1st convert the metric section width to inches (Section width in millimeters) / 25.4 = (Section width in inches)
2nd multiply section width by aspect ration. Section width in inches X (IE. 70%) = Section height
3rd double the section height and add wheel diameter. 2(section height) + wheel diameter = outside diameter of tire

The rotation record must be filled in by the dealer performing the rotation and should indicate date of rotation, the mileage on the vehicle's odometer and store number.

The Importance of Tire Rotation

One of the most important factors affecting overall tire wear and mileage is proper tire rotation at appropriate intervals. As a condition of Big O's Limited Mileage Warranty, it is the responsibility of the tire owner to have their tires rotated consecutively every 5,000 miles from the date of the tire purchase. It is also the responsibility of the owner to provide documentation of each rotation, indicated in writing, on this rotation record document.

Failure on the part of the owner to rotate the r tires at these intervals and to provide written documentation of these rotations will void Big O's Limited Mileage Warranties.

If you have any questions about the owner's responsibilities as they relate to tire rotation, please refer to the Terms and Conditions of Big O's Limited Mileage Warranty or see a Big O Tires salesperson for more details.

How To Calculate Outside Dimension Of A Tire

1st convert the metric section width to inches (Section width in millimeters) / 25.4 = (Section width in inches)

2nd multiply section width by aspect ration. Section width in inches X (IE. 70%) = Section height

3rd double the section height and add wheel diameter. 2(section height) + wheel diameter = outside diarheter of tire or that loss, "we would have seen some growth"—and possibly better financial results.

The recent plant closings point toward a deeper industry-wide problem of overcapacity worldwide, he explained. But Conti is "not short on plant capacity.... The game is: The fittest will survive."

The Mexico plant would have been CTNA's low-cost provider, were it not for the trouble the company ran into there with what Mr. Frangenberg called "special unions" unique to that country. The factory had the same equipment, products and machinery as other Conti facilities, "but lost more in terms of inefficiencies." In the end, union officials never made any concessions, so we had to take the hard way: irrevocable closure. They still didn't believe it, (and thought) we were playing,...but they were wrong. There's no alternative, we can't get out of this market."

All has not always been doom and gloom for CTNA. Not that long ago the company "did experience profits in its passenger and light truck divisions," Mr. Frangenberg said. "But in these crisis years we fell back into the red—and this we have to change."

The catalyst for that change? "New products are the key to success," he stated, "and more flexible, market-oriented factories to provide the products when needed."

Supporting that contention, the company unveiled a flurry of tires at its recent dealer meeting and vowed that new products would be in dealers' hands on time for a change.

Despite its problems, Mr. Frangenberg said he believes he has left the company in better shape than he found it—when its General brand's future was a question mark and its flagship Conti of capacities and increasing prices...will lead to a healing process of the total industry."

At the Hawaii dealer gathering, Conti Executive Board Chairman Manfred Wennemer, who previously headed Continental's ContiTech non-tire group, noted that "the time is over for promises. We are here to deliver—you can count on it."

He echoed Mr. Frangenberg in praising dealers for their continued support and loyalty, then called the retiring executive "a good corporate soldier" and a gentleman with a nice personality with whom it was easy to do business.

"He was instrumental in our improvements in OE and replacement gains in market share," Mr. Wennemer said, "and was responsible for two to three years of profitability."

Yet, he noted that while Mr. Frangenberg dedicated himself to righting a listing corporate ship, "he didn't have time for his hobby."

that he was asked to leave Conti, noting he was retiring of his own choice because his five-year contract had expired. And, frankly, it was time for someone younger—a new generation to take over, he said. His replacement is 43-year-old Ulrich Wellen.

As is often the tradition, an outgoing executive is asked to offer some sage words of wisdom to those who will carry on the torch in his stead. But Mr. Frangenberg was plainly uncomfortable making any "elderly statements or giving advice."

If anything, he admitted he had "mixed feelings" about his departure. "I'd like to see the success and be a part of it because (the company) has not been reinvented overnight. A lot of the ground-breaking work has been laid before.

"But on the other hand, it's a natural age process in corporate life: You have to leave, and it's time for me now."

these tires since wider axles are required and gearing is different than for the smaller dual tires. Retrofitting can be done but is expensive and complicated.

Fleets using these tires predominantly operate locally or regionally rather than long distance. That's because regulations that limit the amount of load a tire can carry per inch of width varies from state to state and prevents the use of these tires by fleets that operate these tires can now travel across the country without encountering a problem at any state's scales.

5. New tire design: The new wide base tires have a flat crown radius that makes them less sensitive to load variations. This is important especially when trailers are running empty. The additional rubber on the road reduces hop that causes irregular wear. Their belt design reduces the stress between the nitely suited for retreading and structurally have nothing that would prevent their being given a second or third life. Their casing life should be similar to traditional dual tires. Any retread system can be used to retread them, although your plant equipment will probably have to be modified to handle these behemoths. It is recommended that fuel-efficient compounds be used on these tires to return them to a thoroughly "like new" condition.

braking and extended brake drum and lining life since the running assembly is better ventilated and stays cooler.

Fleets still have the problem associated with flat tires. When one wide base tire goes flat, the vehicle is down. There's no "limping it in." The size and weight of the tire and wheel assembly is going to make emergency road calls really challenging for servic-

SCRAP TIRE UPDATE

SEC disclosure raises doubts on Tirex

By Miles Moore
Washington reporter

MONTREAL—For several years Tirex Corp. has aggressively publicized its patented cryogenic tire grinding equipment and joint sales and product manufacturing ventures with companies around the world.

Tirex's latest Securities and Exchange Commission filing, however, states flatly that the company is in dire straits, though the company president insists they're not nearly so dire as they appear.

"The lawyers made me say that," John L. Threshie Jr. said of the following statement in Tirex's 10-QSB form filed with the SEC Feb. 15: "The company's uncertainty as to its productivity and its ability to raise sufficient capital raise substantial doubt about the entity's ability to continue as a going concern."

As soon as Tirex gains some capital, Mr. Threshie said, it can proceed with plans to build a commercial plant for its TCS-2 tire grinding system.

According to the 10-QSB, Tirex began its developmental stage with a new business plan in March 1993.

