Junkstock, LLC

v.

Montage Festivals LLC

M. Catherine Faint, Interlocutory Attorney:

The parties are ordered to appear for a telephonic discovery conference in this matter on Tuesday, February 25, 2014 at 11:00 a.m. EST. Dial-in information for the teleconference appears at the end of this order.

The Board notes that applicant has known since the Board issued its scheduling order on November 27, 2013 that the parties were required to participate in a discovery conference by February 5, 2014. Applicant has not been willing to meet the requirement or to schedule and participate in the conference by the due date.¹

Specifically, the Board contacted applicant by leaving a telephone message and by sending an email requesting dates and times for participation in a discovery conference to be conducted by the Board. Applicant has responded "with my travel schedule I am not able to pinpoint an available telephone time..."

Following the discovery conference on February 25, 2014 at 11:00 a.m. EST, the Board will reset all dates. No discovery should be served until the conference has been conducted.

Failure to appear for the discovery conference will result in the Board inviting opposer to file a motion for sanctions under Trademark Rule 2.120(g)(1).

Proceedings herein are otherwise suspended.
