Lalita Greer, Paralegal Specialist:

On May 16, 2014, applicant filed a request for remand of application to the Trademark Examining Attorney. The applicant seeks to have the Examining Attorney review its request claim of acquired distinctiveness and amend to the application to the supplemental register.

After review of the amendment, if the Examining Attorney is not persuaded to allow the application, the applicant is claiming in the alternative, that its mark has partially become distinctive as provided by Section 2(f) of the Trademark Act.

After the Examining Attorney's issuance of either an acceptance and/or ultimate denial of the amendment/claim of acquired distinctiveness, the Board shall be so informed and the appeal will be resumed; and applicant will be allowed time in which to file its appeal brief.

In the event that the Trademark Examining Attorney allows the application on the Supplemental Register, the appeal herein will be moot. If the Examining Attorney ultimately issues a final refusal to register upon the Supplemental Register, the "six-month response" clause appearing on the letter in which such action is taken should be omitted; the Board shall be so informed; action on the appeal will be resumed; and applicant will be allowed sufficient time in which to file its appeal brief.