"As of March 2000, the company had developed a production quality prototype of its patented system for the disintegration of scrap tires, but nonetheless continued its research and development efforts to improve the machine's performance and to permit greater flexibility in design for specific customer applications," the document stated.

Montreal-based Tirex had numerous potential clients for the TCS-2 system, successor to the earlier TCS-1 system, from the fiscal year starting July 1, 2000, the SEC filing said.

But as of Dec. 31, 2001, no sale had been completed.

The company had a net loss of $3.1 million for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2001, according to the filing. For the six months ended Dec. 31, 2001, the loss was $925,000.

Time and again when trying to complete a sale, Tirex was faced with potential customers which demanded a guarantee that the TCS-2 system would produce a specified amount of crumb rubber and a refund if the equipment didn't perform as promised, Mr. Threshie said in a letter to shareholders March 8.

"The recycling industry is relatively young, unstable and not clearly defined," he said.

Most potential customers are new to tire recycling and don't appreciate the difficulty in obtaining financing, he added.

Each complete TCS-2 system costs $3 million to $5 million to set up, and this is "a lot of money to put up for new technology without technical or financial guarantees," Mr. Threshie said.

"A full-scale commercial (TCS) system has never been in use and proven in the market over an extended period of time," he said, adding that the quality of the process and the crumb rubber it produces have been proven high in prototype operations.

The company suffered a setback last September when Canada Economic Development for Quebec Regions, a Canadian government agency, seized a $36,600 tax credit Tirex received from the Canada Customs and Revenue Agency.

Tirex had planned to use the tax money toward its commercialization effort, when CEDQR declared the company in default of an earlier loan, according to an SEC 8-K form filed Dec. 12, 2001.

GreenMan to buy Iowa recycling unit

By Miles Moore
Washington reporter

DES MOINES, Iowa—Tire recycling firm GreenMan Technologies Inc. has signed a letter of intent to purchase the Iowa-based scrap tire collection and processing operations of Utah Recyclers Inc. for an undisclosed amount.

Headquartered in Des Moines, the Iowa operations of UT handle more than 2 million tires annually, according to a GreenMan press release.

GreenMan expects the deal to close in April. It will operate the Des Moines plant as GreenMan Technologies of Iowa Inc., according to GreenMan CFO Chuck Coppa. Most of the Iowa facility's business is in tire-derived fuel, although it also has some contracts for crumb rubber, he said.

UT and GreenMan—which has long had operations in nearby Minnesota—have worked together the past few years on remediation of Iowa's worst illegal tire dumps, according to Mr. Coppa.

"Between us we've cleared more than 7 million tires there, so we got to know each other pretty well," he said. "We knew that UT wanted to focus more on its operations in Utah, and we have great synergy in Iowa, so we decided to approach them about buying those operations."

Based in Lynnhaven, Mass., GreenMan is one of the most expansion-minded tire recyclers in the U.S. On March 1 it opened Able Tire of Oklahoma L.L.C., a joint venture with Able Tire Co. L.L.C. of Burleson, Texas, to collect and market whole tires to cement kilns in Oklahoma. Within the last year or so it also has acquired tire recycling operations in Wisconsin and Tennessee.

GreenMan's main business is tire chips for tire-derived fuel, and it has approximately 100 employees at plants in Georgia, Minnesota, South Carolina and elsewhere. It posted earnings of $77,000 on sales of $5.8 million in the fiscal year ended June 30, 2001.

Thousands of scrap tires ignite at N.Y. dump

By Vera Fedchenko
Tire Business staff

WATERFORD, N.Y.—One of New York state's largest scrap tire piles caught fire March 9.

About 750,000 tires from a dump containing an estimated 8 million tires became engulfed by flames at 8:15 p.m. and produced thick, black smoke that coated nearby homes, said Lt. Thomas Japour of the Waterford Police Department. Hundreds of firefighters helped extinguish much of the fire by March 12, though the pile was still smoldering as of that date.

The cause of the fire, which occurred at the Mohawk Tire Storage Facility in Waterford, is still being investigated. The state Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) is assessing the environmental impact of run-off created by the fire, a DEC spokeswoman said. Teams from the DEC created dams to prevent the run-off from heading into the nearby Hudson River, she said, and also vacuumed and treated some creek water. The DEC is monitoring the site and is awaiting test results of samples taken from the river.

Mohawk Tire Storage Facility, owned by Vincent and Kathryn Williamson, has accepted scrap tires for shredding and disposal since the early 1960s, the DEC spokeswoman said.

At one time, the site also operated a small retreading business and accumulated an estimated 12 million to 14 million tires.

"We've had a long history with this site," the spokeswoman said.

Since 1988—when New York adopted regulations for waste tire storage—Mohawk Tire Storage was required to get a permit for its tires and remediate the site. The firm's failure to comply caused the state to assume responsibility for the site. New York spent $2.3 million in 1999 to remove more than 2 million tires, create fire lanes, install water lines and hydrants and put up fencing, according to the spokeswoman.

The Williamsons have not yet been cited, but they already have pending litigation brought against them by the state attorney general's office, she said.

Thrashers finally end losing ways

Atlanta knocks off Florida and it ends up breaking a 19-game winless streak

ASSOCIATED PRESS

SUNRISE, Fla. — The Atlanta Thrashers didn't want to enter a four-day break with a winless streak hanging over their heads.

Frantisek Kaberle and Tony Hrkac each scored third-period goals as the Atlanta Thrashers snapped a 19-game winless streak by beating the Florida Panthers 3-1 Saturday night.

The Thrashers, who started the season 0-8-1-1, won for the first time since March 23 of last season against Ottawa. Their next game is Thursday at Chicago.

"You can't believe the pressure that was on these guys in the locker room," Atlanta coach Curt Fraser said. "They wanted to win. Our guys wanted to get out of this."

Atlanta's Pasi Nurminen made 21 saves for his first win in three starts (1-1-1).

"You always feel good when you play well and your team wins," Nurminen said. "Anytime you only face 22 shots, that's not much. You can win with that. Hopefully, this will get us going."

Atlanta took a 2-1 lead 43 seconds into the third period. Kristian Huselius tried to clear the puck from in front of the crease but bumped Valeri Bure into Florida goalie Roberto Luongo. With Luongo out of position, Tony Hrkac slid the puck in from the right side.

