Opposition No. 91245800 (Parent)
Opposition No. 91246515

OPPOSER CONSTELLATION BRANDS U.S. OPERATIONS, INC.'S

MOTION TO STRIKE, AND OPPOSITION TO,

APPLICANT'S MOTION TO SUSPEND

Opposer Constellation Brands U.S. Operations, Inc. ("Opposer") hereby opposes the motion to suspend made by Applicant The Vineyard House LLC's ("Applicant").

MOTION TO STRIKE

This motion never should have been filed. This proceeding is currently suspended pending the Board's decision on Opposer's motion to amend the pleadings. [22 TTABVUE.] In its order suspending this proceeding pending that decision, the Board expressly stated: "Any paper filed during the pendency of this motion which is not relevant thereto will be given no consideration.” Yet, notwithstanding the clear direction of the Board, Applicant blithely filed a motion that, other than calling into question Applicant’s protestations of timeliness it raised in opposition, has no relevance to the motion to amend.

The motion should be stricken. In the event it is considered on its merits, Opposer hereby responds substantively to the motion.

BACKGROUND

Applicant moves to suspend these proceedings, purportedly for six months, but potentially forever, for reasons that can only charitably be called vague, insufficient and incoherent. [26 TTABVUE.] In fact, there is one clear and coherent reason for Applicant’s motion—to avoid discovery and eventual judgment in Opposer’s favor.

Applicant’s discovery failures have been constant and palpable. Rather than address its numerous and substantial discovery deficiencies, Applicant simply refuses to engage. Not only has Applicant failed to produce the documents it represented it would, it did not even provide its availability to meet and confer to discuss the deficiencies in its discovery responses.

Instead, Applicant, without providing any factual basis, states merely that “Applicant’s principal is totally and completely unavailable and unreachable” for an indefinite period of time, and that no one else could possibly assist in defending the opposition. [26 TTABVUE 3.] Applicant does not explain the sudden disappearance of its principal, Jeremy Nickel, or why individuals such as Applicant’s business manager, winemakers or other employees are unable to assist with providing information and documents in response to Opposer’s discovery requests. Nor does Applicant explain why it was not able to comply with its discovery obligations even before its principal’s absence.

Having watched as Mr. Nickel’s quixotic dream—that of trading off of the goodwill associated with Opposer’s valuable marks—has been rejected over and over, including in federal court, Applicant again wastes Opposer’s time and money in this proceeding. But with “push now coming to shove,” Applicant has concocted an undefined but potentially indefinite deferral to avoid further litigation. The Board should not countenance such choreographed gamesmanship¹ between attorney and client, and must prevent the Applicant once and for all from trying to gain the right to trade off the goodwill associated with Opposer’s TO KALON and TO KALON VINEYARD trademarks, and to indirectly trade off that goodwill by adopting the name of the creator of the historic To Kalon Vineyard, H. W. Crabb.

This proceeding is just one of fifteen pending and concluded proceedings and federal court lawsuits between Opposer, Applicant, and Applicant’s related company, To Kalon Stock Farm, LLC. These include thirteen opposition and cancellation proceedings before the TTAB and two federal court lawsuits. These matters all originate with Mr. Nickel, whom the District Court for the Northern District of California described as “obsessive in his desire to leverage the To Kalon name by importing it to all parts of his various businesses including wine and horse racing and ignoring the advice of his own employees regarding the use of the term as a likely trademark violation.” [Post-Trial Order Re: Attorneys’ Fees And Expert Fees: Wilton Decl.

“Applicant has been diligent in its defense of the oppositions and has been timely in responding to discovery and deposition requests from Opposer. Applicant has also timely responded to meet and confer requests received from Opposer, as well as deposition notices received from Opposer.”

[26 TTABVUE 3.] This statement is unequivocally false. Applicant did not respond to Opposer’s discovery requests until after its deadline, and only then to request an extension. Applicant also did not respond to any deposition notices, and there have been not yet been attempts to meet and confer regarding outstanding discovery issues.

Ex. B at 4:14-17.] The District Court believed that Applicant's case was "self-centered [and] unfounded" [id. at 3:11] and that Applicant's theories "lacked merit and any factual basis" [id. at 4:26].

Applicant's case in the District Court lacked a foundation in fact or law. Its cases before the Board lack a foundation in fact or law. And Applicant's motion to suspend likewise lacks a foundation in fact or law.

Applicant cannot avoid its obligations to participate in discovery, and has not shown good cause for seeking to delay these proceedings. Opposer therefore requests that the Board deny this motion and order Applicant to meaningfully participate in discovery immediately without any adjournment or suspension.

STANDARD

Proceedings may be suspended for good cause upon motion or stipulation of the parties approved by the Board. 37 C.F.R. § 2.117(c). While the Board generally is liberal in granting extensions of time, it only does so if the moving party has not been guilty of negligence or bad faith and the privilege of extensions is not abused. See Am. Vitamin Prods., Inc. v. Dowbrands Inc., 22 USPQ2d 1313, 1314 (TTAB 1992). It is the moving party that has the burden of persuading the Board that it was diligent in meeting its responsibilities and should therefore be awarded additional time. Nat'l Football League v. DNH Mgmt., LLC, 85 USPQ2d 1852, 1854 (TTAB 2008) (citing Sunkist Growers, Inc. v. Benjamin Ansehl Co., 229 USPQ 147 (TTAB 1985)).

