BLUNT WRAP U.S.A., INC.’S MOTION
TO SUSPEND PROCEEDINGS;
DECLARATION OF CHRISTOPHER O.
PHAM

I. INTRODUCTION AND STATEMENT OF PERTINENT PLEADINGS

Respondent Blunt Wrap U.S.A., Inc. (“Respondent”), has brought the instant motion to suspend this cancellation proceeding in order to avoid Petitioner New Image Global, Inc.’s (“New Image”) “fraud on the office” claim. Further, Respondent’s instant motion to suspend this proceeding is inconsistent with Respondent’s attempt, in the Central District of California, to dismiss, for lack of jurisdiction and venue, the concurrent matter upon which Respondent bases its request for suspension. New Image Global, Inc. v. Blunt Wrap U.S.A., Inc., Case No.: 8:18-cv-01865 (the “CDCA Matter”). The CDCA Matter is not yet at issue, as Respondent has yet to file an Answer therein. Accordingly, New Image respectfully requests that the Board deny Respondent’s motion requesting suspension of this proceeding, or, alternatively, that the Board stay its decision concerning Respondent’s request for suspension during the pendency of Respondent’s motion to dismiss filed in the CDCA Matter.

As set forth in the pleadings, the parties are no strangers to one another nor is Respondent ignorant of New Image’s rights with respect to its “XXL” trademarks. Previously, when New Image sought to register an XXL 2 trademark, Respondent filed an opposition to the registration thereof entitled Blunt Wrap U.S.A., Inc. v. New Image Global, Inc., Opp. No.: 91197705 (the “Prior Opposition”). (Dkt. #1, ¶¶6 & 7). Ultimately, on October 1, 2011, New Image and Respondent entered into a Trademark License Agreement, pursuant to which the Prior Opposition was withdrawn on October 17, 2011 (the “Licensing Agreement”). Id. at ¶¶8 & 9. Under the terms of the Licensing Agreement, New Image granted Respondent a non-exclusive license to use, under various restrictions, an “XXL” mark, pursuant to New Image’s rights in its XXL 2 mark, which was at that time pending registration under Application No. 77/699073. Id. That application then matured into the registration held by New Image for an XXL 2 mark, U.S. Reg. No. 4,057,940 (the “940 Registration”). Id. at ¶¶1 & 9. In or around 2013, Respondent failed to make the contractual royalty payment or comply with the reporting requirement to New Image for use of an “XXL” mark, and seemingly ceased licensed use of an “XXL” mark. Id. at ¶10.

Despite its knowledge of New Image’s superior rights to “XXL” – type trademarks in Class 34, Respondent, on March 30, 2015, filed a section 1(b) “intent-to-use” application for the trademark DOUBLEXL to cover products identical to those sold by New Image under its “XXL” marks. Id. at ¶13. In so doing, Respondent made the following false statements:

“[A]pplicant is entitled to use the mark in commerce”

“The signatory believes that to the best of the signatory's knowledge and belief, no other person has the right to use the mark in commerce, either in the identical form or in such near resemblance as to be likely, when used on or in connection with the goods/services of such other person, to cause confusion or mistake, or to deceive.”

Id. Thereafter, when the DOUBLEXL mark Examiner cited New Image’s 940 Registration as grounds for refusing registration on the DOUBLEXL mark, Respondent, knowing full well the extent of New Image's rights in the XXL 2 mark registration, sought to intentionally mislead the Examiner by stating in its Office Action response:

"First, it is respectfully submitted that the Examining Attorney has incorrectly concluded that registration no. 4057940 is for 'XXL' (concluding that 'The Registrant owns the mark XXL ...'). This is not the case as the cited registration is actually for a stylized form of X-2-XL. The Applicant's mark is for 'DOUBLEXL' which is not similar to Registrant's stylized form of X-2-XL."

"...[I]f any breaking would be done by consumers, the mark would be broken into the parts 'DOUBLE' and 'XL'. This appears to be the breaking up construction that the Examining Attorney has taken - - where the Examining Attorney asks 'Does "double xl" have any meaning with respect to the goods identified?' This type of breaking up would at most end up being considered a double/doubling of XL (or XLXL) which is not confusingly similar to Registrant's stylized form of X-2-XL."

Id. at ¶14-19. The USPTO was apparently persuaded by these misrepresentations of fact, given that the DOUBLEXL mark obtained registration on July 31, 2018, U.S. Reg. No.: 5,530,554. Id. at ¶20.

On December 21, 2017, New Image filed applications for registration of XXL and XXL 2 marks in Class 34. Id. at ¶¶1 & 11. Then, the Examiner assigned to both applications cited Respondent's DOUBLEXL registration as section 2(d) grounds to refuse registration of the marks sought via these 87/731168 and 87/730684 Applications. Id. at ¶12. Thereafter, in looking into Respondent's purported use of a DOUBELXL mark, as indicated by the 168 and 684 Applications' Examiner, Respondent's infringing use of an "XXL" mark in commerce to sell Class 34 products, without New Image's authorization, was made known. (See generally Dkt. #4, Exhibit A thereto). Accordingly, on October 16, 2018, both this cancellation proceeding and the complaint in the CDCA Matter were filed. (See Dkt. #1 & Dkt. #4, Exhibit A thereto).

In the CDCA Matter, New Image asserts infringement and false designation claims against Respondent as a result of Respondent's use of marks that are confusingly similar to New Image's "XXL" marks. (Dkt. #4, Exhibit A thereto, ¶¶34-44 & 45-54). Conversely, in this cancellation action, New Image seeks cancellation of Respondent's DOUBLEXL registration on the grounds of confusing similarity/priority and fraud on the office. (Dkt. #1, ¶¶21-28 & 29-36). The pleadings in the CDCA Matter presently raise no fraud on the office claim. (See Dkt. #4, Exhibit A thereto).

Ahead of Respondent's November 25, 2018 deadline to respond to this petition for cancellation (Dkt. #2), on November 12, 2018, Respondent filed the instant Motion to Suspend this proceeding in favor of a determination of the CDCA Matter. Thereafter, on November 25, 2018, Respondent filed in the CDCA Matter a Motion to Dismiss New Image's Complaint for lack of personal jurisdiction and improper venue (the "Motion to Dismiss"). (See Declaration of Christopher Q. Pham, ¶2, Ex. A, thereto). The Motion to Dismiss is set for hearing on January 28, 2019. Id. This response to Respondent's request to suspend this cancellation proceeding follows.

II. IT IS WITHIN THE BOARD'S DISCRETION TO DENY RESPONDENT'S MOTION TO SUSPEND THIS PROCEEDING

The Board is not bound to automatically suspend this cancellation proceeding in favor of the CDCA Matter. Suspension of a Board proceeding is solely within the discretion of the Board. The Other Telephone Company v. Connecticut National Telephone Company, Inc., 181 USPQ 779, 782 (Comm'r Pat. 1974). "All motions to suspend, regardless of circumstances, . . . are subject to the 'good cause' standard." National Football League v. DNH Management LLC, 85 USPQ2d 1852, 1855, n.8 (TTAB 2008) (citing Trademark Rule 2.117(c)). "[B]oth the permissive language of Trademark Rule 2.117(a) . . . and the explicit provisions of Trademark Rule 2.117(b) make clear that suspension is not the necessary result in all cases." Boyd's Collection Ltd. v. Herrington & Co., 65 USPQ2d 2017, 2018 (TTAB 2003). Accordingly, any request by Respondent to suspend this proceeding should be examined in light of New Image's pursuit of its "fraud on the office" claim against Respondent exclusively before the USPTO and the fact that Respondent has yet to join the CDCA Matter. Indeed, the Board should examine with skepticism Respondent's assertions that the CDCA Matter should be the sole venue in which a determination of the likelihood of confusion issue should be adjudicated given Respondent's concurrent attempt to dismiss the CDCA Matter. Accordingly, the Board may, in its discretion, deny Respondent's motion to stay this cancellation proceeding.

