Opposition No. 91202599

Poulsen Roser A/S

v.

Esmeralda Farms, Inc.

On August 30, 2012, applicant filed a stipulated amendment to subject application Serial No. 85284290, and opposer's contingent withdrawal of the opposition with prejudice.

By the proposed amendment applicant seeks to add the limiting wording "except roses and clematis" to the identification of goods, so the resulting identification will read as "fresh cut flowers, except roses and clematis."

Inasmuch as the amendment is limiting in nature as required by Trademark Rule 2.71(a), and opposer consents thereto, it is approved and entered. See Trademark Rule 2.133(a). The contingency in opposer's withdrawal having been met, the opposition is dismissed with prejudice.
