essential for promoting healthy skin. SkinCola contains Zebu a unique combination of zinc vitamins B, C, & E. Drink SkinCola & hydrate the largest living organ in your body our skin because beautiful clear skin begins from within.
 It's also a good source of energy and endurance, it speeds up your metabolism and enhances your fortitude strength.

Review Alright it has been awhile since I reviewed anything. Well there are a couple reasons: I have been busy and it is getting harder and harder for me to find new energy drinks. Anyways this was a hard drink to review, because the energy in this drink is Great comes on strong and hard and is long lasting in comparison to some that just drop off suddenly. Great energy that is the reason to get an energy drink. The problem comes in my other forms of judgment flavor and mixability. The flavor isn't bad, but it is weird. It is just really hard to describe. The best I could come up with is pineapple-ish like flavor. It is kinda citrusy with an odd after taste.

What it is and What it does

When we're young, our skin is mostly comprised of water - giving us a poreless look, softened texture, and firm feel.

As we age, our skin's ability to hold onto water or moisture greatly decreases, revealing visible pores, rougher and dryer skin texture, and a less firm appearance.

Unlike topical skin care products, BORBA Skin Balance Water provide the added healthy benefit of internal hydration.

Welcome to BORBA Skin Care. Celebrity Esthetician Scott-Vincent Borba has created a revolutionary line of natural skin care products based on his visionary idea that the most beautiful looking people routinely address both the inner and outer needs of their skin. The result of this vision is a line of skin care beauty products that have merged science and fashion to treat both your inner and outer skin care needs.

Browse all of our effective products such as our advanced anti-aging, dry skin products, oily skin treatments, sensitive skin care, products that help skin naturally glow (HID-Illuminating) and products that lighten, tone and firm skin. Or browse our edible skin care products, such as, our acai guajunji bear boosters or pomegranate, guanabana, acai and lychee fruit flavored drinkable skin balance waters. Our skin care products use antioxidant therapy containing innovative natural skin care ingredients infused in natural fibers. Combining the use of our topical products with our vitamins and antioxidant infused waters into your daily regimen will produce visible results – in some cases instantly.

We use innovative ingredients in our natural skin care products such as Micro-Diamond Powder, Spandex Fiber, Cotton Fiber and Plasma Technology. We also use antioxidants such as grape seed extract in our anti-aging wrinkle treatment products to nourish the skin and reduce the signs of premature aging.

Our products are tested by dermatologists for sensitive skin and effectiveness and are routinely recommended to patients for sensitive skin care. We never test on animals and therefore we have cruelty free skin care products. Take some time to navigate our user friendly site and get expert skin care advice, beauty tips, read our articles on skin care tips and processes and even get a personalized skin care routine designed specifically for you. Become a BORBA Rewards member for free and earn points with every purchase that can be redeemed for any BORBA skin care product. In addition, you'll receive special offers, presale information with our new products, get free shipping offers and even earn points you can redeem for free skin care products when you refer a friend!

PRODUCT SPOTLIGHT

BRAND SCIENCE

For as long as I can remember, I have been interested in total beauty, both from the inside and the out. Despite my searching, however, I was unable to find any skin care that embraced beauty from this dual perspective. Hence, BORBA – where inner skin health meets outer skin beauty – was born.

BORBA is devoted to delivering products that rise above and beyond traditional skin care. We do this by combining knowledge and resources from around the globe, the latest methods, technologies and quality-grade ingredients in innovative new ways. We know that when treatments are a treat, consumers look forward to using them. That's why all our BORBA Nutraceuticals taste so delicious and all our BORBA Cosmeceuticals feel and smell so wonderful. Pure pleasure is part of the program.

Our commitment to you is to provide intelligent, simple, luxurious problem-solution products that enhance the health and beauty of your skin, both inside and out. Enjoy!