A. New Image's Fraud on the Office Claim Is Distinct From the CDCA Matter

New Image's "fraud on the office" claim is unique to this TTAB proceeding such that cancellation of the DOUBLEXL registration is not sought on these grounds within the CDCA Matter. Nowhere in the CDCA Matter complaint does there appear a request for the cancellation of the DOUBLEXL mark on the grounds of "fraud on the office." (See Dkt. #4, Exhibit A thereto). And, cancellation of the DOUBLEXL mark registration is not a remedy currently requested in the CDCA Matter. Id. Moreover, issues central to Blunt Wrap U.S.A., Inc.'s fraudulent procurement of the DOUBLEXL trademark registration would have no issue preclusive effect upon the infringement and false designation claims set forth in the CDCA Matter Complaint. Accordingly, this TTAB proceeding should not be suspended given New Image's separate "fraud on the office" claim asserted herein.

A trademark registration, even if incontestable, is invalid if it was fraudulently obtained. 15 U.S.C. § 1115(b)(1). "Likelihood of confusion" is not an element of a "fraud on the office" claim. Fraud in procuring a trademark registration occurs when an applicant knowingly makes false, material representations of fact in connection with its application with intent to deceive the USPTO. See In re Bose Corp., 580 F.3d 1240, 91 USPQ2d 1938, 1941 (Fed. Cir. 2009); see also Swiss Watch Int'l Inc. v. Fed'n of the Swiss Watch Indus., 101 USPQ2d 1731, 1745 (TTAB 2012); Torres v. Cantine Torresella S.r.l., 808 F.2d 46, 1 USPQ2d 1483, 1484 (Fed. Cir. 1986). Thus, even where the Board fails to find a likelihood of confusion between two marks, the Board may still cancel a registration on the grounds that the registration was obtained through fraud. Stated another way, “fraud on the office” claims are concerned with issues related to the veracity and intent behind the actual statements made by a party during the trademark application or renewal process, which are distinct from the issues surrounding claims of confusing similarity.

The essence of New Image’s infringement and unfair competition claims pending in the CDCA Matter pertain to Respondent’s use of marks that have resulted in the infringement of New Image’s “XXL” marks. Conversely, the essence of New Image’s “fraud on the office” claim against Respondent is that, in two separate instances, Respondent made material false statements to the USPTO regarding Respondent’s right, and knowledge thereof, to use the DOUBLEXL mark in commerce. Namely, with full knowledge of New Image’s prior rights in “XXL” marks, Respondent falsely informed the USPTO that it had the right to use the DOUBELXL mark and that no other party’s marks were likely to be confused with the DOUBELXL mark. Then, when the Examiner assigned to the DOUBELXL trademark application preliminarily denied registration of the DOUBELXL mark as a result of New Image’s 940 Registration, Respondent made various representations to the Examiner concerning the mark covered by the 940 Registration which contradict Respondent’s knowledge of the rights embodied in New Image’s 940 Registration; knowledge that stems from the Prior Opposition and the Licensing Agreement.

New Image does not need to prove a “likelihood of confusion” between the 940 Registration (or New image’s other “XXL” marks) and the DOUBLEXL mark in order to obtain cancellation of Respondent’s DOUBELXL mark registration through a “fraud on the office” claim. Fraud in procuring a trademark registration occurs when an applicant knowingly makes false, material representations of fact in connection with its application with the intent to deceive the USPTO. In re Bose Corp., 580 F.3d 1240, 91 USPQ2d 1938, 1941 (Fed. Cir. 2009). Accordingly, given that the “fraud on the office” claim has not been brought in the CDCA Matter, and given that the “likelihood of confusion” issue is not raised by a “fraud on the office” claim, the parties would not need to duplicate efforts in both proceedings with respect to New Image’s “fraud on the office claim,” nor would a determination of said claim be preclusive of the “confusing similarity” issue in this instance.

Moreover, Respondent cannot conflate the “confusing similarity” issue with those underlying the “fraud on the office” claim by asserting that Respondent believed that its statements that DOUBLEXL and New Image’s “XXL” marks are not confusingly similar were true. The moment the Examiner raised New Image’s 940 Registration as grounds to deny registration of DOUBLEXL, if not sooner, Respondent was estopped from seeking the registration of the DOUBLEXL mark. Under, the doctrine of licensee estoppel, Respondent is precluded from challenging New Image’s superior rights in “XXL”-type marks, including by providing the Examiner with false representations concerning the extent of New Image’s rights in the XXL 2 mark covered by the 940 Registration. See e.g. E.F. Pritchard Co. v. Consumers Brewing Co., 136 F.2d 512, 522 (6th Cir. 1943); Pacific Supply Cooperative v. Farmers Union Cent. Exchange, Inc., 318 F.2d 894, 908-909 (9th Cir. 1963) (holding that it is a “long settled principle of law that a licensee ... of a trademark or trade name may not set up any adverse claim in it as against its licensor.”); Heaton Distributing Co. v. Union Tank Car Co., 387 F.2d 477, 482 (8th Cir. 1967); Seven-Up Bottling Co. v. Seven-Up Co., 420 F. Supp. 1246, 1251 (D. Mo. 1976) (“Under the doctrine of licensee estoppel a plaintiff-licensee is estopped from contesting the validity of its licensor's marks.”), aff’d, 561 F.2d 1275 (8th Cir. 1977); Creative Gifts, Inc. v. UFO, 235 F.3d 540, 548 (10th Cir. 2000) (“ The licensee is estopped from claiming any rights against the licensor which are inconsistent with the terms of the license. This is true even after the license expires. He is estopped from contesting the validity of the mark...”). In other words, Respondent, as a result of the Licensing Agreement, is estopped from claiming that it lacked the requisite scienter to support a “fraud on the office” claim by asserting that it believed that the DOUBLEXL mark and New Image’s marks are not confusingly similar.

B. The Board Should Refrain From Any Decision Regarding a Stay of This Proceeding Until the Parties Receive a Ruling on Respondent’s Motion to Dismiss Filed in the Central District of California Matter

Respondent inconsistently claims that this proceeding should be stayed in favor of the CDCA Matter while concurrently seeking a dismissal of the CDCA Matter. Though the Board has authority to stay this proceeding pending a concurrent civil action, the Board is not required to do so. The language of 37 C.F.R. §2.117(a) is permissive, not mandatory. Id. (...“proceedings before the Board may be suspended...”). The Board may require that the pending matter upon which a request for a stay is based be joined (i.e. that an Answer therein be filed) before making a determination regarding a suspension of the TTAB proceeding. TBMP §510.02(a). The parties have not stipulated to a stay of this TTAB Cancellation Action. And New Image, through this response, opposes the suspension unilaterally sought by Respondent. Meanwhile, Respondent has filed no Answer in the CDCA Matter. Instead Respondent seeks a dismissal of the CDCA Matter complaint by way of a 12(b)(2) & (3) motion.

It is incongruous for Respondent to, on the one hand, claim that this cancellation proceeding should be stayed in favor of a determination of the CDCA Matter, while at the same time seeking the dismissal of the CDCA Matter on grounds related to purportedly improper jurisdiction and venue. Given the pendency of the Motion to Dismiss filed in the CDCA Matter, it remains unclear whether the CDCA Matter will actually be the venue in which the issues currently raised therein, which Respondent assert overlap with the issues raised in this cancellation proceeding, will be adjudicated. Accordingly, New Image respectfully requests that the Board deny, or in the alternative suspend a decision on, Respondent's motion seeking to suspend this cancellation action during the pendency of Respondent's Motion to Dismiss and/or until Respondent files an Answer in the CDCA Matter.