"[A] motion to extend must set forth with particularity the facts said to constitute good cause; 'cursory or conclusory allegations that are denied unequivocally by the nonmovant, and that are not otherwise supported by the record, will not constitute a showing of good cause.'"

Trans-High Corp. v. JFC Tobacco Corp., 127 USPQ2d 1175, 1177 (TTAB 2018) (quoting Instruments SA, Inc. v. ASI Instruments, Inc., 53 USPQ2d 1925, 1927 (TTAB 1999); see also Luemme, Inc. v. D.B. Plus Inc., 53 USPQ2d 1758, 1760 (TTAB 1999).

Applicant, by filing a motion that is completely devoid of any admissible evidence regarding the purported reason for suspension, fails to meet these standards. This motion should be denied.

HISTORY OF PROCEEDINGS

The Jeremy Nickel saga began in 2018 when Applicant filed multiple applications to register TO KALON-formative and CRABB-formative marks. [Declaration of Kenneth L. Wilton ¶ 2.] “To Kalon” was the trademark adopted by Mr. H.W. Crabb, a pioneering Napa Valley winemaker in the 1800s. [1 TTABVUE 6 at ¶ 7; 22 TTABVUE 14 at ¶¶ 6-8.] However, Applicant and Mr. Nickel faced two insurmountable hurdles in their quest to associate themselves with Mr. Crabb and To Kalon, both of which were confirmed by a federal district court in litigation between the parties: Applicant does not own any winemaking land associated with Mr. Crabb, and Opposer owns incontestable registrations of TO KALON and TO KALON VINEYARD.

Not to be deterred, Applicant then filed oppositions to several of Opposer’s applications to register TO KALON-formative marks and a petition to cancel Opposer’s incontestable registrations for TO KALON and TO KALON VINEYARD. [Wilton Decl. ¶ 3.]

These filings were followed by Applicant filing suit against Opposer in the United States District Court for the Northern District of California, The Vineyard House v. Constellation

Brands U.S. Operations, Inc., Case No. 19-cv-01424, which was consolidated with Opposer’s later-filed lawsuit² against Applicant (the “Civil Action”). [Wilton Decl. ¶ 4.]

The Civil Action proceeded to a bench trial that concluded in December 2020. [Wilton Decl. ¶ 5.] Opposer prevailed. [Id.] Judgment was entered against Applicant and in favor of Opposer in the Civil Action, and a permanent injunction was issued prohibiting Applicant’s use of TO KALON in connection with wine. [Judgment Under Rule 58: Wilton Decl. Ex. A.] Following the entry of judgment, on July 26, 2021, the District Court held that the Civil Action was “exceptional” under 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a) and awarded $2.3 million in fees and costs against Applicant. [Post-Trial Order Re: Attorneys’ Fees And Expert Fee: Wilton Decl. Ex. B.]

HISTORY OF DISCOVERY

In support of its motion, Applicant describes the history of discovery in this proceeding as follows:

The parties have exchanged discovery and are currently engaged in efforts to resolve outstanding discovery issues. The parties have also served deposition notices seeking to depose party witnesses. Applicant has been diligent in its defense of the oppositions and has been timely in responding to discovery and deposition requests from Opposer. Applicant has also timely responded to meet and confer requests, as well as deposition notices received from Opposer.

[26 TTABVUE 3.]

It is true that the parties have exchanged discovery requests. [Wilton Decl. ¶ 7.] But it is untrue that Applicant timely responded to Opposer’s discovery requests. [Id. ¶ 8.] In fact, Applicant never responded to Opposer’s requests at all but, rather, asked for an extension of time to respond three days after its deadline to do so. [Id.]

² Constellation Brands U.S. Operations, Inc. v. The Vineyard House, LLC, Case No. 3:20-cv-00238 (N.D. Cal. filed Jan. 10, 2020).

It is true that the parties have served deposition notices. [Id. ¶ 9.] But it is untrue that Applicant has timely responded to the notices or appeared for deposition; it simply filed this motion. [Id. ¶ 10.] And while it is true that Applicant noticed Opposer’s deposition to take place, when asked whether the deposition would go forward, Applicant responded:

We confirm that in light of the Motion to Suspend, we are not moving forward with the deposition on April 12, 2022.

[Id. ¶ 11 & Ex. E.] Applicant failed to explain why this motion—which had been filed but not decided—precluded Applicant’s counsel from taking a deposition.

Finally, it is an outright fabrication that that Applicant has also timely responded to meet and confer requests. Because Applicant’s deadline to respond to discovery requests was April 11, 2022, and because Applicant did not respond at all to the requests, there have not yet been any efforts made by either party to resolve any outstanding discovery issues. [Wilton Decl. ¶ 12.] By contrast, Opposer did respond to Applicant’s written discovery and has produced documents. [Id. ¶ 8.]

