavily recruited in the west, particularly in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

"The one-of-a-kind, innovative feel of Blue Man is a perfect fit with Luxor, a one-of-a-kind property," said Glenn Schaeffer, president and CFO of Circus Circus Enterprises Inc. "Their arrival in Las Vegas will be a huge step forward for entertainment in Las Vegas."

Created by Matt Goldman, Chris Wink and Phil Stanton, Blue Man Group set the theatrical world on fire in 1991 when their first production opened Off-Broadway in New York City. The off-beat humor, tribal music and stunning visual effects performed by the three non-speaking blue-headed men sparked a revolution in the theatrical community and won Blue Man Group numerous honors including an Obie Award and a Drama Desk Award. Their success led to the creation of an entirely new genre in theater, paving the way for the creation of other non-conventional productions, such as "Stomp," "Tap Dogs," and "De LaGuarda."

"The success of the musical Chicago at Mandalay Bay proved Las Vegas is ready for legit theater, and now Blue Man Group will prove Las Vegas is ready for illegitimate theater," said Wink jokingly.

Luxor's state of the art theater will be the largest permanent home to a Blue Man Group production. "We are excited about the possibilities the larger venue presents," said Stanton, "We now have the space to accommodate more musicians and larger instruments. We will be custom-fitting some of our favorite pieces to Luxor proportions, as well as creating new visual effects and comedic character work specifically for this show."

Goldman, Stanton and Wink will also produce the Luxor show. Goldman said, "We have an unusual situation in that we are the authors, directors and the producers. Circus Circus has been nothing but supportive to our unique creative process and the results are already showing up in the quality of the planned production."

Blue Man Group's current productions continue to enjoy unprecedented success. Blue Man Group recently celebrated its 3500th performance in New York City, and has sold out more than 2,000 performances between their Boston and Chicago productions.

Blue Man Group's television credits include six appearances on the "Tonight Show with Jay Leno," six appearances on "Live with Regis and Kathy Lee," and performances and profiles on various television shows including "CBS Sunday Morning," NBC's "Today Show," and "Entertainment Tonight."

More Producer Juicies

And the news is mixed for some other local producers.

One of the classiest guys in the Las Vegas production business, Dick Foster, almost lost both of his shows here in one fell swoop.

Fortunately, he was granted a last-minute reprieve and the final curtain did not ring down on "Spellbound" at Harrah's in February as expected. It has, quite the contrary, been granted an extension to the millennium.

And though the Luxor folks have already announced they will replace "Imagine" with "Blue Man Group" next March, the cast of real troupers plays on.

Mark Callas and Donny Moore's Springtime Productions ("American Superstars") is casting for a production set to open soon in Greece.

Blue Man Group

Blue Man Group — the award-winning, off-Broadway entertainment phenomenon currently playing to sold-out houses in New York, Boston and Chicago — is scheduled to open a Las Vegas show in March 2000. The new show, tentatively titled "Blue Man Group: Live at Luxor," will mark the first full-scale Blue Man production west of the Mississippi.

Auditions are being held July 15 and 16. Interested male and female performers must have solid acting and drumming skills, be between 5' 10" and 6' 1" with weight proportionate to height, and be willing to relocate. For more information, call (212) 849-2799.

Blue Man Group is a trio of cult figures who blend offbeat deadpan humor, tribal drumming and a karaoke sing-along amid the visual hanging of industrial tubes. You can learn more about the group on its Web site: www.blue-man.com.