III. CONCLUSION

Given the foregoing, New Image respectfully requests that the Board deny, or in the alternative suspend any ruling upon, Respondent's motion seeking to suspend this cancellation action.

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

2 Defendant Blunt Wrap U.S.A., Inc. (“Blunt Wrap”) respectfully submits this 3 Memorandum in support of its Motion to Dismiss for Lack of Personal Jurisdiction 4 and Improper Venue or, in the Alternative, for Transfer of Venue.

5 Blunt Wrap, a Louisiana corporation domiciled in Louisiana, is not “at home” 6 in California, and under the United States Supreme Court’s decision in Daimler AG
7 v. Bauman, Blunt Wrap is not subject to general personal jurisdiction in California 8 courts. 571 U.S. 117, 137-38, 134 S. Ct. 746, 187 L. Ed. 2d 624 (2014). Indeed, the 9 sole contact purportedly supporting personal jurisdiction is that Blunt Wrap is 10 registered with the California Secretary of State to do business in California and has 11 an agent for service of process in California.

12 Neither is Blunt Wrap subject to specific personal jurisdiction in this forum.
13 Specific jurisdiction requires that a defendant’s “suit-related” conduct create a 14 “substantial connection” with the forum state. See Walden v. Fiore, 571 U.S. 277, 15 284, 134 S. Ct. 1115, 188 L. Ed. 2d 12 (2014). Plaintiff New Image Global, Inc.
16 (“New Image”) fails to identify any specific suit-related contacts having a 17 connection, let alone a substantial connection, between Blunt Wrap and California.
18 It follows that New Image has also failed to show any such contacts between Blunt 19 Wrap and this District, rendering venue improper.

20 Additionally, by bringing this action in the Central District of California, New 21 Image ignored its contractual obligation to resolve disputes concerning the subject 22 matter of its Complaint in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of 23 Louisiana. Indeed, the Complaint entirely ignores the Trademark License 24 Agreement’s Louisiana forum selection and choice-of-law clauses. Should this 25 Court determine that it has personal jurisdiction over Blunt Wrap, the valid and 26 enforceable forum selection clause previously agreed to by the parties requires that 27 this case be transferred to the Eastern District of Louisiana pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 28

1 1404.

2 STATEMENT OF FACTS

3 Blunt Wrap is a Louisiana corporation, with its principal place of business
4 located in Mandeville, Louisiana. (Declaration of Daniel Sinclair, Jr. (“Sinclair 5 Dec.”), at ¶ 2). Although Blunt Wrap is registered with the California Secretary of 6 State to do business in California and has an agent for service of process in 7 California, Blunt Wrap does not conduct any business in California. (Sinclair Dec., 8 ¶ 3). Blunt Wrap does not have any offices, bank accounts, or real estate in 9 California. (Sinclair Dec., ¶ 4). Blunt Wrap does not maintain a mailing address or 10 post office box in California. (Sinclair Dec., ¶ 5). Blunt Wrap has four employees, 11 all of whom work out of the Mandeville, Louisiana office. (Sinclair Dec., ¶ 6).

12 Blunt Wrap has tobacco products manufactured under its trademarks and has 13 patents and trademarks that are licensed for manufacture and sales of tobacco 14 products. (Sinclair Dec. ¶7). Blunt Wrap does not advertise, solicit business, market, 15 or conduct any other promotional activities in, or directed to, California, nor has it 16 done so in the past. (Sinclair Dec., ¶ 8). In fact, Blunt Wrap does not have any 17 records of sales in California or to California residents. (Sinclair Dec., ¶ 9). Blunt 18 Wrap does not ship any products to or within California. (Sinclair Dec., ¶ 10).
19 Blunt Wrap maintains a passive website, but visitors to the site cannot purchase 20 Blunt Wrap products online. (Sinclair Dec., ¶ 11).

21 On or about October 1, 2011, New Image and Blunt Wrap entered into a 22 Trademark License Agreement (“Agreement”), whereby New Image granted to 23 Blunt Wrap a non-exclusive license to use New Image’s trademark throughout the 24 world in exchange for Blunt Wrap paying New Image a royalty. (See Agreement, 25 attached as Ex. “A” to Sinclair Dec., Sections 1 & 3). That Agreement was in full 26 force and effect on the date of its execution, and by its terms, will extend until 27 terminated pursuant to the terms of the Agreement. (Id. at Section 2). The 28 Agreement contains choice of law and forum selection provisions. (Ex. A to 1 Sinclair Dec., Section 13). The Agreement provides that it will be governed in 2 accordance with the laws of the State of Louisiana. (Id. at Section 13.A). The 3 Agreement also provides that all disputes under the Agreement will be resolved by 4 the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Louisiana, and that the 5 parties all consent to the jurisdiction of such court and agree to waive any 6 jurisdictional or venue defenses otherwise available. (Id. at Section 13.B).

7 On September 14, 2018, counsel for New Image sent counsel for Blunt Wrap 8 a letter advising Blunt Wrap that it had not paid royalties under the Agreement and 9 demanded that Blunt Wrap immediately cease and desist using XXL or 10 DOUBLEXL marks on any tobacco product. (Sinclair Dec., ¶ 13). At no time in 11 that letter did New Image assert that the Agreement had been terminated. (Id.) New 12 Image has never terminated the Agreement per Section 8 of the Agreement, as it has 13 never given Blunt Wrap notice of termination. (Sinclair Dec., ¶ 14). On September 14 24, 2018, Blunt Wrap attempted to cure any alleged breach of the Agreement.
15 (Sinclair Dec., ¶ 15). New Image failed to respond to Blunt Wrap’s efforts, but 16 instead filed this lawsuit on October 16, 2018.

17 In its Complaint for Damages (“Complaint”), New Image conclusorily alleges 18 that this Court has personal jurisdiction over Blunt Wrap, stating that Blunt Wrap 19 “conduct[s] business within this jurisdiction,” “[is] registered with the California 20 Secretary of State to do business in California,” “ha[s] an agent for service of 21 process in this jurisdiction,” and “ha[s] committed the tortious activities of 22 trademark infringement and unfair competition in this district.” (Complaint (Rec.
23 Doc. No. 1), ¶ 7). New Image also alleges, without any factual support therefor, that 24 Blunt Wrap has “advertised, offered to sell, sold, and distributed products that 25 infringe the trademarks of Plaintiff to consumers within this judicial district for [its] 26 own commercial gain and ha[s] exploited California’s extensive marketplace.” (Id.).

27 New Image alleges that venue is proper in this District, because “upon 28 information and belief, a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to 1 these claims occurred in this judicial district and has caused damage to Plaintiff in 2 this district.” (Id. at ¶ 9). These conclusory allegations, unsupported by concrete 3 facts, cannot meet New Image’s burden to establish that this Court has personal 4 jurisdiction over Blunt Wrap.