Applicant has taken a similarly inattentive approach to discovery in two related oppositions between the parties, Opposition Nos. 91264970 and 91264972. In those proceedings, Opposer had served first sets of written discovery. [Id. ¶ 13.] After extensions of time to respond, on December 20, 2021, Applicant served responses to those requests, which included little more than general and boilerplate objections, non-responsive answers, and factual assertions contrary to the litigated factual findings of the District Court. [Id. ¶ 14.] In its responses, Applicant also represented that it would be producing documents responsive numerous Requests for Production. [Id. ¶ 15.] Applicant has not produced a single document. [Id.]

Opposer sent Applicant letters in each of those two proceedings outlining the deficiencies with Applicant's discovery responses. [Id. ¶ 16.] In both letters Opposer requested that Applicant supplement or amend its responses, or that it meet and confer to discuss the deficiencies. Applicant did not substantively respond to either letter, did not meet and confer, and did not produce any of the documents it represented it would back in December, 2021. [Id.]

Instead, Applicant's counsel sent an email on March 23, 2022, that stated:

Due to an unforeseen event, the client is unavailable and we are unable to communicate with him for a period of time, the length of which is currently undetermined.

[Id. ¶ 17 & Ex. D.] When Opposer again reminded Applicant of its discovery obligations, on March 25, 2022, Applicant's counsel sent another email stating:

We have received the attached letter from your office this afternoon.....

As for the substance of the letter, as we advised you on Wednesday, due to an unforeseen event, our client is unavailable and we are unable to communicate with him for a period of time, the length of which is currently undetermined. For obvious reasons, this unavailability is impactful on the matters now pending before the Board.

[Id. ¶ 18 & Ex. E.]

At no time has Applicant's counsel ever explained why they could not communicate with their client, why they could not move forward with a deposition, or why they could not meet even the most basic of Applicant's discovery obligations. Even Applicant's motion itself is not supported by any admissible evidence such as a declaration from Applicant or its counsel; the motion consists entirely of the ipse dixit of counsel.

ARGUMENT

Applicant's motion to suspend should be denied because Applicant has not shown good cause to suspend these proceedings. Applicant has made nothing more than cursory allegations that it, a juristic entity, is “left without a meaningful ability to continue its prosecution of this matter at this time.” [26 TTABVUE 3.] Applicant cites no facts, and provides no supporting evidence, that demonstrate its alleged need to suspend these proceedings. Applicant further provides no justification for why the suspension needs to be six months, beyond an unsupported statement that “it is presently unclear how long this period of unavailability will last.” [26 TTABVUE 5.] Additionally, Applicant has not shown that it has made diligent efforts to comply with its deadlines and obligations before requesting suspension.

A. Suspension Is Not Warranted Because Applicant Has Not Shown Good Cause.

A motion to suspend for good cause must set forth with particularity the facts said to constitute good cause. Trans-High Corp., 127 USPQ2d at 1177. Applicant’s motion has not done so, and therefore should be denied.

The extent of Applicant’s explanation is that:

1. “due to sudden and unexpected circumstances ... Applicant’s principal is totally and completely unavailable and unreachable at this time”; and
2. “Applicant’s counsel is unable to communicate in any manner with Applicant’s principal” for an indefinite period of time; and
3. “Applicant’s counsel cannot further elaborate on the details of the situation.”

[26 TTABVUE 3.]

Applicant’s explanation does not set forth the facts said to constitute good cause with any particularity. There are no concrete facts asserted, and only ambiguous allusions to a reason that Applicant asserts is “good cause.”³ And to the limited extent that Applicant has asserted any reason for its motion, its explanation consists entirely of bare assertions, without any supporting evidence.

Applicant's request to suspend this opposition for six months, and potentially longer given the purported indeterminateness of Applicant's principal's unavailability, is simply unreasonable without any context or explanation, and obviously in bad faith given Applicant's intentional avoidance of its discovery obligations. Accordingly, Applicant's motion should be denied.

B. Applicant Has Not Shown That It Cannot Meet Its Deadlines Despite Diligent Efforts.

Applicant cites several non-binding federal court decisions for the proposition that good cause exists to extend deadlines where deadlines cannot be met despite the diligence of the party seeking the extension. [26 TTABVUE 4.] The Board has similarly stated, in the context of motions to extend deadlines, that "The moving party, however, retains the burden of persuading the Board that it was diligent in meeting its responsibilities and should therefore be awarded additional time." Nat'l Football League, 85 USPQ2d at 1854.

But no matter how many times Applicant repeats that it has been diligent in prosecuting this case, the facts here support a different conclusion.

First, Applicant's statement that it has "timely responded to meet and confer requests" [26 TTABVUE 3] is simply not true. Opposer has not yet made an effort to meet and confer about Applicant's discovery deficiencies in this proceeding. [Wilton Decl. ¶ 12.] And Applicant's "responses" to meet and confer requests in related matters were neither timely nor sense given that Applicant is a juristic entity without any right to medical privacy, or ability to receive medical care.

substantive: they simply stated that “Applicant is unavailable.” [Id. Exs. D & E.] Here Applicant did not provide any response at all to Opposer’s written discovery requests, and instead asked for extension after its deadline to respond had already passed. [Id. ¶ 8.]