EVIAN

Name: EVIAN
Country of Origin: FRANCE
TDS: 357
pH: 7.2
Altitude: 2500 FT
Discovery of Source: Very old

At the heart of the French Alps, lies the source of an extremely well balanced water. From the summit of this aquiferous zone, water from rain and melting snow, slowly infiltrates down through layers of glacial sand. At a rate of 1 to 2 centimeters per day, a journey taking 15 years purifies this water as it becomes laden with minerals and acquires a unique equilibrium to emerge 800 meters below at Evian. This soft spring water is ideal for the preparation of baby food, thanks to its low nitrate levels and balanced composition of the various minerals. Evian's mineral composition has remained unique and consistent for over 200 years.

I bought a tube of Aquafina Hydrating Lip Oil. I do not remember where or when, but within 8 months. I also bought several other brands, trying to find one that really worked for me. Because of medications, I have a very dry mouth and lips. Your brand was one of the top.

Brand New

Here, some of the latest representation and licensee deals, plus corporate branding initiatives.

Publish date: Mar 1, 2004

Seems daily that License! editors learn of new licensing agreements signed for some of the most well-recognized consumer brand names. We'll bet there's more to come as Pepsi-Cola recently signed New York-based The Joester Loria Group as its licensing agency; and La Jolla, CA-based Equity Management Inc. (EMI) signed at press time General Electric and Tyson.

New York-based United Media is on board with the Metropolitan Transportation Authority (MTA) to create a licensing program that includes celebrating the 100th Anniversary of the New York City Subway. Collectibles will be a natural for New Yorkers and tourists. Also included in the deal are well-known symbols associated with the MTA such as subway cars, route indicators, maps, tokens, and Grand Central Terminal; all are available for licensing.

Los Angeles-based Brand Sense Marketing, LLC, will set the wheels in motion for Norton Motorsports, Inc. Norton Motorcycle Company was established in 1898, but has been absent from the U.S. market for some time. Now, Norton will introduce the new 952 Commando, the first new Norton Commando motorcycle in more than 25 years. Brand Sense currently seeks licensees for die-cast, ride-on toys and vehicles, radio-controlled toys and vehicles, and video games.

Outdoor enthusiasts now have a wealth of soft goods options from The Coleman Company, Inc. Lining up for its 2004 soft goods initiative is: Polyvantage (men's and boys' apparel), Glenoit Fabrics HG (home furnishings), Atlantic Luggage (travel gear), and Vision Products (sunglasses). These licensees round out the Coleman soft goods program that already exists with licensees Rain Shield (rainwear), Eastman (footwear), GSI (watches), and Moretz Sports (socks).

Miami-based licensing agency Nancy Bailey & Associates secured a deal with The Italia Collection for a line of Italian gold charm bracelets based on Hostess classic treats such as Twinkies, Ding Dongs, Ho Hos, Snoballs, and Cup Cakes. Also, the agency now represents egg-coloring kit brand Paas from Signature Brands.

General Mills Trademark Licensing continues its onward movement in licensing. Available exclusively at Toys "R" Us is the Betty Crocker Pot and Pan set and Betty Crocker Bakery set allowing children to prepare pretend dinner and dessert. Retailing for $14.99, the sets feature items from Pillsbury, Green Giant, Bisquick, Hamburger Helper, and Old El Paso. For adults, General Mills launched the Betty Crocker Slow Cooker (licensed to Franklin Industries), which offers, among other features, a removable microwave- and dishwasher-safe stoneware crock and three temperature options. available at mass merchants, grocery, and specialty stores this past quarter, the slow cooker comes with recipes developed by the Betty Crocker Kitchens.

In a separate agreement with Creative Designs International, Toys "R" Us will launch in fall 2004, a line of toy food and play sets that include play food, supermarket sets, housewares, non-electric appliances, and plastic ice pop makers. Suggested retails will range from $9.99 to $19.99 for the line that will bear General Mills' Betty Crocker, Pillsbury, Green Giant, Progresso, Old El Paso, Totino's, Big G cereals, Bisquick, Bugles, Columbo, Fruit Snacks, Hamburger Helper, and Pop Secret.