The win could take some pressure off Fraser, who's been under fire for the team's poor play.

"Our guys have seen how they need to play and what they need to do to be successful," Fraser said. "I believe now they will really start believing in each other."

Canucks 4, Wild 2

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Todd Bertuzzi had a goal and two assists in Vancouver's victory over Minnesota.

Bertuzzi scored the first of three goals in a 1:08 span of the first period as the Canucks handed the Wild just their second loss in 12 games (8-2-2) this season.

Penguins 5, Lightning 3

PITTSBURGH — Mario Lemieux scored one goal and set up three others, and Kent Manderville broke a tie with 2:30 to play as Pittsburgh beat Tampa Bay.

Tampa Bay's Martin St. Louis scored goals 7:57 apart in the third period to tie it with 4 minutes left. But Manderville scored his first goal of the season 30 seconds later, and Lemieux added an empty-net goal to stretch his scoring streak to 10 games.

Canadiens 5, Maple Leafs 2

TORONTO — Oleg Petrov and Richard Zednik each scored twice to lead Montreal to its first victory at the Air Canada Center.

Jeff Hackett made 28 saves for the Canadiens, who last won in Toronto on Dec. 28, 1992, the final game between the Original Six rivals at Maple Leaf Gardens.

Blues 6, Islanders 1

UNIONDALE, N.Y. — Scott Mellanby and Cory Stillman each had a goal and an assist as St. Louis won its seventh straight game, spoiling the return of Islanders captain Michael Peca.

Fred Brathwaite made 19 saves, and Dallas Drake, Marlin Rucinsky, rookie Eric Boguniecki and Bryce Salvador also scored for St. Louis, which got three assists from Pavol Demitra.

Bruins 3, Rangers 2

BOSTON — Brian Rafalski scored on a deflected shot with 38.8 seconds left as Boston rallied from a two-goal deficit.

Senators 5, Red Wings 2

OTTAWA — Magnus Arvedson, Brad Smyth, Shaun Van Allen and Todd White scored their first goals of the season for Ottawa.

Pete Schaefery added his fourth of the season, and Patrick Lalime made 20 saves as Ottawa ended a four-game winless streak.

Flyers 2, Capitals 1

PHILADELPHIA — Dennis Seidenberg and Keith Primeau scored goals in Philadelphia's fifth straight victory.

Devils 5, Blackhawks 1

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — Jamie Langenbrunner got New Jersey going with a goal 10 seconds into the game and added another score in the first period, helping the Devils beat Chicago.

Avalanche 4, Flames 4

CALGARY, Alberta — Martin Gelinas scored twice, including the tying goal, as Calgary tied Colorado.

Kings 5, Predators 5 (OT)

LOS ANGELES — Jaroslav Modry scored his second goal of the game on a power play with 3:15 left in overtime to give Los Angeles a victory over Nashville.

SHARKS AT DUCKS

WHERE: Arrowhead Pond of Anaheim
TIME: 5 p.m.
TV/RADIO: FSN/98.5 FM
SHARKS NOTES: Despite a three-game winless streak, the Sharks (5-6-0-1) can finish their six game road trip with a winning record with a victory in Anaheim. The Sharks are 8-1-0 against the Ducks since trading Steve Shields, Jeff Friesen and a third-round pick (or RW Teemu) Selanne trade on March 5, 2001. The Sharks have won four straight games at the Pond. Selanne has 19 points in 17 career games against his former club. He recorded a hat trick on March 29, 2001, in his first game against Anaheim after being traded to the Sharks.

DUCKS NOTES: LW Paul Kariya has 46 points in 39 games against the Sharks, and he is coming off a three goal, one assist effort in which the Ducks (3-4-0-3) ended Boston's eight-game unbeaten streak, 4-1. Luckily for the Sharks, newly acquired C Adam Oates is out after breaking his hand against Vancouver on Oct. 24. The 18-year veteran spent most of his career in the Eastern Conference and has 35 points in 20 games against San Jose.

BOOK REVIEW

Study of NBA's black pioneers

■ Ron Thomas' book must-reading for many

By Dave Newhouse
STAFF WRITER

Pioneers in sports have a fleeting impact, really.

How many athletes today know that Abner Doubleday was credited with inventing baseball? Or that Dr. James Naismith with basketball?

And there are young African Americans in baseball who haven't heard of Jackie Robinson. A sense of history is what current athletes are most lacking.

Therefore the NBA should make Ron Thomas' marvelous book "They Cleared The Lane: The NBA's Black Pioneers" required reading for its players.

Thomas, a longtime Bay Area sportswriter now working at the San Francisco Examiner, spent 16 years researching and writing this book, starting with his days covering the NBA. He doggedly pursued this project through 36 publishing rejections before University of Nebraska Press gave it life.

Thomas traveled the country to interview the NBA's black pioneers, including Harold Lloyd, the first black to play in an NBA game, and Harold Hunter, the first to sign an NBA contract.

Chuck Cooper, the NBA's first drafted black player in 1950, died before Thomas had a chance to speak with him. But the author did interview Berkeley native Don Barksdale, the first black to play in an NBA All-Star Game, before Barksdale's death.

One interesting segment deals with the Harlem Globetrotters and their relationship with the NBA. The league began in 1946 as the Basketball Association of America, struggled mightily in its infancy, and profited mostly when the Globetrotters were part of NBA doubleheaders.

The frosty then was the Globetrotters kept NBA alive, yet blacks weren't permitted to play for NBA teams. Still, the Trotters would take on the NBA champion, usually the Minneapolis Lakers, and beat them more often than not playing straight basketball.

Thus Trotters owner Abe Saperstein, a good Samaritan to the NBA, was incensed when one of his best players, Nat "Sweetwater" Clifton, signed with the New York Knicks. Saperstein vowed revenge against the NBA, but eventually things smoothed out, and the two entities learned to co-exist.

Al Attles of the Golden State Warriors also was interviewed by Thomas along with Red Auerbach, who drafted Cooper for the Boston Celtics. It's a great, educational and a must read for NBA players, who are 80 percent black, or those who enjoy interesting pioneer stories.

NYC chosen as sentimental favorite

there won't be a wait 'til next year. San Francisco doesn't automatically get back in line for 2016, because New York still might be the USOC's reload choice if it is rejected for 2012. In short, instead of a one-decade wait, it could be 20 or 30 years before the Bay Area is even in this position again to possibly host an Olympics.