5 LAW AND ARGUMENT

6 I. The Complaint Should Be Dismissed Against Blunt Wrap for Lack of 7 Personal Jurisdiction.

8 A. Rule 12(b)(2) Legal Standard.

9 Under Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(2), once personal jurisdiction is challenged, the 10 plaintiff bears the burden of establishing that this Court has personal jurisdiction 11 over the defendant. See Boschetto v. Hansing, 539 F.3d 1011, 1015 (9th Cir. 2008).
12 New Image cannot “simply rest on the bare allegations of its complaint,” but rather, 13 must “come forward with facts, by affidavit or otherwise, supporting personal 14 jurisdiction.” Amba Marketing Systems, Inc. v. Jobar Intern, Inc., 551 F.2d 784, 787
15 (9th Cir. 1977). Although uncontroverted allegations in the complaint must be taken 16 as true, courts may not assume the truth of allegations in a pleading which are 17 contradicted by affidavit. Data Disc, Inc. v. Systems Technology Associates, Inc., 18 557 F.2d 1280, 1284 (9th Cir. 1977). It follows that “mere ‘bare bones’ assertions 19 of minimum contacts with the forum or legal conclusions unsupported by specific 20 factual allegations will not satisfy a plaintiff’s pleading burden.” Swartz v. KPMG 21 LLP, 476 F.3d 756, 766 (9th Cir. 2007). Indeed, even with respect to personal 22 jurisdiction, a complaint must comport with the pleading standard as clarified in 23 Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 129 S. Ct. 1937, 173 L. Ed. 2d 868 (2009). Fiore v.
24 Walden, 688 F.3d 558, 575 (9th Cir. 2012), rev’d on other grounds by Walden v.
25 Fiore, 571 U.S. 277, 134 S. Ct. 1115, 188 L. Ed. 2d 12 (2014).

26 Where, as here, no federal statute authorizes personal jurisdiction, the district 27 court applies the law of the state in which the court sits. Core-Vent Corp. v. Nobel 28 Industries, AB, 11 F.3d 1482, 1484 (9th Cir. 1993). California’s jurisdictional

1 statute, however, is coextensive with federal due process requirements. Cal. Civ.
2 Pro. Code § 410.10. Thus, a court in California need only analyze whether 3 exercising jurisdiction over a non-resident defendant would comport with federal 4 due process. Schwarzenegger v. Fred Martin Motor Co., 374 F.3d 797, 800-01 (9th 5 Cir. 2004).

6 In exercising personal jurisdiction over a non-resident defendant, due process 7 requirements are satisfied only if the defendant “ha[s] certain minimum contacts 8 with [the forum state] such that the maintenance of the suit does not offend 9 ‘traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice.’” Int’l Shoe Co. v.
10 Washington, 326 U.S. 310, 316, 66 S. Ct. 154, 90 L. Ed. 95 (1945) (internal citations 11 omitted). Thus, due process protects a defendant by limiting the fora where it must 12 defend suit to those where it would be reasonably foreseeable. Burger King v.
13 Rudzewicz, 471 U.S. 462, 474, 105 S. Ct. 2174, 85 L. Ed. 2d 528 (1985). Depending 14 on the level of minimum contacts possessed by a defendant, the forum stay may 15 exercise either general or specific jurisdiction.

16 Where the defendant’s contacts or activities in the forum state rise to the level 17 of being substantial or “continuous and systematic,” a court may exercise general 18 personal jurisdiction. Data Disc, 557 F.2d at 1287. If, however, the defendant’s 19 activities in the forum state do not rise to the level of continuous and systematic, 20 therefore not permitting general jurisdiction, suit may yet be allowed if the 21 defendant’s forum activities are sufficient to permit specific personal jurisdiction.
22 Specific jurisdiction may be exercised only when the lawsuit’s claims are “related to 23 or ‘arise[] out of’ a defendant’s contacts with [or activities in] the forum [state].”
24 Helicopteros Nacionales de Colombia, S.A. v. Hall, 466 U.S. 408, 414, 104 S. Ct.
25 1868, 80 L. Ed. 2d 404 (1984).

26 B. New Image Cannot Establish General Personal Jurisdiction over 27 Blunt Wrap, Because It Is Not “At Home” in California.

28 A court may assert general jurisdiction over foreign corporations to hear any

1 and all claims against them only when their affiliations with the state are so 2 continuous and systematic as to render them essentially “at home” in the forum state.
3 See Daimler, 571 U.S. at 137-38; Goodyear Dunlop Tires Operations, S.A. v.
4 Brown, 565 U.S. 915, 919, 131 S. Ct. 2846, 180 L. Ed. 2d 796 (2011) (citing Int’l
5 Shoe, 326 U.S. at 317); BNSF Ry. v. Tyrrell, 137 S. Ct. 1549, 1554, 198 L. Ed. 2d 36 6 (2017) (holding that due process “does not permit a State to hale an out-of-state 7 corporation before its courts when the corporation is not ‘at home’ in the State and 8 the episode-in-suit occurred elsewhere”). In other words, for general jurisdiction to 9 exist, a defendant must engage in “continuous and systematic general business 10 contacts” that “approximate physical presence” in the forum state. Mavrix Photo, 11 Inc. v. Brand Technologies, Inc., 647 F.3d 1218, 1223-24 (9th Cir. 2011) (internal 12 citations omitted).

13 For an individual, the paradigm forum for exercise of general jurisdiction is 14 the individual’s domicile; for a corporation, it is an equivalent place, one in which 15 the corporation is fairly regarded as at home—that is, the forum where it is 16 incorporated or has its principal place of business. Goodyear, 564 U.S. at 924. The 17 Ninth Circuit unambiguously confirmed that the two places where a corporation is 18 “essentially at home” and therefore subject to general jurisdiction are its place of 19 incorporation and its principal place of business.” Daimler, 571 U.S. at 137. While 20 there may be an “exceptional case” where jurisdiction exists outside of these 21 paradigms, BNSF, 137 S. Ct. at 1558, even engaging in a “substantial, continuous, 22 and systematic course of business” in a particular forum is not, by itself, sufficient to 23 establish general personal jurisdiction there. Daimler, 571 U.S. at 137-38.

24 Here, New Image cannot meet its burden of establishing general jurisdiction.
25 New Image has failed to demonstrate that Blunt Wrap’s affiliations with California 26 are so “continuous and systematic” so as to “approximate physical presence” in 27 California. See Mavrix, 647 F.3d at 1224. Blunt Wrap was not incorporated in 28 California, but was incorporated in Louisiana. (Sinclair Dec., ¶ 2). Additionally,

1 Blunt Wrap’s principal place of business is not in California, but is in Louisiana. Id.
2 Daimler did not foreclose that in an “exceptional case . . . a corporation’s operations 3 in a forum other than its formal place of incorporation or principal place of business 4 may be so substantial and of such a nature as to render the corporation at home in 5 that State.” 571 U.S. at 139, n. 19. But the essential absence of contacts between 6 Blunt Wrap and California confirms that this case is not exceptional. See generally
7 Sinclair Dec. The only contact that Blunt Wrap has with California is its registration 8 to do business there and designation of an agent for service of process. However, 9 registration and appointment of a registered agent in California are insufficient to 10 permit general jurisdiction.¹ The fact that Blunt Wrap has a passive website does not 11 confer general jurisdiction, as even interactive websites cannot confer general 12 jurisdiction. Mavrix Photo, 647 F.3d at 1226 (“To permit the exercise of general 13 jurisdiction based on the accessibility in the forum of a non-resident interactive 14 website would expose most large media entities to nationwide general jurisdiction.