Popping into scrapbooking is the Pillsbury Doughboy, an extension of scrapbooking items from General Mills via licensee Paper Adventures. The Doughboy line (papers, quadrants, die-cuts, borders, and stickers) debuted at the February Hobby Industry Association Show. Via Best Brands Home Products, Inc., in fall 2004, the Pillsbury Doughboy will appear on kitchen textiles and tabletop products. Also for the Doughboy (as well as other Pillsbury-branded items), General Mills and Department 56 are partnering on a line of miniature lighted buildings and accessories (collectibles) made from resin, porcelain, and ceramic. The line will be featured in Department 56 Celebrations and available in specialty retail in fall 2004. Pillsbury brands-The Pillsbury Doughboy and Pillsbury Best Flour-also will be featured on toy trains and accessories via a deal with Lionel LLC.

General Mills' cereal characters Lucky the Leprechaun, Trix Rabbit, Yummy Mummy, Fruit Brute, Boo Berry, Count Chocula, and Frankenberry are getting tie-dyed for a line of shirts, tanks, and fleece tops for adults and children coming to specialty stores in spring 2004. Plus, designer Gerri Mack of Penelope Mack, a division of Babyfair, will design a line of girls' and women's sleepwear, gowns, and two-piece sets, as well as men's pajamas. General Mills' Buzz Bee, Lucky the Leprechaun, and the Trix Rabbit will be reinterpreted through design and texture for the intimates. Being made available in fall 2004 at upper-tier retailers, moving forward Babyfair will add bedding and comforters; women's outerwear; and swimwear, layette, and sleepwear for children sizes 0 to 20. Drew Pearson Marketing will create a line of novelty headwear and cold weather accessories bearing Big G cereal characters Buzz Bee, Trix Rabbit, Sonny the Cuckoo Bird, Lucky the Leprechaun, Boo Berry, Count Chocula, and Frankenberry.

Lastly, Old El Paso, Progresso, Green Giant, and Totino's are making their way onto retail counters with food accessory products via licensee Navajo Manufacturing Company. The line includes salsa bowls, taco holders, and graters (Old El Paso); can openers, ladles, serving spoons, peelers, among other items (Progresso and Green Giant); and pizza cutters and cheese shakers (Totino's).

L.A. Choppers, the Southern California Chopper Shop owned by Johnny C., signed with Jem Sportswear to bring to market a line of men's, women's, and boys' knit tops that incorporate the L.A. Choppers logo as well as images of custom choppers designed and built by Johnny C. The deal was brokered by The Wickerbill Group, agent for L.A. Choppers.

Snapple's Real Facts-the under-the-cap strange but true facts-will make their way onto a board game via a licensing agreement with Pressman Toy Corporation. Due next spring, the game (suggested retail, $24.99) will offer players 500 new Snapple Real Facts, 100 Wild Caps, and an electronic game bottle that acts as the facts dispenser and game timer. In addition, Brandgenuity, Snapple's licensing agent, brokered the following licensing deals for the beverage brand: Lotta Luv, a division of Designs by Skaffies (lip balm and lip gloss); Basic Fun (key chains); Cedco Publishing (Real Facts calendar); The Italia Collection (charm bracelets); Knothe Apparel (men's loungewear and boxers); and Peter Pauper Press (mini Real Facts book).

Sunbeam's Oster brand tapped celebrity chef Michelle Bernstein as spokesperson, and launched a new print ad campaign for its "Inspire Collection" (sold exclusively at Target through this month) of kitchen appliances. The ad campaign puts the emphasis on home entertaining and features characters-strong, confident women who have a flair for entertaining-created by Kirsten Ulve, a New York-based illustrator. The ads give recipes and cooking tips.