"I still feel like it's a matter of when, not if," said Ted Murphy, a two-time Olympic rower from San Francisco. "But it's still a tremendous shock. Your heart drops. So much work went into this."

Murphy and Hines were among several past and present Olympians who gathered along with about 400 organizers and onlookers inside the San Francisco City Hall rotunda Saturday to watch a live closed-circuit feed of the official USOC announcement in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Anticipation and optimism were high among local dignitaries that San Francisco would be the choice. Although a close vote was expected between the two high-powered bids, the Bay Area Sports Organizing Committee felt it had convinced USOC voters it had several things going for it over New York — better weather, built-in venues, security and logistics advantages, a more conservative but realistic economic package, and a bid to at least 20 years away because of the economic and telecommunication disadvantages on those continents. From there, then, it becomes a logical pecking-order process: Europe has the Summer Games in 2004 (Athens) and Asia has them in 2008 (Beijing). That would make North America most logical for 2012, even if the 2010 Winter Games are awarded to Vancouver.

It will be tough for Bay Areans to understand just what they lost Saturday. Economic impact to the region was forecast to be around $7.5 billion, but most will just shrug at such estimates. Win or lose, a bid 10 years down the road that won't be officially determined for three more years ... bottom line, it's simply too tough to get very emotional about it.

But there have been many people who've been working on San Francisco's bid for the better part of the past decade, and they were devastated Saturday. They deserved a better fate for all their hard work and planning.

And no question, it should be a blow to regional pride. The Bay Area surely seems like an ideal Olympics location. But New York? C'mon, hardly sounds right. Honestly now, where can you stage a rowing competition in Manhattan?

But most observers feel such

Colfax-GS: Lowry leads Falcons' JV to win

The way the Falcons' senior-led defense was playing all night, a Colfax victory seemed inevitable. The unit didn't allow a non-penalty first down until late in the second quarter.

"Our defense is nails," Martello said. "We have a young coaching staff that has a lot of energy, and the kids absorb that energy and get fueled by it."

The Grizzlies scored on Dustin Holben's 63-yard interception return for a touchdown near the end of the first quarter. They followed that up with a fake-PAT conversion pass from holder Mike Sokol's pass to Devyn Teurman, cutting Colfax's lead to 14-8.

After Rafter's recovery of McCoy's fumble, Tatascore's 16-yard bullet pass to well-covered, 6-foot-5 tight end Kevin Matthews made it a 21-15 game.

But Tatascore and Co. didn't get the ball back until Colfax had added 14 more points. Early in the third quarter, the Grizzlies faced a quick fourth down deep in their own territory.

Matthews' punt was blocked by a host of Colfax defenders including Covich. The linebacker recovered it in the end zone and tacked on the PAT for a 42-15 lead.

Matthews got off his next punt, which Hamm returned for an apparent touchdown. It was nullified by a holding penalty. But the speedy junior would get another chance.

After Matthews recovered a Colfax fumble, he was soon punting from his own 30. Hamm took it and raced up the left sideline, getting a few good blocks but mostly using his speed to outrun the not-that slow Grizzlies.

Hamm admitted he wasn't this fast last year as a JV running back, but said intense conditioning, plyometrics and a season of varsity track and field got him ready for speed of the varsity level.

Tatascore hopes his team gets a win against Mesa Verde at San Juan on Thursday night.

"Colfax and Golden Sierra have always played each other hard," he said. "If we had a running game, they would have had to respect our passing game more."

Colfax's JV rolled 32-6. Chas Lowry rushed for 148 yards on 13 carries, including TD runs of 45 and 28 yards. Garrett Mayo was 6-of-11 passing for 110 yards, with a 17-yard TD pass to Chris Ballenger. Eric Snyder ran 35 yards and Grant Fowler seven yards for other scores. Brandon Piselli had six solo tackles. James Shelton five on defense.

BR: Running game eats up last 11 minutes

JEFF MCPHEE/GOLD COUNTRY NEWS SERVICE

Woodcreek quarterback Brandon Smith, right, was held to 14-of-31 passing by Bear River.

Brandon Smith completing 14 of 31 passes for 118 yards. But Smith could only get the Timberwolves in the end zone once.

"They are a big, physical team with speed, so they scared us," said Bear River coach Scott Savoie, who took over this year from long-time coach Terry Logue.

Woodcreek's only score came on an 83-yard drive in 12 plays, with Smith completing five passes. The touchdown came on a 10-yard pass to Brad Allen, cutting the lead to 14-7 with 11.20 left in the game.

But Bear River would own the ball for much of the final 11 minutes in sealing the victory. They used the running of Cody Yeager (109 yards, 18 carries) and Jeff Duran, who got the tough yards and finished with 51 on 12 carries. Yeager also had a 100-yard game last week.

The accurate passing of Josh Rumsey was also a key. The junior completed 10 of 16 for 113 yards in helping the Bruins move to 2-0 this season. Lanky 6-foot-5 wideout Bryan Hart was his favorite target, catching six passes for 90 yards as the Bruins outgained Woodcreek 254 to 179 in total offense.

"I thought we got a little conservative in (a scoreless) second half," Savoie said. "Give their defense some credit, we couldn't move the ball when it counted."

But clinging to a touchdown lead with 4:54 left, the Bruins ran off 12 plays and ate up most of the clock, not giving up the ball on downs until there were just 15.6 seconds left. Woodcreek got close to midfield, but a final desperation pass was knocked down and the win preserved.

"We were pleased with our defense again, but we still need to cut down on mistakes and move the ball better on offense," Mazzuca said.

Mistakes proved costly again for the Timberwolves, who had also had special teams to blame in a season-opening loss at Colfax. Poor punt-team execution led to both Bear River touchdowns in the opening half.

"The punch happened at the beginning for Bear River," Mazzuca said. "Bear River has always been very good at delivering a punch when they need it."

Following a bobbled snap on a punt, the Bruins got the ball at the Woodcreek 4. Two plays later, Dusty Tabellija went over for the two-yard score, giving the Bruins a 7-0 lead midway through the first quarter.

"That was big, we knew we needed to jump on them early," Rumsey said.