Even if Applicant’s principal is unable to participate in discovery, Opposer must question why Applicant cannot do so. Applicant is a juristic entity. To the best of Opposer’s knowledge, Applicant has employees who must have some knowledge sufficient to respond to Opposer’s discovery requests. For example, Mr. Craig Norris, Applicant’s Director Of Sales/Operations⁴, should be able to assist with discovery requests that concern Applicant’s business planning and sales, including the relevant classes of consumers or channels of trade. Mr. Philippe Melka and Mr. Maayan Koschitzky, Applicant’ Winemakers⁵, should be able to assist with discovery requests that concern Applicant’s Goods, including the provenance of Applicant’s Goods. In addition, in the Civil Action Applicant identified two additional employees that it intended to call as witnesses on its behalf. [Wilton Decl. ¶ 17 & Ex. F.]

Furthermore, the parties have been embroiled in this dispute for more than three years. An entire federal trademark infringement lawsuit has been litigated. It simply strains credulity that Applicant and its counsel do not have sufficient information available to respond in substance to Opposer’s written discovery.

⁴ See <https://www.tvhwines.com/About-Us/Craig-Norris>.

⁵ <https://www.tvhwines.com/About-Us/Philippe-Melka--Maayan-Koschitzky>

To quote Applicant's motion:

“Although the existence or degree of prejudice to the party opposing the modification might supply additional reasons to deny a motion, the focus of the inquiry is upon the moving party's reasons for seeking modification. If that party was not diligent, the inquiry should end.” [26 TTABVUE 4-5.] (citations omitted).

Fin.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Opposer respectfully requests that the Board deny Applicant's motion to suspend for good cause. In the event the Board is inclined to grant the motion, Applicant should not be allowed to benefit from its failure to diligently cooperate in this proceeding. It should be precluded from taking any further discovery, both because it chose not to respond to discovery that had been served, and because Applicant decided not to take the deposition it had noticed.

Attorneys for Opposer
CONSTELLATION BRANDS U.S.
OPERATIONS, INC.

DECLARATION OF KENNETH L. WILTON

I, Kenneth L. Wilton, hereby declare as follows:

1. I am a partner in the firm of Seyfarth Shaw LLP, attorneys for Opposer Constellation Brands U.S. Operations, Inc. (“Opposer”) in this proceeding. I submit this declaration in support of Opposer’s Opposition to Motion to Suspend (“Motion”). I make this declaration based on personal knowledge of the facts and circumstances set forth herein and on my review of the documents attached hereto.
2. The Jeremy Nickel saga began in 2018 when Applicant filed multiple applications to register TO KALON-formative and CRABB-formative marks. Based on my review of the records of the USPTO, I estimate that Applicant filed 13 applications that included “TO KALON” or a variation thereof, 11 that included “CRABB” or a variation thereof, and another 7 that included both marks.
3. Applicant has filed oppositions to several of Opposer’s applications to register TO KALON-formative marks and a petition to cancel Opposer’s incontestable registrations for TO KALON and TO KALON VINEYARD. All of those proceedings have been decided in Opposer’s favor.
4. In 2019, Applicant filed suit against Opposer in the United States District Court for the Northern District of California, The Vineyard House v. Constellation Brands U.S. Operations, Inc., Case No. 19-cv-01424, which was consolidated with Opposer’s later-filed lawsuit against Applicant (Constellation Brands U.S. Operations, Inc. v. The Vineyard House, LLC, Case No. 3:20-cv-00238 (N.D. Cal. filed Jan. 10, 2020) (the “Civil Action”).

5. The Civil Action proceeded to a bench trial that concluded in December 2020. Opposer prevailed. A true and correct copy of the District Court's January 26, 2021 Judgment Under Rule 58 is attached hereto as Exhibit A.

6. On July 28, 2021, the District Court issued its Post-Trial Order Re: Attorneys' Fees And Expert Fees, a true and correct copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit B.

7. On March 11, 2022, Opposer served first sets of interrogatories, requests for production and requests for admission on Applicant in this proceeding. On March 14, Applicant served first sets of interrogatories, requests for production and requests for admission on Opposer in this proceeding

8. Because the last day to respond to Opposer's discovery fell on a weekend, Applicant's responses were due to be served on April 11, 2022. On April 14, 2022, likely in response to Opposer timely serving its responses to Applicant's discovery, I received an email from Applicant's counsel asking for an extension of 60 days to provide responses. By contrast, Opposer timely responded to Applicant's written discovery and produced documents.

9. On March 18, 2022, Opposer served notices of deposition of Applicant under Fed. R. Civ. P. 30(b)(6) and Jeremy Nickel under Fed. R. Civ. P. 30(b)(1), with the depositions noticed to be taken on April 6 and 7, respectively. In response, later that same day Applicant served a notice to take Opposer's deposition on April 12, 2022.

10. Applicant never responded to the Notices of Deposition, nor did either Applicant or Mr. Nickel appear for deposition on the noticed dates.

11. On April 6, 2022, as my team was preparing for the deposition Applicant had noticed, I wrote to Applicant's counsel to inquire whether the deposition would go forward. Applicant responded:

We confirm that in light of the Motion to Suspend, we are not moving forward with the deposition on April 12, 2022.

A true and correct copy of the April 6, 2022 email thread is attached hereto as Exhibit C.

12. Because Applicant's deadline to respond to discovery requests was April 11, 2022, and because Applicant did not respond at all to the requests, Opposer has not yet engaged with Applicant regarding discovery issues. Likewise, Applicant has not raised any outstanding discovery issues.

