GlaxoSmithKline Consumer Healthcare
(UK) IP Limited

v.

Morales Caro, Luis R.

Jennifer Krisp, Interlocutory Attorney:

Proceedings are suspended pending disposition of the September 30, 2015 motion to compel, and September 22, 2015 motion to amend pleading, except as discussed below. The parties should not file any paper which is not germane to the motions. See Trademark Rule 2.120(e)(2).

Neither the filing of the motion to compel nor this suspension order tolls the time for parties to make required discovery disclosures, or to respond to any outstanding discovery requests which had been served prior to the filing of the motion to compel, nor does it excuse a party's appearance at any discovery deposition which had been duly noticed prior to the filing of the motion to compel. When the motion to compel is filed after discovery has closed, but prior to the opening of the first testimony period, the time period for making pretrial disclosures is suspended. See Trademark Rule 2.120(e)(1); TBMP § 523.01.

The motions will be decided in due course.

The September 21, 2015 consented motion to substitute is granted.¹ Accordingly, GlaxoSmithKline Consumer Healthcare (UK) IP Limited is substituted as opposer in this opposition proceeding. The Board's record for this proceeding has been updated to reflect this.

The September 14, 2015 consented motion to extend dates is granted retroactive to that date. As noted above, this proceeding is now suspended pending the disposition of the unconsented motions filed subsequent to the filing of the consented motion to extend.

¹ The motion references an exhibit that is not attached to the motion. The Office's Assignment Branch records confirm the recordation of the referenced assignments.