A short punt set up the second Bear River score. The Bruins went from midfield to the Woodcreek 2. Gambling on four down, fullback Duran powered off the left side for a one-yard score as the Bruins went ahead 14-0 with 3:33 left.

A sputtering offense finally got going late in the half for Woodcreek. Smith completed five of eight passes, getting the Timberwolves to the Bruin 4. But his second-down pass was intercepted by Wil Thomas in the end zone with 21 seconds left.

Bear River's JV won 17-14. Anthony Welz kicked an 18-yard field goal with six seconds left to lift the Bruins (1-1), who had been shut out by Center in their season opener.

Sierra: Sheppard, Condensa starring in golf

The Wolverines' defense bent, allowing 235 yards through the air on 25-of-35 passing and another 124 yards to the Eagles' top rusher, but didn't break after their team trailed 14-9 at halftime.

Sierra visits Gavilan for a 7 p.m. game Saturday in Gilroy.

Mt. SAC Women's Golf 304, Sierra 360 at Roseville — Despite shooting their second-best round of the season, the Lady Wolverines were no match for a veteran Mt. San Antonio College squad that carded a 74, 75, 77, 78 and thrown-out 79 at Sun City on Friday.

Scoring for Sierra were Oakmont product Courtney Randall (80), Placer High grad Cirbie Sheppard (83), Del Oro product Amy Condensa (94) and Kristin Partridge (103).

On Thursday, the Lady Wolverines notched a season-best score in a 356-420 rout of American River at Sun City.

Randall (80), Sheppard (87), Condensa (88) and Michelle Bizeau (101) scored for Sierra, which improved to 3-2 in Bay Valley Conference play and 3-3 overall.

Sierra competes in the CSU-Monterey Bay Tournament this Monday and Tuesday.

Del Oro: Defense forces Titans to opt for air

Burbank's rushers with 42 yards on 17 carries.

"I thought our inside guys, Gabe Chandler, Drew Yocum and Tom Callan, did a great job," Taylor said of his linebacking corps. "And our outside guys, Mike Sjolie and David Donnelly, forced Kalavi into things he didn't want to do."

"I really think our defense did a good job to confuse them. They wanted to run, but we forced them to throw."

Kalavi's targets were limited when he did have time to get off passes.

"They had a couple of good weapons, and we shut down their other options," Chandler said. "It was all about closing in and forcing him (Kalavi) to make plays. The one thing with the triple-option is that it either works real well or it doesn't work at all."

Mental mistakes and miscues on the Titans' part did not help their cause. Burbank amassed almost 200 yards in penalties, some being personal fouls. Even the Titans' coaching staff received a penalty.

Besides the infractions, it was the fact that the Titans' line play on both sides of the ball had trouble getting going.

"Our line play was horrible tonight," Burbank coach Steve Hammer said. "If our line doesn't do its job, the passing game and the running game are going to be bad."

This was evident to the trio who took advantage of Burbank's woes.

"You could tell that they weren't as well disciplined as us, and in the weight room and conditioning," Gonzalez said. "Our line did a great job. They never gave up."

Late in the fourth quarter, the Titans got their last score of the game when there was a blown coverage in the secondary, which allowed Kalavi to find Nate Her for a 25-yard TD pass.

"We played well, but I'm not happy with where we're at," Taylor said. "We've got to have a good week of practice. As my first win as a varsity coach, this will be one I'll never forget. But we need to get better when we (visit) Bear River next week."

In the second half, after a stalled Burbank drive, Gildone capped a drive from three yards and also ran in the conversion to make it 28-7. His touchdown was set up by a trick play where Quinn pitched the ball to T.J. Dowd, who in turn hooked up with Bryan Ryerson-Bisig for a 56-yard pass that got the Eagles deep into Burbank territory.

The Titans cut it to 28-14 late in the fourth quarter when Kalavi found Nate Her for a 25-yard TD pass. But Gildone's TD with 6:39 to go put the game out of reach.

Del Oro's JV won 32-12, improving to 1-1.

Placer: JV runs Rams into ground with rout

like last week (in a 29-14 loss to Ponderosa). We know we are a good team, but without a win, it doesn't matter as much."

With a large number of seniors playing both ways, the Hillmen had to battle temperatures exceeding 100 degrees along with Casa Roble's quick strike offense.

"I think this group needs to be pushed like that to find out how tough they are," Sabins said. "When a lot of guys are playing both ways, they really have to suck it up. They battled and battled and I am proud of our kids."

The Rams opened the scoring with a 48-yard slant to Swiryn with 4:52 left in the first quarter. Despite having only three first-half first downs, the Rams trailed only by two points, 16-14. A 38-yard run by Ronnie Sylvia set up another touchdown pass to Swiryn. Three of Swiryn's first four catches resulted in touchdowns and he finished the afternoon with six receptions for 111 yards.

Throughout the first half, Placer pounded the ball on the ground effectively, mostly by giving the ball to Gagnon. The senior had 97 yards before the intermission, scoring on blasts of one and three yards.

While Gagnon was slowed slightly in the second half, Rojas picked up the slack with 79 yards rushing after the break. Chris Lim also broke off a big run, sprinting 73 yards to the Rams' 2-yard line only to have the play nullified by a holding call. The Hillmen never got past the Casa Roble 30 after that, and their lead slipped away.

"The turnovers got us again," added Sabins, whose program lost its ninth straight game. "We are getting better, but we have to get out of that rut and tighten things up."

The loss also put a damper on a solid effort by junior quarterback Steve Knapp. Knapp connected with five different receivers and nine of his 12 completions resulted in Placer first downs. David Miles again led the Hillmen's receiving corps with four catches for 82 yards. Tight end Jake Geitz added three catches for 45 yards and Lim accounted for 41 yards and one touchdown on two catches.

Placer will look to remain balanced on offense this Friday night at home against Center, the team it beat for its only win in 2001, but will likely focus on defense during the week's practices to cut down on the big plays.

"We are improving every week, going back to summer practices," Sabins said, "and we'll get better."

Placer's JV squad improved to 2-0 with a 33-0 rout, recording five rushing touchdowns.

Chris Foreman scored twice in the first half before his twin, Mike Foreman and Scott Doke, and Danny Patterson added rushing touchdowns after the intermission.

