IN THE UNITED STATES PATENT AND TRADEMARK OFFICE
BEFORE THE TRADEMARK TRIAL AND APPEAL BOARD

U.S. Application Serial No. 98003349

Mark: TODO VINO BY PAWS

Applicant: PAN AMERICAN GRAIN MFG. CO. INC.

Filed: May 18, 2023

Trademark Examining Attorney
Martha Santomartino
Law Office 112

REQUEST TO SUSPEND APPEAL AND TO REMAND
APPLICATION FOR FURTHER EXAMINATION

COMES NOW Applicant, PAN AMERICAN GRAIN MFG. CO. INC. (“Applicant”), by and through its undersigned attorney, pursuant 37 C.F.R. §2.142(d)(1), TMBP 1207.02 and TMBP 1209.04, respectfully sets forth and prays as follows:

1. On March 25th, 2025, Examining Attorney Martha Santomartino, (hereinafter “Examining Attorney”) filed her response denying Applicant’s request for reconsideration after final action (“Response”) filed on October 1st, 2024. In said Response, the Examining Attorney maintained and continued her final requirement for a disclaimer of the wording “TODO VINO”, made in the Office action dated July 1st, 2024, stating that the wording “TODO VINO” is allegedly “merely descriptive of a feature or characteristic of the identified services, namely, that the identified stores feature all, every or primarily wine”¹. Also, the Examining Attorney declined Applicant’s offer to disclaim only the wording “VINO” stating that it is inappropriate.

2. Applying the doctrine of foreign equivalents, the Examining Attorney concludes that the wording “todo vino” is translated into English as “all wine”, and because of it, “the ordinary American purchaser would either just understand the meaning of “TODO VINO” in Spanish, or would likely stop and translate the mark because the Spanish language is a common, modern language spoken by an appreciable number of consumers in the United States”².

3. Further, the Examining Attorney included printouts of wine stores and wine retail websites as evidence showing that they have sections grouping all the variety of wines together naming the group, section or selection “All Wines” or “All wine”³.

4. In sum, Applicant has always argued that that the wording “TODO VINO” in its mark is not merely descriptive, but rather a suggestive wording susceptible of registration. However, Applicant offered Examining Attorney to accept a disclaimer of the word “VINO” included in its mark “TODO VINO BY PAWS”.

5. Applicant very respectfully requests this Board to suspend the Appeal and remand the application to the Examining Attorney with two purposes. First, to exhort the Examining Attorney to reevaluate her final requirement for a disclaimer of the wording “TODO VINO” in light of the precedential decision made by this Board in *In re Taverna Izakaya LLC*⁴, 2021 USPQ2d 1134 (TTAB 2021), 2021 WL 5411210 (refer to hereinafter as “Taverna Costera case”). Second, Applicant seeks to include additional evidence in support of its arguments in favor of registration, in connection with the Taverna Costera case.

6. In the Taverna Costera case, this Board concluded that the doctrine of foreign equivalents did not apply to the mark TAVERNA COSTERA, which combines the English word “Taverna” with the Spanish word “Costera”. In the context of that mark, this Board found appropriate to treat “taverna” as an English word. This Board took into consideration the fact that the term “taverna” entered English as a loan word, defined in the American Heritage Dictionary as “[a] café or small restaurant serving Greek food”. Also, this Board considered that the record showed third-party registrations disclaiming the word “taverna”. Likewise, this Board noted that five (5) of the third-party registrations disclaiming “taverna” did not translate it, while five (5) of them did translate the word “taverna”. See In re Taverna Izakaya LLC at 9.

7. Furthermore, in the Taverna Costera case, this Board noted that the “translation” statement in an application “is not in fact a literal and direct “translation”, as commonly understood, from a particular foreign language into English; rather, it is an attempt to fit the square peg of a multi-language mark into the round hole of the “translation” in the application form”. (our emphasis) See In re Taverna Izakaya LLC at 10.

8. Moreover, in the Taverna Costera case, this Board stated that “Courts and the Board frequently have found that consumers would not “stop and translate” marks comprised of terms in multiple languages, often finding that the marks combine the different languages for suggestive purposes to create a certain commercial impression”. (our emphasis) See In re Taverna Izakaya LLC at 10.