16 ¹ Federal courts must, subject to federal constitutional restraints, look to state 17 statutes and case law in order to determine whether a foreign corporation is subject 18 to personal jurisdiction when a corporation has appointed an agent for service of 19 process. King v. American Family Mut. Ins. Co., 632 F.3d 570, 576 (9th Cir. 2011).
20 California courts have found that registration to conduct business in California is 21 not sufficient to establish personal jurisdiction. See, e.g., Bristol-Myers Squibb Co.
22 v. Superior Court (2016) 1 Cal. 5th 783, 798, 206 Cal. Rptr. 3d 636 (“a 23 corporation’s appointment of an agent for service of process, when required by state 24 law, cannot compel its surrender to general jurisdiction for disputes unrelated to its 25 California transactions”), overruled on other grounds, 137 S. Ct. 1773 (2017); DVI, 26 Inc. v. Superior Court (2002) 104 Cal. App. 4th 1080, 1095, 128 Cal. Rptr. 2d 683 27 (“designation of an agent for service of process and qualification to do business in 28 California alone are insufficient to permit general jurisdiction”); Gray Line Tours v.
Reynolds Electrical & Engineering Co. (1987) 193 Cal. App. 3d 190, 193-94, 238 Cal. Rptr. 419 (same); Am Trust v. UBS AG, 681 Fed. Appx. 587, 588-89 (9th Cir.
2017) (affirming dismissal, consent to jurisdiction not required of corporations registering to do business); Freeney v. Bank of America Corporation, No. CV 15-02376 MMM (PJWx), 2015 WL 12535021, at *41 (C.D. Cal. Nov. 1, 2015) (rejecting general jurisdiction based on registration or appointment of agent for service of process); In re Nexus 6P Products Liability Litigation, No. 17-cv-02185-BLF, 2018 WL 827958, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Feb. 12, 2018) (“under California law, it is not enough that [the defendant] maintains a California agent for service of process and has registered to do business in California”); Travelers Property Casualty
Company of America v. Hume Lake Christian Camps, Inc., No. 17-CV-1600 JLS (KSC), 2018 WL 280025, at *4-*5 (S.D. Cal. Jan. 3, 2018) (no general jurisdiction despite registration to do business in California).

1 That result would be inconsistent with the constitutional requirement that ‘the 2 continuous corporate operations within a state’ be ‘so substantial and of such a 3 nature as to justify suit against [the nonresident defendant] on causes of action 4 arising from dealings entirely distinct from those activities.’”) (alterations in 5 original) (internal citations omitted); see also Black v. The Ritz-Carlton Hotel Co., 6 LLC, 977 F. Supp. 2d 996, 1005 (C.D. Cal. 2013).

7 New Image’s conclusory and baseless claims that Blunt Wrap has “advertised, 8 offered to sell, sold, and distributed products that infringe the trademarks of Plaintiff 9 to consumers within this judicial district for [Blunt Wrap’s] own commercial gain 10 and have exploited California’s extensive marketplace” are “not entitled to the 11 assumption of truth,” because they are not supported by any specific factual 12 allegations. See Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678, 129 S. Ct. 1937, 1950, 173 L.
13 Ed. 2d 868 (2009) (a court is not required to accept as true a “legal conclusion 14 couched as a factual allegations”); see also Fasugbe v. Willms, No. CIV. 2:10-2320 15 WBS KJN, 2011 WL 3667440, at * 3 (E.D. Cal. Aug. 22, 2011) (declining to 16 exercise personal jurisdiction over a corporate officer when the plaintiffs’ allegations 17 contained merely “conclusory statements that he was a ‘guiding spirit’ and ‘central 18 figure’ and made all final decisions”).

19 In reality, Blunt Wrap is a non-resident company that does not transact any 20 continuous or systematic business within the State of California. (Sinclair Dec., ¶¶ 21 2-6, 8-10). New Image has not pled sufficient jurisdictional facts supporting general 22 jurisdiction and thus cannot meet the “exacting standard” for establishing general 23 personal jurisdiction over Blunt Wrap. Mavrix Photo, 647 F.3d at 1224.

24 C. New Image Cannot Establish Specific Personal Jurisdiction over 25 Blunt Wrap.

26 Specific jurisdiction requires that the defendant’s “suit-related” conduct create 27 a “substantial connection” with the forum state. See Walden, 571 U.S. at 284. The 28 Ninth Circuit employs a three-part test to assess whether a defendant’s contacts with

1 the forum state are sufficient to subject it to specific jurisdiction: (1) the non-resident 2 defendant must purposefully direct his activities or consummate some transaction 3 with the forum or resident thereof; or perform some act by which he purposefully 4 avails himself of the privilege of conducting activities in the forum, thereby 5 invoking the benefits and protections of its laws; (2) the claim must be one which 6 arises out of or relates to the defendant's forum-related activities; and (3) the 7 exercise of jurisdiction must comport with fair play and substantial justice, i.e., it 8 must be reasonable. Schwarzenegger, 374 F.3d at 802. The plaintiff bears the 9 burden of satisfying the first two prongs of this test. Id. If the plaintiff succeeds in 10 satisfying both of the first two prongs, then the burden shifts to the defendant to 11 present a compelling case that the exercise of jurisdiction would not be reasonable.
12 Id. If any of the three requirements is not satisfied, jurisdiction in the forum would 13 deprive the defendant of due process of law. Pebble Beach Co. v. Caddy, 453 F.3d 14 1151, 1155 (9th Cir. 2006).

15 1. Blunt Wrap Did Not Purposefully Direct Any Tortious
16 Conduct Aimed at New Image in the State of California.

17 The first prong, although commonly referred to only as the purposeful 18 availment requirement, actually comprises two distinct concepts. Schwarzenegger, 19 374 F.3d at 802. A “purposeful availment” analysis typically focuses upon whether 20 a defendant's actions within the forum state invoked the “benefits and protections” 21 of that state, such as executing or performing a contract there. Id. A purposeful 22 availment analysis is most often used in suits sounding in contract. Id. A 23 “purposeful direction” analysis focuses on a defendant's actions outside of the forum 24 that are directed at the forum state, such as distribution in the forum state of goods 25 originating elsewhere. Id. at 803. The purposeful direction analysis is most often 26 used in suits sounding in tort. Id. at 802. In this matter, New Image asserts claims 27 for trademark infringement and unfair competition and business practices—all 28 claims sounding in tort. See, e.g., Life Alert Emergency Response Inc. v. Connect

1 America.com LLC, No. LA CV 13-03455 JAK (SSx), 2013 WL 12138587, at *4
2 (C.D. Cal. Dec. 6, 2013). Accordingly, “purposeful direction” is the proper 3 framework to analyze this action.²

4 To evaluate purposeful direction, the Ninth Circuit applies the three-part 5 “effects test” set forth in Calder v. Jones, 465 U.S. 783, 104 S. Ct. 1482, 79 L. Ed.
6 2d 804 (1984). Schwarzenegger, 374 F.3d at 803. Under the effects test, “the 7 defendant allegedly must have: (a) committed an intentional act; (b) expressly aimed 8 at the forum state; and (c) causing harm that the defendant knows is likely to be 9 suffered in the forum state.” Schwarzenegger, 374 F.3d at 803 (internal quotation 10 omitted). New Image has purported to allege an intentional tort, which may satisfy 11 the first element of the effects test. Yet, New Image cannot satisfy the second and 12 third elements of the Calder test.

13 New Image alleges that Blunt Wrap has “purposefully directed action to 14 California and this district,” but fails to allege any specific act by Blunt Wrap 15 expressly aimed at California. See Complaint (Rec. Doc. No. 1), ¶ 8. The most New 16 Image alleges is that Blunt Wrap has “committed the tortious acts of trademark 17 infringement and unfair competition in this district” and has “advertised, offered to 18 sell, sold, and distributed products that infringe the trademarks of Plaintiff to 19 ² Even if the purposeful avilment test were applied, New Image could not satisfy 20 it. It is well settled that an individual’s contract with an out-of-state party cannot 21 alone automatically establish minimum contacts in the plaintiff’s home forum.