13. In two related oppositions between the parties, Opposition Nos. 91264970 and 91264972, Opposer served first sets of written discovery in October, 2021.

14. After extensions of time to respond, on December 20, 2021, Applicant served discovery responses to those Opposer's requests, which included little more than general and boilerplate objections, non-responsive answers, and factual assertions contrary to the litigated factual findings of the District Court.

15. In its responses to the requests for production, Applicant represented that it would be producing documents responsive to nineteen of the Requests for Production in one proceeding, and in response to twenty-two in the other. As of the date of this declaration, Applicant has not produced a single document.

16. I sent Applicant's counsel letter on March 14, 2022, and March 18, 2022, outlining the deficiencies with Applicant's discovery responses in the two proceedings. In both letters I requested that Applicant supplement or amend its responses, or that its counsel meet and confer to discuss the deficiencies. I have not received any substantive response to either letter. Moreover, Applicant's counsel never contacted me or my colleagues to schedule a meet and confer, and Applicant did not produce any of the documents it represented it would produce when it responded to discovery back in December, 2021.

17. Instead of responding to my letters, Applicant's counsel sent an email on March 23, 2022, that stated:

Due to an unforeseen event, the client is unavailable and we are unable to communicate with him for a period of time, the length of which is currently undetermined.

A true and correct copy of the March 23, 2022 email is attached hereto as Exhibit D.

18. On March 25, 2022, I sent a letter to Applicant's counsel as a reminder that we expected to receive amended responses and the production of documents. In response, Applicant's counsel sent another email stating:

We have received the attached letter from your office this afternoon.....

As for the substance of the letter, as we advised you on Wednesday, due to an unforeseen event, our client is unavailable and we are unable to communicate with him for a period of time, the length of which is currently undetermined. For obvious reasons, this unavailability is impactful on the matters now pending before the Board.

A true and correct copy of the March 25, 2022 email is attached hereto as Exhibit E.

19. In the Civil Action, the parties filed lists of witnesses prior to trial. According to the list submitted by Applicant, it intended to call four witnesses: Jeremy Nickel, Amy Ash, Craig Norris and Tom Bearer. A true and correct copy of Applicant's Trial Witness List is attached hereto as Exhibit F.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States that the foregoing is true and correct. Executed this 21st day of April, 2022 at Los Angeles, California.

United States District Court
Northern District of California

On January 26, 2021, this Court issued a Rule 52 Order After Trial on the Merits (“Rule 52 Order,” Dkt. No. 244) finding in favor of Constellation Brands U.S. Operations, Inc. (“Constellation”) and against The Vineyard House, LLC (“TVH”) on both the declaratory relief action, Case No. 19-cv-1424 (“Main Action”) and the action necessitated by TVH’s active infringement of Constellation’s trademark, Case No. 20-cv-238 (“Second Action”).¹ Thereafter, Constellation filed a “Motion of Attorney Fees” and recovery of expert witness fees which is now fully briefed. The Court, having considered the briefing, and good cause appearing, HEREBY GRANTS IN PART the motion as follows:²

¹ The Court assumes familiarity with the contents of the Rule 52 Order and the procedural history of this consolidated case.

² The Court also GRANTS Constellation’s motion to seal (Dkt. No. 248), because the request is narrowly tailored and only includes confidential information. Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 78(b) and Civil Local Rule 7-1(b), the Court finds these motions appropriate for decision without oral argument.

1 I. LEGAL FRAMEWORK

2 The parties do not dispute the standard to be used in evaluating the motion, only its
3 application. Two legal standards apply. First, with respect to attorneys’ fees, the Lanham Act
4 provides that in “exceptional cases,” a court “may award reasonable attorney fees to the prevailing
5 party.” 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a). As the Supreme Court has explained, however, an “exceptional case”
6 is “simply one that stands out from others with respect to the substantive strength of a party’s
7 litigating position (considering both the governing law and the facts of the case) or the 8 unreasonable manner in which the case was litigated.” Octane Fitness, LLC v. ICON Health &
9 Fitness, Inc., 572 U.S. 545, 554 (2014); accord SunEarth, Inc. v. Sun Earth Solar Power Co., Ltd.,
10 839 F.3d 1179, 1180 (9th Cir. 2016). When determining whether to exercise its equitable 11 discretion to award fees, a court is instructed to look to the “totality of the circumstances,” and 12 should consider factors such as “frivolousness, motivation, objective unreasonableness (both in the 13 factual and legal components of the case) and the need in particular circumstances to advance 14 considerations of compensation and deterrence.” Octane Fitness, 572 U.S. at 554 n.6 (quoting
15 Fogerty v. Fantasy, Inc., 510 U.S. 517, 534 n.19 (1994)). Second, with respect to expert witness
16 fees, Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(b)(4)(E) provides that absent “manifest injustice,” a party 17 who seeks discovery from an expert must “pay the expert a reasonable fee for time spent in 18 responding to [the] discovery.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(4)(E). The Court addresses each.

