| v. | : | Opposition No. _____ |
| Shaun N.G. Hughes,Applicant. | : | Application Serial No. 78/170,846 |

NOTICE OF OPPOSITION

In the matter of Trademark Application Serial No. 78/170,846 filed October 3, 2002, for the mark "ULTIMATE POLO" (the "Applicant's Mark") in International Class 025 for sun protective clothing for men, women and children, namely, shirts, published for Opposition in the Official Gazette on August 24, 2004, for which an Extension of Time to File Opposition was granted until December 22, 2004:

Target Brands, Inc. ("Target"), a Minnesota corporation located and doing business at 1000 Nicollet Mall, TPS-3165, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55403, believes that it will be damaged by registration of the Applicant's Mark and hereby opposes the same.

As grounds for opposition, it is alleged that:

1. Since long prior to the filing date of Applicant's application herein opposed, Target has been in the business of selling clothing for men, women, and children and has built a large and profitable business in connection therewith.

2. Target has a real interest in the registration of the Applicant's Mark because such registration would interfere with its right to the lawful descriptive use of the terms and phrase "ULTIMATE POLO" to describe Target's clothing. Attached hereto as Exhibit A are copies of hang tags Target intends to use in connection with its line of polo shirts.

3. Other clothing retailers, such as Macy's, already employ the phrase ULTIMATE POLO to describe their clothing goods. Screen shots printed from a sampling of retailers' Internet web sites depicting descriptive uses of "ultimate polo" is attached hereto as Exhibit B. Such descriptive uses by Target, Macy's and other retailers demonstrate that the phrase ULTIMATE POLO should not be controlled by one person or entity and should remain in the public domain for all to use. If Applicant should receive registration for this descriptive phrase, Target, as well as other retailers, may be precluded from making legitimate, descriptive uses of "ultimate polo" to describe commonly sold polo shirts.

4. The Applicant's Mark, as used in connection with shirts, is not being used by the applicant as a trademark. Rather, it is a merely descriptive phrase, incapable of federal registration.[1] First, the word ULTIMATE is a laudatory term as defined by TMEP § 1209.03(k) ("Laudatory terms, those that attribute quality or excellence to goods or services, are merely descriptive under § 2(e)(1)."). Moreover, ULTIMATE is a merely descriptive term as defined by TMEP § 1209.01(b) ("A mark is considered merely descriptive if it describes an ingredient, quality, characteristic, function, feature, purpose or use of the specified goods or services."). Second, as noted by the Trademark Examining Attorney in an Office Action sent to Applicant on April 2, 2003, the "term 'polo' is generic for a type of shirt. Generic terms cannot acquire distinctiveness as to source and are incapable of identifying the applicant's goods and distinguishing them from those of others." That the term "polo" is generic in nature was the basis for the Trademark Examining Attorney to require the Applicant to expressly disclaim POLO in the application. See Id.

5. Applicant does not even make a trademark use of the phrase ULTIMATE POLO on any of the labels or tags affixed to the polo shirt which Applicant markets as the

[1] Although there are prior registrations of marks that include ULTIMATE, Target respectfully requests that the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board consider the Federal Circuit's finding in In re Nett Designs, that "[t]hese prior registrations do not conclusively rebut the Board's finding that ULTIMATE is descriptive in the context of [THE ULTIMATE BIKE RACK] . . . the PTO's allowance of such prior registrations does not bind the Board or this court." In re Nett Designs Inc., 57 U.S.P.Q.2d 1564, 236 F.3d 1339, 1342 (Fed. Cir. 2001).

ULTIMATE POLO on his web site located at www.sunprecautions.com. See Exhibit C. Copies of the woven label as affixed to the neck of Applicant's polo shirt as well as the informational hang tag attached to the shirt annexed hereto. Rather, Applicant prominently uses his registered SOLUMBRA trademark on both the woven label and the hang tag provided with the polo shirt. The only nominal use Applicant makes of ULTIMATE POLO anywhere on this garment is in small, inconspicuous typeface near the sku printed on the hang tag for apparently inventory purposes. See Id.

6. The following additional facts will help the Trademark Attorney properly assess whether ULTIMATE POLO is being used by applicant as a trademark or, instead, as a merely descriptive term:

a. Definitions of "ultimate" and "polo shirt" from the American Heritage Dictionary of the English Language (4th ed. 2000). See Exhibit D.

b. Nine third-party registrations in International Class 25 in which the word ULTIMATE has been disclaimed. See Exhibit E.

7. If Applicant is granted a registration for Applicant's Mark herein opposed in connection with the goods identified in Applicant's Application, Applicant would thereby obtain at least a prima facie exclusive right to use such mark, which registration would be a source of damage or injury to Target, other retailers, and the consuming public at large.

WHEREFORE, Target prays that Applicant's Application Serial No. 78/170,846 for the mark "ULTIMATE POLO" be rejected in connection with the goods identified therein, that no registration be issued thereon to Applicant, and that this opposition be sustained in favor of Target.

Please charge our Attorneys' Deposit Account No. 501358 for the official filing fee in all classes (1). Any additional fees in connection with this opposition may also be charged to this account, and any overpayment may be credited to this account.

Respectfully submitted,