22 Burger King, 471 U.S. at 478; Boschetto, 539 F.3d at 1017. Rather, the Ninth 23 Circuit emphasizes the importance of prior negotiations and contemplated future 24 consequences of a contract and the parties’ actual course of dealing to determine 25 whether the defendant purposefully established minimum contacts with the forum 26 state. Roth v. Garcia Marquez, 942 F.2d 617, 622 (9th Cir. 1991). Thus, California 27 courts have declined to exercise personal jurisdiction over a non-resident company 28 in the context of an agreement where it was not contemplated that the non-resident company would do business or engage in any other activities in California. See Campanelli v. Image First Uniform Rental Service, Inc., No. 15-cv-04456-PJH, 2016 WL 4729173, at *5 (N.D. Cal. Sep. 12, 2016). Moreover, the parties expressly agreed that Louisiana law governs their Agreement, demonstrating that Blunt Wrap did not purposefully avail itself of California law. See, e.g., Doe v.
Unocal Corp., 248 F.3d 915, 924 (9th Cir. 2011) abrogated on other grounds by Williams v. Yamada Motor Co. Ltd., 851 F.3d 1015 (9th Cir. 2017); Nanoexa Corp.
v. Univ. of Chicago, No. 10-CV-2631, 2010 WL 4236855, at *5 (N.D. Cal. Oct. 21, 2010).

1 consumers within this judicial district.” Id. at ¶ 7. These conclusory allegations 2 cannot be accepted as true under Ashcroft v. Iqbal, because they are not supported by 3 any specific factual allegations.

4 Moreover, these allegations are contradicted by the Mr. Sinclair’s Declaration, 5 in which Mr. Sinclair avers that: (1) Blunt Wrap does not advertise, solicit business, 6 market, or conduct any other promotional activities in, or directed to, California, nor 7 has it done so in the past; (2) Blunt Wrap does not have any records of sales in 8 California or to California residents; (3) Blunt Wrap does not ship any products to or 9 within California; and (4) although Blunt Wrap maintains a passive website, visitors 10 to the site cannot purchase Blunt Wrap products online. (Sinclair Dec., ¶¶ 8-11).
11 Thus, there can be no purposeful direction when Blunt Wrap’s only commercial 12 activity has been with a Pennsylvania company doing business in Florida, Blunt 13 Wrap has no commercial activity in California to its knowledge, Blunt Wrap does 14 not ship any products to or within California, and Blunt Wrap does not specifically 15 direct advertisements, in print or online media toward California residents. Blunt 16 Wrap merely places online advertisements on its website, which equally targets 17 customers worldwide.³ Blunt Wrap does not provide any direct means for 18 purchasing its products on its website, but merely provides information.
19 Additionally, the website does not single out California residents, but is directed at 20 all people nationwide. Therefore, this Court should find that Blunt Wrap did not 21 purposefully direct its products to California residents.

22 Lastly, because New Image cannot show that Blunt Wrap directed any 23 conduct toward California, there is no basis to establish that Blunt Wrap would have 24

25 ³ Creating a website that is available to users worldwide does not automatically 26 confer personal jurisdiction over a non-resident without “something more.” See, 27 e.g., Brayton Purcell LLP v. Recordon & Recordon, 606 F.3d 1124, 1129 (9th Cir.
28 2010) (“It is beyond dispute in this circuit that maintenance of a passive website alone cannot satisfy the express aiming prong”); Cybersell, Inc. v. Cybersell, Inc., 130 F.3d 414, 418 (9th Cir. 1997) (“Creating a site, like placing a product into the stream of commerce, may be felt nationwide-or even worldwide-but without more, it is not an act purposefully directed toward the forum state.”).

1 known that New Image’s purported injury was likely to be suffered in California.
2 Indeed, New Image’s Complaint does not even allege injury suffered specifically in 3 California, but rather alleges that Blunt Wrap’s actions were committed with the 4 intent to “deceive the consuming public and the public at large as to the source, 5 sponsorship, and/or affiliation of Defendants and/or Defendants’ unauthorized 6 goods.” See Complaint (Rec. Doc. No. 1), ¶ 32. This is insufficient to establish that 7 Blunt Wrap knew that any alleged harm would likely be suffered by New Image in 8 California, rather than the other states in which New Image sells its products.

9 2. None of New Image’s Claims Arise Out of Blunt Wrap’s
10 Contacts with the State of California.

11 The second prong of the Ninth Circuit’s three-part test for specific personal 12 jurisdiction requires that the plaintiff’s claims arise from the defendant’s forum-13 related activities. Schwarzenegger, 374 F.3d at 802. It is the defendant, not the 14 plaintiff or third parties, who must create contacts with the forum state. Walden v.
15 Fiore, 571 U.S. at 289. The effect of the defendant’s conduct must be tethered to the 16 forum state in a meaningful way. Id. In analyzing whether the plaintiff’s claims 17 arise out of the defendant’s forum-related activities, the courts apply a “but for” test, 18 that is, the plaintiff must show that he would not have suffered an injury but for the 19 defendant’s forum-related conduct. Shute v. Carnival Cruise Lines, 897 F.2d 377, 20 385 (9th Cir. 1990), rev’d on other grounds, 499 U.S. 585, 111 S. Ct. 1522, 113 L.
21 Ed. 2d 622 (1991); Ballard v. Savage, 65 F.3d 1495, 1500 (9th Cir. 1995). Here, 22 there is no evidence of Blunt Wrap’s commercial activity in California, and Blunt 23 Wrap has declared that it has no commercial activity in California. See Sinclair Dec., 24 ¶¶ 8-10. Even if there were evidence of California commercial activity, there is no
25 evidence that, but for Blunt Wrap’s alleged conduct in California, New Image’s 26 claims would not have arisen. As such, the second prong of the Ninth Circuit’s test 27 is not satisfied.

28

1 3. The Exercise of Personal Jurisdiction over Blunt Wrap 2 Would Be Unreasonable.

3 If, and only if, New Image can first establish that Blunt Wrap has “minimum 4 contacts” with the forum, then Blunt Wrap may defeat this Court’s exercise of 5 personal jurisdiction by presenting a compelling case that other considerations 6 render the exercise of jurisdiction so unreasonable as to violate constitutional 7 notions of “fair play and substantial justice.” See Burger King, 471 U.S. at 476-77.
8 The Ninth Circuit considers seven factors when making this determination: (1) the 9 extent of the defendant’s purposeful interjection into the forum state’s affairs; (2) the 10 burden on the defendant of defending in the forum; (3) the extent of conflict with the 11 sovereignty of the defendant’s state; (4) the forum state’s interest in adjudicating the 12 dispute; (5) the most efficient judicial resolution of the controversy; (6) the 13 importance of the forum to the plaintiff’s interest in convenient and effective relief; 14 and (7) the existence of an alternative forum. Dole Food Co., Inc. v. Watts, 303 F.3d 15 1104, 1114 (9th Cir. 2002). Consideration of this test demonstrates that it would be 16 unreasonable to exercise jurisdiction over Blunt Wrap in this case.

17 The first factor related to the extent of Blunt Wrap’s purposeful interjection into 18 California’s affairs has been discussed in detail above, and New Image cannot 19 establish that Blunt Wrap’s alleged actions are more than merely attenuated contacts 20 with the forum state.

21 As to the second factor, the burden on Blunt Wrap of defending in California is 22 substantial. Blunt Wrap is a small Louisiana company with its principal place of 23 business located in Louisiana, and it only has four employees. It has no offices in 24 California. Defending this suit in California would require Blunt Wrap’s 25 representatives to travel a long distance out-of-state, which is expensive and time-26 consuming. Litigating this case in California would significantly disrupt the 27 operations of Blunt Wrap by diverting finances and human resources to defend 28 litigation in a forum nearly two thousand miles away from Blunt Wrap’s home state

1 and principal place of business.

2 Regarding the third, fourth, and fifth factors, since the Agreement is governed 3 by Louisiana law and subject to resolution by Louisiana courts, the parties have 4 already agreed that Louisiana would provide the most efficient resolution of New 5 Image's claims and, by extension, Louisiana, unlike California, has an interest in 6 adjudicating this dispute. Louisiana is where the great majority of the documents, 7 evidence, and witnesses are located. Louisiana also has an interest in adjudicating a 8 dispute involving a Louisiana domiciliary. Exercising jurisdiction in this case would 9 conflict with the sovereignty of Louisiana, because doing so would permit any 10 Californian who owned trademark rights to drag Louisianans into a distant forum for 11 manufacturing and/or selling allegedly infringing products outside of Louisiana.