John Deere is moving full-speed ahead with the launch of RC2 Corporation's John Deere Full Throttle vehicle line. The die-cast collectibles (each vehicle is complete with a unique style number for collectibility) combine "boy" farm and construction vehicle play patterns with the hot tuner car craze. The initial release featured "Barn Burners," highly stylized John Deere farm vehicles, and "Earth Shakers," contemporary John Deere construction vehicles. All Full Throttle products feature low-profile tires, ground effects, chrome stacks, custom wheels, die-cast bodies, and nitrous oxide tanks.

Kellogg's is stepping up its corporate initiative to deliver health, convenience, and education to consumers via a new licensing program, "Kellogg's Kitchen," which aims to provide breakfast solutions to consumers on the go, at home, or in the office. The program is to be announced at the upcoming International Housewares Show, March 20 to 22. Aimed at Baby Boomers and late Gen Xers (roughly ages 32 to 54), the program will promote a "Start Good. Feel Good." attitude. Although licensees have not been selected, the program will be targeted to both upstairs and downstairs channels of distribution. Kellogg's image archives will be utilized for the collections of breakfast ware that will not just be a mixing bowl or a cereal bowl, but will aim to deliver portion control, not to mention portability and ease.

Plush pillow manufacturer Sweet Thang (a division of Senario LLC) signed on as licensee for Dubble Bubble. Sweet Thang already manufactures pillows under license for Tootsie Roll, Nestlé and Hostess. The Dubble Bubble deal was brokered by Licensing Link, agency for the company.

Masterfoods, a division of Mars, Inc., signed with Creative Designs International for a line of toys featuring the M&M'S characters. A toy ice cream maker is scheduled to ship in the spring; other items in development are a cookie baking set, vending machine bank, and plastic play food sets. This past January, License1 announced Masterfoods' deal with Bonne Bell for a line of Starburst lip glosses and Skittles lip balm. The Starburst items are available at mass in the makeup aisle; Skittles items will ship this month to mass stores in the pharmacy section.

Ford Motor Company and Harley-Davidson, Inc., extended their relationship to deliver Ford Harley-Davidson F-series products through 2007. The partnership began in 1999. The Ford Harley-Davidson F-series products feature "Built Ford Tough" engine attributes combined with Harley-Davidson chrome features.

Brach's Confections, Inc., is bringing to market a new line of fruit snacks product, that of Minute Maid All Natural Fruit Snacks. With a suggested retail of $2.79 per box of 10 pouches, the snacks will feature fruit shapes in flavors including strawberry, orange, and grape.

Post Cereals will have some new faces gracing its boxes, those of the Justice League including Superman, Batman, Wonder Woman, Green Lantern, The Flash, Martian Manhunter, and Hawkgirl. Available through May, limited-edition, collectible trading cards featuring the super-heroes will be found inside. Each of the seven different cards will feature "Postoken Codes" that unlock a virtual comic adventure at Postopia.com. There, children can create their own Justice League Adventures comic book story. The deal is a partnership between Post Cereals, Warner Bros. Consumer Products, and DC Comics.

Traditional skin care lines improving looks with dietary supplements: the quest for the fountain of youth has turned companies a

The average woman over 35 looks in the mirror and what does she see? A person comfortable in her skin, who has weathered change, reached milestones and come to know who she is. She's also seeing some wrinkling and sagging in her skin, a dulling of the luminosity that marked her appearance in year's past. She's not appalled and she's not depressed, but she is determined to look as healthy and attractive as she can for as long as she can.

The signs of physical aging often prompt mid-life consumers to change their lifestyle in order to improve the way they feel and their chances of longevity. They will also spend more time grooming in order to minimize the visible effects of aging, according to "Fear of Aging, 2003," which is the latest report from Datamonitor, New York, NY. The report continued on to say that older consumers were especially open to adding dietary supplements to their health regimes to retard the mental and physical effects of aging, as well as "trading up" in terms of luxury topical skin care products that fight (or cover up) signs of aging. The report advised marketers, "It is important to realize that today's midlifers are going to look and behave much younger than previous generations. They are redefining the process of aging. Instead of retiring, many are choosing to stay at work longer because they can, while others are going back to school. They are proud of their age and there is recognition that they have survived the test of time."