The JV Hillmen controlled the line of scrimmage throughout the game and the defense punished the Rams with some hard hitting.

"This is a very talented ball club," Placer JV coach Steve Myers said. "This group is very gifted and we are excited."

The Big O Tires Story

From humble beginnings, an industry leader is born:

Big O Tires grew out of a tire-buying cooperative, founded in 1962 to supply tires to independent tire dealers. They banded together to compete against tire manufacturers' company stores and big retail chains.

Americans fell in love with their cars in the 1950s. Sales of automobiles and auto-related products such as tires rose dramatically. Progressive independent tire dealers like the founding fathers of Big O Tires, saw the handwriting on the wall. They needed to grow and change to serve a new kind of market.

The tire-buying cooperative quickly evolved into the Big O Tires store franchise organization. It has grown to more than 540 stores in 21 states and Canada. The stores are independently owned and operated by members of the communities in which they are located.

In July 1996, Big O Tires was bought by TBC Corporation, one of the largest sellers of tires in the world. TBC and Big O Tires continue to be focused on our customers and offering the best quality, name brand tires, wheels, accessories and automotive service we can give.

In September 2005, TBC Corporation was purchased by Sumitomo Corporation of America, which is the largest whollyowned subsidiary of Tokyo based Sumitomo, one of the world's leading traders of goods and services.

Big O Tires devotes itself every day, in every store, to earning the right to use our motto... Big O Tires - A Reputation You Can Ride On.

Understanding The FRANCHISE 500

This is the 20th Entrepreneur Franchise 500, a ranking we've been the first to publish and the most comprehensive in the industry. Though we've since noticed a smattering of imitators, Entrepreneur's Franchise 500 is still the best and most comprehensive ranking of franchises in the world. Over the years we've polished and perfected our ranking procedure, giving us a formula that accurately identifies today's top franchise opportunities for you.

This year, only franchise companies that submitted complete UFOCs (Uniform Franchise Offering Circulars or UFOCs in Alberta, Canada, disclosure document and other information Entrepreneur verified from the disclosure documents) are eligible to be ranked. Surviving on the top 500 franchises whose questionnaires were verified by Entrepreneur are listed, in order of their ratings, in the shaded areas of the listing. If a company qualified for a ranking within the top 500, its position is listed to the left of its name. Companies that submitted unverifiable data are listed alphabetically beneath those that were verified.

In our ranking, we consider numerous factors, some of which are weighed more heavily than others. The most important ones include financial strength and stability, growth rate and size of the system. We also consider the number of years a company has been in business, the length of time it's been franchising, start-up costs, litigation history, percentage of franchisee terminations and whether the company provides financing. Financial factors are verified by an independent CPA firm.

These factors are objective, quantifiable measures of a franchise operation. We do not measure other less obvious factors such as franchisee satisfaction or management style since these are judgments only you can make based on your own needs and experiences. All companies, regardless of size, are judged by the same criteria.

The remaining information is basically self explanatory. "Where Registered" shows in which of the 13 states (CA, HI, IL, IN, MD, MI, MN, ND, NY, RI, SD, VA, WA and WI) where franchises are required by law to register before they can sell franchises, a franchise company is either registered or planning to register this year. "Available U.S. Regions" and "Seeking Foreign" show what area franchisors are planning to expand to.

The franchisors' growth over the past three years is shown by the number of both franchised and company-owned units for 1996, 1997 and 1998. Another key column lists the total start-up costs necessary to open the franchise (including the initial franchise fee). This figure is affected by real estate and construction costs in different locations, location type, if licenses and bonds often vary. Do not confuse the initial franchise fee, which is listed separately, as well. Additional costs such as royalty fees usually expressed as a percentage of monthly gross sales, are also listed separately.

Some companies provide financing of their franchise fees or their total start-up costs, or even offer equipment or license options for franchisees. The "Type of Financing" category details the kind of financing provided by each franchise company. We've also noted whether the franchise can be operated from home and which companies are seeking multiple units only.

Remember that the Franchise 500 is not intended to endorse, advertise or recommend any particular franchise(s). It is solely a research tool you can use to compare franchise operations. Entrepreneur stresses that you should always conduct your own independent investigation before you invest money in a franchise. Read the UFOC and related materials carefully, get help from an attorney and CPA in reviewing any legal documents, talk to as many existing franchisees as possible and visit the outlets. The best way to protect yourself is to do your homework.

Research compiled by Maria Anton and Lisa Bates with assistance from Lauren Abdel and Marsden Pond. Financial analysis by Donald P. Danko, CPA.

The Top 200: Franchising's heavy hitters

Once again, McDonald's takes the top spot in Franchise Time's annual Top 200 ranking of the top franchise systems in the world. Anyone surprised? The company generated $38 billion in 1999 revenue in over 26,000 world-wide units. That's a lot of quarter pounders.

What is the Franchise Times Top 200? FT's Top 200 ranking is based solely on two quantitative factors: the financial size of the system (i.e. system-wide sales) and the number of operating units. Strength in numbers as they say.

A quick read through of this year's Top 200 franchises will make one think only food and hotel rooms are franchised. Seven of the top 10 are food concepts, and although the top 10 has only one hotel chain—Marriott—the others are scattered prominently throughout the listing.

Last year's contention that Americans had more money than time, which was reflected in the amount of money we're willing to spend on restaurant food, is once again obvious. There are more than 70 franchises that feed us in the Top 200 and only one that wants to help us lose excess pounds (Jenny Craig Weight Loss Centres, No. 108). Who said Americans are obsessed with their weight?

7-Eleven conveniently took second place in our survey for both systemwide sales ($27 billion) and number of units (19,478). Part of the reason may be that 7-Eleven has grown from 17,798 units in 1998 to 19,478 a year later.

The No. 3 whopper-sized chain, Burger King, reported sales of $11.3 billion for 10,850 units. Tricon's three concepts made the top 10: KFC (No. 4), Pizza Hut (No. 5) and Taco Bell (No. 9).

For years, pundits have been predicting that franchising's sales will top $1 trillion by the end of 2000. But, while it appears that number will grow even higher in the next decade, it is noteworthy that the Top 200 franchise systems generated $270.2 billion in system-wide sales in 1999. And, the top ten franchise systems generated almost half of that volume. Talk about size and influence.

