Nouvation, Inc.

v.

ASHI Holding Company

Jennifer Krisp, Interlocutory Attorney:

On June 6, 2013, applicant filed a proposed amendment to its application Serial No. 85622313, with opposer's consent.¹

By the proposed amendment applicant seeks to amend the identification of goods from "software for the management of health and safety educational training services and software for the management of health and safety educational training service businesses, not including software for operating and/or controlling elevators" to "software for the management of health and safety educational training services and software for the management of health and safety educational training service businesses, not including software for operating and/or controlling elevators and not including software for an occurrence tracking information system for use in tracking errors and accidents involved with or related to the collection, processing or transfusion of medical or biological samples at clinical laboratories, hospital laboratories, medical laboratories, cellular therapy and stem cell laboratories, genetics laboratories, blood banks and blood transfusion services."

¹ Due to the suspension of this proceeding as noted herein, applicant's consented motion (filed July 2, 2013) to suspend is now moot.

Inasmuch as the amendment is clearly limiting in nature as required by Trademark Rule 2.71(a), and because opposer consents thereto, it is approved and entered. See Trademark Rule 2.133(a).

If this resolves the dispute herein, opposer is allowed until thirty days from the mailing date of this order to file a withdrawal of the opposition, failing which the opposition will go forward on the application as amended. See Trademark Rule 2.106(c).

Proceedings are otherwise suspended.