Finding the Fountain of Youth

So what are "midlifers" looking for and buying to maintain a youthful feeling and appearance? Both topical and ingestible products. A recent report titled "Anti-Aging Products," from market research company The Freedonia Group, Inc., Cleveland, OH, indicated, "Demand for formulated appearance-enhancing products is projected to increase over 12% per year through 2007 to $2.5 billion. New product introductions and the passage of the relatively affluent baby boomer generation through middle age (when age-related changes become more apparent) will stimulate demand for value-added, age-defying products." The report continued, "For the skin, wrinkle-removal injections, including Allergan's BOTOX, and age-defying lotions will experience stellar growth, with gains of 16% and 11% per annum, respectively, through 2007. Anti-aging chemicals expected to record double-digit annual growth through 2007 include memory-enhancing neurological agents; botulinum toxin for wrinkle-reducing applications; and coenzyme Q10, soy extracts and a host of small volume herbal extracts, including lutein, lycopene, black cohosh and red clover, used in both dietary supplements and cosmeceuticals." (See Table 1)

Cosmetic and skin care companies both in the U.S. and abroad are beginning to address the older consumer's desire for product lines that marry cosmeceuticals and nutraceuticals to smooth and improve skin. Avon is one such company.

Avon, the aptly monikered "company for women," has been fully vested in the idea of beauty from the inside out. According to the company, its Avon Wellness line "is a destination for women and their families that promotes a healthy lifestyle." The "one-stop shop" that is Avon Wellness, "focuses on products that help people feel healthier, look better and slow down the effects of aging." Product lines geared toward these concepts include VitAdvance nutritional supplements, the Slimwell Weight Management line, Bally Total Fitness[R] exercise equipment, Ryka[TM] sneakers and the new Healthy Remedies brand of therapeutic products, which are designed to address health issues ranging from muscle aches to cold relief.

"Women's health and well-being is a natural extension of Avon's beauty focus," said Avon CEO Andrea Jung at the time of the Avon Wellness launch. "Our research around the world shows that women today are vitally concerned about inner health as well as outer beauty."

Two new additions to the Avon Wellness line are Healthy Remedies Balancing Lotion, and VitAdvance AquaNew. One you smooth on, the other, you swallow. Healthy Remedies Balancing Lotion was created for the menopausal woman, to help alleviate the discomfort associated with that particular time in a woman's life. Said Avon Spokesperson Andra Mielnicki, "Avon's Healthy Remedies Balancing Lotion is proven to reduce the discomforts of night sweats and hot flashes in 14 days when applied twice daily to the entire body (including neck, legs, hands, arms and chest)." Additionally, the company claims the menopausal lotion contains ingredients, which diminish the appearance of fine lines and wrinkles, uplift the neck area and moisturize dry, sagging skin. Some of those ingredients include black cohosh, soy extract, and vitamins A and E.

VitAdvance AquaNew is touted by Avon as an "easy to swallow tablet that is a high quality skin supplement." The supplement is designed to replace "moisture generating components" that diminish as women age. Augmenting the skin's natural moisture balance are a nourishing complex containing hyaluronic acid, and a revival complex containing green tea leaf extract and glutathione. The product is meant to be taken once a day with food to enhance an anti-aging skin care regimen.