9. Like in the Taverna Costera case, Applicant’s mark “TODO VINO” is a mark that combines words two (2) terms in different languages for suggestive purposes to create a certain commercial impression. The word “vino” originates from two languages derived from Latin vinium, Italian and Spanish. It is a fact that “vino” is a loan word, like “taverna”, and it must be considered as an English word as well because of the same reasons “taverna” did in the Taverna Costera case.

10. First, the American Heritage Dictionary also recognizes “vino” as an English word defining it as “wine”. See Attachment A1.

11. In addition, the word “vino” is always disclaimed in international classes 033, and 035 (if the business is related to wine), and it is not always translated. In Attachments B1 to B96

Applicant includes of a total of ninety-six (96) live third-party registrations and/or applications⁵, all of them disclaiming the word “vino”, and having forty (40)⁶ of them not translating the word “vino”, which represents that around forty-two percent (42%) of them accepted “vino” as an English word. See Attachments B1 to B96.

12. A good argument in support of Applicant’s position is that there are many other marks that contain similar words to “TODO VINO” that were registered. For example, the trademark “SOLO VINO” (standard character mark), U.S. Registration Number 3244131, registered on May 22nd, 2007, in International Class 035 for “[r]etail store services featuring wine”. The trademark owner translated its mark as “only wine”, and that was not obstacle for it to be registered. Other Examples are the following marks: the trademark “VINO 100” U.S. Registration Number 2861613 in IC 035 for “[r]etail store services featuring wine and accessories”; the trademark “VINO 100” U.S. Registration Number 2924772 in IC 035 for “[f]ranchising, namely offering technical assistance in the establishment and/or operation of retail stores specializing in the sale of wine and wine related products”; the trademark “TERRE DA VINO” U.S. Registration Number 4200548 in IC 035 for “[r]etail store services [...] all of the aforesaid in connection with wines”; and the trademark “VINO 50” U.S. Registration Number 3697081 in IC 035 for “[r]etail store and on-line retail store services featuring wine and wine accessories”. See Attachments B1, B2, B3, B4 & B5.

13. Also, important to note that the word “todo” has many meanings and uses, in addition to the word “all”, it can be used as “every”, “everything”, “whole”, “even so”, “quite”, “entire”, and others. Furthermore, the combination of “todo” and “vino” has many uses. See Attachments C1 to C16.

⁵ From the ninety-six (96) TSDR records included are comprised of seventy-eight (78) registered marks (B1 to B78), and eighteen (18) trademark applications (B79 to B96).

⁶ See Attachments B2, B3, B6, B7, B8, B9, B10, B11, B12, B13, B14, B16, B17, B19, B27, B32, B36, B39, B40, B41, B42, B43, B44, B45, B47, B53, B75, B77, B79, B80, B81, B82, B83, B84, B85, B86, B89, B92, B95 & B96.

14. Applicant includes herein four (4) examples of live third-party registrations of marks containing the element “TODO” plus an English; noting that half of them did not translate the word “todo”. See Attachments D1 to D4.

15. Applicant’s mark “TODO VINO” has many translations but it is a fact that consumers read the mark “as it is” rather than translating it. They do not translate the word “vino”, because it is an accepted English loan word, therefore they do not translate the word “todo” either. There are many third-party registrations with one word plus the word “vino” that have been registered, and this shows that marks comprised of multiple languages including the word “vino” are susceptible of registration. See Attachments B1 to B96.

16. The evidence included herein is critical to Applicant’s case and defenses against Examining Attorney’s refusal.

17. All thing considered, Applicant is willing to disclaim the word “VINO”, which is consistent with its arguments and evidence included herein.

18. Applicant respectfully submits that the present request is a good-faith effort to fully and responsibly address the issues stated in the Examining Attorney’s Response.

19. In view of the foregoing, particularly because Appellant has acted in good faith at all times, this evidence is of critical importance to Applicant’s case and defenses; and due to the fact that this request is made at an early point in the appeal process, Applicant respectfully submits that just cause exists for the Board to grant the suspension and remand.

WHEREFORE, it is respectfully requested that the Board suspends action on this appeal and remand the above-identified application to the Examining Attorney for further examination, pursuant to 37 C.F.R. §2.142(d)(1), TMBP 1207.02 and TMBP 1209.04.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED.

This 27th day of May, 2025.