19 II. APPLICATION

20 A. Attorneys’ Fees Under the Lanham Act

21 This Court cannot recall a single instance where it awarded attorneys’ fees under a 22 standard requiring “exceptional” or “extraordinary” circumstances (as opposed to fees authorized 23 by statute or contract to a prevailing party). In short, this case should never have been tried.
24 Perhaps, it should never have been brought. Unlike Mr. Beckstoffer, TVH did not have a 25 legitimate claim.
26

27 However, even giving TVH the benefit of the doubt, certainly, after the Court issued a 28 preliminary injunction, the action should have resolved. The fact that TVH ignored a walk-away

1 offer is baffling. To the extent that TVH now interprets the Court’s Rule 52 Order to argue that its
2 claim had any merit, the Court can only surmise that TVH has seized on a few phrases included to
3 cushion the landing for the lawyers hired to pursue, unfortunately, a client’s bidding.³ Ultimately 4 though, a line must exist across which litigants, and lawyers, should not cross without
5 consequence. This is the line defined by the concept of “exceptional.” This is the line that TVH
6 cavalierly traversed without any regard for the attendant costs or impact.

7 Mr. Nickel, whose actions are one and the same with TVH, showed himself to be one who 8 cared not whether he was acting in a rash manner, who indiscriminately ignored the findings of 9 experts when the findings did not suit him and the established parameters of the law in the context
10 of pending litigation, while later downplaying the actions in his testimony. Courts should be used
11 in good faith and not as a relatively free means to test one’s self-centered, unfounded ideas. An 12 award of attorneys’ fees impresses upon those who use the courts primarily for self-indulgent
13 purposes, and without regard for the law, that the cost will be greater than that expended on their 14 own side of the ledger.

15 The Court will not regurgitate the findings of the Rule 52 Order which outlined the lack of 16 any substantive legal or factual basis for pursuing the lawsuit,⁴ other than to highlight some 17 critical issues which epitomize the point:

- 18 1. Constellation owns and owned an incontestable trademark on the term TO KALON and 19 TO KALON VINEYARD on wine since 1988. Moreover, the Patent and Trademark 20 Office warned TVH against using the mark.
- 21 2. The record evidence contained overwhelming numbers of references showing that Mr.
22 Crabb used To Kalon (or some variation thereof) as a brand on wine, the name of a
23 company, and the name of his vineyard, all simultaneously. While, of course, the term
24

25 ³ For instance, the reference in the Rule 52 Order that the “record is replete with 26 conflicting evidence showing how narrow, or alternatively, how widespread, is the reference to To 27 Kalon” says nothing about the unambiguous finding that To Kalon does not, and never has, related to the Baldrige property.

28 ⁴ The Court concurs with the recitation of citations to the record in Constellation’s moving papers. As noted, the Court does not repeat the same here.

1 also included the alluvial fields in Oakville, the argument that it only referred to a vineyard
2 was specifically contradicted by the evidence for which there was no argument addressing
3 this glaring inconsistency.

4 3. TVH's case is not, and never was, Mr. Beckstoffer's case, the latter of whom owned some 5 of the alluvial, grape-growing fields which were previously owned by H.W. Crabb.
6 Further, Mr. Beckstoffer acted as a reasonable businessperson would in settling his own
7 case with a license, understanding the metes and bounds of the law.

8 4. No historical records exist to show that the Baldrige Parcel was ever used to grow grapes.
9 This was confirmed by an independent examiner, before the litigation commenced, hired
10 by TVH itself and relied upon for permitting purposes with Napa County. The examiner
11 explicitly advised of the lack of any connection to wine making. The hiring of an academic 12 who is willing to testify to a strained reading of a couple of sentences in a historic report
13 does not provide a valid counter-narrative. Rather, it is easily disregarded as irrelevant.

14 5. Mr. Nickel demonstrated himself to be obsessive in his desire to leverage the To Kalon
15 name by importing it to all parts of his various businesses including wine and horse racing
16 and ignoring the advice of his own employees regarding the use of the term as a likely 17 trademark violation.

18 6. Finally, TVH raised so many issues in a desperate attempt to make something out of 19 nothing that it is not surprising that costs skyrocketed. Constellation did have to defend 20 and respond in kind. Constellation submits, and TVH does not contend otherwise, that the 21 parties exchanged 63 sets of discovery or responses and twenty-two expert reports,
22 including a damages expert opining that TVH was entitled to approximately $25.7 million
23 in damages. The parties took 21 depositions; 5 of which were experts. Motion practice 24 included two rounds of motions related to pleadings, preliminary injunctions, and 25 discovery disputes. For trial, the parties presented more than 1000 trial exhibits.

26 Across the board, TVH's theories proffered at trial lacked merit and any factual basis. The notion
27 that one can hire an expert who is willing to testify to some proffered theory does not create a 28

1 foundation to argue that the lawsuit had a meritorious basis. An expert's opinion must be
2 grounded in the record. Where the factual basis is vacuous, so too are the expert's opinions.