The well-known skin care line OLAY, which is marketed by Procter & Gamble, Cincinnati, OH, partnered last spring with vitamin and supplement manufacturer Pharmavite, Northridge, CA, to create OLAY Vitamins, a vitamin line meant to "support beauty from within." "This is the first vitamin line to support beauty from within," said OLAY Vitamins spokesperson Helen Mah. "The only affordably priced cosmeceutical line available to U.S. mass market retailers, OLAY Vitamins is formulated exclusively for women to address both their inner health and outer beauty needs." At the time of the line's launch last year, Bill Brace, OLAY marketing director, stated, "As a leader in the field of skin care for over 50 years, OLAY is dedicated to helping women look and feel their best." He continued, "While we already offer some of the very best products available to improve skin from the outside, we became intrigued with the scientific research linking nutritional intake and skin health. Joining with Pharmavite was the obvious choice because they have a high quality reputation and an unparalleled expertise in understanding women's nutritional needs. OLAY vitamins closed the link between inner beauty and outer beauty for women to look and feel their best."

The OLAY Vitamins brand consists of two sub lines--seven Beauty Nutrients for skin health/appearance and eight Wellness Nutrients to support a woman's inner health needs. OLAY Beauty Nutrients support skin structure renewal and cell renewal, and include antioxidants, which are the skin's best defense against premature aging. OLAY Wellness Nutrients are vitamins and nutritional supplements formulated for a woman's unique wellness needs. According to the company, women can expect to see improvement in the appearance of their skin after four weeks of taking OLAY Vitamins. Among the host of products in the OLAY Vitamin line is Even Complexion, a nutritional supplement created to even skin tone and soothe skin. Ingredients in the product include vitamin A, vitamin E, selenium and lycopene to help neutralize free radicals, which can cause uneven color; Pycnogenol[R] to aid in soothing skin; and vitamin C and D, plus zinc and copper to provide nourishment to the skin.

Skin care lines known widely in the U.S. for their topical anti-aging products are prospering in Europe and Asia with product lines that focus on promoting beauty from within. Japanese cosmetic giant Shiseido offers an array of nutritional drinks and supplements meant to beautify the skin and body. Called Shiseido Beauty Foods, the line is composed of 18 different SKU's, each offering to address different beauty issues. A weight loss tea called Gymrind contains magnesium and vitamins B1 and B2; a drink called Collagen Ex is purported to stimulate the body's collagen production with a combination of marine collagen, elastin and nucleic acid (DNA), chondroitin and vitamins B2, B6, C and E. The promise of the product is a younger, firmer complexion. Most recently, Shiseido partnered with Coca-Cola Japan to bring a range of products to market that target "body conscious" consumers. The initial products will include a beverage called Body Style Water and a lotion called Body Stylish Mist, and both are being launched this month. The products contain grapefruit juice and caffeine. The concept behind the products hinges on Shiseido's theory of certain fragrances being able to affect fat-burning--also referred to as its "aroma theory."

L'Oreal, Paris, France, joined forces with Nestle, Vevey, Switzerland, almost two years ago to form a joint venture company called Laboratoires Inneov to develop nutritional supplements with a cosmetic bent. So far, the company has developed and launched "Inneov Fermete," a nutraceutical Laboratoires Inneov claims can "improve the quality of skin, hair and nails by supplying nutrients essential to their physiology." Inneov Fermete is primarily intended for women over 40, who wish to address sagging skin. The product's formula includes lactocyclopene in combination with vitamin C and soy isoflavones.

The Future

Both Lynn Laboranti, M.S., R.D., of the Professional Education Department of Pharmavite, and Dr. Amy Newburger, a New York City, NY-based dermatologist and the author of Looking Good at Any Age, shared their thoughts on midlife women, skin care and the wisdom of combining nutraceuticals and cosmeceuticals to promote healthy skin. "I believe that today's woman is looking for a holistic solution. Vitamins and topical solutions can work synergistically to make women look and feel their best," stated Ms. Laboranti. Added Dr. Newburger, "I think the addition of nutraceuticals to existing cosmetic lines is a good idea. I've certainly seen an improvement in the health and appearance of the skin of my patients that have used OLAY Vitamins."