12 The convenience and effectiveness of relief for the plaintiff comprise the sixth 13 factor, and "[i]n this circuit, the plaintiff's convenience is not of paramount 14 importance." Dole Food Co., Inc., 303 F.3d at 1116. While certainly California 15 would be a more convenient forum for New Image, because it and its counsel are 16 located here, New Image cannot establish how resolution of its claims would be 17 more effective in California than Louisiana. This factor remains neutral.

18 The seventh and final factor is the availability of an alternate forum. New 19 Image bears the burden of proving the unavailability of an alternative forum. Core- 20 Vent Corp., 11 F.3d at 1490. New Image cannot meet this burden. Because Blunt 21 Wrap is a Louisiana corporation, and Louisiana is the proper forum identified in the 22 parties' Agreement, Louisiana provides an alternative forum for this dispute. New 23 Image has expressly consented to jurisdiction in Louisiana. (Ex. A. to Sinclair Dec., 24 Section 13.B). Weighing all seven considerations, the balance of factors 25 overwhelmingly favors Blunt Wrap. Therefore, this Court cannot and should not 26 assert either general or specific personal jurisdiction over Blunt Wrap.

27
28

1 II. The Complaint Against Blunt Wrap Should Be Dismissed Under Fed. R.
2 Civ. P. 12(b)(3) for Improper Venue.

3 A. Legal Standard.

4 The Complaint alleges that venue is proper in this District under 28 U.S.C. § 5 1391(b), making the blanket, unsupported assertion that a substantial part of the 6 events or omissions giving rise to New Image’s claims occurred in this District and 7 caused damage to New Image in this District. (Complaint (Rec. Doc. No. 1), ¶ 9).
8 As set forth below, New Image cannot establish proper venue in this District.

9 Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(3) provides that a motion to dismiss may be granted for 10 “improper venue.” New Image bears the burden of showing that venue is proper in 11 this District. Piedmont Label Co. v. Sun Garden Packing Co., 598 F.2d 491, 496 12 (9th Cir. 1979). When deciding a challenge to venue, the pleadings need not be 13 accepted as true, and the district court may consider facts outside of the pleadings.
14 Argueta v. Banco Mexicano, S.A., 87 F.3d 320, 324 (9th Cir. 1996).

15 Venue over trademark and related unfair competition claims is governed by the 16 general venue statute, 28 U.S.C. § 1391. Allstar Marketing Group, LLC v. Your 17 Store Online, LLC, 666 F. Supp. 2d 1109, 1128 (C.D. Cal. 2009). Under 28 U.S.C.
18 § 1391, civil litigation may be brought in: (1) a judicial district in which any 19 defendant resides, if all defendants are residents of the State in which the district is 20 located; (2) a judicial district in which a substantial part of the events or omissions 21 giving rise to the claim occurred, or a substantial part of property that is the subject 22 of the action is situated; or (3) if there is no district in which an action may 23 otherwise be brought as provided in this section, any judicial district in which any 24 defendant is subject to the court’s personal jurisdiction.

25 B. New Image Cannot Establish that Proper Venue Lies in the Central 26 District of California.

27 New Image cannot meet its burden of establishing that venue is proper under 28 any prong of 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b). For purposes of 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b)(1), a 1 defendant resides in a judicial district where it is subject to personal jurisdiction.

2 See 28 U.S.C. § 1391(c). As discussed supra, Blunt Wrap is not subject to personal 3 jurisdiction in California, and thus is likewise not subject to personal jurisdiction in 4 the Central District of California. Accordingly, venue is improper under 28 U.S.C. § 5 1391(b)(1). For this reason, venue is also improper under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b)(3).

6 Venue is also improper under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b)(2). As previously stated, 7 New Image alleges that venue is proper in this District, because “a substantial part of 8 the events or omissions giving rise to the claims occurred in this judicial district, and 9 has caused damage to Plaintiff in this district.” This allegation is unsupported by 10 any factual details or evidence and is contradicted by Mr. Sinclair’s Declaration. A 11 substantial portion of the events underlying this action did not occur in this judicial 12 district. The creation, design, and manufacture of the allegedly infringing goods 13 occurred in Louisiana, where marketing, advertising, and promotional activities were 14 also controlled. Blunt Wrap’s business contacts with the Central District of 15 California have been extremely limited. Blunt Wrap does not: (1) advertise, solicit 16 business, market, or conduct any other promotional activities in, or directed to, 17 California, nor has it done so in the past; (2) have any records of sales in California 18 or to California residents; or (3) ship any products to or within California. (Sinclair 19 Dec., ¶¶ 8-10). Blunt Wrap has done nothing more than operate a website accessible 20 in this district, and the website is a general access, passive website where visitors to 21 the website cannot buy Blunt Wrap products. Cybersell, 130 F.3d at 420. In short, 22 there have been minimal, if any “events or omissions” by Blunt Wrap in the Central 23 District of California giving rise to New Image’s claims. Accordingly, venue is not 24 proper pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b)(2). See, e.g., Jamba Juice Co. v. Jamba 25 Group, Inc., No. C-01-4846 VRW, 2002 WL 1034040, at *2-*3 (N.D. Cal. May 15, 26 2002).

28

1 III. Alternatively, this Case Should Be Transferred Under 28 U.S.C. § 1404(a)
2 to the Eastern District of Louisiana in View of the Valid and Enforceable 3 Forum Selection Clause in the Parties’ Agreement.

4 A. Legal Standard.

5 For the convenience of parties and witnesses, and in the interest of justice, 28 6 U.S.C. § 1404(a) allows a district court to transfer any civil action to a different 7 federal district to which the parties “have consented,” or to one where the action 8 “might have been brought.” The analysis a prospective transferor court must 9 undertake depends upon whether a valid forum selection clause exists. In a typical 10 case not involving a forum selection clause, a district court considering a § 1404(a) 11 motion must evaluate both the convenience of the parties and various public interest 12 considerations to decide whether transfer would serve the convenience of the parties 13 and witnesses and otherwise promote “the interest of justice.” Atlantic Marine 14 Const. Co., Inc. v. U.S. Dist. Court for the Western Dist. Of Tex., 571 U.S. 49, 62-15 63, 134 S. Ct. 568, 187 L. Ed. 2d 487 (2013). Where, as here, the parties have 16 contractually agreed to a forum, the analysis is truncated, and courts ordinarily 17 transfer venue to the contractually-designated forum unless the plaintiff shows 18 “extraordinary circumstances unrelated to the convenience of the parties” to 19 overcome the “controlling weight” given to the forum selection clause. Id. This 20 changes the ordinary transfer analysis under section 1404(a) in several ways.

21 First, a plaintiff’s choice of forum no longer is given any weight: “as the party 22 defying the forum-selection clause, the plaintiff bears the burden of establishing that 23 transfer to the forum for which the parties bargained is unwarranted.” Id. at 63-64.

24 Second, the parties’ private interests, such as the availability of compulsory 25 process for witnesses, no longer factor into the court’s inquiry about whether 26 transfer is appropriate. Id. at 64. This is because, by selecting the forum, the parties 27 waive their right to challenge the forum as inconvenient based on private interests.
28 Id. The court thus “must deem the private-interest factors to weigh entirely in favor

1 of the preselected forum.” Id.