And, with a strong economy booming out there, we think it's safe to predict that franchise sales will be even higher next year when we rank the 2001 Top 200. So much for going out on a limb.

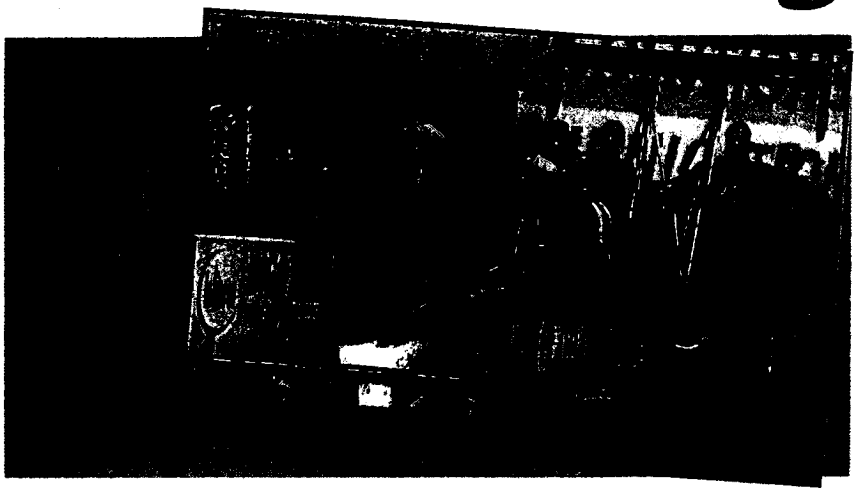
Tire Business Motorsports Update

Life's a real drag



Big O dealer living a dream as owner of a racing team

By Vera Fedchenko

Tire Business staff

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—A lifetime motorsports afficionado, Big O Tires Inc. dealer Bill Windham is living a lifetime dream of owning a race team with the potential to contend for a championship.

Mr. Windham and fellow Big O franchisee Greg Mitchell bought a world-record-holding A-Fuel Dragster operation in May and have been competing in National Hot Rod Association (NHRA) races this season. The two acquired Mitch Myer's car, which holds an elapsed time record of 5.10 seconds for a quarter mile driven at 279 mph and won the 2004 A-Fuel championship.

"It's a dream come true," Mr. Windham said. "I mean this is something I've thought about for a number of years."

For Mr. Windham, the 2005 NHRA season is merely a warm-up to contending for the 2006 championship, and he and his crew are busy putting the needed elements together. Already, Mr. Windham's team qualified at second fastest at its national event debut at the Autolite Nationals at Infineon Raceway in Sonoma, Calif. The car experienced a mechanical problem in the first round, but the team did win a trophy for best appearing crew out of four or five other teams, Mr. Windham said.

See Big O*, page 16*

Big O dealer's race dream takes wing

"We've got a really good crew," he told Tire Business. "It's a great car. We're making changes to it. We've done some updates to the car itself. We had to do a chassis update and all that. We're changing some things in the motor, but it's a strong contender."

His dreams don't stop there. Eventually, Mr. Windham said he and Mr. Mitchell hope to "graduate" to the Top Fuel category by 2007. Top Fuel racing involves running cars with superchargers to get higher horsepower and speed, Mr. Windham explained. Currently in the A-Fuel class, Mr. Windham's car drives with injected nitro fuel—the same as Top Fuel cars—but without a supercharger.

Joe Windham, Mr. Windham's brother, drives the A-Fuel dragster, though Mr. Windham said that if the team expands into multi-car racing then he definitely will share in the driving chores as well.

Big O has partnered with the two men and is the primary sponsor of the team for the 2005/2006 season, the first time the subsidiary of TBC Corp. has joined with a franchisee in a race sponsorship, according to a Big O spokesman. Messrs. Windham and Mitchell also are seeking associate sponsorships from vendors and suppliers as well, since the cost of running an A-Fuel dragster operation is approximately $400,000-$500,000 per year.

"When you get into Top Fuel, it's over $1 million a year," Mr. Windham explained. "When you start moving into nitro-methane for fuel, a lot of times you're going to damage one of the engine's parts. You've got to have more spare parts, more equipment. We're running with seven crew members, and you got a lot of traveling expenses."

The car—which races on Goodyear Eagles—is painted in the company's red, black and white colors and logo, giving Big O further exposure in many of the markets where it operates stores. "I know the dealers in northern California are pretty excited about this car. They feel like it's their car as well," he said.

Store customers also have taken notice of the car at NHRA races and have approached the team for autographs at the Hot August Nights car show in Reno, Nev., where they were displaying the car, he said.

"We have a strong customer base in northern California, and they were definitely excited about the car," Mr. Windham noted. "Just walking through the crowd in our uniforms, people were yelling, 'Hey Big O!' There was just a lot of excitement. Our customers are really getting behind us."

Messrs. Mitchell and Windham, together with Big O, are looking at ways to market their NHRA involvement through selling T-shirts, promoting giveaways, advertising and displaying the car in Big O stores.

Mr. Windham, who operates 10 Big O franchises in the Sacramento and East San Francisco Bay area, started racing locally soon after high school and moved into the NHRA's Super Gas class in the early to mid-1980s. He said his first car was a 1965 Pontiac GTO, which he bought at age 17 and turned into a drag racer after much "tinkering" on his part.

"My passion is with drag racing and NHRA, although I like many forms of motorsports," Mr. Windham said. "I've got dirt bikes, and I like a lot of different motorsports."

He left the sport for a time, then came back to crew chief for a team running a 1968 Chevy Camaro supercharged on methanol and for a supercharged 1970 Chevelle after that.

With a strong desire to own a team, Mr. Windham partnered with Mr. Mitchell, a longtime friend and Big O dealer who operates seven franchises in northern California and who had worked for one of Mr. Windham's crews. Mr. Mitchell said the two talked about owning a team for some time, and when the opportunity came up Mr. Windham didn't have to twist his arm to say yes to acquiring Mitch Myer's team.

Messrs. Mitchell and Windham have been Big O franchise owners for 13 and seven years, respectively. NHRA racing takes them away from their businesses on weekends, but Mr. Windham said laptop computers and e-mail help them to keep up with their businesses while on the road, and many of their track duties are divided up among the crew members.