3 TVH's authorities do not compel a different result as each is distinguishable. See Globefill
4 Inc., v. Elements Spirits, Inc., 756 F. App'x 764, 766 (9th Cir. 2019) (affirming the district court's
5 determination that the case was not exceptional where the losing party had reasonable litigation
6 positions); Angioscore, Inc. v. Trireme Med., Inc., No. 12-CV-03393-YGR, 2015 WL 8293455, at 7 *2 (N.D. Cal. Dec. 9, 2015) (finding no exceptional case where the case was reasonably litigated
8 by all parties); Netlist, Inc. v. Diablo Techs., Inc., No. 13-CV-5962 YGR, 2015 WL 5157315, at 9 *2 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 1, 2015), aff'd, 667 F. App'x 774 (Fed. Cir. 2016) (finding no exceptional case
10 where plaintiff submitted credible evidence and expert testimony, thereby making the case not
11 objectively unreasonable); Blue Spike, LLC v. Adobe Sys., Inc., No. 14-CV-01647-YGR, 2015 WL 12 5542995, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 18, 2015), aff'd, 710 F. App'x 889 (Fed. Cir. 2018) (finding no 13 exceptional case where defendant conceded that plaintiff had at least a colorable basis for an 14 infringement case against it); Gonzalez v. Tagged, Inc., No. 16-CV-00574-YGR, 2016 WL
15 4376343, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 17, 2016) (holding no exceptional case where a magistrate judge's
16 prior finding and a jury verdict suggested that plaintiff's underlying lawsuit was not objectively
17 unreasonable). As noted above, and confirmed by case cites, this Court does not award such fees 18 lightly.

19 In summary, when a myopic view of litigation untethered to the realities of the facts and 20 the law converge, one finds an "exceptional" case. Fortunately, for the courts and opposing 21 parties, such cases are seldom seen. Usually, resources or business judgment serve to counsel
22 reasonableness. Unfortunately, no such external force bridled the plaintiff here.

23 B. Reasonableness of Attorneys' Fees

24 The parties agree that to "calculate reasonable attorneys' fees in a case brought under the 25 Lanham Act, courts utilize the lodestar method." Athena Cosmetics, Inc. v. Timbo Trading Co., 26 2020 WL 4805470, at *3 (C.D. Cal. 2020) "The lodestar figure is calculated by multiplying the 27 number of hours the prevailing party reasonably expended on the litigation (as supported by 28

1 adequate documentation) by a reasonable hourly rate for the region and for the experience of the 2 lawyer.” Yamada v. Nobel Biocare Holding AG, 825 F.3d 536, 546 (9th Cir. 2016).

3 Constellation seeks reimbursement of fees of $4,419,57.90. Alternatively, they seek 4 reimbursement of $190,517.30 with respect to the Second Action and $2,570,164 on the Main
5 Action for time spent after the Court’s issuance of the Preliminary Injunction Order. (See Second 6 Action, Dkt. 40.) Even though the Court could likely find recoverable fees incurred prior to the 7 issuance of its Order Granting Motion for Preliminary Injunction (“PI-Order”), those fees incurred
8 after are certainly recoverable. Three factors weigh towards that infliction point. First, by that 9 date, the legal theories and the Court’s analysis had been vetted. Second, Constellation offered to 10 resolve the matter with both sides walking away without further expense. Third, TVH understood
11 its factual arguments and expert analysis. Given Constellations’ offer, much of the remaining 12 depositions and intense trial preparation could have reasonably been avoided.

13 Number of Hours Spent:

14 With respect to the Second Action, the total hours billed equaled 246.5, and with respect to 15 the other, the hours billed post the PI-Order totaled 3,260.2. In one paragraph, TVH complains
16 that Constellation’s counsel “overstaffed and over-worked this case” contrasting it with its own
17 approach of using two lawyers and one paralegal billing “far fewer hours.” TVH cites 18 Constellation’s use of ten lawyers, five paralegals, and three other billable staff. Notably, plaintiff
19 does not take issue with a single entry, nor does it advise the Court how many hours its own
20 counsel spent. Rather, it merely asks the Court to reduce the amount so that “only hours 21 reasonable expended” are assessed.

22 TVH overstates the facts. A review of the documentation shows that the case was 23 principally litigated by five attorneys (Edward Colbert, Erik Kane, William Merone, Jeremy 24 Boczko, and Armin Ghiam). The ranges of experience are appropriate for the size and complexity
25 of this case. The others played an insignificant role. Further, the hours billed post the PI-Order
26 were reasonably incurred. Having reviewed the billings, the Court confirms that defense counsel 27 has eliminated block billing, potentially duplicative charges, and those billings related to an 28 unsuccessful claim.

1 However, the Court does make further adjustments. First, given the award of attorneys’
 2 fees, the Court does eliminate those hours expended (a) on Constellation’s unsuccessful attempt to
 3 settle and (b) on the unsuccessful opposition to the TVH’s motion to amend. These entries
 4 subtotal $7,326.41 and $41,470.19, respectively. Second, the Court does not award any fees for 5 the filing of the motion for attorneys’ fees. Not only is over $102,500.00 excessive for this
 6 motion, but the entries contain research attempting to find authority to support this portion of the 7 award. Having not read any legal justification in the briefing, the Court surmises that Constellation
 8 could not find any such authority. Third, the research relative to the Bill of Costs was also 9 excessive and the Court discounts those fees by $10,000.00. Finally, the Court deducts an across-
 10 the-board amount of ten percent. It is the Court’s experience that attorneys can always be more 11 efficient. A ten percent savings is a reasonable estimate to achieve that end.