2 Third, the court can still consider “public interest” factors, such as “the 3 administrative difficulties flowing from court congestion; the local interest in having 4 localized controversies decided at home; [and] the interest in having the trial of a 5 diversity case in a forum that is at home with the [governing] law,” as a limit on the 6 appropriateness of transfer. Id. at n.6 (internal quotation omitted). But those 7 interests will “rarely defeat” the transfer motion, because “in all but the most 8 unusual cases, ‘the interest of justice’ will be served by holding parties to their 9 bargain.” Id. at 64-66.

10 Fourth, when a party bound by a forum selection clause flouts its contractual 11 obligation and files suit in a different forum, a § 1404(a) transfer of venue will not 12 carry with it the original venue’s choice of law rules.

13 In this case, the forum selection clause should control.

14 B. This Case Must Be Transferred to the Eastern District of 15 Louisiana.

16 1. A Valid and Exclusive Forum Selection Clause Exists in this 17 Case.

18 The terms of the Agreement between the parties provide that “[a]ll disputes 19 under this Agreement will be resolved by the United States District Court for the 20 Eastern [District] of Louisiana, and the parties all consent to the jurisdiction of such 21 court . . . and hereby waive any jurisdictional and/or venue defenses otherwise 22 available to [them].” (Ex. A to Sinclair Dec., Sec. 13.B). New Image’s Complaint 23 does not even mention this provision, much less offer argument as to why this Court 24 should not enforce it.

25 A forum selection clause is “prima facie valid and should be enforced unless 26 enforcement is shown by the resisting party to be unreasonable under the 27 circumstances.” Fireman’s Fund Ins. Co. v. M.V. DSR Atlantic, 131 F.3d 1336, 28 1338 (9th Cir. 1997), as amended (Mar. 10, 1998) (internal citation omitted). A

1 forum selection clause is unreasonable if: (1) it was incorporated into the contract as 2 a result of fraud or overreaching; (2) the selected forum is so difficult and 3 inconvenient that the complaining party will, for all practical purposes, be deprived 4 of its day in court; or (3) enforcement of the clause would contravene a strong public 5 policy of the forum in which the suit is brought. Richards v. Lloyd's of London, 135
6 F.3d 1289, 1294 (9th Cir. 1998) (en banc). The party seeking to avoid a forum 7 selection clause bears a heavy burden of proof. Id.

8 In this case, New Image ignored the forum selection provision in its Complaint 9 and made no attempt to invalidate it. There are no allegations that the forum 10 selection clause was incorporated into the Agreement as a result of fraud, undue 11 influence, or overweening bargaining power; nor has New Image alleged how 12 enforcing the forum selection clause could possibly deprive it of its day in court or 13 that enforcement contravenes a strong public policy of California. The forum 14 selection clause is clear, unambiguous, and mandatory on its face and requires that 15 New Image file suit against Blunt Wrap in the Eastern District of Louisiana.

16 2. This Litigation Falls Within the Scope of the Forum Selection 17 Clause.

18 Under the well-settled law of this Circuit, New Image's action "arises out of" 19 the Agreement, and thus the forum selection clause applies. In Manetti-Farrow, Inc.
20 v. Gucci America, Inc., the Ninth Circuit held that "[w]hether a forum selection 21 clause applies to tort claims depends on whether resolution of the claims relates to 22 interpretation of the contract." 858 F.2d 509, 514 (9th Cir. 1988). Likewise, in 23 Graham Technology Solutions, Inc. v. Thinking Pictures, Inc., the Northern District 24 of California applied the Manetti-Farrow test in a copyright context, holding that a 25 copyright dispute arises out of a contract when it is necessary to interpret that 26 contract to resolve the dispute. 949 F. Supp. 1427, 1433 (N.D. Cal. 1997).

27 In this case, to determine the merits of New Image's claims, this Court would 28 need to make rulings regarding the scope and effect of the Agreement, and whether

1 Blunt Wrap permissibly used New Image’s purported trademarks under that 2 Agreement. Courts in this Circuit have held that where, as here, the resolution of 3 intellectual property claims requires a determination of whether the defendant’s use 4 was within the scope of an agreement between the parties, such claims are subject to 5 the forum selection clauses contained in those agreements. See, e.g., Bagdasarian
6 Productions, LLC v. Twentieth Century Fox Film Corporation, No. 2:10-cv-02991-
7 JHN-JCGx, 2010 WL 5154136, at *3 (C.D. Cal. Aug. 12, 2010) (holding that action 8 for copyright infringement arose out of an agreement where resolution of the claims 9 required the plaintiff to prove that certain rights were not transferred under the broad 10 license granted in an agreement containing a forum selection clause); Graham Tech.
11 Solutions, Inc., 949 F. Supp. at 1433 (holding that a claim for copyright infringement 12 was subject to forum selection clause contained in agreement where central issue in 13 case was whether certain rights, including multiple user software capabilities, were 14 included within that agreement); see also Omron Healthcare, Inc. v. Maclaren 15 Exports Ltd., 28 F.3d 600, 602-03 (7th Cir. 1994) (cited with approval by Manetti-
16 Farrow, supra and Bagdasarian, supra) (holding that action concerning trademark 17 infringement arose from agreement because resolution of the dispute would 18 “arguably depend on the construction of an agreement.”).

19 3. The Forum Selection Clause Survives Any Purported
20 Termination of the Agreement.

21 New Image alleges that the Agreement was terminated in 2013 when 22 Defendants “ceased making royalty payments, submitting samples, or providing any 23 reports regarding use of the XXL Trademark.” (Complaint (Rec. Doc. No. 1), ¶ 21).
24 As an initial matter, this allegation is inaccurate, because New Image did not comply 25 with the termination procedures prescribed by Section 8 of the Agreement. Section 26 8 provides for two methods of termination by New Image: immediate termination 27 and termination on notice.

28 Per Section 8.A of the Agreement, New Image has the right to immediately

1 terminate the Agreement by giving written notice to Blunt Wrap in the event that 2 Blunt Wrap: (1) “fails to continuously sell LICENSED PRODUCTS for a period of 3 one year;” (2) files a petition in bankruptcy or is adjudicated bankrupt or insolvent, 4 or discontinues its business; or (3) any voluntary activity or assistance in challenging 5 the validity or enforceability of any registration issuing from U.S. Patent & 6 Trademark Office Application serial number 77/699,073, filed on March 25, 2009.
7 None of the events of termination occurred in this case, and New Image never gave 8 Blunt Wrap written notice of termination, in 2013 or at any other time.

9 Per Section 8.B of the Agreement, New Image has the right to terminate the 10 Agreement upon thirty days’ written notice to Blunt Wrap in the event of a breach of 11 a material provision of this Agreement, provided that, during the thirty-day period, 12 Blunt Wrap fails to cure such breach. Blunt Wrap submits that it has not breached 13 any material provisions of the Agreement, but if it is determined that Blunt Wrap did 14 breach a material provision of the Agreement, then such breach was cured upon 15 notice. Additionally, New Image did not give Blunt Wrap any notice of termination 16 in 2013 or at any other time.

17 Even if the Agreement were terminated, the forum selection clause would 18 survive termination. Dispute resolution provisions presumptively survive 19 termination of a contract. Saleemi and Sob, LLC v. Gosh Enterps., Inc., 467 Fed.

26 clauses, which survive even where other provisions do not. Marcotte, 2014 WL 27 4477349 at *9 (collecting cases). There is nothing in the Agreement to suggest that 28 the forum selection clause was intended to expire upon termination of the contract.

1 As such, the forum selection clause must survive any termination of the Agreement.

2 CONCLUSION

3 For all of the foregoing reasons, Defendant Blunt Wrap USA, Inc. respectfully 4 requests that this Court grant its Motion to Dismiss for Lack of Personal Jurisdiction
5 and Improper Venue or, in the Alternative, for Transfer of Venue, and either dismiss 6 Plaintiff New Image Global, Inc.'s Complaint for Damages or transfer the Complaint