Both men share responsibilities in the business, promotional and maintenance aspects of their race car and are equally passionate about winning a championship.

Mr. Mitchell admitted he had never dreamed of owning a racing team as Mr. Windham did, though he said he sometimes lives vicariously through his friend.

"I honestly never really dreamed of it, but now I don't know why I didn't because it's so exciting," he said. "It's fun. I'm having a blast."

TIA taps Affleck, Anderson for Hall of Fame

BOWIE, Md.—The Tire Industry Association (TIA) has named Norman Affleck, retired president and CEO of Big O Tires Inc., and Craig Anderson, retired president and CEO of Hercules Tire & Rubber Co., to its Tire Industry Hall of Fame.

Affleck

The association also has selected six individuals as historical contributors and recognized a financial analyst as TIA's 2007 Friend of the Industry recipient.

Mr. Affleck was a founding member of Big O and its first president, a position he held for 25 years. Under his management, he recruited many dealers, helped Big O become a leader in retreading, developed a unique warranty and instituted the private brand concept.

Anderson

The company introduced the Big O brand in 1974, a milestone that helped it attract and secure customers, TIA said. Big O now is owned by TBC Corp.

Mr. Anderson joined Hercules in 1976 as vice president of marketing and became chief operations officer in 1981. Under his leadership, Hercules began sourcing tires from Asia in 1979, launched the Tire Dealers Warehouse distribution program in 1987 and acquired Cedco Engineering in 1988 to make Hercules a full-line supplier of equipment and rubber to the retreading industry.

The company also acquired a Mohawk Rubber tread rubber plant from Yokohama Tire Corp. in 1995 and bought Electra Group International of Canada in 1998, which was turned into Hercules Tire Co. of Canada Inc.

Hercules grew during Mr. Anderson's watch to $380 million in sales in 2005 from $56 million in 1976. He became the company's CEO in 2005 when it was acquired by private equity firm FdG Associates L.L.C. Hercules' locations numbered 12 by his retirement, which also occurred in 2005.

The assets of the Cedco and Mohawk acquisitions later were sold to Cooper Tire & Rubber Co.

TIA also selected additional inductees from four companies as "historical contributors." They are indi-

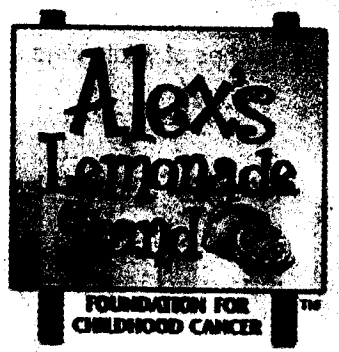
Big O Tires to raise money for children's cancer research

Big O Tires and its over 550 stores, located in 21 states, are partnering with the Alex's Lemonade Stand Foundation to help raise funds for pediatric cancer research.



During the month of July, all Big O Tires stores will provide information to customers about the Alex's Lemonade Stand Foundation. The foundation was started by a young girl named Alexander "Alex" Scott at age four, who while suffering from neuroblastoma, a form of aggressive childhood cancer, began raising funds for research with her own lemonade stand. Expanding Access to New Agents for Cancer Treatment for Kids

Alex's Lemonade Stand Foundation presented Dr. Lia Gore, an oncologist at Denver's Children's Hospital, with a $100,000 grant to support her study: Expanding Access to New Agents for Cancer Treatment. The goal of Dr. Gore's study focuses on improving the chance of a cure and the overall quality of life for all children with cancer by using therapies that are less toxic and more targeted.

How is this grant making a difference?

"Funding from Alex's Lemonade Stand, has allowed us to treat more kids and bring more hope

A Boy's Best Friend

by: Tim Laskowski, Alex's Lemonade Stand Volunteer

August 1, 2004 was a day that many of us will never forget. It was the day that Alex Scott passed away. But more than that, August 1, 2004, was an eye opening experience for many of us who knew so very little about pediatric belief that any amount brought in helps to find a cure for cancer. As adults we look at the big picture, i.e. raising millions because we know that's what its going to take, but the kids look at a nickel or their piggy banks just as much.

I thought about rewards for the class who raised the most, but thought again that this was not about rewarding in a way like that but rather the rewards one gets for doing something good and worthwhile. I believe that not only my class felt good about what they did, but the whole school was proud. And proud they were when we tallied up the final amount and found out that not only did each class collect at least $25.00, many classes doubled that amount and in the end Boonville Elementary raised $733.45!

We hope that other schools will follow our example and incorporate Alex's mini-stands into their fundraising. Make your own stand at: www.alexslemonade.org/mini_stand.php

Big O Tires and Gunther Toody's Come Together for a Cure

Big O Tires sponsored a fund-raising drive for Alex's Lemonade Stand Foundation at their 540 franchise locations in 21 states. Each store had a lemonade stand set up in its waiting area with information about the foundation. This campaign succeeded in increasing awareness of childhood cancer, inspired kids to host their own Alex's Lemonade Stands and raised funds for research. Big O Tires also made a corporate donation of and all the people that helped make Alex's Lemonade Stand possible at "Main in Motion". Great job to the boys of Cub Scout Pack 490 for all their hard work and dedication. Keep up the great work!

During IFA's 2005 Franchise Appreciation Day, association members contributed an additional $24,000 for FranPAC, IFA's political action committee which supports pro-business, pro-franchising candidates for the House of Representatives and Senate. The First FranPAC Congressional Dinner, which will become an annual event, was sponsored by Marriott International, IFX Online, Fishman Public Relations, FisherZucker, and Fran-Systems Worldwide. The dinner, which raised $14,000 was held at the Caucus Room restaurant and was attended by two members of Congress who are also franchisees: Reps. Dan Boren (D-Okla.) and John Tanner (D-Tenn.).

Another $10,000 was contributed to FranPAC through a wine raffle. Congratulations to winners John Pollock of the Philly Franchising Co., Darrell Johnson of FRANData, Ken Walker of Meineke Car Care Centers, and Ann Rosenberg of Let's Make Wine.

The next FranPAC event will be the ever-popular annual Silent Auction February 26th and 27th during IFA's upcoming 46th Annual Convention in Palm Springs. Bidding will be open to all IFA members. Last year, the Silent Auction raised a record-setting $51,000 for FranPAC.