12 Hourly Billing Rates:

13 TVH argues that the billing rates tendered are not commensurate with those more
 14 common in the Northern District of California, but are at a premium for New York and 15 Washington, D. C. The Court disagrees. While slightly on the high side, the rates are within the 16 range of those charged in the Northern District by lawyers practicing intellectual property.
 17 Constellation has justified the rates with third party analysis and the amounts are consistent with 18 others with which this Court is familiar.

19 Summary:

20 Based on the foregoing, the Court calculates the award of attorneys’ fees as follows: On 21 the requested amount of $190,517.30 with respect to the Second Action plus $2,570,164 for work
 22 on the Main Action after the PI Order subtotaling $2,760,681.30, the Court deducts (a) $7,326.41;
 23 (b) $41,470.19; (c) $102,500.00; and (d) $10,000.00 resulting in $2,599,384.70. From this figure, 24 the Court deducts ten percent and awards a net amount of $2,339,446.23.

25 C. Expert Fees Under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(b)(4)(E)

26 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(b)(4)(E) mandates that a court “require that [a] party
 27 seeking discovery [from an expert]: (i) pay the expert a reasonable fee for time spent in responding
 28 to discovery under Rule 26(b)(4)(A) or (D); and (ii) for discovery under (D), also pay the other

1 party a fair portion of the fees and expenses it reasonably incurred in obtaining the expert's facts
 2 and opinions." Subsection (A) applies here as it relates to the "Deposition of an Expert Who May 3 Testify," more specifically, it provides that "[a] party may depose any person who has been
 4 identified as an expert whose opinions may be presented at trial."

5 In terms of evaluating the reasonableness of the request, the Court agrees that it should use
 6 its discretion and consider objective criteria such as: "(1) the witness's area of expertise; (2) the 7 education and training required to provide the expert insight that is sought; (3) the prevailing rates
 8 of other comparably respected available experts; (4) the nature, quality, and complexity of the 9 discovery responses provided; (5) the fee actually charged to the party who retained the expert; (6)
 10 fees traditionally charged by the expert on related matters; and (7) any other factor likely to assist 11 the court in balancing the interest[s] implicated by Rule 26." Granite Rock Co. v. Int'l Bhd. of 12 Teamsters, No. C 04-2767 JW (RS), 2008 WL 618897, at *1 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 3, 2008) citing
 13 Fisher-Price, Inc. v. Safety 1st, Inc., 217 F.R.D. 329, 333 (D. Del. 2003).

14 Here, Constellation seeks reimbursement of $20,981 which represents the expert fees
 15 associated with four depositions, both in terms of preparation for the deposition and the deposition
 16 itself. The parties disagree over whether Constellation can seek amounts for preparation.
 17 Apparently, district courts are split on this issue and the Ninth Circuit has not ruled.

18 To resolve the dispute, the Court relies on the plain language of the rule and finds that 19 nothing in the plain language mandates the reimbursement for preparation time associated with the 20 deposition. The extent to which such preparation is needed and beneficial lies more with the 21 responding party rather than the party noticing the deposition. Given the obligation to reimburse, 22 the noticing party can control the extent to which it requires the testimony in order to prepare for 23 trial. Thus, the Court awards $11,681.00 which represents the 16.33 hours the three experts
 24 actually spent in deposition. The Court finds the hourly rates charged reasonable. Certainly,
 25 plaintiff was on notice of the amount and could have shortened the deposition if it believed the 26 rates were too high.

27 III. CONCLUSION

28 For the reasons set forth herein, the Court HEREBY GRANTS the motion but in an amount

1 less than the full amount requested, namely attorneys' fees in the amount of $2,339,446.23 and
2 reimbursement of expert fees in the amount of $11,681.00 for a total amount of $2,351,127.23.

3 This Order terminates Docket Nos. 249 and 250.

4 IT IS SO ORDERED.

Dear Farah and Matt:

In light of the motion to suspend TVH filed on Friday, the fact we had not heard from you regarding scheduling, and that Veritext does not have the deposition calendared, we have concluded that TVH will not be taking the deposition of CBUSO it had noticed to take place on April 12, 2022.

Please confirm.

Best,
Ken

Ken-

I wanted to follow up with you regarding the pending Board proceedings between our respective clients (Opposition Nos. 91245800, 91246515, 91264972 and 91264970)

Due to an unforeseen event, the client is unavailable and we are unable to communicate with him for a period of time, the length of which is currently undetermined.

As a result, we are seeking an extension of all currently set dates (including discovery deadlines). At this point, we think 6 months would be appropriate given the circumstances.

Please advise if your client will consent to this extension. If not, we intend on filing an appropriate motion in these proceedings.

Ken-

We have received the attached letter from your office this afternoon (I note that I was not copied on the email where it was transmitted. Please copy me on all correspondence relating to the Constellation/Vineyard House matters).

As for the substance of the letter, as we advised you on Wednesday, due to an unforeseen event, our client is unavailable and we are unable to communicate with him for a period of time, the length of which is currently undetermined. For obvious reasons, this unavailability is impactful on the matters now pending before the Board. As a result, and recognizing the foregoing, I indicated in my earlier correspondence that we were seeking an extension of all currently set dates (including discovery related dates), and asked whether your client would consent to the extension. I do not believe a response to our request has been received (unless it was sent and I was not copied).

Please advise as to your position on our request at your earliest convenience.
